People thought I was the foreman.

A Romance

He met her in the meadows
As the sun was sinking low,
Alone they strolled together
In the twilight's afterglow.
She waited oh so gallantly
As he let down the bars,
Her soft eyes beamed upon him
As radiant as stars.
Yet she neither smiled nor thanked him
Indeed she knew not how
For he was a farmer's boy,
And she, a Jersey cow.

Said the rain to the particle of dust:
"This settles you."

Hoping to get a rise out of a farmer hoeing a field by the road, a smartie called, "Hey Rube, did you see a load of monkeys go by here?"
"No," replied the farmer. "Did you fall off?"

"According to the instruments in the plane, Joe fell 6,000 feet."
No, 6,006."
"Say, how do you figure that?"
"Well, he's six feet under."

Have you heard about the Scotchman who lived on soup to keep from wearing out the filling in his teeth?

"Does eating give you spots before your eyes?"
"Yes, when I look at my sloppy husband's vest."

A faculty member was speaking of a girl that had had a wreck and absent from school. "After all that I have said about safety and one-arm driving, she has to have an accident."
Someone asked, "Well, haven't you ever gone one-arm driving?"
"No," he said, "we always parked."

Alibi given for not getting a lesson
—I broke my glasses and didn't hear the assignment.

Straw is something which is put into hats. Hats are the funny things perched on ladies' heads. Therefore women's hats are the last straw.

A new race of high school students trained to read a magazine while listening to the radio, can now carry on a conversation without removing an eye from the comic section of the newspaper.

Every young man hasn't a head for figures, but have you seen a young man who didn't have an eye for them?

Of course you've heard the standard "gag" about the chemistry professor who asked his class, "What happens when the human body is immersed in water?" Everyone was silent for a minute and slowly but surely a hand rose in the far corner of the room as Joe Freshman piped up, "The telephone rings."

"Eavesdropping again," said Adam as his wife fell out of a tree.

The wrestler said the only reason he went into the suitcase store was to get a new grip.

Here's a little geometry problem for math students.
Given: I love you.
To prove: You love me.
Proof:
1 I love you.
2 Therefore, I am a lover.
3 All the world loves a lover.
4 You are all the world to me.
5 Therefore you love me.

It's all right for a woman to hold on to her youth, but not while he's at the wheel.

"Suppose you had a buggy top and five cents. What would you do?"
"I'd buy a fine-tooth comb."

Gerald: I want to know where I stand in your affections.
Geraldine: Please be seated.

Nell: My boy friend doesn't like the five-day week.
Dell: He must be terribly ambitious.
Nell: No, he's a six-day bicycle rider.

Jack: If the principal doesn't take back what he said to me this morning,
I'm going to leave school.
Jill: What did he say?
Jack: He told me to leave school.

Jack: I can make an uglier face than you.
Jock: Well, just look at the start you've got.

Customer: Your cream is very good.
Clerk: It ought to be. I just whipped it.

"I want a box of powder, please,"
said the young lady.

"The kind that goes off with a bang?" asked the chemist.
"No, the kind that goes on with a puff."

Mechanics professor: Name a great time saver.
Student: Love at first sight.

"Does she have her own way?"
"Does she? Why she writes her own diary a week ahead of time."

"Why men men never kiss each other, and women do: Men have something better to kiss; women haven't."

Check And Double Check

He: Darling, I'd go through anything for you.
She: Fine. Let's start with your bank account.

"Have you hair-nets?"
"Yes, ma'am."
"Invisible?"
"Yes, ma'am."
"Let me see one."

Biggs: My wife's forever on the go.
Jiggs: So's mine, but darn it, she's forever coming back.

To send my boy to college,
I put a mortgage on the shack;
I spent ten thousand dollars
And got a quarter back.

To make a girl laugh at your jokes is really quite simple
Just pick out one with pretty teeth
Or one who has a dimple.

And then there was the mean army officer who was rotten to the corps.

And then there's the one about the cow that drank purple ink and "Mood Indigo."

To all you lassies who wish to keep lipstick from coming off—eat onions!
Evolution

Freshman: Pardon me, but I did not hear the question.
Sophomore: I didn't get the question.

Junior: What did you say?

Senior: Huh?

If all the world were flooded
And I were going to die,
I'd stand on my geometry notebook
For it is always dry.

What relation is a door mat to a door?
A step-father (farther).

Why is a C like a class teacher?
Because it forms lassies into classes.

What did one wall say to the other wall?
Meet me in the corner.

Johnson: Don't drive so fast around the curves; it frightens me.
Jackson, driving unconcerned: If you don't want to get scared, do as I do—shut your eyes when we go around the curves.

First society queen: I want a real good minister to perform my wedding ceremony. Can you recommend Parson Jessop?
Second society queen: Oh, yes, he's been marrying me for years.

"No, you can't have any more cookies tonight, Bobby," said his mother.
"Don't you know that you can't sleep on a full stomach?"
"Well," replied Bobby, I can sleep on my back."

Fred B.: Last night a burglar stuck a gun in my side and I just laughed.
Anna C.: Brave, huh?
Fred B.: No, just ticklish.

Junior (after just witnessing a wedding): Mother, why did the bride change her mind?
Mother: What makes you think she did change her mind, dear?
Junior: Well she walked down the aisle with one man and came back with another.

He: What do you think of a person that gets up at four o'clock in the morning to go horseback riding?
She: He's crazy! Who did that?
He: Paul Revere.

Jake W.: John calls his girl the "Queen of the links."
Junior E.: What? I didn't know she played golf.
Jake W.: She doesn't. She works at a hot dog stand.

Freshman: How many students are there in this school?
Senior: About one in every five.

Grand Stand: I've seen these teams play so often I can tell the score before the game starts.
Bleacher: All right, then, what is it?

Grand Stand: Nothing to nothing before the game starts.

Bill: Can I trust him?
Bob: No, even the wool he pulls over your eyes is half cotton.

Icy Looks?
Geography teacher: Now remember, children, Iceland is about as big as Siam.
Johnny (in a test): Iceland is about as big as teacher.

Sonny: Pop, why is it that one's native language is called the mother tongue?
Pop (cautiously): Well, because she's the one that uses it most.

Bill: I'm always tired on the first day of April.
Joe: Who wouldn't be after a March of 31 days?

Aunt Jane: Robert, are you teaching the parrot to swear?
Robert: No, I'm just telling him what not to say.

"What's the matter with your finger?"
"Oh, I was downtown getting some cigarettes yesterday and some clumsy fool stepped on my hand."

A small boy sitting next to a very haughty lady in a train car kept sniffing.
Boy, haven't you a handkerchief?
She asked severely.
The boy regarded her silently for a moment and replied:
Yes, I have, but I don't lend it to strangers.

Beanie: Did you ever see a company of women who were perfectly silent?
Booby: Yes, once when someone had asked which one of those present was the oldest.

Happy Past

The new recruit was quite hopeless.
Everything he did was wrong, and try as he would, his drill was just awful.
The infuriated N. C. O. in charge of the squad had tried everything he knew. Now he could stand it no longer.
"What were you before you joined the army?" he roared.
"Very happy, corporal," came the truthful but sad reply.

Conductor: Madam, you'll have to pay for that boy.
Old Lady: But I never have before.
Conductor (hotly): That doesn't matter to me. He's over 12 years old, and you'll have to pay his fare or I'll put him off the car.
Old Lady: Put him off! What do I care? I never saw him before.

What Did These Say?

What did the soap say to the bathtub? I'll give you a ring Saturday night.

What did the grass seed say?—I vont to be a lawn.

What did the carpet say to the floor?—Don't move, I've got you covered.

What did one flat tire say to another?—Pssst!

We always called a spade a spade until we hit our foot with one the other day.

"I'm Scotch-Irish, but I was born over here to save transportation."

Biology teacher: What do you see when you look at your hands through that microscope?

Student: Dirt.

Teacher: What do you do period seven?
Student: Nothing. Er-oh, I mean I have a study period.

Palmer: Those cakes are as hard as rocks.
June: Didn't you hear the waiter say as he brought them, "Take your pick"?

A senior English class had this sentence: "Inside the shed there was a pile of wood."
To help find the subject of the sentence the teacher asked, "Who or what was in the shed?"
Came a reply from the back, "Nobody but us wood, boss."

"Are you sure," asked the woman,
"that this century plant will bloom in one hundred years?"
"Positive, ma'am," answered the florist. "If it doesn't, bring it right back."

Teacher: Where are the commas in this sentence, Paul?
Student (modestly): You probably know more about that than I do.

"You are the first girl I have ever kissed," said the student as he shifted gears with his feet.

Daughter: Daddy, gear, what is your birthstone?
Daddy: I think it must be a grindstone.

Righto!

"What's the hardest thing about learning to skate?"
"The ice, when you come right down to it."

"I notice Jack always speaks well of himself."
"Yes, he says that his friends will tell the bad about him."

Cop: Say, you get going! What's the matter with you?
Charlie R.: I'm just fine, thank you,
but I think my engine's dead.

Chinese say light-house no good.
Whistle he blow, fog bell he ring, and light-house he shine; but fog come in just the same.

Neighbor: Where is your brother,
Freddie?
Freddie: He's in the house playing a duet. I finished first.

Dealer: How do you like your new radio set?
Tightwad: The music is fine, but the light's too dim to read by.

Basketball Player (to student manager): This liniment makes my arm smart.

Student Manager: Good! I'll rub some on your head.

He was sitting in the parlor
And he said unto the light,
"Either you or I, old fellow,
Are being turned down tonight."

Fuzzy Wuzzy was a bear;
Fuzzy Wuzzy had no hair;
Fuzzy Wuzzy wuzn't fuzzy,
Wuz he?

Bill: If a dog starts after a cat,
what is his interest?
Phil: I know, one purr scent.

John: How are your grades?
Dale: They're under water.
John: What do you mean under water?
Dale: Below "C" level.

Game Warden: What's the idea of hunting with last year's license? You know better than that, don't you?

Mark: Nothing wrong in that as far as I can see. I'm only shooting at the birds I missed last year.

Ain't It The Truth

Our undertaker's very smart;
He didn't need a dole.
For he got rich when other folks
Were going in the hole.

Using miscellaneous in a sentence,
the boy wrote, "Roosevelt is the headman in the United States. Miscellaneous is the head man in Italy."

"Here, waiter!" exploded the diner;
"there's a fly in my soup!"
"Ah-h-h" said the waiter, examining the soup, "M'sieur, it ees not a fly, it ees a vitamin bee."

From England

With a grinding of brakes, the officer pulled up his car and shouted to a little boy, playing in the field, "I say, sonny, have you seen an airplane come down anywhere near here?"
"No sir," replied the boy, trying to hide his sling shot, "I've only been shooting at a bottle."

J. T.: I don't know what to do with my week-end.
Jeanette: Why don't you put your hat on it?

Hitler prayed and prayed for a little rain, but all he got was "Heil."

Overhetrd in the halls at Open House: One teacher to a visitor: No really, the students aren't so dumb as they look. Blank expressions are jjust the style this season.

Doctor: Now we'll test your eyes, let's see how many words you can see on this chart.
Boy: What chart?

It's so hard for some students to keep a secret that they have to get about four or five of their friends to hold them.

Whatever trouble Adam had,
No man in days of yore,
Could say when Adam cracked a joke
"I've heard that one before."

Man: You're a very honest boy, but it was a ten dollar bill I dropped, not ten ones.
Boy: I know, mister, but the last time I found a ten dollar bill, the man didn't have any change.

The novice had hooked a very small trout and had reeled it in until it was rammed against the end of the rod.
Pupil: What do I do now?
Instructor: Climb up the rod and choke it.

"Do you carrot for me? My heart beets for you alone. You are a peach, with your radish hair and your turnip nose. You are the apple of my eye, but if we cantaloupe now, then lettuce be married soon, for I know we will make a happy pear."

Mr. Crofoot: Stop reaching across the table, Fred. Haven't you a tongue?
Fred: Yes sir, but my arm is longer.

Sue: Is there enough nourishment in a frankfurter for two people?
John: No, a frankfurter is a one-man dog.

Andy: Do you know where there is an important dairy industry.
Jackie: Isn't it in Wisconsin?
Andy: No, it's Reno, that's where the cream of the country goes to get separated.

Moon: Why, I can even make a pretty girl blush.
Sun: That's nothing! I not only make her blush, I make her nose peel.

To make a long story short—
Once upon a time there was a war.
Result: Armistice Day.

He: Why do they call Lowell Thomas "Spud"?
She: I don't know, why?
He: Because he's a common (po) tater.

Old Euclid drew a circle
On a sand beach long ago,
And now 'tis called geometry,
Which we are supposed to know.

Soph (sadly): I can't understand why the class laughed at me today.
The teacher told me to put a new ribbon on the typewriter, and I did and I tied it in such a lovely bow, too.

Freshman: Please mama, could I go out tonight?
Sophomore: May I go out tonight?
I'll be home at ten.
Junior: I'm going out tonight, Dad.
Senior: Goodnight, folks. I'll bring in the milk.

Shirley: Isn't there a special ship where sailors can get their hair cut?
Goon: No, there are no such ships in the fleet.

Shirley: Then what are these clipper ships I've heard about?

"Why does an announcer have small hands?"
"We paws for station identification."

"Pos Magnus": I've a surprise for you—two tickets to the show.
Wanda: Good, I'll start getting ready now.

"Pos": Yes, do my dear. The tickets are for tomorrow night.

He: When we reach the third lamp-post from here I'm going to kiss you.
She: Oh, William, isn't that going a little too far?

Frankie: I wish I had a million dollars, I'd go to the movies every day.
Johnny: You'd take me with you, wouldn't you?

Frankie: Naw. If you're too lazy to wish for yourself, you can stay at home.

Bessie: No, Mr. Smartboy, I'm not ready to marry.

Billy: Will you let me know when you are?

Bessie: Yes, I'll send you a wedding announcement.

From Oracles of Other Years

"I want some winter underwear."

"How long?"

"How long? I don't want to rent them. I want to buy them."

Mr.: I saw a man swallow a sword.

Mrs.: That's nothing. I saw a man inhale a camel.

"I call my girl excelsior because she's quite the stuff!"

Have you heard about the Scotchman who sent to the black sea to fill his fountain pen?

"Does your team employ any strategy?"

"No, we hardly have money enough to keep a coach."

Quarterback: Listen I have a big play up my sleeve.

Halfback: That's nothing, I've got a big run in mystocking.

Kenneth Glisson: Mother, I don't believe I can go to school today.

Mrs. Glisson: Why dear?

Kenneth: Because I don't feel well.

Mrs. Glisson (sympathetically): Where don't you feel well?

Kenneth: In school.

Ted Smith (at 2 a.m.): Well, I must be off.

Frances Fortson (yawning): That's what I thought when I first saw you.

Freshman: I'm trying to get ahead.

Senior: You need one, heaven only knows.

Coach Brodie: I take great pleasure in giving you 81 in Business Arithmetic.

Donnie Rish: Aw, make it 100 and enjoy yourself.

Boy: Sncel I've met you, I can't eat, sleep, or drink.

Girl: Why?

Boy: I'm broke.

Both handsome and dumb

My beau must be,

Handsome so I'll love him,

And dumb so he'll love me.

Lati nteacher: Giev me the principal parts of "Possum."

Pupil: Head, legs and tail.

Wearry Willie and Tired Jim were sitting by the roadside discussing how they would put the world to rights if only they were given the chance.

"Listen Jim," said Willie, "if I was dictator, I'd give three 'undred and sixty-five 'olidays a year."

"Don't be a fool, mate," said Jim.

"Why, if ye did that, we'd have to work a 'ole day every four years."

Judge: You admit you drove over this man with a loaded truck.

Joe: Yes, your honor.

Judge: And what have you to say in your defense?

Joe: I didn't know it was loaded.

"Father's just been captured by a cannibal chief."

"So that's what eating the old man!"

"I think I'll go on a bender," said the fly as he started to crawl around the pretzel.

Jack Richards: I'm sure Cupid had nothing to do with arranging the alphabet.

Virginia Kozlawski: Why not?

Jack Richards: If he had he would have put U and I closer together.

For sale—Bath tub in good condition, double doors, could be used for garage.

Medium: Madam, the spirit of your husband wishes to speak to you.

Madam: Why, it can't be; Henry had no spirit.

Girls should make good aviators. They sure are flighty; they very often go up in the air; and most of them love to point their noses into the stratosphere.

Dog tells story,

Sits on rail;

Comes the choo choo—

Love on run.

The old narrow roads where two cars could scarcely pass without colliding have now been replaced by splendid wide highways where five or six cars can collide at the same time.

Two bottles of milk in conversation:

First bottle: Come on, let's neck.

Second bottle: Yeah, let's go curdle in a corner.

"Mama, Daddy's lying in the hall unconscious with a piece of paper in his hand and a large box t his side."

Wife (happily): "Oh, my new hat has arrived."

Ambulance Doctor: Officer, get that man's name so we can notify his mother.

Policeman (a moment later): His mother knows his name, he says.

Boo: Here, do you want a pretzel?

Hoo: No, I don't want any of your crooked dough.

She: I see this boy friend of mine for about five minutes every night.

He: Not much fun in that!

She: Oh, I don't know. I can't expect him to turn out the lights immediately!

Professor: Explain why the answers on your examination papers are all in quotations.

Blinks: I believe I owe that much courtesy to the fellow who was seated on my left, sir.

No Go

Boyfriend: Honestly, girlie, I'm afraid of my own shadow.

Wise young lady: You can't kid me. These lights are staying on.

After this war we will have a slight pause for nation identification.

Hints on speech making: Be sincere —Be brief—Be seated.

A man always has two reasons for doing anything—a good reason and the real reason.

"You know that car of George's? Well, it's supposed to be the tin you love to touch! But, tin we help it?"

Father: See that you leave the party at a reasonable hour. No more coming home with the milk man, young lady.

Sally: Of course not, he won't be there.

Bright One: Your girl is spoiled, isn't she?

Brighter Still: No, it's just the perfume she's wearing.

First Person: You just can't trust anybody nowadays. Why my own grocer gave me a phoney quarter in change this morning.

Second Person: Let me see it.

First Person: Oh, I haven't got it. I gave it to the milkman.

High school days

Have their delights,

But they can't compare

With high school nights.

A little rouge,

A little curl,

A powder puff,

A pretty curl,

A drop of rain,

And off it goes,

Leaves a homely girl

With a freckled nose.

"If you refuse," he swore, "I shall die."

She refused him.

Sixty years later he died.

Rob: My father knew a month before his death when he would die.

Bob: Who told him?

Rob: The Judge.

A tough patient in the hospital awoke after a very serious operation, and found the blinds of his room drawn.

"He, Doe," he said "why are the blinds down?"

"Well," said the surgeon, "there's a fire burning across the alley, and I didn't want you to wake up and think the operation was a failure."

"Got away did he, constable? Did you guard all the exits?"

"Yes, but we kind of think he left by one of the entrances."

Customer: I want a mouse trap, and please hurry; I have to catch a bus.

Clerk: I am sorry, sir, the traps we have are for catching mice.

Boy: If I had known the tunnel was so long I would have kissed you.

Girl: Good heavens! Wasn't that you?

Seven ways to win a girl:

1. Get a car.

2. Get some money.

3. Get a car.

4. Dress well.

5. Get a car.

6. Always agree with her.

7. Get a car.

One man with courage makes a majority.

The doctor said if I didn't stop smoking, I would become a hopeless imbecile.

Why didn't you?

She sang the song in a haunting manner.

Do you think so?

Yes, there was just a ghost of a resemblance to the original air.

Widow: I want to insert an obituary notice in your newspaper. How much will it cost?

Editor: Twenty-five cents an inch, Madame.

Widow: Oh, heavens, and John was six feet tall.

First Golfer: The traps on the course are very annoying.

Second Golfer (trying to putt): Yes, will you please shut yours.

Jones: I'm all in. I've been running around all day trying to get something for my wife.

Smith: Well, have you had any others?

Patron: Are you good at making up jokes?

Beauty operator: Well, you ought to see some I've made up.

St. Peter (to applicant): Where are you from?

Applicant: From California.

St. Peter: Well, come in, but I don't think you'll like it.

George: Do you know what one ear said to the other?

Georgianna: No, what?

George: I didn't know you lived on the same block.

Professor: What is geometry?

Student: The little acorn grew and grew, and one day woke up and said, "Ge-om-etry."

Mother: Norman, did you get that loaf of bread I sent you for?

Norman: No, the store was closed, Mom.

Mother: What! Closed at this hour of the day?

Norman: Sure. There was a sign on the door that said "Home Baking."

A Scotchman gave a waiter a tip. (P. S. The horse lost.)

Bill: They say that money talks.

Dave: Yeah, but the only thing I ever heard it say was goodbye.

Dan: When John combs his hair he always insists on using that vile-smelling hair lotion.

Fan: Yes, he certainly is head-strong.

Did you take a bath?

No, is there one missing?

"Good gravy!" cried the ghoul as he saw a man being run over by a steam roller.

—or—

"That's me all over," said the suicide, as he hit the street after jumping out of a fiftieth story window. (Of course that's not as funny as a guy with lockjaw coffin.)

WANTED—A pair of rimless spectacles without lenses for the little man who wasn't there to read between the lines of the unwritten law.

Artist: My most difficult task is usually completed before breakfast.
Friend: You work before breakfast?
Artist: No, I get out of bed.

A lone chocolate drop on the dish lay,
But I wouldn't eat it, nay, nay;
For a firm resolution I did make,
Not to eat chocolate, candy, or cake.
"Go on and taste it," said something inside:

"No, I don't want it," my appetite lied.
"Come, dear conscience, be my guide";
The candy was good—Oh well! I tried.

A peanut were sat on a railroad track,
His heart were all a flutter,
A train she were coming around the bend;
Toot, toot - - peanut butter.

Seated one day at the table
I was weary and ill at ease
And my fingers wandered idly
Over the rolling pens.
I knew not what I was chewing
Or what I was eating then,
But I bit on a piece of sauce dish
And said everything but Amen.

Some people say nothing is impossible...
Evidently they never tried to put toothpaste back in the tube.

A studious high school student stayed up all night figuring where the sun went. Finally it dawned on him.

Prisoner: No, Your Honor, but it's my lawyer's first case.

"Do you guarantee this hair restorer?"
"Better than that, sir. We give a comb with every bottle."

Not all men are fools. Some are bachelors.

A young couple was sitting romantically on a board watching the moonlight on the lake.

He: May I sit a little closer to you?
She: Tee-hee—Why?

He: I'm sitting on a nail.

Oh heart, ah gee,
I do love he.
But he you see,
Has love for she
And she ain't me
Nor me ain't she
And that's why he
And me ain't we.

Customer: I want a pair of sporr-rimmed hornicles—I mean, sporr-rimmed hetticles—Gosh I mean heck-rimmed spornicles.

Sonny: Pop, why is it that one's native language is called the mother tongue?
Pop (cautiously): Well, that's because she's the one that uses it most.

Judge: Congratulate me, dear; I have been reappointed.
Wife: Honestly?
Judge: Shhhhhhh—

Guide: There, my dear madam, is a skyscraper.
Old lady: Oh, my! I'd love to see it work.

Heard at Ellis Island

"Next."
"Who, me?"
"Born?"
"Yes."
"Where?"
"Russia."
"What part?"
"All of me."
"Why did you leave Russia?"
"Couldn't bring it with me."
"Where were your forefathers born?"
"Only had one."
"Your business?"
"Rotten."
"Where is Washington?"
"He's dead."
"I mean the capital of the United States."
"They lent it all to Europe."
"Do you swear to support the Constitution?"
"How can I? I've got a wife and eight children."

Maid: I'm sorry, but she said to tell you she is not at home.
Caller: Oh, that's all right; just tell her that I'm glad I didn't come.

"What are you doing with your socks on wrong side out?"
"My feet got hot, so I decided to turn the hose on them."

"Is she refined?"
"I'll say so! She won't even read coarse print."

To neck and kiss is very wrong; I don't.
Some girls like men, and wine, and song; I don't.
To kiss no boys, not even one— I do not know how it is done,
You wouldn't think I had much fun, I don't.

Miss Brown: What? You come into my famous restaurant, drink a glass of water, then calmly walk out?
Mr. Kellogg: Hoot, woman! Did ye expect me to stagger out?

Miss Wallbridge: How far to Nashville?
Mountaineer: Jest a second. I'll have to ask my son. He's the most traveled man in these parts. He's got shoes.

Judge: Will you waive your right to appeal?
Husband: Don't let her wave any more rights, judge. That's how I got this black eye!

Magician: Before I use this boy for my act, I would like to ask him a question. Little boy, have you ever seen me before?
Little Boy: No, Daddy.

Oh, Honey
Mary had a swarm of bees
And they, to save their lives
Had to around with her,
For Mary had the hives.

Martha: Who gave you that ring?
Corine: A certain young man.
Martha: No man is certain until you get him.

"Is she as sour as she looks?"
"Sour? Why if that woman gazed aloft on a stary night she'd curdle the Milky Way."

Mrs. Sundstrom: I don't think that women have always been vain. You know women were made before mirrors.
Mr. Sundstrom: Yes, and they've been before them most of the time.

Catering Student: This steak we are serving is not very tender.
Tired Instructor: Well, did you expect it to put its arms around your neck and kiss you?

Muriel: You see, Ann, this is the armor that knights wore in the Middle Ages.
Ann: Oh! It must have scratched the furniture.

What the Freshies Say

It's nice to be a senior
So dignified, so bold;
It's nice to be a sophomore
Who still has a lot to be told;
It's nice to be a junior
Who thinks she's everyone's pet;
But it's best to be a freshman
Who knows she'll get there yet.

Some differences: "What's the difference between a dog and a book?"
"I dunno."
"Why, the book has its tale inside, while the dog has his tail outside."

"What's the difference between an apple and an elephant?"
"I dunno."
"Boy, you'd be a swell one to send to the store for apples."

Darling when I look at you
I simply burst with pride,
I know there's nothing quite so grand
As a young spring chicken fried.

"How are you getting on at home since your wife went away?"
"Fine! Things are getting easier all the time. For instance, I can now put my socks on from either end."

Algy saw a bear—
The bear was bulgy.
The bulge was Algy.

Rosie (at almond counter): Who attends to nuts?
Salesman: Be patient, I'll wait on you in a minute.

Here lies the bones—
Of Billy Bright.
He put out his left hand
And turned to the right.

Alarmer: Why are you running a steam roller over that field?
Farmer: I'm trying to raise mashed potatoes.

"Have you heard the suspender song?"
"No; what is it?"
"It all depends on you!"

How fat she are
She used to wasn't
The reason is
She daily doesn't.

Ruth: I see where a Western woman is able to shoot a coin right out of her husband's fingers.
Pops: Well, isn't that the limit? They're bound to get it one way or another, aren't they?

Barbara: What about the five dollars you promised to pay me back in the autumn?
Ruth: What? Have you the cheek to call this awful weather autumn?

Navy Officer: You can follow your regular trade in the navy.
Recruit: But I used to be a cowboy.

Navy Officer: So what? You can be a cook and ride the range in the galaxy.

Basil: I suppose your wife has a lot of will power.
Cholly: Yes, but it's nothing to her won't power.

The Poor Gals
If she has too many dates, she's frivolous.
If she goes steady, she has no stag line.

If she obeys all the rules, she's a drip.
If she doesn't, she's wild.
If she doesn't study, she gets kicked out.

If she does, she's a book worm.
If she talks a lot, she has a line.
If she doesn't, she's a social flop.

If she yells a lot at games she's making a fool of herself.
If she doesn't she has no school spirit.

In other words, what's the use?

He: I passed your house yesterday.
She: Thanks.

"Why doesn't Mr. Smith like it?"
"Mr. Smith is very fond of it, but Junior bit his finger again."

The young bride was asked what she thought of married life. "Oh, there's not much difference," she replied. "I used to wait up half the night for George to go, and now I wait up half the night for him to come home."

I thought a thought,
But the thought I thought
Wasn't the thought
I thought I thought,
So when I thought
Again, I thought
The thought I thought
I thought I thought.

Single-Act Drama Presented To USA

"The Christmas Picture" Is Title Of Play Given To Members, Thursday, December 19

"The Christmas Picture," a one-act play, was presented at the USA meeting December 19 in the Greeley Room. The characters were as follows: Anne Marley, Grace Rendleman; Mrs. Marley, Norma Russell; Norah Marley, Marilyn Domer; Peggy, Ilo Hirschman; and Emily, Opal Springer.

Phyllis Buckmaster introduced the play and acted as prompter. Dorothy Altvogel read "The Other Wise Man" in connection with the play.

A candlelight Christmas service was held in which the entire committee took part. The committee in charge was Mary Moch, chairman; Lois Lenz, Peggy Rott, Theon Bruggeman, Phyllis Niblick, and Rosemary Bird. Refreshments were served.

French Club Follows Customs Of France

With each part of the program following French Christmas customs, LeCercle Francais party was held Thursday, December 19, in true French fashion. Clara Makey, program chairman, was in charge and planned an interesting program consisting of a play, poems, songs, phonograph recordings, and refreshments.

Characters in the play were Joyce Reed, mother; Laverne Michelfelder, Jean Weil, and Eleanor Christ, children, and Clifford Sprunger, Pere Noel. "French Christmas Customs" was the topic of Caroline Lichtenberg's talk. Charlene McAtee read a poem, after which the entire club joined in singing Christmas carols in French and listening to phonograph records. John Logue also took part in the program.

The refreshments were arranged by Marge McMahon and Charlene McAtee.

Annabelle Harrod Is German Club Hostess

Annabelle Harrod was hostess of the German Club at her home at 3518 Oliver Street, Friday, December 20.

Games were played and a ten-cent gift exchange was held. The games consisted of quiz questions and solving name puzzles. Short stories were made out of song titles.

The club members went caroling after the party.

Safety Group Head Reminds Us To Be Careful In Winter

With the worst of winter yet to come and such sports as skating, sledding, bobsledding, and skiing, on the way, the safety committee, headed by Mr. Paul Schnepel, has issued the following special bulletin concerning winter hazards in connection with these activities.

"Most winter sports in themselves are not dangerous in the built-up states. The proof of this is that the expert skier, skater, tobogganist or ice boat skipper seldom is hurt. He is aware of dangers such as frost-bite, muscular strain, colds, falls; and he respects and intelligently avoids them. It is the too-often and too-thoughtless person who blunders into grief.

"Know the natural hazards of your surroundings and how to avoid them. Use safe hills for coasting. Wear clothing according to the weather. Skate or ice boat on ice at least 3 inches thick, for there is no air space under level ice.

"If you are skiing, coasting, tobogganing, or bobsledding, know the slope you are about to descend and the speed you are likely to attain before you reach the bottom of the hill. If you are not competent to control your speed, or if you are uncertain about the proper methods of braking yourself, better think twice before descending. Know how to make turns. Watch out for unexpected obstacles.

"A fall on icy steps and slippery walks for an elderly man or woman may mean a bone fracture that is fatal. The prevention would be just ashes or sand, and a hand rail for the hand to hold until the bottom is reached."

Students Of Typing Take Examinations

Teaching Aids Exchange Sponsors' Tests; Winning Pupils Are Presented Certificates

Typing students of Miss Nell Cova recently entered a contest sponsored by Teaching Aids Exchange in which they took typing tests of ten minutes. The students who completed the most excellent papers will receive a beautifully engraved certificate of proficiency approximately eight by eleven inches in size.

As higher skills are obtained, the certificate will become finer and will bear red or gold seals to indicate different degrees of proficiency. The first typing certificate will be awarded for rates of thirty words per minute or over. Each increase of ten words will be marked by a different certificate. No certificate will be available for rates under thirty words per minute.

Teaching Aids Exchange keeps in its files complete records of every certificate issued and at the close of the school year, issues banners to schools whose students have ranked high among the schools of the nation in this testing program.

Last year Teaching Aids Exchange inaugurated this testing program to provide monthly tests in typing and shorthand for commercial students. In these tests high degrees of proficiency were rewarded with large, beautifully engraved certificates. The program proved so successful in its first year that it is being continued on an even larger scale this year than it was last.

Tests in straight copy typing and business practice typing are supplied six times during the year to schools holding complete memberships in the Teaching Aids Exchange. Schools holding partial membership in Teaching Aids Exchange will receive these tests four times during the year. The tests are given in the class during the time specified by the Exchange.

Social Science To Feature Two Student Speakers

"Should We Appease Japan" is the topic to be discussed at Social Science Club meeting tomorrow night. The meeting will be in the Greeley Room at 7 o'clock. Ruth Dauner and Dick Fishering will speak on the subject, and then the meeting will be open for discussion.

Pan-American relations were discussed at the Social Science meeting Friday evening, December 20, by Gloria Staley and Roger McVay. An open discussion followed of which Gloria Werkman was the leader.

All Social Science members who desire to order the Indiana Student Council pin are to see Bob Wylie as soon as possible.

Directs New Club

Mr. C. A. Bex

Mr. C. A. Bex is the adviser of the new Industrial Arts Club. Officers will be elected soon and further plans for the year are being made. The group held a potluck December 10.

January 11 Is Date Of Skate Of Philo Girls

"Jingle Bell Jig" Is Theme Of Annual Social Event Set For 7:30 At Bell's

"Jingle Bell Jig" is the theme for Philo's annual skate to be held at Bell's Rink Saturday night, January 11. The skate will start at 7:30 o'clock. Tickets are to be sold for 30 cents and may be bought from any of the club members.

Miss Demaree is the faculty adviser, and general chairman for the event is Hilda Schubert. Janice Tremper is in charge of the sales committee, assisting her are Rosemary Ziegler, Maxine Case, and Virginia Hill.

Alida Eidner is in charge of the favors. Her committee is Mary Carlo, Carolyn McNabb, Margaret Kutsch, Charlotte Duwan, Mary Alice Spigle, Carole Trentary, Gloria Staley, and Joan Cartwright.

In charge of securing attendance prizes are Ruth Ann Steigler and Holly Reppert.

Miss Emma Kiefer Speaks To So-Si-Y

"The Heart Of The Child" Is Told; Christmas Carols Are Sung; Candles Are Lighted

"The Heart of a Child" was the story told by Miss Emma Kiefer, English instructor, at the So-Si-Y Club meeting, December 16 in the Greeley Room.

In a candlelight ceremony, Marjorie Voltz, Gertrude Merkel, Alice Volmring, and Romayne Rediger acted out the carol "Oh Little Town of Bethlehem." Bernadine Bender, club president, gave a short talk on the custom of lighting candles on Christmas Eve to guide the Christ Child on His way.

Martha Thomas, club pianist, played Christmas carols softly preceding the meeting. The carol "Silent Night" opened the meeting. Other Christmas carols sung during the community singing were "Oh Little Town of Bethlehem," "Hark, The Herald Angels Sing," "Noel," and "We Three Kings of Orient Are."

Members were given oranges at the beginning of the meeting. Each member took her orange, which will go to the Women's Infirmary in Fort Wayne, up to a tray during the ceremony.

Refreshments consisting of candy canes were given to the members. Also blue stars, which contained the program of the meeting were given out.

Christmas Pageant Is Given Thursday

Program Repeated For Parents; Mary Whittner, Erleen Lee, Emalyn Rimmel Are Soloists

Dramatization of the birth of Christ was presented by the music department in a Christmas pageant Thursday evening, December 19. The program was repeated for the P-TA concert that same evening.

The soloists for the pageant were Erleen Lee, Mary Whittner, and Emalyn Rimmel. The characters were as follows: Angels, Betty Fremion, Bettina Stein, Joyce Cleaver, Audrey Smith, Gloria Staley, Joan Gable, Charlotte Duwan, Rosemary Weston, Jean Sheets, and Betty Mann; wise men, John Mast, Stanley Trier, and Walter Turner; shepherds, Austin Gardner, John Hitzman, and Paul Yundt.

Elsie Hirschy was the piano accompanist and readers were Helen Nide and Jim McClure. Miss Lucy Osborne was in charge of the assembly, and Mr. Lester Hostetter and Mr. Jack Wainwright were in charge of the music.

Every Good Archer Should Make, Keep This One Resolution

By Mary Alice Dunten

Now that 1941 has made its appearance, almost everyone has made some kind of a resolution. Some will keep them; others will probably break them soon after they are made. Those who make and break them as fast as they can, I follow right behind.

In New Year's Eve I strongly resolved to keep all the resolutions I made. Then came the job of deciding what resolutions to make. One thing certain was that anything I resolved had to be something I could keep with not too much trouble. When I asked my friends, all they could say was, "Oh I don't know. I never really make any."

First of all, I suppose I should resolve to study harder. But then no one could keep a resolution like that for a whole year. (At least, I couldn't.) Maybe I should resolve to keep my temper down. But that is a thing I would have the most trouble doing.

Resolutions! Resolutions! Resolutions! After all, I'm not so good that I don't need to make any. I guess I will resolve to work harder at everything I do.

Well, I have just one resolution. And I was going to have a long list of them. Well, all I would do is break them anyway. If I wait till next year I might have more things to resolve. Anyway, since I made only one, all I have to worry about is keeping just that one. Ummmmmm, not a bad idea.

Parents, Teachers Have Food, Frolic At Recent Banquet

— of the Parent-Teacher Association— were the first words that I overheard as I pecked in on the banquet given by the teachers for the parents and the Executive Committee of the South Side P-T A. Most of the meetings of these parents are purely business, but tonight everyone was out for fun. And did they have it? I'll say they did!

Of course, the sumptuous banquet came first. There were apples for the teachers as placards, and gingerbread men for the parents. Confidentially, the food was the best ever. The parents believed that one reason they were fed so well was so they would take all of the ribbings that Mrs. Dorothy Rieke had to hand out without being able to make any sly remarks.

Mr. Earl Sterner was the toastmaster, and he didn't spare the language on the too-fippant parents. Mr. A. V. Flint headed the program of songs and speeches with a masterpiece called "When I Was a Boy." But Mr. Flint seems to be a broad-minded person, since he realizes that "them days is gone forever." In the good of days, a boy thought that if he studied hard he'd grow up to be president of these United States.

The songs were progressing nicely after Mr. Flint's speech, with each table taking its turn. But the people at one table insisted on expanding and singing with every other table until their turn came. Then the music started, lips moved, gestures were there to be seen, but no music came forth from those heretofore exultant lips. Ah, these show-offs!

Mrs. Martha Scheele, Mr. R. Nelson Snider, Miss Gertrude Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Simpson Parkinson, Miss Alice Dean, and Miss Dorothy Magley were the objects of much ridicule for the parents, because of the fun they provoked for everyone. Then our parents wonder how we can act so crazily.

Quill, Scroll Lists Contest Winners

Louis Hallenstein, Bob Young Win Third Places In Editorial, And Sports Writing Tests

In a recent Quill and Scroll contest, an international honorary society for journalists, Bob Young and Louis Hallenstein won first and second place in the editorial writing contests for the East Central States.

Bob Young, a senior B, and sports editor of The Times, was third in the sports writing contest. Louis Hallenstein, a senior B, and a member of the copy staff of The Times, placed third in the editorial writing contest.

The national winners in the contest will receive a creative writing award of the society and will be eligible for the five hundred dollar Quill and Scroll President's Scholarship. The scholarship competition, open only to qualified seniors, will cover tuition at any school or department of journalism holding membership in the American Association of Schools and Departments of Journalism.

"House Of Magic" To Be Presented

Will Be Given At Math-Science Meeting On January 17 By Mr. Howard Miller Of G. E.

Mr. Howard Miller, General Electric employee, will be the special speaker at the last Math-Science Club meeting this semester, which is to be held on January 17 in the study hall. Mr. Miller will present to the students the famous General Electric "House of Magic". This demonstration is being presented in the study hall because it is believed that many of the students and teachers besides those associated with Math-Science Club will want to attend. Therefore, Math-Science Club is extending an invitation to all students and teachers to attend this meeting if they are interested in this type of educational program.

This presentation of "The House of Magic" is almost identical with the presentation that was given at both the World Fair and the Century of Progress Exposition. The setting up of the equipment to be used for the presentation in our study hall will take approximately four hours, and the demonstration itself will take about two hours.

Mr. R. L. Davis was the special speaker at the December meeting of the Math-Science Club. He spoke on "Plastics and Its Uses" and supplemented his talk with approximately forty samples of plastic products. Thermoplastic letter-openers were given to all present as a souvenir of plastic.

Blackboard illustrations of chemical formulas and the manufacturing of plastic products were explained so that the students might have a better understanding of the process necessary to form these products.

Hi-Y Club Hears Talk

By Mr. Russell Furst

Mr. Russell Furst, Archer market-teacher, gave a talk on bees and honey, his hobby, at the last meeting of Hi-Y Thursday, December 19, at the YMCA. He discussed queen bees, drones, types of honey, worker bees, hives, and the general characteristics of honey bees.

Cousin Of English Instructor Is Dead

Mr. Warren Harvey Was Ranking Officer In U. S. Navy; Was To Have Been War Observer

Warren Harvey, cousin of Miss Beulah Rinehart, English instructor at South Side, lost his life in an air crash when dying of heart failure. He was buried in Arlington National Cemetery, Washington, D. C.

Mr. Harvey was a ranking officer for a squadron of bombing planes with rank of Commander, Lieutenant. He piloted the first plane that went in search of Amelia Earhart.

He received his education at Annapolis, Maryland. For three years he was at the naval station on the Hawaiian Islands. Previous to his death he made his home at Coronado, California, which is faced with the sea. He was flying from Coronado to Washington when the accident occurred. He was on his way to act as war observer in England.

Receives Gold-Jeweled Pin

Winning the highest award that can be won for publications work, John Gumpfer has received his gold-jeweled pin. In order to qualify for such an award, one must earn 10,000 points. John's list of positions on the Times staff include the following: news reporter, ad solicitor, room agent, feature writer, editorial writer, proof-reader, head writer, sports writer, make-up editor, and copy editor.

Many Archer Fems Traipse To Building From Distant Points

How many times have we heard the males who go to South Side complain about the long, long journey to school? Instead of figuring out the answer, let's consider the plight of some of the feminine students.

Look at the case of Kathryn Eipper. Kate resides out on the Sand Point Road. Now, just for the benefit of you Toms, Dicks, and Harrys, here is one girl who doesn't believe in that extra nap so many of us take to remove last night's dreams!

Helen Nide, Jane Nathan, and Jo Frosh are three smart girls who decided to come to South Side at any cost. Although all live in the Central High School district, we see them arrive bright and early each day at the corner of Calhoun and Gumpfer Streets.

In case the above examples aren't enough, here is one that is really tapping. Bay Meyer covers the North Side waterfront! Yes, this 10A resides on Thieme Drive, by the St. Joseph River, technically in the region of North Side High.

You can't take it with you," say the parents of Ann Welborn, studious freshman, Ann, too, is faced with the matter of a large total of mileage. She comes from Fillmore Street, about five miles west of town. Just what they mean by the remark is uncertain, but Ann says that she can't stop to figure it out if she wants to arrive at South Side and arrive on time.

Mary Jane Hale, 11A, isn't a ten o'clock scholar. She leaves her domain at 3812 South Anthony Boulevard at least before the first bell each day. To traipse each morn from Wayne Trace is not much of a joke to Joan Gautman, 9B; but neither is the jaunt from way out on the Decatur Road such a lark to Adelene Corts, 9B, who resides on Rural Route 10.

Freshman Opinions Concerning Socials Vary Considerably

Until a few years ago, the freshman class held an annual picnic. Since the sophomores have their party, the juniors have their prom, and the seniors have their dance, why can't the freshmen have an event to which they can look forward?

Here are a few comments on this question: Barbara Leas: I think it is OK, but I don't think that many of the kids would come, even if we did. Margaret Kuntz: It would be a grand idea if the freshmen would attend.

Bill Fishering: I suppose it would be OK.

Walt Turner: I'm not stating any opinions.

Marjorie Peterson: No, I don't think it would be very successful.

Mary Louise McNabb: Ditto.

Marge Reithmiller: I think we ought to have a picnic. Upperclassmen have proms and parties, so why not let us have a freshman picnic?

Dorothy Meyer: A freshman picnic would be lots of fun. We would have a chance to meet the kids in the class whom we don't know.

Kay Scholer: Yes, I do. We never have any freshman get-togethers.

Carollers Present Program At Bank

Archers' Chorus Sings Several Christmas Songs Downtown; Group Accompanied By Band

Approximately eighty-two carollers represented South Side's chorus in the group which sang carols at the Lincoln National Bank Friday, December 20.

Accompanied by the band, they sang "O Come, All Ye Faithful," "Silent Night," "Hark, The Herald Angels Sing," "Joy to the World," and a special selection, "All Christians, Awake," which was written by Mr. Jack Wainwright, music director.

The Archer members of the group who took part in the program include Mildred Foutz, Eugene Backen, Marilyn Borkenstein, Garneta Beatty, Etheldrea Behling, Lorraine Berning, Richard Beltz, Rosemary Bird, George Blanks, Phyllis Bloemker, Maurine Brackman, Helen Brindle, Wayne Brown, James Bunner, and Marilyn Byerly.

Others are Martha Cash, Eleanor Christ, Joyce Cleaver, Chuck Close, Jean Connell, Warren Cook, Joan Cox, Lois Craig, Phyllis Crumrine, and Betty Curless, June DeWoods, Joan Dodge, Charlotte DuWan, Margaret Edwards, Barbara Eggert, Betty Fremion, Betty Funk, Joanne Gable, Ruth Nican, Carolyn Glentzer, Peggy Greany, Lois Heuer, Phyllis Hubert, Bob Jamieson, Georgia Johnson, Betty Kammeyer, and Ruth Kelso.

More carollers are Mary Kerns, Elsie Korte, Wilma Lageman, Erleen Lee, Doris Lontz, Betty Mann, Alice Myers, Martha Moellering, Katherine Nider, Colleen Plummer, Rosemary Plummer, Elaine Polman, Doris Rart, cliffe, Violet Reiter, Emalyn Rimmel, Grace Dendelman, Jean Sheets, Sylvia Sholtz, Dorothy Snavely, Betty Speckman, and Julia Spindler.

Completing the list of singers are Wahella Spore, Gloria Staley, Mae Ann Stark, Robert Steek, Bettillu Stein, Barbara Steinbacher, Marjorie Sullivan, Everette Trulock, Don Virts, Joan Virts, Evelyn Warren, Frances Weir, Helen Welbaum, Roseanna Weston, Carol Whittner, Mary Whittner, Norma Whitesel, Bob Wylie, and Jane Nathan.

J. Smith, M. Dunten Report To Three E's

Jeanne Smith gave an interesting report on the origin of words, and Mary Alice Dunten spoke on the background of the English language at the Three E's Club meeting, which was held December 14 at the home of Mitha Jean Smith, 4802 Beaver Avenue.

After the reports were given, the members were asked to correct spelling errors in a group of sentences. A contest was then held in which synonyms were to be chosen for a list of given words. The group also corrected misused words. Refreshments were served.

The next meeting will be held January 18 at the home of Ionejaan Tracht, 710 Oakdale Drive. Tompkins Hall and Dorothy Gildea will be assisting hostesses.

Senior Attends Rotary

Bob Young, 12B, was selected to represent South Side at meetings of the Rotary Club this month. Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal, announced. Representatives from each of the four city high schools are chosen each month from the outstanding senior boys.

Happy Birthday

This Week Today: Geraldine Boese, Dick Everett, Roland Snyder, Bette Walden, and Rose Wyss.

Tomorrow: Ruthann Archer, Marilyn Borkenstein, Joan Druhot, Helen Harber, Barbara Koenig, Betty Mann, and Jack Vetter.

Saturday: Alice Briggs, Jim Dunaway, Evelyn Kline, Doris Miller, Shirley Rogers, Tenny White, and Kathryn Zaegel.

Monday: Kathryn Anderson, Kathryn Eipper, Virginia Griffith, Joe Hayes, Dorothy Klingel, Barbara Steinbacher, and Don Stone.

Tuesday: Laverne Michelfelder, Norbert Ream, Marvin Reynolds, Jean Siples, Ed Turner, and Betty Zuber.

Wednesday: Merle Fackler, Ruth Franklin, Laura Grazier, Paul Greilark, Keith Prociase, Deloris Reiter, and Evelyn Thomas.

Alumni Tag Thirteen Of Senior Class

National Honor Students Chosen For Character, Service, Leadership, Grades

Assembly Held To Honor Members

Jack Stark, Austin Gardner Speak At Seventh Period Convocation, December 19

Thirteen outstanding senior A students were elected to the National Honor Society on Tag Day, Thursday, December 19.

The thirteen students and their activities are Marjorie Sheldon, general manager of The Times, Math-Science, and Social Science; Marjorie Dyer, social chairman of Philo, Booster, Inter-Club Congress, Social Science, and Marionette.

Others are Paul Kell, president of Social Science, Library secretary, Wranglers, and SPC; Kathryn Beckman, music director of Philo, secretary-treasurer of Marionette, and SPC; Clifford Matson, Library, and Wranglers.

More named are Evelyn Erickson, SPC, Service, and Social Science; Rebecca Abbott, president of Philo, SPC, circulation manager of The Times, Math Science, The Totem, treasurer of Wranglers, Social Science vice-president, and 1500; James Brooks, SPC, Wranglers, freshman editor of The Totem, Times, 1500, Social Science, and Math Science; Donald Meyer, Wranglers, SPC, Social Science, Intramural Letterman, Ext-emp, and Service; Edward Meyer, Wranglers, Social Science, Intramural Letterman Service, and SPC.

Booster directors active in Philo and SPC are: Safford McMyler, president of Math-Science, Wranglers, Inter-Club Congress representative, Service, and SPC.

An assembly was held during the last twenty minutes of the seventh period to introduce the new members to the student body.

Winners from the Freshman-Sophomore Speech Contest spoke on the four requirements of eligibility for the National Honor Society. The students were judged on service, scholarship, character, and leadership.

The freshmen who spoke are Jack Stark and Austin Gardner. The sophomore representatives are Bill Bone and Dick Shriner.

Graduates who were here Thursday to tag the students are Jane Bowen, Donna Lou Foutz, Bill Newhard, Jeanne Gumpfer, Max Wagner, Dick Gerig, Dorothy Gore, Maurine Seibert, and

Resolve To Make More Use Of Your Education In 1941

Hail 1941! Hail the New Year! No doubt you did most of your hailing night before last, but it is still not too late to do a little more. Why? Because today is New Year's Day, not New Years Day on the calendar, but the first day of a new school year.

You can do nothing finer today than to resolve to get more out of your education in 1941, and to make your school life fuller than it has ever been before. Even if you are an A student, you can try for A pluses this year; if you are an A-plus student, you can take a more active part in clubs and extra-curricular activities. Somewhere along the line, there is something that you can do to be better than before.

It seems to have become quite the thing to make a number of New Year's resolutions and then forget about them. But this resolution should be one that is foremost in your mind throughout the year. You should resolve to buckle down to your school work. You'll get far more enjoyment out of club life if you take more of an interest in the activities. This does not mean that you should join six or seven clubs at the same time. There is a common misconception in South Side that the more clubs you belong to the better off you are. That's not true; it is better to attempt a few things and to do them well.

Of course it's so late in this semester that turning over a new leaf now won't make a great change in your marks. Only three weeks remain until you will pass on to another grade.

Students, Have A Pink Slip While Meandering In Halls

You are indeed a freshman if you do not know that a hall pass (pink slip) is necessary for one to be in the halls during any period of the day with the exception of the fifth. During the past month, especially during the fourth period, many students have been caught violating the hall rules. As you read this, someone may be getting a summons to appear in Mr. Flint's office sometime during the day because he has not observed the rule.

Our hall regulations were not made out of spite toward the student body. They were made with a definite purpose. Classes are being held every period, and the noise and confusion caused by students wandering around the halls is not very conducive to study. The faculty, consequently, established a system whereby no one would be in the halls without some definite reason.

Of course when you walk by yourself from the Times office to the study hall, or from the study hall to your locker, you aren't creating any annoying disturbance. But when others see you do it and get away with it, they are tempted to try it also; and confusion is then inevitable. The school, therefore, has clamped down with rules the past few weeks. It's for the good of the majority; so please budget your time so that it won't be necessary to be in the halls when you should be somewhere else.

Simile: As ominous as the approaching end of the term.

Well, today is the second. Do you still feel like keeping those New Year's resolutions?

Beat North Side!

It was foolish to hold school today. Everybody's still half asleep from the celebration the night before last.

Correct this sentence: The students are very careful to avoid marring the walls, because they are proud of the new paint job.

Now that Christmas is over, we have to think about writing those thank-you letters.

The early bird gets the worm—but he didn't have any fun the night before.

A penny saved is a penny earned—toward the Totem underclassman pictures, not too far off.

We should make the same use of books that the bee does of a flower; he gathers sweets from it, but does not injure it.

It is said that Napoleon and Caesar could listen, dictate, and write all at the same time. What an intelligent generation this is, which studies and listens to the radio at the same time.

Latest Escapades Of Jovial Juniors

After a pleasant and invigorating holiday season, we juniors are again back at South Side. Just think, we haven't set our eyes on the "gang" since last year.

With the dawn of a new year, many of us made some resolutions. Undoubtedly most of them already have been cast aside, either forgotten or broken. Sad to say, but true, that has been my plight.

Through our meandering up and down the inclines of South Side, perchance you have seen that mighty V-man, Gene Auer. But alas, you noticed poor Gene's eyes were dull (Maurine would do the trick), for he was disappointed in love. On New Year's Day, he became an active member of the Hoosier Hotshot Hermit Homo Club. But it seems that Joan doesn't think it Cartwright (quite right) for Gene to join this organization. Why? Ask the board of experts. I shall not render a decision.

Sam Johnson, Clifford Springer, and Bill Knoll spent part of their vacation traveling through our beautiful state of Indiana. They enjoyed Christmas Eve in the little town of Termiteville at the Beetlebug Hotel. Around midnight of that very memorable day, the guests of the hotel were disturbed by a terrific commotion from the boys' room. Our little classmates were harmonizing on some lyrics. Can you imagine them singing this song:

    Rub a dub dub,
    Three men in a tub,
    Oh! these small hotels!

But now to get down to the more pleasant things of our school curriculum—studies. Latin may be classified by some as being "dead"; but if you ever saunter into a certain Latin class the fourth period, your opinion will definitely undergo a change. I have intercepted several "amor" notes being sent from "Galba" Howard to "Julia" Hargess. Imagine these two juniors writing, "Ego amo te." Could it be that Latin is becoming a romance language?

"T.B. or not T.B. that is consumption," so says South Side's philosopher, Miss Arlene Snyder. This will go down in the annals of history as one of the most outstanding statements made by a student at South Side.

South Siders Spend Vacation Dancing, Eating, And Sleeping

What did you do during the Christmas holidays? Here is what some of our students did during their week of liberty.

Judy Preece ate, slept, and went to Pokagon State Park.
Phyl Renkenberger slept, read, and wanted to skate, but there wasn't any ice.

Anita Eller ate, slept, and went out. (Everyone seems to be eating and sleeping.)

Marilyn Byerly went to Louisville, Kentucky to visit relatives there.

Jenouise Babcock took in all the Christmas dances.
Marjorie Sullivan ate, slept, and, as always, acted silly.

LaVerne Michelfelder ate, slept, went to dances, and caught up on her home work (mostly themes).

Ionejean Tracht went to Cincinnati to visit her relatives.
Bud Brudi claimed that he took Fort Wayne to Chicago. Wonder how he did that?

Olive Swanson went to dances and gave a party for Bill Blass. Wasn't Bill lucky?

Art Gigax stayed out all night and worked all day, if that's possible.

Dick Fishering did most everything that could be done when you don't have to go to school.

Bob Worman went out with the women and slept the remainder of the time.

Roy Heaver could only say, "Ah, just me and Barbara Scudder."

Senior Sophisticates Still Strutting Stuff

Trouble comes double in chemistry class, so it seems. The notorious comedian, Art Parry, better known as "Quip Drip", pulled one of his famous horse laughs in class the other day. This was followed by a subtle hint from the teacher to evacuate. Art must have set an example for Kolman Gross, who immediately followed Mr. Parry out of class. Gee, that's easier than skipping.

Speaking of classroom news, have you noticed how easy it is for Dick Dosch to drop off into a gentle snooze every third period? Well, the other day he had to have outside help in waking up. The instruments used to persuade the sleeper to awaken are on exhibit in the main hall. Exhibit A consists of a lead pipe, and the other instrument consists of a loud speaker, and an F&F cough drop. It may sound weird, but the evidence speaks for itself.

You'd think that "Killer" Miller would suffer from eyestrain, fatigue, and upset nerves judging from the way he stares at Margie McMahon in civics class. Oh well, it makes civics more interesting.

Either you're blind or unobserving if you haven't noticed the boys' latest rage for curduroy pork pie hats. Yes, even Lou Hallenstein has one. Dick McIntosh and Bob Moses just won't go anywhere without theirs. In fact, they seem to be more attached to their hats than they do their favorite girls. Down with pork pie hats!

Caught again! These are Rudolph Wuttke's famous last words. Although he tries his best to talk softly, he's bound to be reprimanded for misconduct every seventh period. Humiliating, isn't it?

The Grill seems to be a rendezvous for a lot of after-school romances. At least you are sure to find one couple sipping sodas over there every night. Could it be Lola Rodriguez and Bud Lynch?

Jane Klinefelter Collects Dolls From Here, There, Everywhere

Jane Klinefelter with her doll collection

Above is pictured Jane Klinefelter, 11B, who, although in her third year of high school, still enjoys dolls. Jane does not, as most of you probably think by this time, play with these dolls. She keeps them merely for a hobby.

Jane started her collection of dolls six years ago in 1934. While in grade school, all of her friends had a hobby of some sort, either collecting stamps or scrapbooks. But Jane wanted a different hobby so since she had so many dolls she thought she would use them as her hobby.

Her mother was the first to contribute to her collection which today amounts to thirty dolls of all sizes from one inch to a foot and a half in height. Mrs. Klinefelter was traveling when she found a negro doll which had been imported from Africa so she purchased the doll and brought it home for Jane's collection. After this her collection began to grow rapidly. The next contribution came from Minneapolis, Minnesota, in the form of a doll made entirely of match sticks. Jane kept this doll as one of her prize possessions until just recently when "Peppy", her dog, made a meal out of it.

A school teacher who was a friend of Jane's was traveling south of the border in Mexico when she bought the set of three Mexican dolls you will find in her collection. The Irish, not to be outdone, are represented by an Irish lassie purchased in New York City by a friend and given to Jane as a gift. About this time the Dionne quintuplets made their debut into the world so she immediately purchased a replica of Yvonne for her already quite large collection.

A red haired doll from Alabama was the next to join the gang. This doll was purchased for a joke on Jane because of the red hair. Both the doll and Jane sport the nickname "Carrots". She has two colonial dolls out-fitted in George Washington period costumes. One of which she received this Christmas. She is especially fond of these because they were made by her aunt. She also has an Indian doll from an Indian reservation at Lake Malack, Canada.

The Chicago and New York fairs have contributed a Hungarian doll in full regalia and a good luck charm doll of a rabbit's foot and beads. Jane also has an old-fashioned doll dressed in doll clothes which belonged to her grandmother when she was a girl. Jane has a doll which, when it was first given to her, had beautiful long curls but today the doll is sporting a crew cut, thanks to Jane and her barber shop.

Jane plans to continue her hobby until she has a doll from every town she has visited. She also wants a doll from every country and from each of the forty-eight states. Jane had a much larger collection but through her generosity she has given away many of her dolls for gifts or just to friends who admired them.

News Flashes Of 1941

Way back in 1940 A.D. the kids here at school seemed to know who and why. Now at the beginning of a bright New Year, this being only the second day, it is quite probable that the resolutions made yesterday are still in effect. We hope that the spirit of '41, will make the bonds everlasting stronger, if possible, than the spirit of '40.

Starting the New Year out right are Bob Cowan of North Side and our own Mary Ann Florence, a new pair of steadies. Another good example of what we mean by the spirit of '41 is that cute couple Jim Worman and Shirley Rogers.

With all this good news flying around, we hate to seem like wet blankets, but from what we have heard Mary Jane Jacot and Bob Racht have called it "quits".

This business of learning how to dance is as good an excuse as we can think of at the present. Some people say that it is a tedious job but for some reason Russell Sunday doesn't mind it at all when Ann Martin is the teacher.

On the brink of falling into the pond among the others going steady are Mary Condrey and Bob Smith.

Little Miss Barb Brower is doing O.K. for one little lassie between Jim Schmo, Joe Loos, and her long-lost steady Don Hire, who is now home from Southern California for Christmas vacation.

For still being in their first semester of high school, Kay Scholer and Walt Turner seem to be catching on to how it is done.

Needless to say, Jean Hench and Byron Gingham, the good old stand-bys, are still going steady.

Brass buttons always seem to get them, for Jean Seidel has been dazzled by the brilliancy of John Gould, fresh from Culver for Christmas vacation.

Carrying a torch is a terrible way to start the New Year, but this doesn't hinder Joan Pope, who is carrying one for Joe Hayes.

Another couple in which the girl knows the boy better than the boy knows the girl is Janet Rea and Dick Seller, but we have no fear that it will continue this way for very long.

Tyke Hartman and Lorraine Lord have been hitting it off pretty regu-larly lately.

With this last bit of good news we leave you until the next time.

Pedagogue's Corner

Miss Alice Dean, our teacher celebrity for this week, can be seen during the day in the girls' gym office, and during home room period in Room 98. When asked what determined her career for her, she answered that it was her mother's idea. Then she said that she had come from a family of school teachers; so she decided to follow in the footsteps of her relatives. As you all know, Miss Dean is one of the physical education instructors here at South Side.

She received her education at Garrett High School, Penn State College, Carnegie Tech., West Virginia University, and Indiana Extension. She now has her A.B. and A. M. degrees.

Before coming to South Side, Miss Dean taught at Morgantown in West Virginia for five years. Then, hearing the call of the Archers, she packed her bags and tripped the light fantastic to South Side where she has been for three and a half years. During the summer of 1938 she taught school at Manchester College.

When asked if she enjoyed her work, she answered that she liked it very much, especially South Side. Three cheers for Miss Dean!

Now for the more interesting facts. The hobbies of this ambitious teacher are traveling, collecting poetry, and collecting handkerchiefs from every

Sophomores Write Thanking Santa For Their Gifts

Dear Santa Claus,

I know that you think it strange for someone to write you a letter after Christmas, but I couldn't help writing and thanking you for all the gifts that you showered upon my fellow students and myself in the sophomore class. I have been chosen as the one to write to tell you what we liked most of all the gifts which you so graciously gave to us.

Lois Bailey is quite pleased with the book you gave her on "How to Hold Your Man." It was just what she wanted and has already shown favorable results.

Julia Kaiser received her basketball set with much enthusiasm and she is now contemplating whether she should take up basketball as a professional. That is a hint for Coach Friddle.

Harry Hines was very enthused about his book which he received for Christmas entitled, "Two Great Brothers and I Follow."

"Ray" Meyers and Harriet Shinnick were thrilled about the manicure sets they received, although you did give them a set of false finger nails; and what do those girls need with false fingernails?

Victor Kauffman seems happily engaged with that set of encyclopedias that you presented to him. He has already read through volume one and could give you a detailed account of any word beginning with "A".

David Link is especially fond of the formula you gave him for writing sports. He just recently started to work on the Times staff and shows signs of talent. The formula has been a great help to him.

Well, Santa, these are just a few of the many comments made about your swell generosity. We all are quite proud of the gifts you presented to us.

Thanking you again.

Sophia Moore.

Students' Corner

This week we salute the senior celebrity of the week, Martha Jean Smith, better known as "Twangy" or "Mar".

Background . . . From the beginning, "Mar" was brilliant enough to own and operate a beauty parlor, charging two cents a curl and one cent discount for any singed ends. She didn't stop there. Oh no! She, along with a neighbor business partner, originated and directed a cool-ade stand, until her grade school life at Harrison Hill interfered with her business life.

South Side Life . . . Entering South Side with her chums, Joyce Cleaver, Reba Coppock, Carolyn Lichtenberg, Charlene McAttee, and Dolores Daniels, Martha began working her way through high school. She entered Latin Club, GAA, and Meterites as a freshman and sophomore. When a junior and senior, she added to this list Wranglers, French, Inter-Club Congress, and SPC.

What's Favorite with "Mar" . . . Driving, for one thing, is a delight for "Mar", which gives all her pals an excuse for asking for a ride here and there. Mar is fond of swimming and dancing and executes them both to perfection. As a hobby, she collects all kinds of hats, perfume bottles, and programs.

Personality . . . "Poison" in Mar's personality is the exception rather than the rule. There is never a dull moment in public speaking class when she is present. She's always good natured and full of pep even though she gets kidded about everything. We can't imagine anyone accepting the title of "Twangy" and smiling about it, but Mar did. I would be imposing a little too much on her good nature if I explained the origination of that nickname.

Next Stop . . . She gets off at Dennison College where she is planning to take a general course, until it is definite what special profession she will follow. We can be sure that whatever it is, Mar will be a big success. Her determination in undertakings, her ability, and her good nature assure that.

Did You Receive Unwanted Presents As Christmas Gifts?

By Ima Unwanted
"Jeepers, mom, guess what Aunt Prudence sent? Yeh, same old thing. That's the third pair of overhoes in two years; Ossian must have had a fire sale. Byowwww, long underwear for dad. Don't you think that she could send something useful once in a while? No, you weren't forgotten either. She sent you a pair of black woolen stockings and that moth-eaten cat that she used to have in the parlor. Gee, if I weren't in the Christmas spirit, this might discourage me."

Every year well-meaning relatives and doubtful friends pour in atrocious and unusable gifts which we can't get rid of. Lately, even the Salvation Army refuses them. If it isn't a pair of house slippers that don't fit, it's a book written in Greek. All we can say is, "It really was dear of you to remember us this Christmas." Last Christmas a bachelor uncle gave us a big, black cat named "Cracker." We liked "Cracker", but dear old Cracker had six crumbs; so now we aren't fond of cats or the dear uncle.

After all my experience with this sort of thing, I should have a remedy, but alas and alack, no such thing. What if Aunt Tillie, or Uncle Zeke, or great-aunt Lizzie does send the same gifts every year? So what?

"Maybe" This Will Recall "Yesterthoughts"

When we hear songs on the radio or stage, we naturally connect them with an incident or some familiar place, humorous or otherwise. Well, one of your striving, or rather starving, reporters has connected these songs and places together:

In The Mood: What you're not on Monday morning.
Crosstown: Where we shall spend the evening of January 3 (guests of North Side).

Trade Winds: A group of girls talking in the front hall, fifth period.

Careless: One who leaves the door of the chemistry laboratory open.

That's For Me: The cry at the Grill the fifth period when a hamburger goes by.

If I Knew Then: The thoughts of some people who got their dates for Christmas two months ago.

Hot Lips: Just take a drink at the fountain near Room 25.

Hurry Home: The last thing you hear when you leave for a date.

Slow Freight: Sixth period.

Traffic Jam: South Side during a fire drill.

Sweaters Predominate In Boys' Fashions

This week we shall devote most of this fashion column to the discussion of men's sweaters.

Luggage tan, a sort of rust color, is the newest and smartest thing in colors. A sweater of this color in some fuzzy ribbed material is just the thing. In sweater styles, the "V" neck is the latest twist. The smartest thing is the blouse type, with ribbing around the bottom instead of a turn-up. This sweater is swell for school wear; it is warm, exceptionally low priced, and is very stylish.

Another sweater that is seen quite a good deal around school is the two-tone sleeveless sweater. This is the kind with the back and front of different colors. These are very popular.

A sweater to be worn with a sport coat or outfit should be of the vest style. The knit or weave should be of the chain-stitch pattern.

In the coat-sweater line, suede fronts are still tops, with a ribbed-knitted base for the suede.

Probably the smartest and best styled sweaters this year for boys and young men are the cashmere knit slip-overs. These sweaters really "have something on the ball." Tan and oxford gray are the most popular colors. The style of the sweater is similar to the first sweater mentioned, but the superior grade of yarn adds to its distinctiveness, to say nothing of the price.

Brushed wool is also a sweater favorite this year. Long, fuzzy, sweaters are very popular. The slip-over with the crew neck is king. The sweaters are mostly in red or blue.

Fashion Forecasts Of The New Year

Now that Christmas is over and life once more resumes its normal way, we can all breathe a long sigh of relief. Santa Claus was kind enough to leave in some of the girls' stockings some nice crisp bills with which to buy their own Christmas presents. Mighty thoughtful of Santa I must say.

With this "foldin' money", many of us are really baffled on what to spend it for. Before Christmas we could think of just oodles of lovely presents we'd really appreciate, but with the money actually in our possession the conservative side of us seems to pop out and these articles that held our interest before seem rather silly and impractical now.

How about a new sweater to live up your school wardrobe? You won't care how cold the weather becomes when you and one of those husky sweaters and calots get together. The heavy all wool cardigan is a toaster for warmth and a booster for looks. You'd think that it was handmade to look at it, with its keen wooden buttons and little matching calot.

Perhaps you have been bemoaning the fact that all of your date dresses are really dated. If you want a new frock to freshen your winter coat, be fashion-wise and look to the new gay print dresses. You'll be in the height of fashion without a bit of strain on your budget. One little number that took my eye had a button-front with soft unpressed pleats in front and back. Another was made along simpler lines with a convertible collar, and straight pleated front. The cutest one of all had a very soft blouse, fly front and gay border down the front and around the edges of the collar and pockets.

Be practical! Purchase wool anklets to match all of your sweaters with smart monograms on the cuffs. You really will look a hundred per cent better if your anklets match your ensemble instead of contrast.

Hot stuff! Warm as toast mitts that have white bunny fur backs and red leather palms. They are as warm as they are clever looking.

Doctor Ting Su Expresses Favorable Opinion About U.S.

Several weeks ago when Dr. Ting Su, Chinese educator and research professor at Indiana University, spoke at an assembly, I, as did many others, became interested in what he told us about education in China and the promotion of world brotherhood. A personal interview was arranged, and we talked to Dr. Su at the YMCA, where we discussed China and its problems.

We talked about the war in China and its outcome and also about the morale of the people. In regard to this, Dr. Su said, "We of China are very confident that we will win the war. Already the Japanese are retreating; soon we will have supplies and arms to equal those of the invaders. Then we will drive them from our homeland. The morale of my people is also very high, even higher than when the Japanese invasion started. Constant bombings have made the people draw to one another for mutual protection."

General Is Recognized Everyone knows the great Chinese leader Chiang Kai-shek, for he has almost single-handedly reorganized China so that she could resist the invaders. When I asked Dr. Su what his impressions of General Kai-shek were, he replied, "I am a firm believer in the ability of the great Chinese leader. In Chiang Kai-shek we have a great statesman with keen vision and insight into national problems and international issues. He works and fights, not only for the welfare of the Chinese people, but also for the common good of mankind as a whole. All the Chinese, Mongolian, and Tibetan trust and support him in the face of the Japanese invasion."

We talked of many things during the course of our hour-and-a-half conversation, and I found Dr. Su not a curious foreigner looking in, but a sympathetic and intuitive foreigner drawing from his Oriental experience to tell us what we need to know. He proved to be an excellent conversationalist, very human and likeable; and his interest in youth, his enthusiasm and love of the work which he is doing accounts for his being such a good speaker, able to stimulate the imagination of his listeners.

Dr. Su is also a great believer in the American way of life. He said, "We of China love and admire your country, we believe that there is no other country which has the peace and prosperity of the United States; yet the American people do not seem to realize this. If only China could be like the great United States of America."

Believes in American Life Dr. Su believes that China is the front line defense of North America. He stated, "Only an independent and victorious China can safeguard American rights and interests and the preservation of peace, security, and prosperity in the Pacific and in the world as well."

Dr. Su displayed several of the Chinese magazines which he had brought from his homeland. They correspond to our magazines "Look" and "Life". This is an example of the similarity between the modern China and our country.

Not certain to what extent the Chinese still followed their own customs and habits, I asked Dr. Su about this matter, and he said, "The modern generation loves the American way of life, although the older generation would have us dress and act as did our ancestors. However, it is a young man's China; so we copy you Americans."

How We Have Grown! Look At First Times!

Have you ever stopped to consider just what the first copy of the paper you are reading now looks like? The first copy of The South Side Times was issued Friday, October 6, 1922. It was much smaller than the present-day Times, and had only four pages.

Upon its front page were two headlines. One announced that the grand sum of 801 pupils were to enter the building; the other heralded the football team of Coach Ward O. Gilbert.

Pictures of Mr. Robert C. Harris, who was then principal, and Miss Martha Pittenger, dean, were used on the front page.

The initial copy of our newspaper had, in addition to the features we carry today, a society column. This bore such items as "Elizabeth Kline spent the weekend with relatives in Cromwell."

Instead of a complete sports page, The Times had then only one small column devoted to matters of athletic interest. The ad page, considered large then, carried the sum total of sixteen advertisements.

Gleaned from the first issue—A "heavy" football schedule of five games was played that season. The Girl Reserve Club was called "Les Amies". A stadium was about to be added to the par-

Initially completed high school building. There were thirty-seven teachers employed in South Side. South Side students were offered copies of the Spotlight at five cents apiece. Previews of coming shows were presented on the editorial page.

One of the yells used in the first assembly was, according to the initial issue of The Times:

Zickety! Boom! Rah! Rah!
Zickety! Boom! Rah! Rah!
South Side High School
Rah! Rah! Rah!

At this meeting, green and white were unanimously chosen as school colors. Speakers at this session were Mr. Harris, principal; Mr. Gilbert, coach; Miss Pickard, girls' gym instructor; Miss Harvey, English and journalism instructor; and Mr. Gattwood, music director.

Items about teachers played a prominent part in the paper:

Miss Pittenger (assigning a theme): "Now, girls, you can't write it after he goes home, and, boys, you can't write it on the way home, either."

Mr. Whalen was walking to the board in order to explain something to the class when he came in sudden contact with a plug in the floor.

Mr. Whalen showed the class a new and very graceful way of resisting the force of gravity.

Miss Emma E. Kiefer's English 3 Classes Express Their Ideas About Armistice Day

In celebration of Armistice Day, the pupils of Miss Kiefer's English 3 classes wrote their ideas of that holiday. These three articles were written by Dorothy McPherson, Betty MacKay, and Victor Kaufman.

By Dorothy McPherson
The word "armistice" defined means a brief pause in war by agreement of the opposing forces, a truce. This year all Americans are fervently praying that for this nation that definition will not hold true.

I remember the Armistice Day when I was in the fifth grade. The fall was long that year; and, although the leaves were off the trees, the sun was shining warmly through the windows, and the sky was very blue with only threads of clouds. The schoolroom I occupied that year was small and dim and high. From my seat, all I could see was the sky through the bare branches of the trees. I remember that we were studying when the principal announced through the loud speaker that we would observe two minutes of silence. Then, all over town, bells rang and factory whistles blew. Outside the room everything seemed joyous and glad; but inside, it was intensely quiet. The two minutes were interminably long, but, young as the children were, none of them disrespected the silence.

Strangely, that two minutes pause has remained in my mind while I remember little else of my grade school life. I remember another Armistice Day. I was sick and had been out of school for a few days. That morning I wasn't thinking about Armistice Day; in fact, I had almost forgotten it, and then my mother mentioned it about 10:30. When eleven o'clock came, it profoundly impressed me that my mother stopped her work until the bells stopped ringing.

If it were possible for peace to continue until all the men and women who had been in, or were directly affected by the first World War were dead, I do not think that Armistice Day would continue to have such depth of feeling and meaning. It would always be a symbol and a tradition, yes, but the people to whom it meant life itself would be dead, and to those living it would be just history with a special significance.

It is only when they, themselves, are directly concerned that people sharply realize the meanings of things. Up to a certain time, they have been looking at things with a concerned but worried eye. But bring a situation home and everything takes a different aspect. Sometimes I wonder if the century during which I live will go down in history as Another Hundred Year's War. The second of a series of wars is in progress. The first almost took my father, the second might take my brothers, and if it continued very long, the boys I grew up with. Allowing twenty-five years for each nation to rear new soldiers and acquire new wealth, succeeding wars would undoubtedly take my husband, sons, and grandsons. But as the last is in the hazy future, the present concerns me most. Of course, the United States may never enter the war, but I am thinking, as I said people do, of how deeply involved I would be if that did happen.

My father is safe. My one brother Gerding's Drug STORES is already in the Air Corps. My other brother has a wife and baby, but they would be flimsy barriers in a serious war. I have a multitude of cousins who are at a ripe age for the army. After the war, we'd be a crippled nation. Another depression would be upon us, and the old monotonous cycle would begin again.

Armistice Day, 1940, is burdened with meaning. When it is over, there will be with me the memories of three Armistice Days. The first, beautiful; the second, solemn; the third, ominous.

By Victor Kaufman
On November 10, 1940, the ex-prime minister of Great Britain died—on the day before Armistice Day. Perhaps it was kind on the part of Fate to number Armistice Day among his last days!

We Americans—the British too—have been too quick to judge Chamberlain, and we have judged him too harshly. We remember the criticism heaped on him and the ridicule of his umbrella. He was a slow old man trying to protect England with his umbrella of pacifism and appeasement. Truly, I think he is one of the greatest, least appreciated, and saddest men in modern history. The life of Chamberlain is a stirring tragedy! I think that he was too honest, too great to believe there were men low as Hitler! He took men to be as honorable as himself, and he was mistaken! That was his great mistake!

I said that Chamberlain was probably glad not to face Armistice Day again. Why should this great man not like that day? Chamberlain loved peace. How thrilled and glad he must have been when the Armistice was declared. Peace—the war to end wars—was successfully completed. Wars had come to an end. Now the energies of the nations could be given to the pursuit of peaceful occupations. Armistice Day was then the symbol of his greatest hopes fulfilled. Armistice Day was the greatest day of the year! Armistice Day meant that—once. But Chamberlain was to be disillusioned. There was the Austrian crisis. Chamberlain was alarmed. If that was what Austria wished she could have it. Then came the Czechoslovakian crisis. Chamberlain was alarmed. He flew to Munich and pleaded with Hitler to stay his hand. Hitler said that he must have the Sudetenland or he would fight. Chamberlain must have felt heartick. This was shattering the meaning of Armistice! What had happened? The pot of war was beginning to boil in Europe. Chamberlain must have looked on with horrified eyes. It was like a terrible dream. Europe was rolling toward the brink of war, and he felt unable to move. His heart was too great to ruin the meaning of the first war by plunging Europe into another. He thought that if he gave Hitler what he wished, war would be averted. That was untrue, so that when greater crises came, Chamberlain was replaced by the efficient, cold Churchill.

What must Chamberlain have thought? Truly he presents a tragic picture. And there are many Chamberlains in England, the United States, Germany, and Italy—people who have had their faith in world peace shattered, and their belief in Armistice Day as a day when world peace was preserved. But what could an intelligent person think? We could think of this day as a day when a futile war was stopped—when nations stopped their men from bravely—but futile—giving their lives for a futile cause. But I think we should set this day aside as a day to dedicate ourselves to the task of rebuilding the war-torn world and making a greater world—of restoring the faith of men in themselves—in their leaders, in their destiny and in God! That is the way, I believe, that the brilliant, tragic Chamberlain would like to have that day celebrated.

By Betty MacKay
Armistice Day should bring to the United States a feeling of regret. One wonders why the tragedies of the "war to end wars" must be repeated, since they have proved so futile. Can anyone realize the talents that have been destroyed by this great destroyer—war? Considering only Americans in the last World War, there are three outstanding examples of wasted genius.

"I have a rendezvous with Death
At some disputed barricade,
When spring comes back with rustling shade
And apple blossoms fill the air—
I have a rendezvous with Death
When Spring brings back blue Days and fair."

"I Have a Rendezvous with Death," the poem above, was written by Alan Seeger. The poem is the only one he ever wrote—yet is classed with the best American poems. It is tragic to think of the poems Seeger might have written.

Another example—Joyce Kilmer. He wrote several poems, of which only "Trees" has become internationally famous. He, too, was killed in the World War.

But John McCrae contributed the most impressive picture of the World War, "In Flanders' Fields."

"In Flanders' Fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place, and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing, fly
Scarce heard above the guns below.
We are the Dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders' Fields."

"Take up the quarrel with the foe;
To you from failing hands we throw
The torch; be yours to hold it high.
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders' Fields."

John McCrae, Joyce Kilmer, Alan Seeger, and who knows how many more? It seems shameful to cause this waste of talent. So on Armistice Day, with the world at war, we should hope and pray for peace—not just another Armistice.

Remember to read the advertisements. They offer interesting news.

Sixteen Original Pedagogues Still Teach ABC's To Kellies

About eighteen years ago, our city welcomed the completion of a new and much-needed high school. It was our own dear Alma Mater, South Side. In a comparatively short length of time, South Side has traveled a long distance on many different roads to success. It was and still is honored for having splendid instructors. Many of the first faculty advisers have changed schools or advanced to higher positions; some have died, leaving South Side with unforgettable memories.

South Side is honored to have in its midst sixteen of those very first advisers who helped in the choosing of our now-famous colors, green and white, who assisted in the selection of our nickname, Archers, and who taught those first Archers, as we today, to be honorable, good, and well-liked.

Following are the sixteen teachers who helped launch South Side in 1922, and a little information about their pasts.

Humorists Are High In Archers' Choices Of Radio Programs

Since winter is the season for excellent radio programs, we would find a radio tuned to some favorite program in practically every Archer home. Of course, the faculty fondly pictures us deeply engrossed in our home-work; but if the midnight oil is burning, it is probably because Glenn Miller is having a late broadcast.

Personally, I'm not a radio addict, though I find myself arising with "Time to Shine," starting my home-work with "The Cigarette that Satisfies," and going to bed with "Moon River."

The radio is, however, highly educational. It keeps us in touch with world affairs, new scientific inventions, and historic events. The quiz and better speech programs are both entertaining and instructive.

In a recent poll, taken to determine which programs our Archers prefer, the following results were obtained: Phyllis Wefel: "Big Town." Those stories really make you stop and think.

Jack Meyers: "Bob Hope." I like Peppermint so well. Tom Hall: "Fibber McGee and Molly." I think they are the funniest. Eileen Eidner: "One Man's Family." They're such a nice family. Barbara Roth: "Glenn Miller." He is my favorite orchestra leader. Warren Hoagland: "Henry Aldrich." He is the typical high school boy.

Bill Wolf: "The Calvacade of America." I like historic stories. Pat Smith: "The Chase and Sandborn Program." I think Charley McCarthy is the cutest thing on the air. Dan Auer: "Bob Hope." Because Brenda and Cobina have the loveliest voices.

June Van Pelt: "One Man's Family." That's the way I think family life should be. Annabel Harrod: "Professor Quiz." It's instructive.

Santa Claus Attends Assembly Via Bicycle

No reindeer, no sleigh, but a bicycle brought Saint Nicholas to the Christmas assembly held Friday, December 20, in the gymnasium. As his gift to Archers, he threw candy kisses to the group.

Emalyn Rummel, Mary Whittier, and Eileen Lee were the soloists for the affair. Miss Lucy Osborne was in charge of the assembly, and Mr. Jack Wainwright and Mr. Lester Hosteler arranged the music.

Kellies Lose Week-End Tilt To C.C.

Central Catholic Breaks Five-Year Jinx By Caging 33 To 29 Victory Saturday

John Kartholl Is High Scoring Man

Archers Make 10 Out Of 44 Field Goals; C. C. Hit 13 Out Of 60 Basket Tries

Central Catholic's Irish managed to break a five-year jinx last Saturday night in nosing out the Archers, 33 to 29. The tilt is the first city cage win for the Irish, and the initial loss for the locals. Throughout the entire game, the two teams battled on even terms. During the last few minutes of play, the two sides engaged in a general melee, with the coaches and officials breaking up the heated argument. Both squads employed good defense and well moving offense attacks, but the Irish had the advantage of hitting their shots when they most counted.

Irish Take Lead
Early in the first period of play, the Levickimen grabbed a four-point lead. The host Kellys rallied to hold a 10 to 8 lead at the end of the quarter. Immediately after the second quarter opened, the locals jumped into a 14 to 9 advantage. Each team counted another goal before the visitors took time out with the count reading 16 to 11. John Kartholl, Irish spark plug, came to the rescue of his quintet by hitting two important fielders. With one minute remaining before the half, the score was knotted at 21-all. At the termination of the first half play, the Catholics led 23 to 22.

South Side regained the lead for the last time in the opening minute of the third period. Kartholl hit two more fielders, to send the Irish into their winning advantage. At the end of the third quarter the Irish were leading 30 to 27.

During the final quarter, the Catholic cagers played a deliberative stalling game to attempt to stall fouls from the Archers. South Side's lone fourth period goal was made by Bill Knoll. With the Irish in the lead as the scoreboard flashed over the four-minute mark, Coach Friddle sent Close, Shirk, and Vetter into the game. Close and Shirk became a little too aggressive in their guarding, and as a result of the short-lived fistfight, Close was removed from the battle. The Catholics managed to stall successfully throughout the entire fourth quarter, as the Green cagers were not able to connect when the ball was in their possession.

Results Are Given
South Side's cagers hit 10 of 44 field tries, while the Irish caged 13 of 60. At the charity stripe the Friddlemen scored on 9 of 13 throws. Central Catholic's foul shooting attempts show 7 made out of 12 tries. The Irish were guilty of nine fouls, and the Archers committed fourteen fouls.

P-TA Gym Class Has Christmas Party In Greeley Room Monday; Group Exchanges Gifts

Saint Nicholas, Donner, and Blitzen decorated the tables at the P-TA mothers' gym class Christmas party last Monday in the Greeley Room and gymnasium. Other decorations were evergreen, candles, and snow men.

Santa Claus, played by Mrs. E. H. Haug, delivered the gifts in the exchange. Before receiving a gift, everyone was required to sing a carol, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. E. S. Pfeiffer. Special gifts were presented by the entire class to Mrs. P. W. Iba, general chairman, and Miss Alice Dean, class instructor.

The committees for the party were as follows: Decoration, Mrs. George Barrett, chairman, Mrs. Earl Hadley, Mrs. Park Hess, and Mrs. J. E. McFarland; food, Mrs. D. Shannon, Mrs. E. S. Davies, Mrs. J. Franke, and Mrs. W. W. Scheele; program, Mrs. Haug and Mrs. Pfeiffer.

NEW VIEWS

Double Trouble—This week-end the locals are to undertake a real task, that of taking the measure of tough fives from North Side and Huntingburg. The names alone indicate power, and this season the two clubs are supposed to have plenty of ability. North Side is strong and ready. Don't let the talk about a "green" club and too many banquets deter the high regard for the North Siders.

Bob Nulf has a good club; Burl Friddle also has a fine team. Some say that Coach Nulf is holding back his quint. Many who saw the holiday tourney at South Bend have given the opinion that the Redskins were loafing around the court, but Friday night the Friddlemen will sample that loaf. On the record the Reds have the edge, but figures often fail in a city series battle.

Holiday Hash—Over the holidays Harry Hines has very definitely established himself as a part of the Archer team. Central Catholic's zone defense really looked good. It looks like another great year for the Irish. North Side's clash with Hammond Tech lived up to all advance predictions. The Tech team looked like a far cry from the clumsy unit which annexed the state title last year.

Stan Shimala, big forward of the state champs, can handle a basketball like a pro. Stan's one-handed shots gave the North Siders a real headache. He only hit a couple, but the remainder were all of the "in-and-out" type. Bill Washington appears to be Murray Mendenhall's netman. The slender colored sparkplug led 23 to 22.

South Side regained the lead for the last time in the opening minute of the third period. Kartholl hit two more fielders, to send the Irish into their winning advantage. At the end of the third quarter the Irish were leading 30 to 27.

South Side's cagers hit 10 of 44 field tries, while the Irish caged 13 of 60. At the charity stripe the Friddlemen scored on 9 of 13 throws. Central Catholic's foul shooting attempts show 7 made out of 12 tries. The Irish were guilty of nine fouls, and the Archers committed fourteen fouls.

Athletic Mothers Hold Yuletide Fete

P-TA Gym Class Has Christmas Party In Greeley Room Monday; Group Exchanges Gifts

Saint Nicholas, Donner, and Blitzen decorated the tables at the P-TA mothers' gym class Christmas party last Monday in the Greeley Room and gymnasium. Other decorations were evergreen, candles, and snow men.

Santa Claus, played by Mrs. E. H. Haug, delivered the gifts in the exchange. Before receiving a gift, everyone was required to sing a carol, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. E. S. Pfeiffer. Special gifts were presented by the entire class to Mrs. P. W. Iba, general chairman, and Miss Alice Dean, class instructor.

The committees for the party were as follows: Decoration, Mrs. George Barrett, chairman, Mrs. Earl Hadley, Mrs. Park Hess, and Mrs. J. E. McFarland; food, Mrs. D. Shannon, Mrs. E. S. Davies, Mrs. J. Franke, and Mrs. W. W. Scheele; program, Mrs. Haug and Mrs. Pfeiffer.

Player of the Week—Presenting an Archer cager who needs no introduction to local fans, Bob Hines. While at Harrison Hill Grade School, the capable Archer forward was the center on the city championship five. He teamed along with Kellies Close and Feistkorn to give a title to the grade institution. Now Bob is trying hard to form a part of the title five for Burl Friddle.

Many good ball players have come and gone along the South Side court path, but none of them were as popular or congenial as Bob. During the ensuing half of the season, Bob is expected to lead the team.

Handball Doubles Teams Begin Play
Sixty-Four Contestants Sign Up Forming Thirty-Two Intramural Teams; Finish Singles

Now that the singles are almost completed, the first bracket of intramural handball doubles is rapidly getting under way. Mr. Louis Briner, director of all intramural activities, is in charge. Already sixty-four contestants have signed up, forming 32 teams.

To date four games have been played, and the scores are as follows: Pittenger-McKay over Timme-Vonderau 15-3, 15-1.

Wuttke-Wissler over Derck-Domer 15-4, 11-15, 15-11. McNulty-McKean over Blauvelt-Savage 15-13, 15-4.

Dalman-Augsburger over Kyvick-Yant 15-2, 15-1. The schedule for the near future is as follows:

Ludwig-Stolte versus Feistkorn-Danecker. Deal-Aldermeyer versus Timme-Clark. Brehna-Allmendinger versus Straley-Underwood.

Griener-Morton versus Muller-Zollinger. Nahrwald-Long versus DuVal-Mitchell. Meeks-Hart versus Runge-Habig.

Siebold-Wuttke versus Trotter-Selby. DuWaldt-Heffelfinger versus Yates-Koonce.

Byers-Schlup versus Greer-Meyer. Kutsch-Gruenwald versus Savage-Strobel. Simons-Clibon versus Hegerfeld-Bruns.

Swain-Kast versus Miller-Cheever.

Forty Members Attend Industrial Arts Potluck

Forty members of the new Industrial Arts Club were present at a potluck held December 10 in the cafeteria. The group solved puzzles, and a quartet composed of Glen McNeal, Jack Mann, Joe Bekius, and Jack McNeal sang western songs.

Following the supper, the club members played bingo, with Jack Mann acting as caller. The winners received prizes.

S.O.P. Wins Only Overtime When Dick They Scores; First Round Completed

Boys' Intramural Basketball Tournament is moving swiftly along with the first round completed and the second round well begun. During the last week ten more games have been listed as past history.

Of the ten games two weight divisions were represented, the heavyweight playing eight of the ten games, and the middleweight division the remaining two. No games were played in the lightweight division.

Some of the games played in the heavyweight division will be remembered as thrilling and as hotly contested as any of the games yet played or scheduled to be played.

SOP Are Victors
The most exciting game, which was between the SOP and the ExLaxers, was the only overtime in this group; and the SOP won with a score of 15 to 13, when Dick They dropped in the winning basket on a rebound.

Another good match was between the Rafterers and the Yehudis, with the Rafterers rallying in the last quarter of the game to conquer the Yehudis with a score of 17 to 13. Although the resulting scores were small, the Rafterers and Gov's Men were very evenly matched. The Ramblers, getting the breaks, rambled on to victory with the score reading 9 to 6.

Another close clash with small resulting scores was between the ExLaxers and the Blitzkriegers; the blitzkrieg by the Blitzkriegers was overcome, and the ExLaxers won by a score of 7 to 3.

A decisive victory was gained in the contest between the Rafterers and the Alcatraz, when the boys from Alcatraz conceded the victory. No action was seen in the game between the Swishers AC and the Roses, as the victory was forfeited to the Roses.

Blue Devils Lose
The SOP properly squelched the Blue Devils with a score of 11 to 5, while the Irish dropped the Blitzkriegers with a score of 18 to 5.

The only two games played in the middleweight division were between the Cats and the Ex-Swishers, and the Varsity and the Klassy Kids. Both games were very one-sided.

In the match between the Cats and the Ex-Swishers, the Cats came out on top with the score reading 16 to 6. The match between the Klassy Kids and the Varsity was definitely one-sided. The Varsity was outclassed with a score of 5 to 14 in favor of the Klassy Kids.

Archers Agree That Losers Should Get Basketball Honors

By Sam Bacon
South Side knows how it feels to win and lose a state championship. Now we have learned that the winners reap the rewards of victory, and the losers are forgotten about when the final gun goes off in the Butler Fieldhouse ending another Indiana State Basketball conference. Magnificent and valuable awards are presented to the victorious quintet. Honor upon honor is conferred upon the winners; but when the smoke of the final battle has cleared away, the defeated receive no such elaborate honors.

It's true the losers are duly congratulated for their fine work and outstanding sportsmanship; but they receive no tangible honors, such as medals and trophies. Of course, the losing players usually receive the Jacob Gimball cup for showing the most sportsmanlike attitude during the final ordeal in Indianapolis, but this award can also go to the member of the victorious team if the judge decides so.

Now the question arises as to what we can do to correct this lack of efficiency in the state basketball contest.

For the past few years, the Catholics have been giving awards to members of both the winning and losing teams in their league. In the state contest all those who participate are awarded gold charms, and the winners receive trophies as well as these. However, a state team comprised of the five most outstanding Catholic players in Indiana receives a beautiful gold cup. In the national Catholic basketball finals, the winners and the losers receive similar awards as the state participants for their fine achievements, but the trophies and medals are more elaborate.

I feel that the public high school should develop the fine example that the Catholics have set in giving awards to the losing teams as well as to the winners. Certainly the Indiana High School Athletic Association can afford such an undertaking because over $20,000 in gate receipts are taken in every year at the finals of the Indiana basketball contests.

Basketball is a strenuous game, and all those who play it know how it taxes one's energy. Every member of every basketball team in Indiana has Butler Fieldhouse as his goal. And when they make it, what do they receive? Just a lot of adverse newspaper publicity.

So let's give everyone, win or lose, something tangible by which they can remember their experiences in the final game at Butler Fieldhouse at Indianapolis.

Archers To Play Redskins, Huntingburg This Week-End

Northern Gym Will Be Place Of Coming Tilt

North Side Game To Be Tomorrow Night; Huntingburg Clash Is Saturday

South Side's basketball charges are carded for a busy week-end, meeting highly rated quintets from North Side and Huntingburg. The locals will meet the North Siders at the northern gym tomorrow night, while the Hunters of Huntingburg will invade the Archers' home court on Saturday night.

Most of the tickets for the North-South clash have been sold, as only a few hundred seats are available beyond the usual allotment for the season books.

Coaches Bob and George Nulf have a potentially strong team at North Side, but the Redskins are not attempting to look too good in the early tilts. Bob Cowan and Bob Young are the two most dependable Reds, while Northerners Hinga, Ervin, Harrison, and Popp have contributed much to the Nulf machine. Cowan has always been dependable, whether on the gridiron or on the hardwood.

Playing Spotty Ball

Bob Young and Cornie Ervin have both played spotty ball, looking hot and cold on various evenings. Jim Hinga, lanky pivot man of the Nulfmen, has been the leading man in most of the early games of the Redskins. Jim Harrison, however, looked as good this year as he did during the tourney last spring, but with Byron Popp, he is blooming slowly into a top-notch cager.

Coach Nulf has been undecided as to his starting five, but is thought that the North Side mentor will lead off with Harrison, Ervin, Cowan, Hinga, and Young.

Huntingburg Formidable

Huntingburg comes to Fort Wayne with a very formidable quintet. The Hunters have already disposed of several of the state's better fives. Judson Erne, former coach of the Berne Bears, is now the head basketball tutor at the downstate school. Little is known of the Hunters, and they will invade the southern court on Saturday as an unknown power. Of the two tough games this week, the North Siders are expected to furnish the locals with the most excitement.

Coach Burl Friddle is expected to lead off with Archers Bob and Harry Hines, Gus Feistkorn, Dallas Zuber, and Chick Shimer. Harry Hines is not a top-flight ball player as yet, but the younger of the Hines' basketball troupe is expected to be a real threat before many tilts have elapsed.

Zuber Looks Good

Dallas Zuber will probably team with Harry Hines at the other guard post. Zuber has looked good in early games, and he is expected to give the Green plenty of speed on any occasion. Veterans Chick Shimer and Bob Hines will probably start in the forward posts, with Gus Feistkorn taking care of the pivot position.

Girls, Make Use Of New Ping-Pong Table

"Because of its excellent construction, the girls are very proud of their new ping-pong table," stated Miss Smith, concerning the new girls' ping-pong table which was used for the first time by Jimmy McClure last Thursday.

The table is kept in the basket-locker room, north of the girls' locker room. Several sets of lockers were removed to make room for the table. The equipment will be kept in the girls' gym office.

Florella Shimer, 12B, Auburn, Hartford City To Play Blue

Tigers To Travel To Airdale Court Friday; To Meet Red Devils At Home Saturday

Quiet, efficient, and unassuming Florella Shimer, 12B, is one of the best and loyal sports in GAA. This senior GAA'er earned her letter in her junior year but still keeps her interest in the Girls' Athletic Association. Baseball is her favorite sport, but she plays them all with equal skill.

Florella came to South Side from Harrison Hill, and she is taking the general course. Her ambition is to go to college, but she hasn't yet decided what to prepare for.

Dark-haired and blue-eyed, she chooses red and blue as the colors she likes best. When it comes to food, give her fried chicken and she will never complain; but feed her olives or peas and will she howl! Math is her favorite subject, and she chooses Mr. Sidell as her favorite teacher.

Among the people she rates tops are Judy Garland, Henry Aldrich, Mickey Rooney, and Spencer Tracy. When she's in a happy mood, you'll hear her humming "You're the Only Star in My Blue Heaven". At the top of her list of dislikes are snobbish people and the color "olive green". Florella devotes all her extra time and energy to GAA and does not belong to any other club.

Archer Fans Pick Fort Wayne's Best Basketball Players

With basketball in the air, local hardwood fans are beginning to form definite ideas for state title possibilities. Few have considered individual players, but an inquiring reporter asked several Archer rooters, their nominations for the outstanding Summit City cager.

The locals were asked to name netters who were not members of the South Side team. Here are their opinions as to the best basketball players among the other three city schools:

Virginia Hastings: Bob Cowan of North Side is tops!

Bob Jamieson: Give me George Washington of Central.

August Luyben: I think Dick Tackett of Central is a real performer.

Bob York: I never go to any games, so I'll pick York.

Dick Dosch: All of the players are good. Bob Cowan seems to be the most publicized.

Bud Haberstroh: Russ Wilkin of Central has looked plenty tough.

Ralph Fortriede: Walker of C. C. will be another Stanczyk.

Bernadine Bender: Bob Cowan.

Francis Nash: Bob Young of North Side is pretty good.

Alice Sweet: Bob Cowan.

Helen Ninde: Wilkin of Central. (That's what they told me to say.)

Kelly Klads At Last Gain C. C. Support In South-North Tilt

Although the Central Catholic team whipped the South Siders, the victor's fans offered plenty of praise for the Friddlemen. Most of the Irish fans felt at the same time that the Catholics were again going to win the national crown. After overcoming a five-year jinx, the Irish rooters expressed the hope that South Side will be undaunted by the win, and that the Archers may go forth and win over the Redskins. Here are some of the opinions expressed by Catholic fans concerning the Archer-Irish tilt.

Bill Colone: We've had this coming for five years. South Side is coming slow, but they will be tough at tourney time.

Dean O'Rourke: C. C. was good tonight, but your team was also playing a fine game. We were better.

Tom Shank: South Side is good. C. C. is better.

Pete Kuttner: None of my friends would believe that our team would win. South Side has a good team.

Ed Griven: I'm happy!

Shirley Meigs: It was a swell game. We deserved to win. I hope South Side can beat North Side and Central! (Thanks, so do we.)

Phil Werner: C. C. was too tough for your team.

Dick O'Connor: We had a better defense. I hope South Side beats North Side.

Betty Rogers: Let's celebrate.

John Rucinski: Ditto. You have a good team.

Helen Westfall: Central Catholic's team is good. We'll win the National title again. Beat North Side!

Tom Thurbin: We were too tough. South Side has a fine team!

Anne McGowen: C. C. has a swell team; so does South Side.

Dan Fortney: South Side has a good team, but C. C.'s is better.

Mildred Bailey: It was a swell game.

Period 2 Is Victor In Net Tournament

Winners Defeat Team 7 To Become Holders Of Imaginary Crown; Other Games Listed

Winning the final game by a 9 to 7 score, Period 2 became the first holders of the imaginary crown of the inter-gym class tournament held December 18. Out-playing and out-shooting Team 7, they rightly deserved to become the winners.

The most outstanding player of all the teams was Betty McCloud, a member of the losing Team 7. She contributed twelve of the eighteen points of their first game to make them eligible for the finals.

In the first games, Period 3 defeated Period 4 by a 5 to 3 score. Helen Long made all the points for the winners. In the second clash of the first round, Period 2 ploughed over the first period, 10 to 6. Again all the points of the winners was made by one individual, Kate Sanders, while Louise Seacott made 5 of the 6 points for the losers.

In the second round the victors were Period 7 and Period 2. Seven played six and won by a 10 to 6 score. The winners of the first two games, 2 and 3, clashed and 2 won, 7-3.

Best players beside Betty McCloud were Kate Sanders, Martha Cash, Betty Walden, Joan Spore, Jean Clark, Joan Dodge, and Fuzz Amstutz.

Referees and scorekeepers were Alice Fisher, Marilyn Bullerman, Marilyn Damer, Judy Kaser, and Joan Schwartz.

Archer Fans Pick Fort Wayne's Best Basketball Players

With basketball in the air, local hardwood fans are beginning to form definite ideas for state title possibilities. Few have considered individual players, but an inquiring reporter asked several Archer rooters, their nominations for the outstanding Summit City cager.

The locals were asked to name netters who were not members of the South Side team. Here are their opinions as to the best basketball players among the other three city schools:

Virginia Hastings: Bob Cowan of North Side is tops!

Bob Jamieson: Give me George Washington of Central.

August Luyben: I think Dick Tackett of Central is a real performer.

Bob York: I never go to any games, so I'll pick York.

Dick Dosch: All of the players are good. Bob Cowan seems to be the most publicized.

Bud Haberstroh: Russ Wilkin of Central has looked plenty tough.

Ralph Fortriede: Walker of C. C. will be another Stanczyk.

Bernadine Bender: Bob Cowan.

Francis Nash: Bob Young of North Side is pretty good.

Alice Sweet: Bob Cowan.

Helen Ninde: Wilkin of Central. (That's what they told me to say.)

Romayne Rediger: Kay Short looks big enough to do something.

Woodburn Leads County Net Teams

Harlan Hawks Hand Champs Only Defeat; New Haven In Second Place With Six Wins

Woodburn's Warriors have led the Allen County high school quintets during the first half of the county schedule. Of ten games already in the books, the Warriors have won nine.

The Harlan Hawks have been the only club capable of checking the leaders. Four county fives have unblemished records against foreign foes; these quintets include Hoagland, Woodburn, Harlan, and Elmhurst.

Arcola's Aces have lost all of their games, five in county competition and a like number against foreign foes. Against out-of-county clubs the local units have won fifteen of thirty-five tilts.

Here are the won and lost figures for the first half play of the county teams:

	Won	Lost
Woodburn	9	1
New Haven	6	3
Huntertown	4	6
Harlan	4	3
Hoagland	6	3
Lafayette Center	3	4
Elmhurst	6	4
Leo	5	5
Monroeville	1	8
Arcola	0	10

Lafayette Central To Meet Ossian

Bears Are Favorites Thursday; Five County Tilts Carded For Friday, One For Saturday

Seven games are on the card for the prep quintets of Allen County this week. Lafayette Central's Pirates will open the program by appearing at Ossian tonight. The host Bears are expected to be too classy for the invaders. Five tilts are scheduled for Friday night, and a single game between Leo and Avilla is to be played on Saturday.

Woodburn's pace-setting Warriors should have little trouble in adding to their mounting victory list, for the hapless Arcola Aces are scheduled to furnish the Woodburnites with their only competition of the week. Leo and Huntertown are expected to feature the play in their battle tomorrow night. The complete card:

Lafayette Central at Ossian. Friday

St. Joe at Harlan.

Elmhurst at Roanoke.

Leo at Huntertown.

Woodburn at Arcola.

Lafayette Central at West Union. Saturday

Leo at Avilla.

David Parrish Is Voted New Alumni Prexy

South Side Graduates Elect Officers At Annual Dance In Room 170 December 26

David Parrish was named president of the South Side High School Alumni Association at the annual dance held December 26. He succeeds Ruth Garrison. Other officers for the coming year include the following: Eugene Schmidt, secretary; and Ronald McVay, treasurer. The retiring officers are Eugene Schmidt, vice-president; Oscar Eggers, secretary, and James Dorn, treasurer.

The election was held during the intermission of the dance and reunion the group held in Room 170. The election was in charge of Bill Reithmiller. Approximately 150 couples attended.

Christian Group Plans To Elect First Officers

Election of Christian Club officers will take place at the next meeting to be held January 7, at 7:30 o'clock in the Greeley Room. Mr. Ora Davis, sponsor of the club, announced that any member of any Protestant church is invited to join this club.

A definite plan for the program has not yet been decided upon, but Mr. Davis is in charge for this meeting. He will probably talk on James Whitcomb Riley's poems which relate to religion.

Four Boys, Five Girls Leave South Side High

Four boys and five girls have left the portals of South Side. Don Anweiler, Carlton Clem, Robert Cadorette, and Patricia Vail quit school to work.

Dorothy Kingel and Phyllis Bobay are staying home. Delores Murphy was needed at home.

Richard Harber has entered White Institute. Ruth Rayhouser also withdrew from South Side.

Grad Receives Honor

Wade Theye, '37, has been listed on the fall term honor roll at Manchester College. The honor roll includes approximately the upper ten per cent of each college class. Wade is a commerce major and is an assistant in the treasurer's office. While in South Side he was active in speech work and dramatics, and he was a member of the golf team.

Archers Win Contest

Four Archer students who were named as winners of the News-Sentinel annual coloring contest are Norbert Rehm, 10B, who won $2.50; Ilo Hirschman, 10A, and Russell Sunday, 11A, who each won $1.00.

PATRONIZE OUR ADVERTISERS

Handsome Tom Brown Not Only Acts But Writes Too

Tom Brown, well-known movie star, is seen above with Marjorie Sheldon, general manager of The Times, as they chatted at the radio station.

By Marjorie Sheldon

Who would imagine that the vivacious, well-built, sandy-haired young fellow known and loved by millions of Americans as Tom Brown is really an author at heart? "Why, yes, I earned my living for three months writing short stories," he enlightened us. "I majored in journalism, was the editor of my school paper, and have always wanted to write."

Such was the surprising statement made by the popular star of stage, screen and radio between broadcasts and stage appearances. Comfortably clad in a smart black and white tweed suit, and a perky blue serge tie, he blinked as our staff photographer snapped the picture. "I can't seem to see anything but flash bulbs now," he smiled. Upon being asked if he wasn't used to them after having been in the public eye nearly all of his life, he replied boyishly, "Oh, yes, one gets used to them, but there's still a certain shock."

Native Of Boston

A native of Boston, Brown Prep School claimed him as a student, even if mainly by correspondence. He was playing at that time on the legitimate stage, leaving him very few hours to attend school. He attended school when possible at an institution for theater people and obtained the remainder of his education through their correspondence course. He was especially active in athletics, taking part in boxing, swimming and football.

While in school he wrote a column called "I Steal Thoughts", in which he took the part of individuals in various walks of life and expressed their thoughts in terms they would be likely to use. "We think in terms of words. For instance," he explained, "a ditch-digger might say, 'Gees, it's cold out today!' when a banker might express the same idea by 'I say, there is quite a nip in the air this morning.'"

Mr. Brown would still like to write a book on the same subject, using first person. He considers writing his hobby (in fact, he's written several short stories), and he says that if his work is proven to be good enough, he would like to do more with it. "However, I don't believe in forcing talent," he continued. "If you have it and it is intelligently presented, talent will be recognized."

At this point, the studio director interrupted to introduce a small awestricken boy who asked for Mr. Brown's autograph. "Of course, Hal," he obligingly replied.

"I have your picture at home but I forgot to bring it," Hal said, shyly. Mr. Brown rose to the occasion with, "Why don't you bring it over to the theater and I'll sign it backstage."

"I sure will—and thanks," the little boy beamed gratefully as he walked proudly away.

Enjoys Fort Wayne

Mr. Brown turned back to us and smiled apologetically. Personal appearance tours don't bore him—far from it, for he loves to meet people. "The people of Fort Wayne have been charming to me," he said.

Although there is little time for recreation in his busy life, he's especially fond of tennis, riding, and working out in his gym at home. Movie hours are regularly from 6 to 6; so while he's not on tour, he has time for some recreation.

While awaiting his turn at the microphone for his interview, Mr.

School Of Air Has Variety Programs

Affairs Are Music, Dramatic Sketches, Interviews, Discussion, News By Students

Variety programs are being featured this year by the Fort Wayne School of the Air. The purpose of these programs is to give students an opportunity to receive training in radio technique, and to show the work of the schools.

The programs include music by the glee clubs and orchestras, solos, interviews, discussions, news, and dramatic sketches.

To the present time six programs have been presented with a total of 340 performers. Eighteen more programs have been planned for this school year.

Seventy-five teachers, representing their respective schools, plan, write script, and direct the programs. Representatives from South Side are Miss Gretchen Smith, Mr. Jack Wainwright, and Mr. Lester Hostetler. Miss Smith is director of the series.

Brown unconsciously kept time to the music with his feet. He confided, "I guess I'm just a hooper after all." One can easily understand his dancing ability, for he began tapping in vaudeville with his parents twenty-three years ago, starting at the tender age of three. However, he doesn't consider himself good enough to dance in movies.

He has been in California nine years and on the radio for seven. "The Little Red School House" was his first movie. "It was just like opening night—I didn't know whether to cry or have a stomach ache," he grinned, remembering that great event. He has made eighty-four talks in the last eleven years, his first being "The Lady Lies" with Claudette Colbert. "I'd Give My Life" was the movie he enjoyed making the most, but he also liked working with Cecilia Parker in "Tom Brown of Culver." Parts with "meat" in them are his preference, but all in all, he considers the movie business instructive as well as one in which a good living is possible.

Relates Exciting Experience

A 250-pound arm lamp crashed two feet from him while playing a very passionate scene once, furnishing his most memorable experience in movies. "Needless to say, I wasn't there long," he chuckled. Ida Lupino is his choice for Hollywood's best actress.

He glanced at the studio clock, and I realized we were keeping him from dinner, so my last question concerned his position as to the present draft question. "My number is in the seven hundred, and I have three dependents, but if I'm called upon, I'll tote that barge, lift that bail, and carry a gun with the best of 'em!"

Versatile is the word which best describes Mr. Tom Brown of Hollywood. An author and dancer of no mean ability, he is well-known to millions of radio, theater, and stage fans. A true American and a grand person, Mr. Brown surely deserves the countless friends he has made all over the nation.

When you buy (as you will) think of your school paper's advertisers.

"Jingle Bell Jig" Is Theme For Skate By Philalethians

Annual Social Will Be Saturday Night At Bell's; Fun Will Begin At 7:30

Bus Will Depart From School, 7:15

Miss Martha Pittenger, Miss Elizabeth Demaree, Parents Will Be Chaperones

"Jingle Bells, Jingle Bells, Jingle all the way," will be the by-word on the bus to Philo's "Jingle Bell Jig," Saturday night at Bell's Rink. The skate, starting at 7:30, will be a post-climax for the Christmas gaieties just past, and every one is urged to come.

Bus Leaves At 7:15
Tickets may be purchased from Philo girls, Miss Elizabeth Demaree in Room 68, or tomorrow the fifth and the eighth periods in the center hall. The bus will leave the front entrance at 7:15; tickets for the bus may be bought on the bus at ten cents each way.

Chaperones will be Miss Elizabeth Demaree, Miss Martha Pittenger, and the parents of all Philo girls who would like to attend.
Miss Demaree is the faculty adviser, and general chairman for the event is Hilda Schubert. Janice Tremper is in charge of the sales committee. Assisting her are Rosemary Ziegler, Maxine Case, and Virginia Hill.

Alida Eidner is in charge of the favors. Her committee is Mary Carlo, Carolyn McNabb, Margaret Kutch, Charlotte DuWan, Mary Nell Spiegel, Carol Trenary, Gloria Staley, and Joan Cartwright.

In charge of securing attendance prizes are Ruth Ann Stiegler and Holly Reppert.

At the meeting last Monday afternoon the girls were urged to return their tickets to Hilda Schubert or the members of her committee today or tomorrow.

Nominating Committee Listed
Tompkins Hall, Jean Karns, and Josephine Frosh were appointed by Rebecca Abbott, president, to nominate officers for the coming semester.

Patricia Sanford, Marjorie McNabb and Mary Ellen Barrett reviewed the first three chapters, "The House Ground Old," "Colonial Days and the Revolution," and "Hillsides and Aleoats," of Mrs. Daniel M. Lothrop's book, "The Wayside: Home of Authors." Songs, lead by Kathryn Beckman and accompanied by Mildred Hanke, closed the program.

P-TA To Sponsor Basketball Games

Three Contests Will Be Played; Alumni Of City Schools To Enter Inter-School Games

Three benefit basketball games, sponsored by the P-TA of the city high schools, will be held in the North Side gymnasium on January 20, at 7 o'clock. Alumni students will be the basketball players, and the admission will be 15 cents. Proceeds will be used for the benefit of the school.

North Side and Central alumni will play the first game, North Side and South Side the second. Central and South Side will play the third and last game.

General chairman in charge is Mrs. J. S. Carman, and those assisting her are Mrs. Raymond Lutz; Mr. Fred Croninger, principal of Central; Mr. Robert Nuff, coach at North Side; Mr. Murray Mendall, coach at Central; Mr. Louis Briner, intramural director at South Side; Mrs. Carl Hornberger, Mrs. George Guneward, Mrs. Carl Saaf, and Mrs. Julian H. Stark.

Music will be provided by the North Side Band.

French Club To Elect Officers This Evening

Le Cercle Français will meet tonight in Room 138 at 7:30 for its semi-annual election of officers. Clara Makey will review the novel "Marie Chapdelaine," and Miss Lucy Osborne, English instructor, will give a resume of "Quietly, My Captain Waits." Miss Olive Perkins, adviser of the club, and the present officers compiled a list of nominees for the election at a meeting in Room 90 last Thursday. Those members now holding office are Katherine Kuntz, president; Clara Makey, vice-president; Joyce Reed, secretary; and Eleanor Christ, point recorder.

Hi-Y Club To Initiate Members At YMCA

Initiation of Hi-Y members will be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the YMCA.

Hi-Y's financial affairs were discussed at the club's meeting on last Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the YMCA. Bill Goodwin reported on the finances of the Hi-Y Best-Girl Banquet and on checking at home games. David Azar reported on the finances of the pencil sale. All pencils and pencil money are to be turned in to him. Dick Brouwer reported on the finances of the pennant sale.

Makes Skate Plans

Rebecca Abbott

Rebecca Abbott, president of Philo Club, is completing plans for the annual skate, "Jingle Bell Jig," which will be held Saturday night at Bell's Rink.

Good Resolutions—Archers Make 'Em, Do They Keep 'Em?

Have you ever made a New Year's resolution? No doubt you have, but have you kept your New Year's resolution? No doubt you haven't! So, every year it is, "Make 'em and break 'em." South Side students have high hopes of keeping their resolutions this year, but will they?

Following are several of the resolutions Archers have optimistically made:

Mary Jo Sites: Be in before 12 o'clock, so I can get more studying done.
Joyce Cleaver: I don't like to break 'em, so I don't make 'em.
Betty Birely: Ditto.
Dorothy Cooper: Mine are kinda "Green".
Alice Sweet: Love 'em and leave 'em!

Gladys Foellinger: To find the last line of that poem.
Jackson Baumgartner: Resolve never to waste another New Year's Eve at midnight.

Sam Johnson: I resolve to be a good boy in 1940.

Mike Beall: Everything up and above-board in the coming year.

Jackson Baumgartner: To get in a fight on New Year's Eve with a date.

Al Verwiese: Resolve not to crumple fenders on next New Year's Eve.

Chuck Harrison: No more dates.

Phyllis Lauer: I won't smoke those big black cigars any more.

Riflers Compete In Junior Match

Norman Kabach, Gene Zumburum, Cliff Springer, Art Longworth, Bob Brehm Score Most

Boys' Rifle Club started the second series of Junior Club matches last Monday afternoon. The series consists of six different matches.

Norman Kabach, Gene Zumburum, and Clifford Springer led the varsity team in a bi-weekly match with the scores of 98. Other scores which were made were shot by Edmund Bauer, 96; Joe Bekius, 97; John Myers, 96; Dick Theye, 95; and Dick Brintzenhoff, 94. Jack Hornberger and Art Huff did not shoot in this match.

Bob Brehm and Arthur Longworth, scoring 95, led the junior division. Other scores made were as follows: Dave Bastian, 92; Ed Chamness, 93; Russel Siples, 94; John Cleland, 94; Robert Showalter, 85; and Walter Thomas, 93. Bill Vanderford and George Waldschmidt did not fire.

Mr. James I. Mills To Speak To P-TA

Mr. James I. Mills, Archer commercial instructor, will speak on "Economic Planning" at the P-TA forum next Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock in the Greeley Room. All parents of South Side students are invited to attend.

Archers Compete In Youth Contest

Miss Gretchen Smith Will Direct Program In Air School Series For High Schools, Colleges

Miss Gretchen Smith, girls' gym instructor and director of the Fort Wayne School of the Air series, is the director for one representation in the "Youth Speaks For Itself" series. South Side talent will be used in the program. This series is being sponsored by the American Youth Commission. This contest is a nation-wide competition for the best radio program concerning projects conducted by and for youth, open to school and college youth radio groups.

Young people between the ages of sixteen and twenty-four must have major responsibility in the execution of the project. The program must be a recorded thirteen-minute radio program. The recordings must be entered by February 17.

The six or more recordings which best describes practical and effective community projects by and for youth, will be duplicated and distributed to hundreds of radio stations in the country. Thus the young people who participate in the winning programs will be heard on the air nationally, and their efforts will be brought to the attention of professional radio circles.

Wilma Lageman Is Camenean Prexy

Other Officers Selected Tuesday Are R. Coppock, M. Roberts, K. Eipper, And L. Haugk

Wilma Lageman was elected president of Camenean Club at the meeting held last Tuesday at 3:30 o'clock in Room 138. Reba Coppock was chosen vice-president; Marjorie Roberts, secretary; Kathryn Eipper, treasurer; and Louisa Haugk will continue to be the Inter-Club Congress representative.

The committee selected for the meeting of February 4, which is to be devoted to reading, consists of Eva Jean Wylie, chairman; Ruth Cyr, Dorothy Allen, and Marian Seemeyer.

This semester's officers are as follows: Miriam Roebel, president; Phyllis Lauer, vice-president; Marilyn Dennis, secretary; Arleen Reincke, treasurer; and Louisa Haugk, Inter-Club Congress representative.

At the meeting last Tuesday, the club colors of maize and blue were selected. The committee in charge of this meeting was Elaine Hichy, chairman; Emalyn Remmel, Helen Dicke, and Suzanne Roebel. The theme of the meeting was music, which was carried out by demonstrating four important characteristics in the field of music.

Elaine introduced Gloria Gumpfer and Sallie Claiborne, who demonstrated the characteristics of skill. Emalyn gave a report on Lynn Wainwright as an example of the quality of training. Gloria Kramer, introduced by Helen, illustrated the trait of rhythm.

Two games, led by Suzanne, were played to demonstrate hard work and initiative. The one game was to guess the parts of music described; the other, to name the song titles of phrases played by Elaine.

"Tuberculosis Control" Is Discussion Subject

Dr. A. J. Myers will give an illustrated talk on "Tuberculosis Control" at the North Side auditorium tonight at 8 o'clock. Dr. Myers is being brought here through the co-operation of Dr. W. W. Duemling, Archer physician; the Parent-Teacher Association; and the Anti-Tuberculosis Association. South Side has one hundred tickets to be given to those who ask for them first.

Take Totem Underclass Pix Monday

Goal Is Set At 550 By Staff; More Pictures Would Improve Annual; Sell Photos

Clubs Contract For Many Pages

Tuesday Date For Pictures Of Latin, Meterite Clubs; Others After Next Term

Important news to all underclassmen is the announcement that underclassmen pictures will not be taken until Monday, January 13, and that the pictures will be taken in the building instead of at the Clipping Studio, as was previously announced. The price remains 35 cents.

Officials of the underclassmen picture drive stated that they have high hopes of reaching and passing the previous records for picture sales.

In the past years one of the major objections of the judges when rating the yearbook in inter-scholastic competition is the fact that too small a percentage of underclassmen is represented in the sections allotted them. In order to improve the sections of the freshmen, sophomore and junior classes the class editors have set 550 pictures as their goal.

Taken In Study Periods
Pictures will be taken in the same manner as they were last year. During the student's study period he will be notified to go to Room 170 or some other convenient place where the photo will be taken.

Yesterday in all underclass rooms the period was devoted to the canvassing of the rooms for picture orders. At that time around seventy-five orders were obtained. More pictures will have to be turned in soon if the goal of 550 is to be reached by the end of the campaign on Wednesday, January 22.

These agents sell to underclassmen:

Was Your Driver's Test Anything Like This Unlucky Lad's?

When the ninety days of my driver's permit had elapsed it dawned on me that the time had come when I must face the music and take my test for a conditional license. After dashing down to the city hall at the maximum speed of thirty (I think), I managed to park my car within reasonable distance of the chamber of my inquisition.

Soon I entered Mr. Davis' office where a pencil and test paper were literally shoved in my face. Business was so heavy down there that day that they had to rush production. I passed the written test, thank Jupiter, with one mistake. But the actual driving test, which came next was my real terror. I went back to the car and waited patiently for Mr. Davis to come and pass judgment on my efforts.

Soon he came, and climbed into my car. (If only he had known what was in store for him.) He told me to turn left at the next corner; so I turned right and nearly slaughtered a pedestrian and his dog. Mr. Davis overtook this, but later when I ran into a police car, he uttered a few words under his breath. The rest of my test that they had to do was to listen to Mr. Davis slander the Republican candidate for president. After I was through, I was convinced that Roosevelt was the best man, and Mr. Davis was convinced that—well—maybe he wasn't convinced about anything. But, to make this have a surprise ending, I got my license!

Plates To Be Given In Assembly Friday

Bronze plates with South Side's athletic records inscribed on them will be officially presented to the school by Mr. Ora Davis, athletic director, at an assembly tomorrow morning immediately after home room period in the gymnasium.

Dick Theye will be master of ceremonies. William Siebold, Joe Loos, and two lettermen are to be the speakers. Each letterman will take a certain sport and discuss the records in it.

The bronze plates, placed on walnut shields, were donated by various clubs and individuals to furnish permanent records of South Side athletics. Mr. Davis originated this memorial plan.

School Receives Stamp Exhibition

Philatelists Make Presentation Consisting Of Seven Frames Of Famous American Stamps

Seven frames of first-day covers of the recent "Famous American Stamps" have been given to the school by Philatelic Society. These covers contain stamps in blocks of four with steel-engraved picture of a famous American.

The stamps are divided into the following groups: Poets, Longfellow, Whittier, Riley, Lowell, and Whitman; inventors, Whitney, Morse, McCormick, Howe, and Bell, education, Mann, Willard, Hopkins, Washington, and Eliot; authors, Irving, Cooper, Emerson, Alcott, and Clemens; scientists, Reed, Long, Burbank, Addams, and Audubon; artists, Stewart, Whistler, Gaudens, Phillips, and Remington; composers, Foster, Sousa, Herbert, MacDowell, and Neven.

This collection was started last year by the club and completed this semester. The frames will be placed in Room 102.

This is the first of the series of articles to be placed there. These frames may be viewed by any one.

Meterites To Stage Graduation Party

Election Of Officers Planned; Group Picture To Be Taken, Announced By Club Adviser

Meterites' graduation party and the election of next semester's officers will feature the coming meeting of the Meterite Club on Tuesday, January 21, at 3:30 o'clock in the Greeley Room.

At this party, certificates will be presented to Meterites who have a total of 210 points or over. Wanda Baney is chairman of the award committee and her assistants are Mary Anne Duemling and Ruth Gold. The committee in charge of the graduation party includes Pat Hocker, chairman; Doris Pape and Mary Dayton.

The nominating committee for the election of officers at this meeting includes Nancy Cherry, chairman; Jean Fisher, Peggy Needham, Martha Daventport and Marilyn Ream.

"Who Am I?" was the game played at the meeting of the Meterite Club last Tuesday in the Greeley Room at 3:30 o'clock. Betty MacKay was in charge of this program and was assisted by Dorothy McPherson, Grace Johnson, Opal Springer, Wanda Baney, Phyllis Hubbard, Betty Schweikhart, and Martha Moellering.

Miss Susan Peck, club adviser, urges all Meterite members to watch for the notice in the news bulletin concerning the date of the Meterite Totem picture which will be taken during the next two weeks.

USA To Elect Officers During Meeting Today

Officers for next semester will be elected at USA's meeting today at 3:30 o'clock in the Greeley Room.

Today will end the drive of selling Archer scarfs, mittens, and stationery. Prizes will be awarded to the three people who have sold the greatest number.

The committee in charge of the meeting is Gretchen Greenier, chairman, Anna Lee Bearinger, Grace Rendleman, Jennie Hacker, Barbara Weibel, and Lois Lenz.

Archer Seniors Will Go Nautical At Fete Tuesday

On National Committee

Miss Gretchen Smith

Miss Gretchen Smith, girls' gym instructor and director of the Fort Wayne School of the Air, is directing one representation of the "Youth Speaks For Itself" series, in a nation-wide contest being sponsored by the Youth Commission.

"We Launch A Citizen" Is Annual Banquet Theme; Will Begin At 6 O'Clock

Upperclass Prexy To Lead Speakers

Quintet Will Sing; Charles Close To Lead Singing; Ducat Agents Are Listed

All seniors will turn nautical Tuesday when they adopt the theme "We Launch a Citizen" for their annual banquet. The ceremony will be held at Dock C in the cafeteria, starting at 6 o'clock. In order to take part in the affair one need only purchase a ticket for sixty cents from any of the senior home room agents. Informal dress will be the style, and all are invited whether they come stag or in couples.

Something different in menu and program is promised to all who attend. Clever nautical decorations and favors are being planned. In fact, everything will be "all at sea."

Speakers Are Announced

The program of speakers has been planned and includes the following: Mr. Merle J. Abbott, Mr. R. Nelson Snider, Miss Martha M. Pittenger, Mrs. Robert Wylie, Rebecca Abbott, Ed Meyer, Bob Young, and Marge Sheldon. Presiding over all will be Toastmaster Jim McClure.

Singing in the form of a quintet and group singing will furnish the musical part of the evening. The quintet is composed of Jim McClure, Everette Trulock, Jack Mann, Joe Bekius, and Glenn McNeal. Chuck Close will lead the singing and Dorothy Koomjohn will play the piano. The selections arranged by the quintet are "Shipmates Forever," "Anchors Aweigh," and "Alma Mater."

All seniors wishing to assist in making favors and general decorations are asked to see Marge Dyer in Room 140 tonight at 3:20 o'clock.

Senior agents will sell tickets in their home rooms until Monday noon, after which all reservations are to be made with Miss Lucy Mellen in the gymnasium. A meeting of these agents will be held tomorrow at 10 o'clock in the Greeley Room with Dick Theye in charge, when they are to turn in all money they have received.

The agents are Safford McMyler, 79; Don Meyer, 44; Hilda Schubert, 102; Joel Salom, 98; Emalyn Remmel, 36; Ruth Dauner, 91; Lois and Faye Gumpfer, 80.

Other seniors selling tickets are Bob Hines, 70; Kay Kuntz, 56; Jeanne Hines, 172; Bob Brooks, 82; Peggy Harro, 144; Ed Bauer, 64; Marge McMahon, 94.

Class officers who are in charge of all arrangements are Jim McClure, president; June Plaig, vice-president; Rebecca Abbott, secretary-treasurer; and the members of the social council, Dick Theye, Marge Sheldon, and Marge Dyer. The class advisers who are supervising arrangements in general are Miss Dorothy Magley and Mr. Paul Sidell.

Bryce Augsburger Is New Club Head

Christian Club Also Names Ellen Harry, Mary Glander, Harold Layman, Elaine Polman Leads

Bryce Augsburger was elected president of the Christian Club at its second meeting held last Tuesday evening in the Greeley Room. Other officers chosen are Ellen Harry, vice-president; Mary Glander, secretary-treasurer; Harold Layman, program chairman; and Elaine Polman, membership chairman.

Mr. Ora Davis, adviser of the club, read several poems by James Whitcomb Riley. Plans for the future were decided upon, and the question of dues was discussed. Also, several songs were sung.

Glen McNeal served as temporary chairman for the meeting. He also acted as chairman of the nominating committee. Two members of his committee were Joe Bekius and Elaine Polman.

At its organization meeting, held December 10, Mr. Davis told the members what the purpose of the club is. He stated that it was organized for the general furtherance of friendship and religion in the school. He also made it clear that any student can become a member because the club is interdenominational.

Miss Martha Pittenger, South Side dean of girls, and Mr. A. Verne Flint, guidance director, gave short talks on what they thought the goal of the club should be.

South Side Boys Win Coveted Scout Awards

Five students from South Side were given Boy Scout awards Monday, December 30. Mr. R. Nelson Snider, chairman of the award court, presented the awards. John Lomont received the scout citizen award and the eagle award. Others who received eagle awards are James Klopfenstein, Bob Childers, and Wilbur McNulty. Jack Green was given the life award.

Why Not Spend More Time In The Library? It's Educational

How many times have YOU been to the library this semester? Are you taking advantage of the unusual opportunities afforded by South Side's book shelves? If we were to take a census here in school, we would find an amazing percentage of students who have been in the library only once or twice in the past few months. Of course they know we have a library, but somehow they are under the impression that the library is to be used only when they are required to look up the biography of a Latin poet or a great scientist. They would rather sit in the study hall, doing nothing, than spend that extra hour in the library, broadening their minds with recreational and informative reading.

Everyone cannot spend his spare study periods in the library. Our library is small to start with, and its capacity is rendered even less by those who go to it without the slightest intention of doing anything useful. One must use this privilege of borrowing books. The library is excellently equipped. No matter with what type of book you like to beguile the week-end hours, it is here. Every type of book that you will probably need as reference or supplementary work is accessible.

There is absolutely no reason why you should fail to use the library at least once a week. It costs you nothing; the opportunity is golden. You will be surprised at the measure of self-education you will derive even from pleasure reading.

Let's Be Sure That Liberty, Democracy Survive In America

We in the United States have a great heritage—a heritage which is now being threatened. Threatened, not from abroad as many would have us believe, but from within. The very things against which we are asked to fight are threatening us from within. How are we in the United States to protect ourselves from dictatorship and tyranny? Certainly not by entering the war and thereby contributing to our own downfall and destruction; certainly not by overspending for so-called "defense," which will cause inflation and then devaluation of our dollar, complete collapse of our financial system; nor by concentrating upon and worrying over foreign problems in lieu of our domestic ones.

We must build here in our country such a civilization as has never been known before, not because man has been incapable of building it, but because he has never before had the incentive. Now in order to survive we must create an impregnable citadel of love and democracy, we must cooperate and mold ourselves into one united front against hatreds, the racial, creedal and class prejudices which are a sure sign of a country's and a people's deterioration. We can expect no perfect world order if in our own homeland we countenance unspeakable poverty on one side of the street and unbridled wealth on the other. What right have we to attempt to play God in Europe's affairs when we have not even lived up to our own Bill of Rights?

There is a long way to go in making the United States perfect; it is high time that we started. There is work for each and every one of us. The Wave of the Future is upon us; we must not become scattered and separated and therefore swept away as debris upon the bank; we must, instead, cling together as does the sand on the seashore and be cleaned, whitened and purified.

What Would You Do If .. . ?

There comes a time in every student's life when he is faced with a perplexing problem. Many different sources have been used to settle these problems but they have all been exhausted. So for this reason this column is written to aid you in solving your difficulties of everyday life.

What Would You Do If:

1. Hitler invaded America?
1. Get your sling shot?
2. Call our army and navy?
3. Call the minute men and boy scouts?
4. Do the goose walk and "hell" everybody?

If you won a thousand dollars?

1. Quit school?
2. Get a date with Hedy LaMarr?
3. Pay for the rest of your Totem?
4. Pay for your Christmas gifts?

If South Side burned down?

1. Stay home and throw a party?
2. Go to North Side?
3. Go to college?
3. Sleep?

If your name appeared in the dirt column with your best friend's girl?

1. Commit suicide?
2. Ask her to go steady?
3. Shoot the editor?
4. Sue The Times?

What would you do if Ann Sheridan came to South Side?

1. Whistle?
2. Pawn your watch and ask her for a date?
3. Plenty?

If you were caught in the hall without a pink slip?

1. Apologize?
2. Say you didn't believe in them?
3. Take your punishment?
4. Hand them your overdue library book notice and run?

After-Game Dance Proves To Be Bad For Making Debut

By Margaret Kuntz
With all the excitement, I was thrilled to the very marrow of my bones. Who could blame me for getting all worked up? I was about to cross the threshold of a dance floor for the first time! There was but one small thing that kept me from making my debut. Where was my date?

I distinctly remembered hearing him tell me, above the melodic music of the school band, to meet him in the front hall after the game. The game had been over fifteen minutes ago and still no date! What had become of him? Had he been trampled beneath the beating hoofs of ardent South Side fans? Perhaps he had decided not to go to the dance and just neglected to tell me! Finally, he came somewhat breathless, and offered apologies for being late.

From the corridor we proceeded rather timidly into Room 170, where the dance was well under way. (In fact, it was practically over.) After greeting a large number of the chaperones, we elbowed our way to the dance floor.

The orchestra supplied excellent music as we tripped (and I do mean tripped) around the dance floor. As we glided around the floor, we greeted many of our classmates.

Before long our feet began to ache tremendously. We spotted two chairs on the other side of the room and, with a great deal of "excuse me" and "I'm ever so sorry," we arrived at our destination! It was such ecstasy to sit in that chair and take the load off my feet.

I went to get a drink of H<sub>2</sub>O, and some mother's little darling pushed me head first into the on-coming water! When I went to take my place beside my date, he said it looked as though I had washed my face as well as gotten a drink. I really appreciated this bit of sarcasm, as you can well imagine!

The clock ticked 'round and 'round until it reached eleven-thirty. This being the appointed hour of departure, we were shoved in the general direction of the check-room to get our wraps. After getting our wraps we wearily started home.

Mary Ann Florence Collects Odd Shoes From Many Lands

Above is pictured a girl who has found a very unusual and interesting hobby, that of collecting shoes. Mary Ann Florence, 11B, started collecting miniature shoes about a year ago when on a vacation in northern Michigan. From one shoe the collection grew rapidly until she now has about seventy pairs of shoes to her credit. The shoes vary in shape and texture from china to brass and from dainty slippers to Indian moccasins. The greater part of the collection is made up of china shoes brought from all over the United States and some countries of Europe.

In the collection is a small pair of wooden shoes brought from Holland and a pair of shoes that were sold to a nurse by a small French boy; the shoes were then given to Mary Ann by the nurse who is a friend of the family.

The pride and joy of her collection is a pair of tiny white leather moccasins trimmed in fur and beading. Another prized possession is a pair of Russian boots made of china and painted in many colors.

Among the many boots of fairly modern design are about ten antique china boots and shoes which were donated by various friends of the Florence family. These antique slippers are small and are painted in delicate colors of the rainbow.

The World Fairs have accounted for many of the shoes. One particular pair came from the French building at the New York Fair. From all parts of the United States have come wooden shoes which Mary Ann bought as souvenirs while on vacations.

One day Mary decided to have one of her baby shoes bronzed. So off to Chicago went the shoe. It has not yet been returned, but when it does it will occupy a prominent position on one of the two what-not shelves which hold the collection.

Mary Ann finds her collection very interesting and different. She hopes to continue this hobby in the future. If you happen to have a tiny pair of shoes that you don't want, we know she would appreciate receiving them.

News Flashes Of 1941

Happy hang-overs, chillun! But wait, the celebration isn't over yet. Along with the New Year a few romances have entered in all their glory. It's just a case of ring in the new and ring out the old for Jack Meyers. He has given up his role of "Casanova" in preference to his new flame, Joan Ley, from Central Catholic.

Wilma Lagemann and Ernie Wylie celebrated the holidays with two well-known "men about town". In case you don't know, they are Ed Rehling and Fred Schweir.

The New Year's Eve festivities brought the following couples into the social limelight: Betty Jo Jones and Larry "Rhythm Rascal" Phipps, Bill Bone and Mimi Dunbar, Ray Bushing and Charlene McAttee, and George Waldschmidt and Julia Ann Wilson.

Oh yes, Sam Bacon has been walking around on air since Toddy Kixmiller returned from the big city to spend New Year's with him.

Gloria Kramer and Dave Stolte have made a New Year's resolution to have more and more dates. Let's hope this is one resolution that can be kept.

Speaking of resolutions, Bob Welty is not only resolved but he is determined to make the acquaintance of the North Side belle, Norma Curdes.

Bud Bornschein has the right idea in starting the New Year off by renewing his friendship with Phyllis Clark. This might be all right if only Don Knorr did not enter into the picture. They say two's company, three's a crowd; but you never can tell these days.

There's nothing like a uniform to lure away the women. Ever since Howard Fishack came home from Culver for vacation, there has been a general clutter and confusion among the women. However, among all his fans, Howard has chosen two of South Side's prettiest coeds, Beth Green and Maxine Case.

It seems that some lads and lassies in South Side would like to know just why Naomi Koopman and Pete Holzworth don't get along. Let us in on the inside dope, please.

Junior Doswell of Central just can't seem to see enough of Sallie Claborn. At least, it seems so from the way he haunts Sallie's doorstep every night.

It is really rare news when you hear about a girl who's enthusiastic about health class. However there is an occasional case like this, such as that of Gloria Orr. Every day she hurries into class to find Bob Racht waiting for her.

Marilyn Wolf sits around waiting for Jim Hartman to call half the time. The funny part of it is that she doesn't have to wait long. I guess he realizes what a swell catch he's got.

Browsing Through Archer Celeb Files

"Interview me and make a personal interest story of it," says Sir Robert Safer, ex-South Sider. Well, we took that challenge, and here's the news about the life and death of Bob Safer.

As A Young 'Un:

Born on February 23, 1923, when things in general, even in Europe, had calmed down, Robert was born in the romantic city of Fort Wayne, Indiana. He says, "The funniest thing that happened to me as a little boy was being born." He developed his brain while he attended Forest Park, Lakeside, and Harrison Hill grade schools.

As A South Side Student:

He took out membership in Travel Club, Track, Band, and was a member of the Times staff. He says, "Because of friction most of these memberships lasted less than a month." Now what could he mean by that? Bob couldn't afford to keep up his social obligations (better known as dates) without a regular income (better known as a job) so he stayed out of school the first semester of this year. In resuming his school activities he will take out membership in SPC and Wranglers.

Better Known For:

Perhaps Bob is more widely known for his speech activities. The honors he has received along this line of work are too numerous to relate, but some of the most prominent are, being a finalist in two National Oratory and Dramatic Contests, taking first place in the State Dramatic Contest, first place in seven-state Oratory Contest, third place in the State Oratory Contest, and twice being winner of the extemp trophy.

Archers Interpret Popular Song Hits In Different Ways

Many songs are heard played by an orchestra, radio, or records, and many Archers lend their ears to the haunting melodies. Each song, although heard the same by everyone, has a different meaning for each listener. Some think of romance, vacations, or food, while others even think of school. Here are a few songs and their hidden meanings for many an Archer:

A Million Dreams Ago: Holiday vacation, dances, and parties.

Pompton Turnpike: Front hall, fifth period.

I Give You My Word: I'll study in 1941.

Goody, Good, Bye, Bye: Song of the graduating seniors.

I Didn't Want To Do It: Song of the many students who received eighth periods for skipping school Monday and Tuesday.

We Three: Faculty, student and parents.

I Hear Music: When I put a nickel in the record player at the Grill.

Five O'Clock Whistle: Bell at end of seventh period.

There I Go: Said the student who was talking when Mrs. Scott tapped him on the shoulder.

You've Got Me This Way: Said the sleepy student to the library book he had to report on the next day.

I Didn't Know What Time It Was: Said the freshman, because my watch was broken.

Do You Know Why? asked one girl of her two companions as they sat in Mr. Snider's office following an assembly.

You Walked By: Said the basketball player to Mr. Friddle as he swallowed the cigarette.

So You're One: Said Mrs. Scott as she found the freshman in Q-3 throwing paper wads.

Lyrics Of Leisure By Ima Poet

The New Year

The New Year has dawned upon the sky, And to 1940 we have bade goodbye. Much has happened these past fifty-two weeks, Which has made us happy or given the creeps.

No one can prophesy what 1941 will bring, Health, peace, and happiness are what we hope it brings.

For if the world has these as a foundation, 1941 will not be a mighty conflagration.

A. J. L.

My Resolutions

Each year on January 1 my resolutions are made, I vow not to chew, smoke, or go on an escapade. But soon all my high ideals are broken, That scrap of paper, I now keep as a token.

Pray tell me why does one make a resolution? For they must be abandoned if you want to have fun. I'm sick and tired of making them each year, But it won't be done again—have no such fear.

For if no one likes me as I am, I won't make a resolution, I'll tell 'em to scram.

In fact, I don't see why we need a New Year, But what would the girls do without a Leap Year?

Janet

Rhymes Of Romance

Leap year is legally over for all the gals, But Jeanne Hensch will be Doleful unless she gets Hal.

We wish her good luck and all such stuff, And also to Dick Holmes who would enjoy Lois Hoff.

And now fair students I heard who's Yehudi, Helen bets Ninde to one it is Carwill Brudi.

Stranger than fiction this seems to be, But it would be in Bob Worman's (La)Favour to have Dee.

Many of South Side's pupils like to gab, But have you heard Lou declaim on Carolyn McNabb?

He can talk on that certain subject for hours, And Seudder can't decide whether it's Heaven or Auer.

Have you ever noticed the lil' freshies in our school? Stan Trier has been rushing Margaret Kuntz—he's no fool.

From all indications I hear Phil would like a Leas on Barb, But Lichtenberg has many rivals for this beautiful dark.

Pastel Shades Shown In Blouses And Jerkins

Suede! Suede! Will we never hear the last of this? Apparently not, as it is being worn more and more every day. Without suede in the wardrobe, a person just isn't in style. Long suede jerkins that hit a person around the hips are the latest things. These jerkins fit tight until after they have passed the waist; then there are two splits in the back that make them flare. They really give one that collegiate touch, and they come in all shades.

"Mad Money Buttons" are the newest thing in buttons. These buttons come in crystal and leather sets. Some are in the shape of an owl's head. Others are just plain sets that come in such rich colors as emerald green, royal blue, and golden yellow. With a royal blue skirt and a white shirt with royal blue studs, any girl could look glamorous.

Seen at the holiday dances were many new fashion hits. Ear rings to match other jewelry was one of these. Ear rings, bracelets, clips, and rings all in rhinestone sets are beautiful and will make an old dress look new.

Another fashion note seen at the dances was grandmother's lace scarf that adorned the shoulders of a lovely lass. The scarf was thrown over the shoulders carelessly, but looked wonderful. The long lace gloves to match were quite becoming. Looking at a person wearing these lace dainties, one wonders if it isn't grandma in disguise.

Sports wear again comes into view with the new jersey shirts that adorn the fairer sex. These shirts come in pastel shades, with metal buttons as the only decoration.

Brown and beige and brown and white golf shoes are the latest things for the feet. These golf shoes are taking the place of the ever popular saddles. "Casuals" coming in elk skin and antique brown are also new and popular footwear.

For that rainy day get out the boots, girls. Very new in rain apparel are boots which come in white, brown, red, and blue rubber. These boots can be worn over the shoes or without shoes.

Do You Remember Way Back When?

Freshman

In case your memory fails you, the following paragraphs will help the freshman of 1940.

The alumni of Harrison Hill will recall the traditional "Here At the Crossroads We're Standing" and the "Dance of the War Gods" processions in addition to the shaking of knees of John Mast, Kathryn Scholer, and Austin Gardner when they delivered the farewell addresses at graduation.

You will also remember the romances of Kathryn Scholer and Bob Ruckel, Marge Peterson and John Mast, and Bob Gildea and Marilyn Veach. The girls could never forget how they cheered when they saw "Abe" Turner, Richard Sellers, and Phil Lichtenberg come on to the basketball floor.

Former pupils of James H. Smart will recollect the amazing performance of "Jeep" Haynes and Bill Stults on the basketball floor, and also how proud Martha Dirmeyer and Albert Kranz were when they received the scholastic awards.

I'll bet that the graduates of Hoagland still sweat when they think of graduation day last spring, and how they had their diplomas thrown to them so that they could get out of the auditorium in order not to suffocate. Everybody will remember his first day in this institution when he entered the portals and fought his way up the incline to the gymnasium only to wonder after getting his card where the rooms were. Then when the fifth period rolled around how he stayed near some upperclassman friend, so that his shoes would not be tossed out onto the hardwood floor.

Of course, high school life has had a much more pleasant side to it; the first school dance, the first basketball game, and the first pep sessions and assemblies.

Sophomore

Here is a roundup of some of the outstanding sports and speech honors that the sophomore class has won.

Martha Cash was elected treasurer of GAA, and Jo Ann Spore was chosen manager of sports. Jo Ann Spore was also runner-up in the sophomore division and should be congratulated for her fine tennis ability. Ann Pontius is another sophomore who should be honored for her fine playing.

Three sophomore girls were tops in golf. They were Barbara Cross, who captured first honors; Barbara Scudner, who came in second; and Julia Kaser, third.

Probably the favorite sport at South Side is basketball. The GAA Sophomore Honor Team which played in the school tournament was composed of these girls: Alice Fisher, and Glo Hershman, captains, Julia Kaser, Nevada Hardendorf, Jo Ann Spore, Nevada Rabel, Phyllis Amstutz, Kathleen Sanders, Helen Long, Marion Faux, and Colleen McCarty.

Now let's look at the masculine side of sports. The sophomore class was represented very nicely in football. The boys who went out for football are "Cuey" Moeller, the Gilbert twins, Ward and Walt, Bob Druhot, Dick Holmes, Art Garrison, Don Yant, Curtis Kivik, and Jim Burkenbuel.

Basketball also had a fine representation. A few of the boys who went out for basketball are Ward Gilbert, "Cuey" Moeller, Harold Bushing, Harry Hines, Lefty Werkmann, and Jim Davis.

Among the fine orators in our class are Bill Bone, winner of the Freshman-Sophomore Contest, Elinor Muntlinger, second, and Dick Shriner, third. Others who should not be overlooked are Fred Collins, Dick Bailhe, Bill McNulty, and Rose-Etha Brasy.

Junior

We have now passed through the glorious year of 1940; it is about time we give the juniors a chance to see how they have made out this past year. We hope that the juniors who aren't in this column will take heed and maybe in 1941 your name will appear here.

As you all know Ralph Shimer was president of the class last year. Much to our happiness, he is our president again this year. Following in his footsteps, Marj McNabb was elected vice-president. To take care of our social affairs we have lovely Marilyn Loomis to help us. Rose Stemen is holding the position of secretary-treasurer. To advise us in all of our

Latin Students Shown Roman Latern Slides

Thirty-Six Pupils Explain Pictures Exhibited By Boys Of Visual Education Department

Lantern slides based on Roman life were shown to all Latin classes last Thursday in the Greeley Room. Some of the slides shown were Roman Life, Pompeian Kitchen, Utensils, Painting of Cicero and Catiline, Consul and Lictor's, Reconstruction of Baths of Caracalla, Painting of Chariot Race in Circus Maximus, Coins, Aqueducts of the Roman Empire, Modern Paintings of Landing of the Romans at Dover Cliffs, Slaves Sold in Rome, The Fates, and Reading from Homer.

Thirty-six students in the various classes prepared the material and explained the slides. These students are divided into six divisions. In Division 1 are Kenneth Breimeier, Joan Brubaker, Helen Ellenwood, Katherine Kuntz, Alene Looser, and Shirley White.

Those in Division 2 are Maxine Case, Bob Druhot, Mary Lou Felt, June Flait, Larry Graziere, Janet Holtmeyer, and Marjorie McNabb. Division 3 is comprised of Richard Bailhe, Betty Ann Bohn, Mary Bowlby, Walter Gilbert, Jack Grosvenor, and Violet Steinbauer.

Those in Division 4 are Kathryn Guild, Dean McKean, Franklin Neff, Violet Steinbauer, Alice Sweet, and Bob Wylie.

Division 5 is comprised of Lois Craig, Paul Keil, Pat Sanford, Jean Sidell, Calvin Singer, and Ivan Truman.

Those in the sixth Division are Martin Gernand, Dorothy Giden, Paul Keil, Bill McNulty, Phyllis Wefel, and Bob Young.

The boys from the Visual Education Department who showed the slides are Clarence Freeman, period one; Herman Turner, period two; Frank Thompson, period three; Bob Ault, period four; Ben Harris, period six; and Ralph Herb, period seven.

Colleges Proffer Seniors Stipends

Johns Hopkins, Hanover, Yale Are Schools; Principal To Give Additional Information

Three scholarships have been offered to South Side students, it was recently announced by Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal. Johns Hopkins University of Baltimore, Maryland, offers a four-year scholarship with $1,500. Selections will be made on the basis of scholastic ability, character, health, and leadership.

The college offers these two types of schools: The college of arts and sciences, which offers literature, languages, social science, natural sciences, and pre-medical studies; and the school of engineering, which offers civil, chemical, electrical, and mechanical engineering.

Hanover College offers a scholarship of $50 for each semester of the freshman year. Selections are made on the basis of leadership, scholarship, and character.

The third scholarship is the Yale Regional, offered to one student in a region of several states. Students who wish additional information about these scholarships, should see the front bulletin board or talk to Mr. Snider.

Do You Know That Our School System Originated In 1820?

Fort Wayne's first school was opened on May 29, 1820, with ten English scholars, six French, eight Indians, and one Negro as the only students. At that time approximately thirty log cabins and frame houses composed the settlement.

The following statements are contained in some of the reports of the times: "Two boys of the Pottawatome tribe, after two weeks in school, are spelling words of four letters. About half of the scholars are writing and many of them have a good hand."

After the opening of the first school, several other pupils started. These included parochial schools, private schools, and free schools. The term of nine months had its beginning before the year 1850.

At the present time sixty schools are established in Fort Wayne, including parochial and public grade and high schools and secondary schools.

The following superintendents have served the school city: George A. Irwin, E. S. Green, James H. Smart, John S. Irwin, Justin N. Study, R. M. Himelick, L. C. Ward, and Merle J. Abbott. Mr. Abbott is the present superintendent.

Library Is Purchaser Of Three New Books

Three new books recently purchased by the Library Club are "Tree of Liberty" by Elizabeth Page, "I Married Adventure" by Mrs. Osa Johnson, and "The Man Who Could Not Shudder," a detective story.

At a recent meeting ten books were reviewed and noted upon, and these three received the most votes when a ballot was taken.

Sixteen prints of birds and animals in natural colors, illustrating the book, "Audubon's America," have also been added to the library's collection.

Once a friend in a playful mood asked what he was hiding behind that bush of hair that hung over his forehead. The boy unwittingly told the truth by replying, "Nothing."

Former Teacher To Address Club

Miss Eleanor Smeltzly To Speak To Social Science Members On Recent Journey To Alaska

Miss Eleanor Smeltzly, former South Side general history teacher, will speak to Social Science Club tomorrow night on "Education, Industry, and Religion in Alaska." The club will meet in the Greeley Room at 7 o'clock. Following Miss Smeltzly's talk, Ruth Dauner and Dick Fishering will discuss the topic "Shall We Appear Japan?" The club will then hold an open discussion.

In addition to teaching general history to Archers for sixteen years, Miss Smeltzly was faculty adviser of the Social Science and So-Si-Y Clubs. She has traveled all over the world and is associated with many charitable organizations in the city. This summer Miss Smeltzly and her sister traveled to Alaska, where they spent several months.

The officers of the club are Paul Keil, president; Bob Brooks, vice-president; Ruth Dauner, secretary; and Marjorie Dyer, Inter-Club Congress representative.

"Literature" Choices Vary From Weird Stories To Classics

Ghost stories, weird stories, and murders, too! Are these the types of stories our Archers read? Have you ever seen a quiet, shy girl walking lazily down our halls and wondered if she spent her evenings curled up in a chair reading a love-story? Or have you wondered if our big, husky athletes rush home at night to read their favorite murder mysteries? These are general opinions. But in reality the tables are turned.

The following is a list of the results gotten in a recent poll to determine what type of literature is preferred by our Archers. Janet Meyerman: Biography; it's such good information. Barbara Hughes: Mysteries, because of the suspense they create. Mary Ann Florence: Mysteries hold my interest better than any other type of literature.

Dave Rea: Comics!!!! Gloria Spanley: Movie magazines. Movie stars are my favorite people. Helen Ninde: Comics. They make me feel good and get my mind off dry day.

Les Baumgartner: Esquire—Petty!!!!

Sam Johnson: Ditto.

Jim Holzworth: Etude—I love music.

Dorothy Cooper: Little Orphan Annie; well—Dick likes it!

Phyllis Hess: Mysteries. I love exciting stories.

Marian Bosch: Movie magazines. Movie stars' lives are never dull. I hate dull stuff.

Jenny Hacker: Classics. They improve your mind.

John Hefflinger: Love stories. What is there in this world besides love, anyway?

Margaret Heine: Mysteries, they intrigue me.

Faulty Mail Service Gives Cue To News Of Seattle Scholars

Have you ever wondered what high school students of other states do, what kind of school they go to, or how the school is run? Although many of us think about it, we never do anything to find out. But Mary Stuechell, a staff member of the Garfield High School paper in Seattle, Washington, did do something about it.

Mary thought it would be fun to find out from first-hand information just what some school in another part of the United States was doing. So she selected a school paper from their exchange file and wrote to a staff member of that paper. The paper she chose was one in South Bend, but by a purely coincidental mistake the letter finally landed in the possession of Bob Young, sports editor of The Times.

She asked for general information concerning the school and related many interesting facts about Garfield and the city of Seattle.

Garfield High, according to her letter, is one of nine high schools in Seattle. The name of their paper is The Garfield Messenger. There are about 2500 students in Garfield. When Seattle students enter high school, they automatically become members of the Boys' or Girls' Clubs. They have no special student body officers but only class and club officials.

Garfield is run on a stamp plan, which sounds rather dense but in reality is quite simple. For ten cents a week students receive a stamp that entitles them to a stamp collection, school productions and school clubs. They also receive a newspaper twice a week and a $3.00 annual. The total cost of a stamp card is $1.80 for a semester.

Since Seattle is a coast town, much time is spent in water sports. Many of the girls and fellows have sailboats which they call "flatties." Their winter sports are about the same as ours, except that they have extensive skiing. In fact, the only fault Mary finds with Seattle is that it rains too much.

Authors Is Topic Of Latin Meeting

Five Club Members To Discuss Writers At Meeting Today; Quiz Program To Follow

Latin authors will be the topic of discussion at the Latin Club meeting today in Room 138 at 3:30 o'clock.

Pat Harruff, who is in charge of the committee for this meeting, will tell about the author Terrence and his play "Phormio." Marjorie Wigbel will speak about the poet Horace, after which Gene Lou Hargens will talk about Ovid. Carol Trenary will conclude this part of the program with an explanation of Livy, the historian, and his work. The historical and literary resources are as follows: Period 1, Elsie Korte, Keith Prossie; period 2, Bonnie Junk, Delores Markjorie, Max Stobach; period 6, Eleanor Christ.

Bill Bone, an English 6, period 4 student of Miss Pocock, made A+ on a test over "Alibi Ike" by Ring Lardner.

UP AND DOWN OUR INCLINES

Reports on the Roman aqueducts and the Roman water supply were given to Mrs. Welty's period 6 Latin class by Robert Welty, Harold Werkman, and George Spears.

Connie Harrison made the best grade on a final test on Introducing Essays given by Miss Pocock to her English 3, period 7 class. Eleanor Christ made the second highest grade.

The sewing students of Miss Rehorst will discuss the care of clothing the rest of this semester.

On a test given by Mr. Collyer to his General History 1 classes the following made a grade of A: Period 1, Homer Haley, Frank Neff, Betty Mackay, and Mae Ann Stark; period 4, Bob Druhot and Beverly Springer; period 4, Kenneth Bohn, Marilyn Domer, Kathryn Guild, Albert Krantz, Grace Rendleman, Carolyn Snoko, Janice Sprunger, and Rosemary Zeigler.

In Mr. Collyer's General History 2 class on a test on expansion, Lois Craig and Bill McNulty made highest scores, making 55 and 56 points out of a possible 60.

State Policeman Murphy stressed the 3 E's of traffic—education, engineering, and enforcement—in a talk on the duties of a state policeman, given to Miss Miller's government classes.

Miss Dean's dance classes, period 4 and 6, are learning a jitterbug dance.

Marcia Adler, Robert Budde, Calvin Tigley, Jack Grosvenor, Fritz Kahle, and Marcelle Schwartz made either A or A+ on a test over Introducing Essays in Miss Pocock's English 3, period 3 class.

Miss Mellen's home nursing classes have begun the study of child care. They are now taking up the feeding and care of a child during its first year of life.

In Miss Peck's English 3, period 6 class, the following students made especially good grades on a recent test given over Introducing Essays: Lois Bailey, Elsie Korte, and Nyla Jean Landis made grades of 100, and George Waldschmidt scored 98.

Eloise Updike, now in school in Huntington, visited her former Home Room 79 last Friday.

In Miss Perkins' French 3, period 2 class, Charlene McAtee scored 96 on a test given over the subjunctive mood.

Tom Young, a student of Miss Mary Crowe's period 4 U. S. History 3 class, has brought to class two large volumes on United States islands and their people.

A's on a quiz given by Mr. Walker to his marketing classes on buying shoes were received by Marjorie Morris, Marceline Batdorf, Tom Deal, Carolyn Emrich, Kathleen Neith, and Wayne Turley.

Miss Kiefer's English 3 classes are making a study of the development of the short story, starting with the very earliest forerunner, an Egyptian tale of 1300 B. C., called "The Two Brothers." The course will then continue with the study of myths, fables, Bible stories, and folk tales until the modern form is reached.

Miss Smith's dancing classes are learning the LaConga. They are also preparing notebooks in which routines will be copied.

Rosemary Plummer scored 99 on a general test given by Miss Perkins to her French 1, period 3 class. The following made 90 or above: Dorothy Heslip, Lois Hof, Lois Bremer, Lois Bloemker, Betty Bohn, Marilyn Domer, Kathryn Guild, Albert Krantz, Grace Rendleman, Carolyn Snoko, Janice Sprunger, and Rosemary Zeigler.

Members Needed For Booster Club

Assistant Advisers State Desire For More Pupils To Sell Refreshments At Sports Events

"We need members and lots of them," states Miss Nell Covalt, Miss Mary Pocock, assistant advisers of the Booster Club, concerning the need of students to work in the refreshment stands at the basketball games. Miss Rowena Harvey is the head adviser of this club.

A meeting of all old members will be held tonight in Room 30 at 3:40 o'clock. All who wish to join should attend the meeting tonight or see either of the assistant advisers. Positions which may be obtained by a worker are manager of a stand, worker at stand, and seller in the crowd. All students are eligible to become members. Students will also receive a pass to see the game on the night that they work.

The present members are Doris Burt, David Fries, Ruth Gerlach, Eileen Goddard, Robert Howey, Barbara Hughes, John Logue, Marcella Reinking, and Alleda Stults. These members sell concessions in the crowd.

Working in the pop-corn stand are Paul Johnson, John Virts, and Bonnie Junk. Clarence Freeman and Eugene Wigeman have charge of the Coca Cola stand. Betty Clem and Helen Peck have charge of the ice cream stand; and Joan Lee and Dorothy Rarick sell candy.

Foul-Throwing Contest Begins For Intramural

An intramural foul-throwing contest began yesterday, it was announced by the head of intramural activities, Mr. Louis Briner. He also stated that there are about twenty boys who have signed up for the sport. The contest will be held during the fifth period only. Three rounds are to be held, each on a separate day. The first round was held yesterday; the second will be held next Monday; and the third and final round will be completed next Wednesday. Exactly 25 per cent of the boys who have the highest score will go to the second round, and 50 per cent of the highest of the second round will compete in the final round.

Archers Bow To North Side Friday, 39-to-32

Kellies Fall Before Packed Redskin Gym After Locals Throw Scare Into Nulmen

North Side's Red Raiders dropped the Kelly Klads, 39 to 32. The Archers fell before the North Siders at the packed northern gym last Friday, but only after the locals had thrown a scare into the highly rated Nulmen. South Side played on even terms with the hosts, but the Red and White cagers hit more consistently on their home court than did the Friddlemen.

South Holds Lead
South Side jumped into a 5 to 0 lead before the North Siders revived to grab a 7 to 5 advantage at the end of the first period. Chuck Close hit two field efforts, and ever-dependable Bob Hines added a charity toss to give the locals their short-lived lead. Young counted a field effort and a charity tossed, and Reds Cowan and Hinga added fielders to give the host club the lead at the termination of the quarter.

In the second period, Bill Knoll scored a long fielder, and Bob Hines hit a one-handed push shot and a foul to give the Green a half-time score of ten points. Redskins Young, Hinga, and Cowan scored field efforts markers as the half ended. During the first half of the tilt, South Side took 21 shots for the 4 goals, while the Nulmen caged in 23 attempts.

North Siders Erwin, Harrison, and Hinga paced the host attack in the third stanza. The Nulmen outscored the locals 17 to 13 in this quarter to hold a 30-to-23 lead at the three-quarter mark. Both teams counted nine markers in the final quarter to bring the final score to 39 to 32 in favor of the Redskins.

Archers Aim at Airdales—Coach Burl Friddle's basketballers are favored to regain the victory trail at Hartford City on Friday. Last week the Central Tigers whipped the Airdales by a 50-to-37 count. The Green is expected to duplicate the feat. While the Hartford cagers are considered one of the best units in the NEIC, the local netmen should win by some fifteen markers.

Memories of a Memorable Week-End—South Side outplayed Huntingburg and looked as tough as the highly rated Redskins of North Side; yet the Archers bowed to each club by a substantial margin.

In each tilt Coach Friddle started Bob Hines, Gus Feistkorn, Bill Knoll, Chuck Close, and Chick Shimer. The new combination looked very good, and the losses were not due to any lack of co-ordination.

North Side beat the Green, not by any superior play, but merely by hitting the loop at opportune moments. Huntingburg was not the highly rated five which most fans expected. The Happy Hunters of Judson Erne were good, but not as well coached or potential as the Green. Nahler, Schmultz, and Bloemker were the three big cogs in the southern attack.

South Side's rebound work was not up to par in the second period at North Side and during the third quarter of the Huntingburg battle.

Although the Archers bowed to both of the clubs in a fashion which may be none-too-impressive to a majority of the state's fans, most of the South Side rooters have come to realize that our basketball team is on a par with the state's best. We're willing to yield power now, but let's watch our dynamo roll in March.

Player of the Week—Ralph "Chick" Shimer.

Shimer, one of South Side's most versatile athletes, has our nomination for the plaudits this week. Last fall, Chick was undoubtedly one of the city's standout griders. He was the ablest of the punters in this territory, and Wayne Gift is expecting much action from the curly-headed star next year. As to basketball, Chick is fast becoming a valuable asset to Burl Friddle's starting unit. Although he does not specialize in the scoring department as a city leader, he is one of the Archer's most consistent netters. Chick looks good on offense and defense, relinquishing little in either department. Any time the versatile Green cager trots onto the floor, he is seen wearing the familiar 73. For one of the state's most dependable basketballers, I could not recommend a better ball-hawk than Chick Shimer.

It's Odd But—Hammond Tech scored 18 points in the last four minutes in a highly contested tilt with Emerson of Gary. Going into the final four minutes of play, Hammond held a one-point lead of 23 to 22. The Gary city champs of Emerson High had been giving the undefeated state titlists a real battle. Suddenly the Techs, coached by Lew Birkett, came to life and really caught fire. During the final four minutes, the Emersons hit but one field goal while the Techs hit nine. It's odd, but it's true.

Tech Tops State Fives—Still holding the top position in our state rankings are the Wildcats of Hammond Tech High. The Cats are definitely the state's best club at this time. Here are the rankings for this week:

1. Hammond Tech.
2. South Bend Central.
3. Fort Wayne North.
4. Anderson.

Hammond Tech's cagers deserve the first spot because they can get points when needed, as is evidenced by the Cat's battles with North Side and Gary Emerson. South Bend Central warrants high rating on the basis of a good season record. In the one game in which I saw the Bears play, the South Benders did not impress me as being a potential state contender; however, they have a good record, and Johnny Wooden may have more than most expect. Fort Wayne North receives our bid on the basis of wins over South Side and Decatur, Illinois. The Nulmen have not looked like the world-beating five into which North Side was supposed to develop, but the big Red quint has plenty of possibilities, and the city's most-regarded netman in Jim Hinga.

Hunters Gain 42-to-34 Win Over Kellies

Archers Lead During First Two Quarters; Feistkorn Totals Thirteen Points

Judson Erne's Happy Hunters found victory for the eighth time this Saturday, 42 to 34. The southern netters were outplayed by the locals, but the Hunters managed to hit when the shots were needed to whip the Green. This was the first appearance of the Huntingburg five on the South Side schedule.

Chuck Close staged another impressive opening on Saturday, hitting two fielders and combining with Shimer's foul goal and Gus Feistkorn's field toss, to give the Archers a 7-to-5 lead at the end of the quarter. Three charity throws and a fielder by Center Blemler constituted the scoring for the Hunters in the first stanza.

Feistkorn Leads Scorers
Led by Gus Feistkorn, who tallied seven points on two fielders and three free tosses, the locals swept into a 21-to-15 half-time advantage. Blemler and Nahler tossed in two fielders apiece to account for the second quarter cores of the southerners.

Early in the third period the Archer defense was split wide open. The Hunters hit several easy attempts to trail at 28 to 27 before the locals called time-out. As the Archers brought the ball back into play, Center Blemler dribbled the length of the floor to give the visitors a one-point lead. Nahler, Hunter forward, followed with another long dribble and lay-up shot to give the southerners a 31 to 28 lead. Chuck Close gave spirit to Archer rooters as he caged a long fielder from near the center line; Schmultz of the Hunters hit as the final quarter began to give the visitors the lead which they never relinquished.

Hines Adds Scores
During the final period, Nahler and Schmultz accounted for all of the Hunters' points; Bob Hines hit a fielder and a foul; and Gus Feistkorn added a charity throw to give the Archers four markers in the last period.

Hoosier Winners, Losers Are Listed

Star Teams Are Kokomo, Franklin, South Bend, Martinsville; County Victories Are Given

Kokomo's Wildcats returned into the spotlight in Indiana cage circles last week by thumping the highly rated Muncie Central basketballers, 50 to 23. Hammond Tech, defending state champions, and the Bears of South Bend Central continued to display semblance of title contenders.

Fuzzy Vandiner's Franklin Grizzly Cubs were given a merciless whipping by a surprisingly strong Shelbyville outfit. The Cubs, unbeaten in nine games, were rudely dumped by the wayside, 34 to 21.

Indianapolis Shortridge was beaten 32 to 25 by a good Martinsville club. In battles waged down along the Ohio River, the New Albany and Evansville Central clubs fell from the victory trail; Bedford tripped the Albany 33 to 31, while the Evansville Reitz cagers dropped their cross-city rival, Central, 27 to 25, in a thrilling double overtime.

Coach Scott Smith's Woodburn Warriors continued to show the most spunk of any small community outfit. The Allen County pace-setters chalked up their tenth win in eleven frays by overwhelming a hapless Arcola crew, 47 to 9. Other important results are:

Archers, Airdales To Clash In Net Game Tomorrow Night

Hartford City To Be Stage Of Tilt Friday

Varsity Tangle To Begin At 8:30 O'clock In Foes' Gym; Archers Expect Victory

South Side's Archers are expected to regain their former victorious ways at Hartford City tomorrow night when the Kellies will play their ninth basketball game. The Airdales are again strong and powerful in their territory, but the Archers are favored by a majority of the fans to chalk up a win.

The varsity game will start at 8:30 o'clock, with a preliminary match between the Archer and Airdale seconds, preceding the varsity clash.

Has Good Record
Hartford City has a season's record which does not warrant too much dread, yet the host Airdales are expected to be tough to edge on their home court. The opening lineup for the hosts should include Johnson and Beason in the forward posts, Coats at center, and Warkin and Shawhan the guard spots.

Forward Johnson and Beason are both experienced cagers, but the duo is nevertheless formidable enough in size to cause the locals some anxiety. Jim Coats, Airdale pivot man, is a dependable scorer and a fair rebound man.

The hosts are especially strong in the guard positions, for both Warkin and Shawhan are standout performers. Last week-end the Airdales fell before Murray Mendenhall's Bengals, 50 to 37.

Airdales Anticipate Win
The Archers whipped the Hartforders by a 50 to 19 count early last season, but the Greens are not counted upon to have such an easy time this season. Airdale fans are hoping to beat South Side to avenge the Central defeat and the drubbing of last year, and the host club is busily drilling to prepare for the important tilt.

Coach Burl Friddle is planning to start Archers Close, Hines, Feistkorn, Knoll, and Shimer in the battle on Friday night. Chuck Close displayed some semblance of developing into a dependable cageman against the Redskins and the Hunters.

With a few more games for experience, Chuck should be a very valuable cog in Coach Friddle's plans. Bill Knoll, who has returned to a starting role after a month's layoff, is expected to give the locals needed scoring punch and drive. If Bill can continue to improve and regain his sniping eye, the Archer quintet will be a well-rounded unit.

Veterans Are Dependable
Veterans Bob Hines, Gus Feistkorn, and Chick Shimer are depended upon to produce their usual good play. Bryce Augsburger, Dallas Zuber, Harry Hines, and Doyle Shirk are also expected to break into the Archer-Airdale tussle.

GAA Lists Frosh Volleyball Queens

Kathryn Horn, Phyllis Griffith, Mary Dayton, Mary Griffith Are Named Winning Captains

Freshman winners in GAA volleyball Monday evening at 8:30 o'clock were teams captained by Mary Dayton and Kathryn Horn. At 4 o'clock the winners were Mary Dayton's, Mary Griffith's, and Phyllis Jackson's teams.

The high scorers in the game played at 8:30 o'clock were Alice Dolan and Sirlaine Smith from Kathryn Horn's team. Jean Clark was the outstanding player on Phyllis' team. The high scorers for the 4 o'clock game were Maxine Pasce, Betty Behrman, and Barbara Burt.

The officials were Joan Spore, Marilyn Bullerman, Joan Schwartz, Ilo Hirschman, Ruby Clausen, Donna Peel, Kathryn Saunders, Phyllis Graue, Joan Schultz, and Janice Fruth.

Blue To Play Decatur, Oilers This Week-End

Coach Murray Mendenhall's Central Tigers are scheduled to engage two strong quintets this week-end, when the Decatur Yellow Jackets and the Whiting Oilers will invade the home court of the Blue. The Yellow Jackets are not very strong this season; however, the Oilers are heralded as one of the dark horse units of northern Indiana.

Central's starting line-up for the two evenings is unknown, with Coach Mendenhall indicating that he will substitute freely in both tilts. Bengals certain to see action will be Tackett and Wilkin, while Washington, Shaw, and Sikko will probably receive the other starting bids. Tigers Miller, Stanski, Jameson, and Rice will also be called upon for play.

Pictured above in the cartoon is Gus Feistkorn, one of the most highly regarded members of the South Side basketball team. If you haven't yet recognized Gus on the court, take a look at number seventy-four the next time the Friddlemen are on the floor. Last season Gus rode the bench as the tenth member of the Green tourney outfit, but this year the lanky Kelly center is playing regularly and consistently, racing his fellow mates in the scoring.

Five years ago, our feature of the week was a member of the Harrison Hill grade school team that won the city championship. Gus came to South Side with the aim of becoming a main cog in the South Side court brigade, and this he has accomplished. Although many have believed that Gus is deterred by his glasses, the slender

Sophs Alice Fisher, Ilo Hirschman Are Prominent GAA'ers

Two sparkling brunettes and prominent girls in GAA are Ilo Hirschman and Alice Fisher. Ilo and Alice have been firm friends for a long time, and where you see one you are very likely to see the other.

Ilo was born in Fort Wayne on November 27, 1925. She went to Hamilton School up to the sixth grade and then went to the James H. Smart School for the seventh and eighth grades. Ilo is now a 10A.

Pumpkin pie is Ilo's favorite food and vegetable salad ranks second. Mickey Rooney and Joan Davis of screenland rank ace high with her. Ilo's favorite show is "Tom Edison, the Man", and Jack Benny is her favorite radio program.

Ilo's dislikes are people who bite their fingernails and people who are inattentive when they should be listening. Miss Dean and Miss Smith the other teachers close behind. Her favorite subjects are from period one to period seven.
She belongs to GAA, Service Club, Student Leaders, and USA.

Alice was born in Fort Wayne, too, on February 6, 1925. She went to John S. Irwin and James H. Smart grade schools. Alice is also a 10A.

Anything that is edible is a favorite with Alice. Mickey Rooney and Alice Faye are her favorite screen stars, while "Marie Antoinette" is her favorite picture and Glen Miller is her number one radio performer.

Not only people, cabbages and Julius Caesar are her chief dislikes.
When asked to state her favorite teachers, Alice made a meek answer, "Don't like to show partiality." Lunch periods and eighth periods (not Mrs. Scott's) are her favorite periods.
Alice belongs to GAA, Student Leaders, Girl Scouts, USA, Wo-Ho-Ma, and Service Club.

Irish, North Side Face Tough Tilts

Catholic To Battle Berne, Redskins To Travel To Nappanee In Saturday Night Struggles

After meeting in their important clash tonight, the Irish and Redskins face tough fives on Saturday. The Nulfmen are scheduled to travel to Nappanee, while the Berne Bears will invade the Irish home floor. While both Nappanee and Berne have good teams, the local quintets are expected to chalk up wins.

Coach Nulf will probably try to use several of his reserves in the game at Nappanee, and it is probable that Redskins Popp, Short, Moyer, Ranly, and Reese will see a majority of the action for the locals. The Northern mentor will probably lead with Hinga, Harrison, Ervin, Cowan, and Young; Coach Nulf depends upon these five regulars to gain a lead sufficient to warrant the play of the five reserves.

Central Catholic's national titlists will meet a steeper in the tricky Bears of Berne. While the Bears are again boasting a formidable season record, the Levickies are anticipating little trouble from the Saturday night opponents. Coach Levicki will choose his starters from Irishmen Kartholl, Krouse, Leto, Heiny, Walker, Gladieux, Keenan, and Morthorst.

254 Students' Season Net Passes Are Sold

Exactly 254 student season basketball tickets have been sold so far in the season ticket office, it was announced by Mr. Ora Davis, athletics division head. The number of student tickets sold for either half of the year totaled 222.

Full year basketball tickets sold to adults number 276, while sixty-five halves were sold. The season ticket office is open every night after school.

Twenty 'Mural Basketball Tilts Show Winners

Survivors Of Intraschool Tourney Tilts Last Week Decided In Close Games

Boys' Intramural Basketball Tournament has been progressing rapidly with the tournament out of the first round and well into the second. During this past week fifteen heavyweight games, three middleweight games, and two lightweight games have been played, making a total of twenty games.

Teams Evenly Matched
As the tournament progresses the teams become more evenly matched. This last week proved no exception, for there were few one-sided games. In the heavyweight division the Ex-Laxers downed the Blitzkriegers with a score of 7 to 3. A slow and deliberate but exciting game was played between the Rafterers and the Yehudis with the Rafterers coming out on top with a score of 17 to 13.

Another exciting game was that between the Ramblers and Gon's Men when the Ramblers overcame Gon's Men by only three points; the score read 9 to 6. The SOP stopped the Ex-Laxers in the most dazzling duel of starting plays yet seen between two intramural teams; the final score was 15 to 13.

Irish Wilt Roses
A slow but exciting game was seen between the Roses and the Irish with the Irish wiling the Roses with a score of 9 to 5. The Kassy Kids proved themselves to be a high-class team when they just managed to conquer the Ex-Swishers with a score of 13 to 10.

The Ramblers again rode the victory trail as they silenced the Jingleers with a score of 8 to 6. Although the scores were small, an exciting game was run off between the Musketeers and the Hot Stuffs, but the Musketeers were conceded the victory with the scoreboard reading 6 to 8.

The game between the Irish and the Rafterers proved to be very interesting as point for point was traded throughout the game, but the Rafterers were too tough for the Irish to pull down; the final score was 13 to 10. The Ex-Laxers eliminated Gon's Men with a one-sided score of 9 to 3.

Five Flops Conquered
Although the Five Flops put up a hard fight they were very decidedly conquered with a score of 5 to 20. Another one-sided game was between the Supermen and the Five Mystics with the scoreboard reading 14 to 23.

The Dubs were conceded a victory over the Skunkhollowers when they played contrary to their name; the final score was 12 to 1. The Ex-Swishers weren't so fast as was believed when the Cats overcame them by ten points; the resulting score was 16 to 6. The games between the Swishers' A. C. and the Roses and the Rockets and the Jingles portrayed no action as both games were forfeits; the victors were the Roses and the Jingleers.

Bolts Defeat XXX's
Only two games were played in the middleweight division. The first was between the Black Bolts and the XXX's with the Black Bolts managing to conquer the XXX's with a score of 8 to 7. The Gambolies squelched the Owls by 9 to 5 in a very hard-fought but slow game.

Only two games were run off in the light weight division as there haven't been many lightweight entries. The most exciting game was between the Bulldogs and the Comets as the Comets trashed them 9 to 7 victory over the bewildered Bulldogs. The Red Hots weren't hot enough as the Badgers outplayed them 18 to 6.

Girls' Sportsettes

All student leaders are reminded to be sure to get their volleyball rules, which may be obtained in the girls' gym office.

Ducky Spore has made a new record of bicycle riding. She rode from her home to school, a distance of twelve blocks, in five minutes. Good for you, Ducky.

In the third period gym class, Squad 3 is ahead with ten wins and one loss. Team 2 is second with five wins and two ties. Team 4 is third with five wins and a tie.

Since we have our own ping-pong table, many expert players are being developed. Girls don't forget to turn in ping-pong equipment.

Here comes a great surprise! Maxine Voltz' Sophomore 4 team defeated the never-defeated Senior 1 team, captained by Geneva Martin, in volleyball last Friday.

Welcome to Betty MacKay, who is just coming out for sports. She is just a sophomore and has great possibilities in the athletic field.

Read How Hunters' Team Reacts After Beating South Side

Last Saturday night after the Happy Hunters of Huntingburg defeated the Archers, your roving reporter journeyed into the locker rooms of the visiting team and obtained a few of the Hunter's opinions on our team. All of the boys seemed to have a very favorable opinion of the Archer netters. Although the boys were busy taking showers and dressing, amidst all the confusion he managed to interview the following:

Blackie Nahler: South Side has a tough team and is going to have to be watched in the future.
Bill Schmiltzer: It was a swell game tonight, and South Side showed themselves to be real sports.

Jim Miller: South Side has a team that any school would certainly be proud to have.
Oz Blemker: Eventually you'll have a good team.

Cyril Rehl: South Side has a swell team, and we look forward to seeing them in Indianapolis around tournament time.

"Flash" Murray: I hope we have another chance to play South Side in the near future. You've got a grand team.

Students Teach Dance
Dance Club will meet today in Room 170. Marilyn Wolf and Thelma Draper are teaching the group a tap dance. The members have finished learning the rumba, which they have been working on.

Redskins To Meet Irish Friday Night

Game Will Be Fifth City Series Clash Of Year; Both Teams Boast Good Season Records

Coach Bob Nulf's North Side Redskins are slated to meet the Irish of Central Catholic tomorrow night. Both teams boast impressive season results, and each team possesses a well-balanced attack. This game will be the fifth city series clash of the year. North Side has met both Central and South Side, while the Catholics have engaged only South Side.

John Levicki, Irish mentor, is expected to lead off with Nick Leto and John Kartholl at forwards, Bob Walker at center, and Bud Gladieux and Dick Krouse as guards. Captain Bob Heiny, Harold Northorst, and Bert Keenan are also to fit into the Catholic's battle plan. Both Leto and Kartholl are very good ball handlers and expert shots under the hoop. Big Bob Walker, Irish pivot man, has consistently been a steady performer on rebound and all defensive play.

Bud Gladieux and Dick Krouse have come along slowly, but both are now considered to be top-flight cagers on offensive and defensive play. Coach Levicki is hopeful of an Irish win, for the Catholics have but three chances at city glory. With a victory over the locals already in the books, the Irish look to the coming city tilts with hope of annexing a long-awaited city crown.

North Side's team has been going through drills since Monday in preparation for the Purple and Gold, and it is highly probable that the Redskins will be fully prepared to throttle the threats of the invading Irish. The Nulf brothers, who tutor the northern netters, expect to start Redskins Ervin, Harrison, Hinga, Young, and Cowan.

A capacity crowd is expected, and advance ticket sales point to a full house far before game time.

Shop Teachers Organize New Industrial Club

Mr. Lyston Persing, G. E. Micro-Motion Expert, Will Talk At Meeting Tuesday

To develop interest in industrial arts, to give more credit to boys already engaged in shop work, and to recognize boys with outstanding ability in industrial arts classes, the Industrial Arts Club has been recently organized by Mr. C. A. Bex, drafting instructor; Mr. Joseph H. Plasket, woodworking instructor; and Mr. Estal C. Smuts, woodturning and metal-working instructor.

Will Meet Tuesday

Mr. Lyston Persing, micro-motion expert at the General Electric Company, will talk at the next meeting, Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Greeley Room. He will describe methods of reducing motions to speed up production. Meetings will be every two weeks.

The club is organized on a point basis. Each boy enrolled in industrial arts class receives points for day, week, and semester work. It is a four-year program. As soon as he has earned 200 points he may join the club. With 1200 points the boy becomes an apprentice, similar to old craftsman guilds, then journeyman; and finally, at the top, master craftsman.

The club elected Kenny Schell president, Thomas Goodwin vice-president, Jack Mann secretary, Jim Ostermeyer treasurer, and Earl Sweeney chairman of the program committee at its first meeting held November 19.

Members Adopt Constitution

At the last business meeting, members adopted a constitution and code of ethics which follows:

In being a member of this club, I will live up to the following code:

1. In my associations with classmates and teachers, I will be honorable, friendly, and courteous.

2. I will be faithful and dependable in performing my school and club duties.

3. I will not resort to alibis to excuse my own shortcomings.

4. I will develop as fully as possible those talents and abilities which I have.

5. I will above all, strive to use and care for all tools and equipment in true workmanlike style.

Mr. Plasket, Mr. Smuts, and Mr. Bex will give points to boys working at different posts. Mr. Bex will give credit for boys acting as librarian, 270; equipment foreman and superintendent, 460; point foreman and stock clerk, 180; secretary and general foreman, 360; and sanitation foreman, repair workers, overtime workers, blue printing foremen and the boys who put work on board. Mr. Plasket and Mr. Smuts have similar plans. All three will give points on graded drawings and projects.

Membership Is Large

The club's membership is increasing rapidly. The sponsors, however, are glad to have any boy taking industrial arts join. Charter members include Wayne Kern, Dale Landis, Warren Lotz, Jack Mann, Bob May, Eugene Meeks, Jack Miller, Verne Mitchell, Philip Muller, Donald Moore, Clifford Ostermeyer, Jim Ostermeyer, Richard Pettit, Harold Pittenger, Adrian Ramey, Norbert Rehm, Kenny Schell, Wilbur Scholle, and Duane Shidler.

More Members Are

Completing the membership list are Owen Bradley, Neal Betts, James Bolyard, David Bastian, Dick Belts, Carl Broyles, Edward Blood, Eugene Backofen, Max Chandler, Jack Cranfill, Ray Commers, Jack Doyle, Richard Dowling, Richard Dosch, Frank DuWaldt, Clifford Gunn, Thomas Goodwin, Calvin Gilbert, John Heffelfinger, Harold Igney, and Robert Kammeier.

The Meterite and Latin Club members are reminded that the pictures for their clubs will be taken on Tuesday, January 14. Other clubs are urged to act quickly upon the contracts offered them by The Totem business manager, Joel Salon.

If this is done the rest of the pictures will be taken immediately after the opening of the second semester. By this time twenty-two and one-half pages have been purchased by the clubs, and two pictures have been taken.

Mr. Estal Smuts

Mr. Joseph Plasket

Mr. Estal Smuts and Mr. Joseph Plasket, manual training teachers, have been announced as faculty advisers for the Industrial Arts Club, in addition to Mr. C. A. Bex, whose name was given in last week's paper.

Did You Know These Things About Your Own High School?

This column contains some of the little known facts, rules, and regulations which govern your daily life here at South Side.

Did you know that South Side and its stadium covers exactly nine and eight-tenths acres of ground? And that the dividing line between those pupils attending Central and those attending South Side is the Pennsylvania Railroad west to Calhoun, and the Wabash Railroad east of Calhoun?

Fines Charged On Books

Did you know that if you don't return a book from the school library before 8:25 o'clock on the day that it is stamped due, a fine of five cents for that day and every other day that it is overdue will be charged? So when you receive one of those pink fine cards be sure to return your book to the library; or, if you have misplaced it, settle the difference as soon as you possibly can. Library books are intended for free use, but if you don't bring them back on time the expense mounts very rapidly.

Did you know that South Side has a complete and modern dispensary? It is next to Miss Pittenger's private office, and pupils who have met with some accident or have become ill during school may receive first aid treatment which is administered by Miss Martha Pittenger. A regulation hospital bed and well-equipped medicine cabinet are a few of the outstanding features of the dispensary.

Did you know that South Side was opened for classes on September 9, 1922, but was not formally dedicated until December 10 of the same year? And that for three years grade school classes were held in the building, pending the erection of a new grade school which is today known as Harrison Hill? Also, did you know that R. C. Harris was the first principal of South Side during the first four years?

Did you know that South Side has not always been so crowded? Below are listed the number of boys and girls who comprised the first graduating class in 1923 and the number

Oh, Well, We Still Can Talk About All Of Future Vacations

Well, children, Christmas vacation is a thing of the past again; and what a vacation! But please don't feel too badly about the past; think of our glorious vacations, such as mid-term, spring vacation, Decoration Day, and the simply super summer vacation.

The mid-semester vacation is really needed for a breathing spell after the Wednesday on which we receive our grade cards—and all our A's (?).

But spring vacation is really something to look forward to. Balmey days, when a young man's fancy—oh well, you know. It's nice to dream about on these lovely (?) cold January days, any way.

Then Decoration Day is at hand before any one knows it. (It's on Friday this year, fellows, so we won't have to skip in order to have a two-day vacation away from home.) These few days seem to give a sort of preview of this coming summer vacation.

But just a day or so before that summer vacation, once thought of as a glorious thing, there are going to be just about 435 people in South Side who are going to be so bewildered and downhearted because they're graduating that they'll wish that summer had never come. But then, in a few months, everyone will be perked up and raring to go.

Mid-Year Graduates

The thing we hear most these days is the crying need for speed in the defense program.

Already this plan has created an acute shortage of office workers.

YOU MID-YEAR GRADUATES can do your duty by getting ready in the shortest time possible to do your part.

International has a special opening Monday, February 3, for mid-year graduates.

Your nation needs your services. Write, telephone, or call at school for full particulars.

J. McClure, B. Robinson Win Extemp

Each Will Receive Wrangler Medal; Other Finalists, Contestants Are Listed

James McClure and Bob Robinson tied for first, December 30, in the finals of the Wranglers Extemp contest, and will receive a Wrangler medal. Don Meyer placed second and Ed Meyer placed third. Those who were entered in the finals are John Bonsib, Bill McNulty, Bud Lampton, Alene Loeser, and Bob Guion.

Winners in the preliminary contest for period two were Alene Loeser, first; Bill McNulty and John Bonsib, second; Bud Brudi and Clifford Springer, third. Period three winners were James McClure, first; Don Meyer, second; Rose-Etha Brazz, third. Dick Holmes and James Bunkle did not place.

Period four champions were Bud Lampton, first; Ed Meyer, second; Kolman Gross, third. Roger McVay and Dick Bailhe did not place. Period six winners were Bob Guion, first; Bob Robinson, second. Bob Brooks and Charles Bell tied for third. Austin Gardner did not place.

Judges for the finals were Tom Gallmeyer, Dick Doerner and Bill Reithmiller. Preliminary judges were Tom Gallmeyer, Dick Doerner, Elizabeth Neff, and Bill Swazer.

Crystal Ball Shows Escalators, Buttons For School In 1991

Looking through the crystal glass into the future of South Side in fifty years, one can expect to see many wonderful sights. The world will change, people will change, and even South Side will change.

In place of the inclines, one may expect to see electric escalators, which will run with the push of a little button. Also, one may see specially built chairs that will just guide you to each class by pushing a tiny button. On the teacher's desk will be a box of buttons in which to push a button will be the same as calling on a student.

Television will be installed in the public address system, so that the students will be able to see who is talking to them. There will be a revolving stage in the new auditorium which will raise up remote control, so that everyone will be able to see what is taking place on the stage.

Each student will have a microphone in which to answer the teachers, and also, in which to make more noise in the pep assemblies. At the end of the periods, every door will open through remote control and will close, so that those students will have to stay in the classroom throughout the hour.

When taking a test, students will use invisible ink. The teacher will just apply a special eraser and the writing will appear visible. In the study hall, the attendance teacher will have an electrical telescope by which to locate those students who, more or less, are always ill during school hours.

Extending from the northwest door will be a never-had walk, on which the students can run to the Grill without the fear of being run over by automobiles. The building will be constructed in such a manner that when a basketball game or dance is held and the floor seems crowded, then the rooms can merely be folded up in order to make more room.

Seniors On Program

Jean Weil, Katherine Kuntz, and Mary Bowiby, seniors, appeared on the annual Christmas party program for the News-Sentinel carrier salesmen as a vocal trio. Their number was "We Three." Jean presented several popular numbers. She also took part in the entertainment last year.

Powerful Anti-War Orations Are Winners Of First Place

Editor's Note: Below are excerpts from two of the winning declamations in the Oratorical Declamation Contest held December 16. "I Am Innocent Of This Blood" was given by Bud Brudi, junior, and Bill Bone, sophomore. "The Light That Is Darkness" was the oration of James McClure, senior. This was also the one which Bud Brudi won the city-wide contest. Sally O'Rourke, freshman winner, selected "The Testimony of Youth"; but space does not permit the inclusion of it.

"I Am Innocent Of This Blood"

"It is over nineteen hundred years since the streets of old Jerusalem stirred with crowding mobs and echoed with the words, 'Let him be crucified!' And yet how clear the picture which survives! A crown of thorns pressed upon His head, the Savior stands before the magistrate of Caesar. Cries for his life come from every side! And now the yielding magistrate washes his hands in a basin of water, exclaiming, 'So I am innocent of this matter. See I am innocent of His blood!'"

"We have been told of the last war so frequently that we are calloused to the most lurid descriptions of the nauseating scenes of their battlefields. Like Pilate, we are not to blame."

"What are these forces beneath? Why need nations talk of peace and prepare for war? We have forgotten that within every human heart two potent forces pulse: love and the beastial instinct to kill. We have veneered this primitive instinct with civilization and love for life; but when economic and political interests clash, millions of men swarm upon the battlefield while the mobs at home cheer them on. We protect the cursed instinct; we keep the veneer thin! At his mother's knee the growing child is led to believe that his country can do no wrong. He plays with toys symbolic of war; he kills ruthlessly in his childish imagination. He is taught that other countries are scheming and other peoples unworthy of trust. He is told at bedtime of great deeds in war. In his mind is created a hero of battle. His trained pulse will soon stir to the beating drums and rhythmic step of marching soldiers' feet. And his misled mother smiles. Here then is the beginning."

"The world is hungry for peace today... The homes, the churches, the schools... these are the forces charged with the mission of peace."

"The mob is stirring again in the streets of Jerusalem. The voice of Pontius Pilate is speaking tonight. 'I am innocent of this blood; see I wash my hands of it.' And our children who must fight in the senseless wars to come, stand innocent and accused."

"The Light That Is Darkness"

Ever since human life first appeared upon the face of the earth, man has been a creature stumbling in darkness. But out of that darkness, through the dim course of the years, man has found the answer to his questionings and the light to his way. That light is religion... that is the light of the world. It is the answer to man's questionings about the universe, and his fellow-men, and himself. It is the reply to those deeper yearnings that surge within him.

"I should like to say that without the sanction of religion, modern war as we know it would be impossible. Perhaps war was once a natural thing. But modern warfare is so utterly insane, so completely dedicated to, and so entirely inhuman that men in their right minds—men whose hearts had not been inspired by propaganda in the form of false religious idealism—could never be forced, even coerced,

So-Si-Y To Install Officers Tuesday

Ceremonies To Be Performed In Greeley Room, 3:30 O'Clock; Community Sing Will Follow

Officers of So-Si-Y for the coming semester will be installed next Tuesday in the Greeley Room at 3:30 o'clock. Gertrude Merkel will be installed as president. She formerly held the office of Inter-Club Congress representative.

Other newly elected officers who will be installed are Marjorie Voltz, Ilene Franke, Betty Nichols, and Romaine Rediger. These officers will hold the position of vice-president, secretary, treasurer and Inter-Club Congress representative.

Other candidates for officers were Joan Druhot for president; Etheldrea Behling, vice-president; Alice Volmerding, secretary; Romaine Rediger, treasurer; and Mayme Gerding and Betty Hargan for Inter-Club Congress representative.

The nominating committee consists of Betty Nichols, Marguerite Calkins, Bernadine Bender, Peggy Berning, and Martha Thomas.

Devotions will consist of prayers which will be read by Gertrude Merkel, Alice Volmerding, Marjorie Voltz and Marjorie Gerding. Martha Thomas will lead a discussion on "Personality."

Marguerite Calkins will lead a community sing. Songs arranged for are "Beautiful Dreamer," "Long, Long Trail," "Auld Lang Syne," and "Smiles."

Both old and new officers will have charge of the meeting. Refreshments will be served.

300 Orders Are Taken For Pictures

Hilda Schubert, Jim Brooks, J. Holtmeyer Announce Sales Below Expectations

Next Wednesday Is Photo Deadline

Staff Must Secure 250 More Photo Promises In Order To Make Goal Set At 550

Totem underclassmen picture sales were far below expectations last night with only 300 orders having been turned in. The campaign officials, Janet Holtmeyer, Hilda Schubert, Jim Brooks and their assistants, expressed regret over this fact, for they had hoped that the underclass picture sales would exceed by several hundred those of previous years. They stated that unless many more orders are turned in before the deadline of next Wednesday, January 22, the sections devoted to the underclasses cannot possibly be as distinctive as they might have been.

The campaign managers had previously set the goal of 550 pictures which means that there are over 250 orders to be turned in.

Details of the schedule for taking the pictures was announced in the bulletin last Monday. Pictures were taken last Monday and will be taken again today and next Tuesday and Wednesday. The photographer is in Room 170 every period except the fourth on these days and anyone not having a study period should see that his picture is taken the fifth period.

Latin and Metric Club's pictures were postponed from last Tuesday until next Tuesday in Room 114 at 3:30 and 3:40, respectively. If possible, Booster and Torch Clubs will also be taken on that date. As announced, other club pictures will be taken after the new semester.

A poll of the junior class was taken last Tuesday morning during the home room period. The results will not be announced until the Totem is published next June.

Wranglers Name Bob Young Prexy

Jim Brooks, Mike Beall, Joan Cox, Don Meyer, Bill Bone Are Also Elected Officers

Bob Young and Don Meyer were elected president and vice-president of Wranglers at a meeting last Monday. Other new officers are secretary, Joan Cox; treasurer, Jim Brooks; and sergeant-at-arms, Mike Beall and Bill Bone.

Nominees for the election were president, Sam Bacon and Ed Meyer; vice-president, Marjorie McNabb and Pat Sanford; secretary, Maxine Case and Kathryn Guild; and sergeant-at-arms, Bob Guion and Bill McNulty. The schedule for the coming Wrangler contests and events has been announced. The dates are January 22, Original Oratorical Contest; January 31, Wrangler after-game dance; February 10, Humorous Declaration Contest; and February 24, Dramatic Declaration.

Mrs. Dorothy Riecke has announced that anyone who wishes to participate in the Original Oratorical Contest should sign up in Room 190 by tomorrow evening. Those who have already signed up are Sam Bacon, Bob Robinson, Jim McClure, Bill Siebold, Korman Gross, Maxine Case, and Bob Safer.

Three E's To Have Word Study Saturday

Reports on various phases of word study will be given at the Three E's Club meeting next Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Joan Tracht, 710 Oakdale Drive. Dorothy Gildes and Tompkins Hall are the assisting hostesses.

A series of word games will be played, and contests will be conducted. Members are reminded to pay their thirty cents for The Totem picture as soon as possible.

English Club Studies Classes Of Meetings

Individual talks on types of past meetings was the discussion topic of the English Club held in the Greeley Room the fourth period yesterday.

Talks were given by Norma Close, Doris Burt, Walt Ferguson, Tom Welsh, and Wendell Terry. Jim Davis and Betty Grimm had charge of the music.

DeVon Staley acted as chairman of the meeting.

Health Group Reports Return Of 463 Cards

Four hundred sixty-three examination cards are now in the office of Miss Martha Pittenger, dean, according to Miss Edith Crowe, chairman of the faculty health committee.

The committee feels that the cards are coming in well and that the student body is co-operating in an excellent manner. Many more cards should be coming in soon, according to the Health Committee.

To Hold Potluck

With Miss Rowena Harvey as the very special guest of honor, the Times and Totem staffs will hold a potluck Monday in the cafeteria at 6:30 o'clock. At this time important changes are to be announced concerning the staff for next semester.

Issuance Of Grades Will Be Wednesday, End Of Semester

The first semester of the 1940-41 school year will end next Wednesday and final grades will be issued on that date. As the periods will be shortened to fifteen minutes each, the schedule for the day will be as follows:

Period	Time
Home Room	8:05-8:20
1	8:25-8:40
2	8:45-9:00
3	9:05-9:20
4	9:25-9:40
5	9:45-10:00
6	10:05-10:20
7	10:25-10:40

A second home room period is scheduled to begin at 10:45 o'clock. The students will be detained only as long as it is necessary for them to report their grades.

Rental books will be collected Tuesday and Wednesday. Those seniors who are finishing this semester may redeem their locks in Room 102 Tuesday evening immediately after school.

Martin Gernand, Math-Sci Leader

Betty Koehler Is Named Vice-President; Janet Holtmeyer, Ralph Sebold Also Elected

Martin Gernand was elected president of Math-Science Club at the special meeting held January 3, in the Greeley Room at 3:30 o'clock. Betty Koehler was chosen vice-president; Janet Holtmeyer, secretary; and Ralph Sebold, treasurer.

Richard Fishering and Faye Gumpfer have been chosen to be the club representatives at the next Parent-Teacher Association meeting to be held January 15. The present president of the Math-Science Club, Safford McMyler, will also participate in this meeting. He will tell something about the club and its activities, and his talk will be followed by short talks by Richard and Faye. Their subjects will be, "The Development of Our Numerical System" and "Carnivorous Plants".

This semester's officers are Safford McMyler, president; Lois Gumpfer, vice-president; Elaine Hirschy, secretary; and Robert Wylie, treasurer.

"The House of Magic" demonstration, which was given at the January club meeting, has been postponed until March 14. This presentation by the Fort Wayne Works of the General Electric Company takes about one hour and is made up of a demonstration of a variety of scientific apparatus, much of which is used in the every-day work of the men in the Research and Works Laboratories. There are many unusual phenomena; for instance, seeing sound and hearing light. Also, there is a color-change disk and a demonstration of black light.

"The House of Magic" show is presented under the direction of Mr. Howard Miller, engineer of the Fort Wayne Works Laboratory, who is assisted by Mr. Claude M. Summers and Mr. Emerson G. Downie, also of the Works Laboratory personnel.

Latin Club Studies Work Of Authors

Jean Karns, Marjorie Wigbel, Carol Trenary Present Reports; Quiz Is On Program

Latin authors and some of their works were the theme of the Latin Club meeting Thursday. Jean Karns in the place of Pat Harfuff, who was originally scheduled to give the report, told about Terrence and his play, "Phormio". Marjorie Wigbel gave a talk on the poet, Horace, and Carol Trenary concluded the authors with her report on the historian, Livy. The social part of the program was taken up as a quiz program with Joan Cox asking the questions. The girls' team consisted of Janet Holtmeyer, captain; Ellen Harry, and Lois Craig. Those on the boys' team were Bob Zimmer, captain; John Oleott, and Keith Lakey. Joyce Cleaver, Hilda Schubert, Norman Fortness, and George Spears acted as score-keepers. The girls won the contest with a score of 11-10.

The next meeting of the club which will be February 13, will be held in Room 61, as Miss Blanche Hutto, art instructor, will be the guest speaker. Every member is asked to bring a Latin Valentine to the meeting. The committee in charge will be Violet Reiter, chairman, Joan Cox, Joan Johnson, Connie Krauss, Joan Starhlem, and Betty Jane Molan.

Releases Bulletin

Mr. E. Paul Schnepel

Mr. E. Paul Schnepel, teacher of health and German, has just released another safety bulletin to be posted in all home rooms. Facts on home accidents and the prevention of such accidents are set forth by this bulletin.

Some Archers Busy Themselves Working Christmas Vacation

If you asked some students at South Side what they did during Christmas vacation the majority would answer, "Oh, I danced or ate or slept, or loafed." But a few of them did something else than the above things mentioned. Some actually gathered their stored ambitions and used this vacation to work. These studies whom we questioned looked a great deal happier than the ones who loafed. What's more, their pockets bulged with bills instead of space, and they gained a wealth of experience.

Following is a list of the students who worked during vacation and the places where they worked:

Mike Beall: Patterson-Fletcher, main floor.

Don Parkinson: Wolf and Des-sauer's, Men's Department.

Bob Robinson: Suedhoff's Men's Store.

Bud Lampton: Howard's Camera Shop.

Betty Ann Bohn: Frank's, hosiery department.

Dorothy Burke: Murphy's.

Barbara Roth: Frank's, hosiery department.

Arlene Snyder: Shine's Shoe Shop.

Shirley Rubin: Paris, jewelry department.

Peggy Harrod: Wolf and Des-sauer's, Teen Shop, second floor.

Bonnie Yaeger: Posey Shop.

Janis Tremper: Posey Shop.

Lois Likens: Frank's, glove department.

Bob Robinson Is Rotarian Winner

Defeats Russell Cook, Clifford Simon From North, Central; To Enter Group Contest Next

Bob Robinson, senior B, was chosen winner of the annual Rotary Discussion Contest which was held Monday, at the Chamber of Commerce. Having defeated Clifford Simon of Central and Russell Cook of North Side, Bob will go on to a group contest consisting of the winners from several surrounding communities.

The winners of the group contest will go to district contests; finalists going to the state contest. All of the contestants spoke on the subject "Rotary as a Force for International Service". The same theme is being used throughout the country.

This victory did not come as a surprise, for Bob has taken honors in many speech contests. In his freshman year he took freshman honors; since then he placed first in last year's Extemp Contest, tied for first in this year's Extemp, and placed third in this year's Oratorical Declaration.

Hi-Y To Elect Tonight; To Initiate January 30

Election of officers will be held this evening at Hi-Y. Nominations were held last week at 7:30 o'clock.

John Gumpfer, Dan Auer, and Roger McVay were nominated for president; Warren Cook, Robert Holzworth, and Jim Gerig for vice-president; Bob Gregg and Bill Goodwin, secretary; Jim Holzworth and Dave Azar, treasurer, and Howard Blood and Leslie Baumgartner, for sergeant-at-arms. Dick Braun was appointed by the club to be Inter-Club Congress representative again.

Mr. Clyde Peirce, faculty adviser of the club, gave a final financial report for the past year; and David Azar reported on the pencil sale. Bill Goodwin announced that the initiation would be postponed until January 30. Copies of the club's constitution were passed out to members for them to study.

Library Election Slated For Tuesday Meeting

Election of officers, staff meeting, and quiz games will comprise the meeting of Library Club to be held next Tuesday in the Library. The committee for this meeting is John Gumpfer, Kathryn Guild, Tompkins Hall, Carol Trenary, Becky Abbott, and Bob Wylie. The refreshments will be drumsticks.

The officers for this semester are Faye Gumpfer, president; Bob Wylie, vice-president; Paul Keil, secretary; Ruth Dauner, point-recorder; Sam Bacon, sergeant-at-arms, and Inter-Club Congress representative, Betty Koehler.

Archers Write Articles

Bob Robinson, 12B, wrote an article, and Janet Holtmeyer, 12B, wrote a poem for Youths' Passing Show Page in the News-Sentinel. Bob's article expressed his opinion that this would be a grand world without clocks to bother us. Janet's poem was entitled "Time".

Congressmen Perfect Plans For Clean-Up

Archers To Sweep Out Their Lockers January 21; To Lengthen H. R. Period

Assignments for the locker clean-up Tuesday, January 21 were made this week by Edmund Bauer, president of Inter-Club Congress. The clean-up will be held during a lengthened home room period.

Those assigned to work on the first floor in the south hall are Louisa Haugk, Maxine Sterling, Carolyn Fisher, and Mary Cleland. Keith Lakey and Richard Stevenson have been assigned to the south-east hall. In the boys' locker room will be Safford McMyler, John Virts, Dick Theye, and Edmund Bauer.

Girls assigned to the girls' locker room are Betty Koehler, Martha Smith, Gertrude Merkel, and Rosemary Zeigler. In the south side of the center hall will be Tom Wilson, Frank DuWaldt, and Bill McNulty.

Club members in the north side of the center hall will be Rudolph Wuttke and Dick Brugn. In the northeast hall will be Janet Holtmeyer and Jean Karns. Elmer Kolb and Norman Fortness will be in the northwest hall.

On the second floor in the east incline will be Emelyn Remmel, and Mary Ellen Barrett. Lucy Smith will be in charge of the west incline. Girls in charge of the northwest hall are Marjorie Dyer and Garneta Beatty. Laverne Michelfelder and Eva Jean Wylie have been appointed to the south hall.

The next meeting of Inter-Club Congress will be held Monday, January 20. This will be the last meeting of the semester and will be important to all members. Instructions for locker clean-up and identification tags will be given to all assisting in the campaign. A nominating committee will also be appointed. It was announced that it would be appreciated if clubs would appoint the same representatives if possible.

SPC Will Conduct Annual Initiation

Fred Collins Is In Charge Of Affair At Central; Dance To Be Staged Following Plays

Student Players Club will hold its annual initiation and dance Monday night at 7:30, January 27 at Central High School auditorium. Fred Collins is general chairman. Those assisting him are Alice Sweet, Dick Theye, Safford McMyler, and Dorothy Jaegers.

Skits will be presented by the initiates from all three high schools. Honors will be given for the best actors and actresses. Judges will also decide which school has the best skit.

The initiates from South Side are Rose-Etha Brazy, Carolyn McNabb, Jeanne Snyder, Roy Simmons, Beth Hanes, Bob Newhart, Dick Holmes, Martha Thomas, Berdine Lockner, Pat Underhill, Laverne Greiner, Louisa Haugk, Rosemary Zeigler, Bernice Apple, Evelyn Erickson, Marilyn Gregg, Phyllis Strausburg, Martha Lee Wake, Mary Ann Gaskins, Shirley Wates, Elmo Muntzinger, Ruth Stein, Holly Repert, Mary Nell Speigel, Beth Ann Green, Joan Johnson, Everette Trulock, and Bob Guion.

These people will meet Wednesday afternoon, January 22, and Thursday, January 23 at South Side. Friday morning, January 24, they will meet at 10:30 at Central High School auditorium to practice for the initiation play.

Sunday, January 26, the initiates will be formally taken into Student Players Club.

Taking Dimensions For Academic Caps, Gowns Aves Senior

(By A Senior)

Last Monday I was partly informed by the loudspeaker in home room that by Thursday I was to have the following information: a. chest measurement; b. head size, measured at the point where the hat is placed; c. height; and d. number of invitations desired. My first hasty thoughts led me to believe that I was being drafted, but closer examination revealed that the instructions were merely for the purpose of ordering a senior cap, gown, and invitations.

An order like this was not to be taken lightly, so, rallying to the colors, I proceeded to do my duty. "Chest measurement. Did you say chest measurement? That's what I thought you said. If you will go into the other room, I'll take it. On second thought you better stay here and apply the yardstick when I'm ready." This was the nature of my conversation with a close friend who consented to help with the "examination." Now that it is all over, I will confide in you 2,000 Kellies and tell you with reluctance that we used a millimeter caliper instead of the yardstick!

Next in order was the head calculation. This proved even easier (first, inches) than the former work. First, remove my halo and proceed to remove the head. (You know that old adage, "you'd lose your head if it were not fastened on.") This was no new experience to me, and I re-acted to the situation very favorably. Yes, once again I had made a great contribution to science—but wait! I forgot that my height was still to be taken. Since I am what is commonly termed the "tall, dark and handsome" type, I was quite surprised to find that I had lost three inches over the week-end.

Finally, the matter of cards remained to be adjusted. Should I buy name cards, postal cards, library cards, or playing cards? That was the question. You figure out the answer.

Mary Bowlby Is French President

Caroline Lichtenberg, Marge McMahon, Laverne Michelfelder Other Officers; Review Given

Mary Bowlby was elected president of French Club for the coming semester at their meeting Thursday in Room 138. The other officers elected are Caroline Lichtenberg, vice-president; Marjorie McMahon, secretary; and Laverne Michelfelder, point recorder.

The retiring officers are Katherine Kuntz, president; Clara Makey, vice-president; Joyce Reed, secretary; Eleanor Crist, point recorder. In addition to the election, Joan Wagner gave a review of the novel "Marie Chantelaine", and the members played a French game, "Une Carabelle Des Fruits", until time for adjournment.

The old and new officers will meet with Miss Perkins in Room 90 immediately after school tonight to discuss plans for the coming semester.

Meterites To Give Members Awards

Sophomore B's With 210 Points Will Receive Certificates; Officer Election Is Slated

Certificates will be presented to Meterite 10B's who have at least 210 points at the Meterite Club's graduation party next Tuesday in the Greeley Room at 3:30 o'clock. Election of next semester's officers is also scheduled for this meeting.

Wanda Baney is chairman of the award committee, and her assistants are Mary Anne Duemling and Ruth Gold.

The committee in charge of the graduation party includes Pat Hocker, chairman, Doris Pape, and Mary Dayton.

Why Shout "Dirty Referee"? Anyone Can Make Mistakes

"Dirty referee", is a common expression at all professional and amateur sport matches. Sport fans are constantly blaming the referee for announcing his decisions as he does. Officials have been the excuse of many teams when they have lost a close game.

Perhaps in some cases the referees have made bad decisions, but in most instances they are right.

What mistakes the officials do make are very noticeable on the basketball floor, because as the game is in indoor sport and there are so few players on the floor at one time, the observer is able to watch more closely the actions of the players.

Boost "Ref" Instead So we can readily see that with five thousand persons watching the game, someone is bound to disagree with the decisions of two referees. Also, if you are an ardent roofer for one side, a foul called against "your" team will, of course, be a "terrible mistake".

We all have to learn that the average spectator doesn't have one-tenth the knowledge the officials have concerning whether a foul is fair or otherwise. Good referees and umpires have read many rule books on the particular sport in which they specialize.

They have worlds of experience in officiating at athletic matches. Certainly with all of this study and practical experience, our referees are much more capable of calling basket-

Philatelic Dance, "Snowflake Swirl", To Be Tomorrow

Advises Philatelists

Miss Pauline Van Gorder

Miss Pauline Van Gorder is assisting the members of the Philatelic Club in making plans for their after-game dance next Friday night after the Central-South Side game.

"Home Safety" Is Bulletin Released

Papers Are Issued By Mr. E. P. Schnepel; Present Facts On Accidents, Their Prevention

"Home Safety" is the subject of the latest safety bulletin released by Mr. E. Paul Schnepel, chairman of the faculty committee on safety. The bulletin is being used in home rooms for safety lessons.

Facts on home accidents and their prevention are presented in the bulletin. Ways of preventing accidents in the kitchen, where most of the home accidents occur, are turning handles of pots and pans out of the reach of small children, fastening curtains, pulling out plugs of electrical devices if leaving the kitchen for any length of time. Other methods of preventing casualties are keeping matches in metal containers, using ladders instead of shaky chairs, stools, or boxes, and keeping the floor free from slippery substances.

In the lead for the highest number of accidents are the stairs, not considered as rooms. Keeping stairs lighted, keeping them free from articles which might be tripped over, and providing handrails are accident preventions suggested in the bulletin.

XYZ Club Will Be Under Math Head

Miss Adelaide Fiedler To Start Organization Next Semester; All Freshmen Are Invited

XYZ Club will again be organized at the beginning of the second semester by Miss Adelaide Fiedler, head of the Mathematics Department. All students having an average of A in Algebra 1 and 2 are eligible for membership. Comprehensive examinations will be given these students, and those having the highest averages may become members. Membership will be limited to twenty students, and no dues will be required. The group will meet weekly after the first week of the second semester.

The purpose of the XYZ organization is to give additional work to those students who enjoy the study of mathematics and have exceptional ability in this field, but for which there is no time in the regular class period to do extra work. The members must maintain high standards of work in their regular classes.

Jig To Follow Central Tilt; Rhythm Rascal Orchestra Will Play Music For Affair

Theme To Follow Royal Blue, White

General Chairman Is Maxine Case; Chaperones, Committees Are Announced

Spirit will be high after the South Side-Central game when dancers may swirl among snowflakes tomorrow night at the "Snowflake Swirl", annual Philatelic after-game dance, in Room 170. Tickets will cost 40 cents a couple and 25 cents stag.

Schedule Rhythm Rascals The Rhythm Rascals, a popular South Side orchestra, will furnish the music for the "Snowflake Swirl". The theme for the dance will be carried out in blue and white. The windows in Room 170 will hold hundreds of snowflakes of all sizes and shapes. The bulletin boards will be covered with blue paper on which white snowflakes will be profusely scattered. In order to carry out the theme still further, the lights in Room 170 will contain alternate blue and white lights. Programs of blue and white will be distributed to each person attending the dance.

The posters in the halls, with a medium blue snowflake on a royal blue background and advertising the dance in bold, white letters, were done with air brush by Ralph Herb, Keith Lakey, and Raymond Fish. Several posters were also made to take down to Central to help acquaint the Tiger students with the "Snowflake Swirl".

List Chaperon Group The chaperons for "Snowflake Swirl" will be teachers of South Side and parents of the officers of Stamp Club. They are Mr. and Mrs. R. Nelson Snider, Miss Martha Pittenger, Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Flint, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Case, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Behling, and Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Schwartz.

Other chaperons are Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Lockhart, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Erb, Mr. and Mrs. K. E. Lakey, Mr. and Mrs. George Collier, Miss Lucy Osborne, Miss Pauline Van Gorder, club adviser, Miss Dorothy Magley, Miss Susan Peck, Miss Nell Corvatt, and Miss Blanche Hutto.

Maxine Case is general chairman of the dance and has appointed a large number of committees in order to bring the plans for the dance to a speedy completion. Ralph Herb is chairman of the publicity committee and has Keith Lakey, and Raymond Fish assisting him.

Name Properties Committee The properties committee is headed by Jack Rogers, who has the following assistants: Albert Kranz, Jack Braun, and Glen Hille. Barbara Long is in charge of securing chaperons and has Nancy Geake as her helper.

The committee in charge of making decorations is composed of Ethelreda Behling, Dick Cunningham, Austin Gardner, Philip Schwartz, Albert Smith, Rosemary Spore, Bob Wylie, Betty Thiele, Warren Lutz, Dick Stamets, James Steiner, Gerald Williams, and John Hitzeman.

The officers of the club are Maxine Case, president; Ethelreda Behling, vice-president; Philip Schwartz, secretary; Dick Lockhart, treasurer; Ralph Herb, point recorder, and Keith Lakey, Inter-Club Congress representative.

Those on the nominating committee are Virginia Pittenger, chairman, Helen Long, and Pearl Baldwin. A game will be played in which the girls will sketch a picture of how they spent their vacation. A prize will be given for the best sketch. Doris Ontario is in charge of the meeting. Refreshments will be served.

Cooperation Of Students Is Needed In Curbing Noisy Fifth Periods

Can't we students of South Side use our freedom wisely? Do we know how to have liberty without abusing it? The respect and sane use of freedom is a very elementary and fundamental thing in a country such as ours. If we as students in high school cannot use it, how can we use it later.

We have been so unheeded and abusive of our open fifth period that there is serious talk of taking away this privilege. What a commentary that would be on the character of the students of our school! The inference would naturally be that we were not adult enough or capable enough to behave ourselves and discipline ourselves, to be law abiding of our own free will.

Perhaps it seems a small thing to some, this taking away our privileged fifth period; but it is really a very bad reflection on the spirit of democratic youth. Given liberty, they misuse it; given a privilege, they abuse it.

There have been several suggestions made as to how to cope with the situation; however, we would like to make one more. We are definitely in favor of the establishment of a Student Council. Other schools have used such a body for the benefit and the good will of all concerned.

This council would consist of several juniors and seniors elected by the student body and approved by the faculty. They would not only be able to cope with the fifth period problem, but others. They could meet two or three times a week and judge all offenders at those times.

We should keep the fifth period open as a matter of principle, but we must have order and discipline. Students would obey laws more readily if they had a part in making them; they would not resent the verdict of their fellow classmates so much as they would that of a superior.

We in South Side should not be so childish as to need the force of strict law to keep us in line. Surely we who are being trained in a democratic country can learn democracy in school by having our own miniature court system.

Begin Semester By Studying More Diligently Than Before

How time flies! Here we are six months older and one semester closer to graduation. It seems only yesterday that we put our tennis racquets away and regretted the passing of another summer. It seems but a few hours ago that we returned to school, hopeful of another unscheduled vacation because of the "polio" scare. That's history now; for this semester, "Alea lucta Est".

If you don't think that you have done as well this semester as you might have, it's too bad. The fault is all your own, but there is no use crying over spilt milk. The only way you can redeem yourself is to do better during the next five months. No doubt you will say, "Well, I can let things go for the first six weeks or so, and then finish up the semester in fine shape."

They say procrastination is human nature, but it's not a particular credit to the human race. The only way to win something is to get a flying start. Of course you all know the story of the tortoise and the hare. One can draw a very close comparison between them and two types of students—the type which starts right out plugging, and the one which thinks that he can afford to rest awhile.

If it's in your nature to put off, overcome this trait and commence with a bang when this next semester begins. Get an A on the first test. Perhaps you will receive good grades next week, but there is always room for improvement. What you do in the next month will make a startling difference in grades next June. It is entirely possible that you have been working yourself to the limit these last weeks and will not receive the grades you think you deserve. The fault lies in what you did last fall. Don't let it happen again.

No two people are alike, and both of them are glad of it.

Correct this sentence: I want the fifth period free and am willing to take an active part in home room discussions about the matter.

Fable: Once there was a day when nobody wore corduroy hats.

It has been reported that the study hall sessions are getting noisier. At least everybody isn't sleeping in there now.

Hypocrite: One who says he doesn't mind that final grades come out next week.

Hard on rabbits—this fuzzy glove fad.

Reminder: Only four more days till end of the term.

Celebrity Of The Week

Who?

The Miss Carolyn Rodriguez, better known as Lola.

When?

Believe it or not, she was born at the late date of 1924. Yes, this eye-fall of beauty fools 'em all about her age.

Where?

Well, where do all the glamour girls in the world reside? Fort Wayne, Indiana, of course.

Why?

I could be re-introducing Lola because she is one of the best liked girls in the senior class. I could be presenting her for observation of the student body because of her exceptional popularity among the so-called "men" in South Side. Or I might choose to wipe those awe-struck looks off the freshmen pans who look at Lola with a "could-she-be-the-real-McCoy-or-is-she-a-statue" puzzlement on their faces. Could be!

What?

It's a long story, the here and there that makes the life of "Lulu" so involved. From what school did this example of femininity graduate? It seems that St. John's had the honor of her presence for nigh on to eight years.

What happened when she entered South Side? I quote Lulu in saying, "The first thing that happened to start my four years off with a BANG was falling flatter than a flitter off the platform beside the study hall desk on my knees. It was, without a doubt, my most embarrassing moment."

What is a favorite with her? Well, there's Glen Miller, "Star Dust", bananas piled with gooey peanut butter and government (as a subject). What a combination.

What is her hobby? "Some one told me I had enough compacts to start a collection, so what could I do?" (Writer's note: Bud Lynch's compact gift is the "treasure" of the collection).

What activities does she "indulge in"? Miss Rodriguez worked on the junior prom and is an active member of Camerian Club.

What love life! In the past Joe Reichart, Ken Moeller, Jess McBride, Hod Springer, and a stag line of others. But Bud Lynch has won the heart of the fair damsel. However, it seems the field is going to be open on Lynch's departure for Florida. Or are we wrong in supposing that Lulu will accept other dates "after he's gone"?

Where to? Indiana University appears to be the next stop and from there the buying profession may attract our little Miss.

Pedagogues Bask In 1940 Limelight

South Side not only has many outstanding students in different fields, but also among our faculty we have teachers who have been outstanding.

Mr. W. C. Wilson, social science instructor, wrote the book entitled, "Fort Wayne Civic Government," which is now in use. The book explains the different governmental departments and their functions of Fort Wayne today.

Getting back to school activities two new clubs were formed in 1940. The Industrial Arts Club was formed, with Mr. C. A. Bex, Mr. Estal Smuts, and Mr. Joseph Plasket as advisers, and English Club by Miss Dorothy Magley.

Since 1940 was an election year with hot campaigns going on over the country, Mr. Herman Mahey put his fingers into the pie and wrote a biography of Wendell Willkie, Republican candidate (in case any of you had forgotten). This biography was published in book form.

Miss Rowena Harvey was another author of the year. The Style Book for the Times and Northern papers was published in 1940. Miss Harvey has been collecting information for the past eight years to put into her book. The book contains proper rules for editing a paper.

Freshman

Since our material of song titles is completely exhausted, we are turning to the movies as descriptive of our class of "44".

"Sweethearts"—Betty Soderin and Bill Wolf.

"Public Enemy No. 1"—"Killer" Ruckel.

"Lady With The Red Hair"—Barbara Burt.

"Gone With The Wind"—The things you thought you knew before the final examination proved that you didn't.

"Theodora Goes Wild"—Theodora Stephens.

"Too Many Girls"—Gene Murphy.

"Sandy Is A Lady"—Phil Sanborn.

"Love Affair"—Wanda Baney and Bob Birkenbuel.

"I'm Mad About Music"—Mary Whittner.

"Singing In The Rain"—O.K., so I am nuts.

"Little Men"—John Hitzman and Norman Baker.

"Comrade X"—What Arvilla Rediger calls Margaret Hahn.

"Escape"—What you'd like to do from Latin.

"Little Bit Of Heaven"—Barbara Leas.

"Curly Top"—Fred Smith.

"Little Nelly Kelly"—Sally O'Rourke.

"Little Princess"—Mary Louise McNabb.

"Free, Blonde, And 21"—Rosemary DeFravel (only she's not 21, yet!)

"Too Hot To Handle"—Gloria Cadorette.

"Dancing On A Dime"—Plymouth mixer.

Swedish Family Heirlooms Collected By Betty Soderin

Above is pictured Betty Soderin, 9B, who joins our gallery of interesting collectors. Betty's collection is more or less a storehouse of the family heirlooms. Her father, who came to America from Sweden, and her mother of Swedish parents, started her in this interesting collection of Swedish articles.

Betty is pictured wearing the gay little cap of her native Swedish costume. On the table are displayed her prized possessions. Each article has been sent to her directly from some part of Sweden. The two sets of candlestick holders are from Gottenburg, Sweden. One set is made of wood carved with the Swedish version of Santa Claus; the other is of silver with figures of Swedish dancers decorating the holder.

She has several Swedish copper pieces which have been in the family for years. The gaily painted sugar and creamer set pictured was used only on special holidays or for company.

The Christmas buck or Jule Bok, is similar to our reindeer at Christmas. It is made of straw and used as a decorative image on the Christmas trees.

This doll was sent from Stockholm, Sweden. The tablecloth on which the articles are displayed is also part of her collection. Colorful pictures of Swedish folk preparing for Christmas constitute the border.

Betty stated that she plans to keep this collection and give it to her children just as she received it from her parents.

"Sticks and stones may break my bones,

But words will never harm me."

"Ah for another New Year's Eve party," sings Bob Druhot. Yes, the dear child had a gay time at a certain party New Year's Eve.

The story is that Bob, forgetting to introduce himself, caught a girl under the mistletoe and welcomed in the New Year. Two days later he remembered to ask who she was.

And then there are the boys who have their dates for the senior dance already. Comes spring... "If I Knew Then What I Know Now"... Anyway, we told you so.

Jenny Babcock, after a mighty mix-up about a New Year's Eve date, has returned to Darrel Witwer. They seem to have so much fun together that there should be no reason for another break.

Charlene MacAtee, pride and joy of public speakers, and Bob Englehart of football fame, are reported to be dating. Also Betty Birely and Dick Gallmeyer.

A trail of broken hearts follow in Mike Beal's footsteps. One of the broken hearts is that of Janice Fruth. Mike has now transferred his attentions to Janos Murray of North Side.

Betty McKay, sophomore prexy, has troubles of the male order. She can't decide between Dale Scheweiler or Russel Sipples. It seems to be catching because her pal Betty Schweikart has Ward Gilbert Jr. and Dean McKean on the string.

Joan Brubaker's time and affection are pretty well taken up by Bob McKay with no protest from either side. No one, as yet, has offered the news that they are going steady, but don't be surprised if they are.

It was overheard in the Times room that Karl Eberly is considering the idea of asking beautiful Lola Rodriguez for a date with Bud Lynch is sunning in Florida. What Lola will do about it is optional but it is interesting to think about, isn't it, Bud?

Another steady couple broken up this week is Mary Jo Sites and Bob York. This happens every week but they confirm that this is the end. This at least puts Mary Jo back in circulation where she belonged a long time ago.

James Timmons and Laura Nahrwald have found each other to be perfect companions. So I've been told that here is another possible "steady".

Mary Cleland has her time monopolized by two swains of South Side, "Tiny" Altman and Jim Worman have been staging quite a battle over the little Miss.

This Bob Gildes is quite the thing among his fellow classmates. Barbara Burt, Margot Todd, and Kate Horn have been having a battle royal over the boy. Bob, you can't make us believe that you don't love it. The trouble is that it might spoil you.

Anna Marie Roth has caught the eye of Jim Klopfenstein, and now the two are pestering their mutual friends for an introduction.

Note to a contributor to the scandal box.—Please, we already know that Warren Blass from Central and Kate Hoffman make a super couple.

Betty Littlefield and Janice Elbert are quibbling over Eugene Reichart. All we can say is, "Best of luck to both of you."

Bob Birkenbuel and Virginia Bellinger have broken up over the issue of Junior Davis. It all goes to show how popular some girls are.

Latest Low-Down On Jive Producers

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Beginning with the article appearing in this issue, South Side's swing column will take a definite jump to the hot side of the scale. "Carroll" Brudi and "Sultan" Schaaf, well-known Archer swing makers and hot music critics, will include in this column each week their views and knowledge of the world of jive.)

At the present time most of the leading publications are listing their selections for All-American swing combos. During the past year we have gathered knowledge from such great swing stars as Fats Waller, Count Basie, Duke Ellington, Jimmy Lunceford, Coleman "Beans" Hawkins, Louis Armstrong, Earl "Father" Hines, Tony Pastor, Benny Goodman, Roy Eldridge, Charlie Barnet, Harry James, Muggsy Spanier, Bob Crosby, Will Bradley, and Woody Herman.

With such a wide knowledge of hot music we have listed our All-American choices below:

Trumpeters:

1. Louie "Satchmo" Armstrong.
2. Harry James.
3. Bunny Berrigan
4. Buck Clayton.
5. Roy Eldridge.

Trombonists:

1. Tommy Dorsey.
2. Jackson Teagarden.
3. J. C. Higgenbotham.

Saxophonists:

1. Lester Young.
2. Coleman Hawkins.
3. Leon "Chu" Berry.
4. Bud Freeman.
5. Johnny Hodges.
6. Charlie Barnet.

Guitar:

1. Charlie Christian.

Bass:

1. Walter Paige.

Drums:

1. Jo Jones.

Piano:

1. Earl "Father" Hines.

Best Swing Combo: Count Basie.

Best Sweet Sender: Glenn Miller.

Best All-Around Unit: Tommy Dorsey.

Best All-Time Soloist (Any instrument): Benny Goodman.

Best Male Vocalist: James Rushing.

Best Songstress: Ella Fitzgerald.

Best Hot Records of 1940:

1. "Tinkle-Toe" by Count Basie.

Best Sweet Record:

1. "Trade Winds" by Tommy Dorsey.

Best Chamber Outfit: Benny Goodman's Sextet.

Pupils Want Return To Good Old Days Of Swing On Radio

Remember the good old days when, with the twist of the radio dial, you could hear such good old songs as "Moonlight Serenade" and "Night-ingle Sang In Berkeley Square"? Now due to a conflict between the American Society of Composers, Authors, and Publishers and the broadcasting companies all you can hear is such songs as "Jeannie With The Light Brown Hair" and "Turkey In The Straw". Here are several Archers' opinions on the subject.

Mary Ann Florence: I think it is rather dumb.

Jo Frosh: I don't think.

Bob Brooks: In some cases it's o.k., but in other cases it distracts from our intellectual understanding of fine music.

Bonnie Heller: I think popular music should always be played.

Mary Evelyn Mock: I don't like the old songs they are playing.

Kathryn Guild: I don't think. I'm past that stage.

Margaret Brower: They're playing too many old pieces on the radio.

Pat Burns: Wish they'd get new songs, but I don't like all the new songs on the radio.

Margaret Heine: I think it's a shame. It doesn't seem to be hurting the radio programs any. It is only making the composers lose money.

Lyrics Of Leisure

By Ima Poet

Thoughts In The Future

Grades have been issued several days ago, And now the reward of our efforts we know. Some got A's, while others got B's, But all of mine were in the Key of C.

I tried to complain about all these marks, But after explanations, I was still in the dark. It seems that my resolutions were all the bunk, For resolving to study—I still did flunk.

Next semester all things will be changed, For an easy program I have arranged. School will be easy, I hope, I hope, Or school to me won't be a joke.

Do Your Shopping Early—Before Spring Rush

By Charlene McAtee

It's always been a wonder to me just how the minds of the fashion "big-wigs" work. They no sooner let us get into the real spirit of winter and then presto, all we hear is the latest things in spring wearing apparel. Personally, I always manage to feel slightly out of style just as soon as they start blasting away in all the columns about pastel shades and flowered dresses while I'm still making the most of all my winter wardrobe. I see one advantage of pushing the spring clothes though, the stores sell out at very reduced prices all of their better winter sportswear. That, my little economical lassies, is what I shall preach about this week.

Why not pick up a few of those Botany Flannel skirts that are now being slashed in price? They are made of very lightweight flannel and can be worn into late spring with colorful sweaters. Besides all this, they look one hundred per cent better on than the average wool skirts because they do not wrinkle as easily and do not appear bulky.

Plenty of the higher priced coats have been reduced so that you get the values of last fall for about half the price they originally cost. Many wise girls wait to buy their coats until the January coat sales start and in this way get the better coats at a real saving. If you are in need of a coat or will need one next year, talk turkey to your mother; and then have one laid away. You won't regret it.

Light dresses or dark ones that have been advertised as winter frocks can now be purchased for practically nothing. Replenish your date wardrobe by supplying it with some of these outstanding values that can be worn for many a month and still be useful next year.

Freshmeh, Here Is A Quiz About Your Fellow Classmates

Since most children enjoy cross-word and jig-saw puzzles, we thought we would give you a new type of puzzle to unravel. If you will take time to unravel the letters, you can spell out the name of one of your classmates. We have furnished you with a few hints; so this shouldn't be so hard to unravel. You'll find the answers elsewhere on this page.

Kellies To Battle Connorsville, Central Over Week-End

Central Battle Friday To Be City Cage Tilt

Saturday's Game To Be At Connorsville; Tigers, Spartans Are Potent Foes

South Side's Archers will engage two of the state's most formidable cage squads this week-end, meeting the Central Tigers on Friday night at home, and traveling south to meet Connorsville on the following evening. The Archer-Tiger tussle will represent the locals' third attempt at registering a win in defense of their city crown. South Side has already bowed to North Side and Central Catholic, while Central has whipped the Irish and fallen before the Red Raiders.

Connorsville has had an impressive season record, and the host southerners are expected to give the Green their second tough evening of competition. South Side's city clash with Central is scheduled to start at 8:30 o'clock, with a second team preliminary preceding the varsity clash.

Veterans Lead Tigers
Central's Tigers are expected to give the Fridlemen another close call. The Blue cagers are coming fast, and many experts are conceding the Mendenhallmen the "dark horse" role in state basketball circles. Veterans Russ Wilkin and Dick Tackett are the steady cagers in the Blue machine, which has rolled over several potent quintets during the past three weeks. The Tigers whipped Auburn, Hartford City, and Decatur Central by substantial margins to give the remainder of the city fives a warning that they are definite comers in the city chase.

Bill Washington, colored forward of the Fridlemen, has been the sparkplug of the Blue throughout the campaign. Charlie Stanski, Red Jameson, and Red Sitko are other Tigers who should see much action against the Archers. Fred Shaw will also be expected to carry a great burden of the Blue offensive. Coach Mendenhall is expected to lead off with Russ Wilkin and George Washington at the forward posts, Dick Tackett at center, and Red Sitko and Fred Shaw at the guards.

Fridlemen Expect Battle
Connorsville's Spartans have started their campaign in the same fashion as the Archers, losing a majority of their early season tilts. Rushville whipped the Spartans by a 32-to-14 count in the opening battle of the season, and Shelbyville took the measure of the Connors, 25 to 16. Of the state powers, only New Castle has outplayed the Spartans by a 27-to-24 score. While these figures may not indicate the hosts as a very potent aggregation, the southern cagemen are nevertheless expected to give the locals a good battle.

Coach Burl Friddle will probably lead off with Kellies Hines, Feistkorn, Shimer, Close, and Knoll in both games. Archers Zuber, Brower, Harry Hines, Augsburg, and Shirk should also see much action during the two games.

Sports Plaques Given Archers In Assembly

Athletic plaques portraying records of South Side's athletic activities were presented to the school in an assembly held Friday morning. The speakers and their subjects were Bill Siebold, basketball; Jim Straley, football; Joe Loos, tennis, golf, and baseball, and Bill Miller, track. Dick Theye was the master of ceremonies. Mr. Ora Davis, athletic director, presented the plaques to the school and Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal, accepted them.

South Side's athletic history will be engraved on these plaques. Annual records in each sport, scores of games with city opponents, championships won, etc., will thereby be preserved. Paying for the plaques is the chief problem. Some of the teachers or club sponsors might be interested in presenting them to the school.

Central High Presents Potent Cage Machine

Tigers and Spartans Will Test Fridlemen—South Side's Archers are expected for another dust of hard-fought battles this week-end, with Central of Fort Wayne and the Spartans of Connorsville furnishing the trouble. The Bengals of Murray Mendenhall have won seven straight games, whipping Central Catholic, Decatur Central, Hartford City, Auburn, Decatur, and Whiting by decisive margins.

Connorsville's season record is not very impressive, but the Spartans are nevertheless considered a potent aggregation. Franklin's Grizzly Cubs, South Central Conference leaders, turned back the Spartans 37 to 25 last week-end. The Green should win over the Connors Saturday, but the city clash is a toss-up affair. According to the figures, Central must be accorded an advantage; but the statistics may fail, for the Green cagers need only a little more confidence to upset the dope.

City Series Dope—Unless some city five can get hot quick, it appears that North Side is "in" for the city title. Central Catholic is definitely out, for the Irish have lost two of their three city games. Central has a good chance at least to share the crown with the Red Raiders, if they can manage to take care of South Side. Even if the Green cannot overtake the Blue or Red, the Fridlemen can greatly muddle the city chase by upsetting either club in the two tilts that the locals must play with each of the leaders. Here is the summary:

Central	1	1
South Side	0	2

Results
North Side 30, Central 25.
North Side 39, South Side 32.
North Side 45, Central Catholic 24.
Central 31, Central Catholic 28.
Central Catholic 33, South Side 29.

Games to Play
January 17—Central at South Side.
January 24—Central at North Side.
January 31—North Side at South Side.
February 8—South Side at Central.

Net Nibblings—Every time the Huntington fans start hailing their Vikings as state championship material, some ball club manages to drop the ego of the Viking rooters. Muncie Burris really deflated the Crowmen last Friday by a 59-to-32 count. The press release from the Huntington newspapers hailed the Burris Owls as potent titlists after they had downed the Vikings. Move over, you Owls, test the Vikings. ... Congratulations are in the offing for faculty athletic manager, Ora Davis, and to the three Archer clubs and five faculty members who made possible the athletic plaques now on display in the trophy case.

Central cagers' top tossers, Russ Wilkin and Bill Washington, continue to pace the city scorers. Archer Gus Feistkorn and Redskin Bob Cowan have a good chance to overtake the Centralites if either Gus or Bob can manage one good "hot" evening amid their regular consistent scoring. All of Central's three representatives in the Big Ten of scoring have seen action in eleven tilts, as have the two Central Catholic leaders. North Side's basketweavers have played nine games, and the locals have played ten. Both North and South cagers have a good chance of dropping the Centralites and Irish further down the list, for the extra game or two can mean ten to twenty valuable points. Here are the city scoring standings. Every game played to date is figured in these totals.

1. Russ Wilkin	36	27	99
2. Bill Washington	37	8	82
3. Gus Feistkorn	30	21	81
4. Bob Cowan	32	12	76
5. Dick Tackett	30	9	69
6. Jim Hinga	26	11	63
7. Bob Hines	17	28	62
8. Corny Ervin	21	16	58
9. Bob Heiny	20	16	56
10. Dick Krouse	19	16	54

Kellies Whip Airdale Team Friday Night

Final Score Of Tilt Totals 26 To 23; G. Feistkorn, R. Shimer Lead Scorers

After dropping three straight tilts during the holidays, the South Side Archers regained the victory trail by whipping Hartford City, 26 to 23. The locals led throughout the tilt, and their advantage was never threatened until the final minutes of play.

South Side held the lead at 9 to 8 as the first quarter ended, and 15 to 10 at the intermission. The Kelly Klads hit their foul shots consistently and managed to throw up a fair defense, while the hosts were not so accurate at the foul line and moved carelessly on defense. Gus Feistkorn and Ralph Shimer bore the burden of the Green attack.

As the third period was ended, the charges of Burl Friddle held the lead at 22 to 17. Early in the battle both teams threw up rather tight defenses, but neither could hit very well on the shots earned. With two minutes of playing time remaining, the Airdales came to life and trailed 24 to 23. Bob Hines and Ralph Shimer, usually consistent at the charity stripe, again converted one foul goal apiece to give the Green the needed margin.

Hartford City recorded seven goals on 47 attempts, as the Fridlemen were canning seven fielders on 50 tries. Many fouls were called during the game, fifteen on the hosts and thirteen on the Archers. The locals hit on twelve of twenty charities tries, and the Airdales tossed in nine of seventeen foul goals. Summary of the scores follows:

South Side	26	G.	F.	T.
Close, f	2	0	4
Feistkorn, f	2	1	5
R. Hines, c	0	3	3

Redskins Defeat Central Catholic

North Side Gains 45 To 24 Victory Over Irish; Reds Lead In All Last Three Quarters

North Side's highly touted Redskins put a practical clincher on the city cage title by turning in a 45-to-24 win over Central Catholic. The Irish, who had previously lost to Central and whipped the locals, were expected to furnish the Red and White with plenty of opposition. Coach Nulf's outfit never gave the Catholics a chance for victory, for they displayed an impenetrable defense and a high geared offense.

At the end of the first period, the Nulfmen held the lead at 13 to 7. The North Siders went on to lead at 21 to 9, before the Irish steadied to trail at the half, 21 to 14.

With the score 23 to 17, the Red Raiders went on a rampage. Jim Harrison sparked the Red rally which skyrocketed the count to 33 to 18 at the three-quarter mark.

Handball Doubles Play In 'Mural

Games Are Scheduled In Three Divisions; Twenty-One Point Contests Are To Be Played

Doubles of the Intramural Handball Tournament are now in full swing under the direction of Mr. Louis Briner, supervisor of all intramural activities. This sport has had a great response, much greater than last year. A game is 21 points, and two games are required to win a match.

Leaders of the heavyweight division are Pittenger-McKay, Ensley-Potter, Sebald-Wuttke, DuWaldt-Heffelfinger, Forbush-Schlup, Kutsch-Grunewald, and Dalman-Augsburger.

In the middleweight, Wuttke-Wissler and Boese-Hirsch are now on top. Greiner-Morton, Nahrwald-Long, Meeks-Hart, and Bartell-Hille are out in front of the rest of the lightweights.

Games that have been played in the past week are Feistkorn-Dannecker vs. Straley-Underwood; Pittenger-McKay vs. Ensley-Potter; Sebald-Wuttke vs. DuWaldt-Heffelfinger; Forbush-Schlup vs. Kutsch-Grunewald; Greiner-Morton vs. Nahrwald-Long; Meeks-Hart vs. Bartell-Hille. None of these scores have been recorded yet.

'Mural Boys' List Winners In Basketball

Tournament Nears Completion As Entrants Play 16 Games; Statistics Given

Boys' Intramural Basketball Tournament has been steadily advancing to its termination; but because of the exceptionally large number of entrants, the tournament has several weeks to go before the final champions are decided.

The total number of games for this week totals sixteen, with the heavy-weight division, 130 pounds and over, representing ten of the sixteen games played; the middleweight division, 120 to 130 pounds, represented four games; and the lightweight division, 120 pounds and under, represented only two of the total number of games played.

One of the cleanest and most exciting games played in this past week was between the Jingles and the Ramblers in an overtime game. Shot for shot was traded throughout the game and the Ramblers, still on the victory march in the heavy-weight league, silenced the Jingles in the first minute of the overtime period with a follow-through shot on a rebound by Arden Altman. The final score was 8 to 10.

SOP's Stop SOG's

The game between the SOP's and the SOG's, two of the best teams in the league, proved to be a very exciting battle with only a few accidental fouls and a close final score of 12 to 11.

The Hot Stuff weren't hot enough for the Five Mysteries, who, through a mysterious mode of attack, cooled the Hot Stuff's down with a score of 10 to 7.

The Sons of Garibaldi, proving themselves worthy competition to most any team, showed no brotherly love to the Brothers of Deks as they overrode them with a score of 10 to 7.

Blue Devils Lose

The Blue Devils weren't fast enough when they were blinded with a lopsided score of 14 to 16 by the flashy Rockets. Another team passed up by the Rockets was the ExLaxers, when the Rockets went through them with a lopsided score of 2 to 8. A fast and furious battle with a very close score was seen between the Five Stooges and the Red Devils, but the Five Stooges had no fear of the Devils and dampened their fervor with a score of 8 to 7.

Count Basie's Boys once more upheld their noble record in an exciting overtime game with the Musketeers, when "Stu" Welborn clinched the game for Count Basie's Boys on a foul shot.

The mighty Ramblers were finally conquered when the powerful SOG, after a fast and ferocious duel of plays, squelched the Ramblers with a score of 10 to 4. Although the score was small, an exciting game was seen between the Dogpatters and the Five Slops, as the Dogpatters weren't quite tough enough when the Five Slops dumped in an extra basket, making the final score read 5 to 3 in favor of the Five Slops.

Only four games were played in the middleweight division, but all of them with the exception of one, which was a forfeit, displayed a lot of action; and the scores were comparatively small. The most interesting game was seen between the Gambolies and the Blackbolts. The teams were very evenly matched and a very slow and deliberate game was seen, but Blackbolts were just a little smoother in their playing.

Blackbolts Defeat Gambolies

Only three fouls were counted against the Blackbolts, while the Gambolies were charged with eight fouls, consequently the Blackbolts won on a foul with the final score reading 4 to 5. Another close game was seen between the Owls and the XXX's with the Owls showing a very good offense and a very wise defense.

UP AND DOWN OUR INCLINES

Ralph Vetter, 12B, and Harold Lassen, 11B, students in Miss Dochterman's Art 5 class, made new yell cards for the yell leaders.

Charlotte Baker, Dorothy Meyer, and Jean Fisher made the highest grades on the final verbal test given by Mr. Cook to his English 2, period 6 class.

In a test given by Mr. Heine to his Biology 2 classes, the following made grades above 90: Period 2, Donald Aldridge, Wanda Baney, Marjorie Rietmiller; period 6, Peggy Needham, Theodore Stephens, Willis Welty, and Paul Zartman.

Raymond Schulz, one of Miss Thorne's solid geometry students, brought to class a project which demonstrates that the area of a sphere is equal to the area of four great circles of the sphere. The string covering the hemisphere is twice as long as the coiled string.

In a test given by Miss Kiefer over the second and third acts of "Macbeth," highest grades were made by Ellen Hohnhaus, Hilda Schubert, Jeanne Smith, Louis Schubert, Elaine Hirschy, Charlene McAtee, Bernadine Pressler, and Miriam Koebel.

The business organization and marketing classes of Mr. Walker plan to spend the remainder of the semester in a study of life insurance principles and different types of policies.

Miss Pocock's English 6, period 4 class has finished the section in "American Literature" entitled "Humor and Imagination."

Following are the boys in Mr. Smuts' wood-turning class who have finished their projects: Raymond Calvin, Ray Fish, Ernest Miller, Trendel Terry, Bill Vanderford, Raymond Kast, Harry Kelsey, Richard Klopfenstein, George Lohse, and Dave Stolte.

Ralph Fries, Thomas Goodwin, and Donald Virts, students of Mr. Plaskett's period 7, Industrial Arts 1 class, have finished their walnut bedside tables.

when they defeated the XXX's with a score of 6 to 4.

The Klasy Kids didn't show quite enough class against the Cats, as the Cats pulled them down with a score of 10 to 6. No action was seen between the Sloppy Aces and the Jitterbugs, the latter being conceded the victory on a forfeit.

Red Hots Are Conquered

Because of a small number of entrants in the lightweight division and a far larger number of entrants in the other two weight divisions, more time is given to the elimination of teams in these divisions; and consequently, only two games have been played in the lightweight division. In the game between the Red Hots and the Wildcats, a hard game was seen but the Wildcats, living up to their name, trimmed the Red Hots with a score of 2 to 6.

The game between the Badgers and the Mixed Nuts was a one-sided game, as the Badgers squelched the Mixed Nuts with an overwhelming score of 3 to 14.

Approximately a total of fifty teams have been entered in this basketball tournament, and because of this fact it takes extra time.

GAA Archers Are Awarded Nine Letters

Girls Earning 1500 Points, Freshmen, Sophomores Honored During Service

Nine letters were awarded to the girls who have earned at least 1500 points by participating in the organization's activities, at GAA's recognition service last Friday. Seventeen numerals were also awarded to freshmen and sophomores who have earned 300 points.

The service was opened by reading the sportsmanship code. Each sport of GAA was portrayed by letter girls. Gertrude Merkel portrayed speedball; Jeanne Smith, tennis; Marguerite Calkins, basketball; Bernadine Pressler, tumbling; Bernadine Bender, swimming; Joan Squire, hiking; Maxine Sterling and Eva Jean Wylie, skating; and Betty Nichols, track.

Miss Martha Pittinger, dean, addressed the girls, and her topic was "The Big Show." Miss Alice Dean, one of the organization's advisers, presented the numerals to the freshmen. These girls are Jean Schwabert, with 431 points; Maxine Clark, 428; Nine Beam, 400; Alice Dolin, 400; Sireline Smith, 400; Pat Hoeker, 399; Martha Dummeyer, 328; Doris Pope, 334, and Charlotte Baker, 325.

Miss Gretchen Smith, other adviser, then presented the letters and numerals to upperclassmen. First to receive these were the sophomores who had earned over 300 points. They are Pat Harnish, Doris Anterio, Betty Brubaker, Gloria Gumpfer, and Virginia MacAfee.

The letters were awarded to Betty Baker, who had 1537 points; Myrtle Ernest, 1538; Delores Bodenborn, 1539; Peggy Greany, 1566; Rosemary Spore, 1618; Betty Bligh, 1624; Lenora Moyer, 1707; Marilyn Wolf, 1503, and Betty Mann, 1510. The recognition service was closed with all GAA'ers singing the school song.

Archers, Learn New Anthem Of Victory!

Miss Lucy Osborne, in charge of pep sessions, has requested all students to learn the new victory song, presented at a recent pep session.

March, on march on, you South Side Archers,
Fight on, fight on, to victory,
We're here to help you win this battle,
And firmly pledge our loyalty,
To you who never fail to triumph,
To you who always bring us fame,
March on, march on, you South Side Archers,
Fight on, and win this game.

Technical Training Needed? Tech Has Two-Year Course

Indiana Technical College, an accredited engineering school in Fort Wayne, offers an unusual educational opportunity for young men interested in technology. A full college course can be completed in two years in almost any field of engineering.

Men trained in technical professions are greatly in demand today as jobs await well-trained men throughout the country. In helping to meet this demand, Indiana Tech recommends its students upon the request of employers to outstanding industrial plants anywhere in the nation. During the past year the personnel department of the school has had many more requests for applications than it has had qualified men to recommend, according to a report from President A. T. Keene.

The enrollment for the winter term is 469 compared with 427 a year ago. The enrollment by departments is as follows: Aeronautical, 144; mechanical, 123; radio, 58; electrical, 53; chemical, 52; and civil, 38. The enrollment represents a wide geographic distribution including nearly all of the states of the union and several foreign countries.

The spring term opens March 3.

Northwest Mounties Featured On Screen In Colored Picture

Starring Gary Cooper and Madeline Carroll, and boasting a supporting cast headed by a long list of stars including Paulette Goddard, Preston Foster, Robert Preston, Akim Tamiroff, Lynne Overman, George Bancroft, and Walter Hampden, Lon Chaney Jr., Cecil B. DeMille's production in technicolor of "Northwest Mounted Police" will open on Thursday at the Emboyd Theatre. Set in the period when Canada was threatened by a Civil War of its own as thousands of half-breeds revolted against the government, the picture relates a magnificent story of the courage which made the Northwest Mounted one of the most respected forces in the world. It tells the love stories of two Mounted Policemen—one in love with a gallant nurse, and the other fascinated by an Indian girl, who is about as tame as a tiger. Thrilling incidents mark every reel of the film, as the police, aided by an equally gallant Texas Ranger, seek to quell the rebellion of the half-breeds. One startling climax is reached as fifty Mounted Police face thousands of half-breeds and a Gatling gun—and that's just one of the thrilling moments which mark this as a Cecil B. DeMille masterpiece.

Rifler Marcelle Kimmel Shoots Highest Score

Marcelle Kimmel made the highest score at the Girls' Rifle Club meeting last Wednesday on the rifle range with a score of 90.

The scores of the other members present were as follows: Marjorie Shannon and Laverne Michelfelder, 86; Betty Thiele, 82; Audrey Longsworth, 74; Betty Mischo, 73; and Irene Meyer, 72.

Art School Begins Second Semester

January 27 Is Date Of Opening; New Classes Are Offered To Pupils First Time This Year

January 27 marks the opening of the second semester at the Fort Wayne Art School. The opportunity for the January graduates is excellent as it gives them a chance to continue their education in a specialized field within the city.

One of the new courses, offered for the first time this year, is the silk screen class. Likewise the craft and lettering and poster classes afford a similar opportunity for high school graduates wishing to enter the commercial or illustration field.

The two-year foundation course gives one thorough training in art principles necessary in the production of fine and commercial art. Class problems of a practical nature are always given, and through the cooperation of local industries, the students are given very advanced problems to work.

Mr. Walter H. McBride, director of the school, will discuss any questions concerning your future in an art education.

This Building Becomes Home For 140 New Students Today

To New Freshmen Students:

South Side High School is watching the new students with a large amount of interest and hope. Your school has achieved rather a creditable record during the years, because of the efforts of boys and girls just like those now entering. Opportunities are offered here for securing an excellent education, for making many friendly contacts, and for developing and practicing the finest type of citizenship. The school pledges to each of its new members the finest kind of leadership, help, and encouragement, and asks only that each newcomer try to do as well as those who have entered before.

R. Nelson Snider.

I am glad to welcome new pupils to South Side High School. Attendance at a modern high school is a thrilling adventure. You will have opportunities to add to your knowledge, your friendships, and your experiences. Your success and your happiness will depend on your earnestness, your loyalty, your industry, and your courtesy. Give your best and the best will come back to you.

Martha M. Pittenger.

The Times takes great enjoyment in welcoming you to your new school. As the official publication of South Side, we hope that we may be of assistance to you. We shall do our best to keep you informed of current events around the school, such as athletic games, various dances, skates, club meetings, speech contests, and many other phases of high school life. We have been doing these things for students of South Side since 1922. We hope we can be of as much assistance to you, as we have been to those who preceded you.

The Times Staff.

Original Oratory Set For Monday

Seven Seniors Will Participate In Annual Wrangler Contest; Meet To Be Held In Greeley

Wranglers' Annual Original Oratorical Contest will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the Greeley Room. The orations are original and will be ten minutes in length.

Those who will participate are Sam Bacon, James McClure, Bob Robinson, Kolman Gross, Maxine Case, Bob Safer, and Bob Young.

The Wranglers cup will be presented to the winner. The contestant having the best speech about the constitution will represent South Side in the American Legion Contest on February 13. Tom Gallmeyer placed first in this state contest last year.

The contestant giving the best speech on any other subject will represent the school in a state contest at Wabash College, February 15. James Murphy won second in this contest last year.

Maxine Case Is Stamp Club Head

Others Are Etheldrea Behling, Raymond Fish, Ralph Herb, Dick Lockhart, Keith Lakey

Maxine Case was elected president of Stamp Club at a called meeting January 11 in the Greeley Room.

The other officers who were elected at this meeting are Ray Fish, vice-president; Etheldrea Behling, secretary; Dick Lockhart, treasurer; Ralph Herb, point recorder; and Keith Lakey, Inter-Club Congress representative.

Points for the entire semester were recorded at this meeting so that the award committee would be able to meet in the near future to determine which members of Stamp Club are to receive pins.

Following the election stamps were exchanged. The new "Defense Issue" stamp was discussed as to color, denominations, size, and its value.

Library Group Names Cliff Matson President

Cliff Matson was elected president of Library Club at the meeting held last Tuesday. Other officers elected are vice-president, Ellen Harry; secretary, Sam Bacon, point recorder, Lois Gumpner; and sergeant-at-arms, Earl Sweeney. Betty Loehler is the Inter-Club Congress representative for the semester.

The meeting consisted of a quiz game directed by Bob Wylie and Ruth Dauner and a staff meeting under the direction of Miss Emma Shoup, club sponsor. Refreshments were drumbsticks. The next meeting will be held February 18.

Is Times GM

Bob Robinson

Bob Robinson, 12A, has been chosen General Manager of The Times for the coming semester and will be in charge of the Times activities.

Bob Robinson Becomes G.M. Of Times Staff

Eight Changes Announced At Potluck; Seventy Members, Six Guests Attend

Marge Sheldon turned over her duties as General Manager of The Times to Bob Robinson last Monday at the Times potluck held in honor of Miss Rowena Harvey's return. The affair was held in the school cafeteria at 5:30 o'clock with approximately seventy staff members attending. Six major staff members of the North Side Northern, Jean Scott, and Eleanor Vesey were honor guests along with Miss Harvey. Highlights in the program were the announcement of future staff members by Bob Robinson and the Truth and Consequences game staged by John Bonsib and Bill Bone.

Bob Robinson, who is the new G.M., in Room 16, is well qualified to fill his position, having held the positions of circulation manager, business adviser, editorial writer, star reporter, room agent, and a member of the copy staff in the past.

Other students who received promotions are Jeanne Smith, whose new position is managing editor; Ruth Hageman, assistant managing editor; Lou Hallenstein, editorial editor; Mary Ellen Barrett, news editor; Tompsie Hall, business manager; Dolores Reiter, advertising manager; Martha Jane Krauskopf, business adviser; and Mary Lybrook, sports copy and make-up editor.

Former positions held by the above mentioned are as follows: Jeanne Smith, news editor; Ruth Hageman, copy editor; Lou Hallenstein, copy reader; Mary Ellen Barrett, editorial editor; Tompsie Hall, advertising manager; Martha Jane Krauskopf, business manager; Dolores Reiter, assistant business manager; and Mary Lybrook, managing editor.

Those staff members who served on committees for the potluck are the following: Program, John Bonsib, Mary Ellen Barrett, and Bill Bone, arrangements, Faye Gumpner, Tom Yates, and Harry Kelsey; food, Mary Lybrook, Jeanne Smith, Peggy Harrod, Kenneth Breimeier, and Martha Jane Krauskopf; and clean-up, Lois Gumpner, Bob Robinson, Bob Brooks, Jim Brooks, Dick Holmes, and Art Garrison.

Room 104 Is Haven To Those Requiring Medical Care, Rest

Perhaps the most widely used room in South Side is Miss Martha Pittenger's dispensary, Room 104. If you have ever been ill during school, you realize what a great help the Archer dean's aid has been to you. Its specific use is for the care of you students. The doctor also uses this room to make his examinations of the pupils.

If any person needs first aid or rest from an injury or illness, he should go to Miss Pittenger where he will receive attention. In emergency cases where the student needs hospital or medical treatment, he should report to the dispensary where Miss Pittenger will see that he is sent to a doctor. Dr. Werner Duemling makes examinations, but he does not give the students medical care.

In the dispensary, you will find a first aid kit, a hospital bed, a wash stand, a table, and the doctor's desk. Many cases of broken arms or injuries occurring in or around the school have been brought to the dispensary. The bed is used in cases of fainting people or those who need to relax.

Miss Pittenger states that the dispensary is very busy, as someone who needs care comes up nearly every half day. Remember, if you are not feeling up to par, you will find Miss Pittenger in Room 104 happy to help you.

Speech Pupils Name Champs Of Word War

Debates Rated On Delivery, Skill, Case; Judged By Mrs. D. B. Rieke, Pupils

Public speaking classes have been debating about various subjects since December 18. Two students took the affirmative side and two took the negative side each day. Mrs. Rieke, public speaking teacher, and three students were judges. The judging was done on delivery, constructive case, and debating skill.

The following subjects were debated: "Compulsory Military Training in High School Curriculum", "Government Control of Industries Pertaining to National Defense", "Philippines' Independence in 1946", "Should Public Utilities Be Owned and Controlled by Federal Government?", "Continuance of Parole System?", and "Legal Mercy Killing".

Name Winners
 In the period 1 class, the winners of the various debates are "Compulsory Military Training", affirmative, Evelyn Walker and Modena Terry; "Independence Granted to the Philippines in 1946", affirmative, Mary Jo Sites and Martha Jean Smith; "Federal Government Ownership and Control of Public Utilities", affirmative, Jim Holzworth and Jim Bumke; "Continuance of Parole System", affirmative, Shirley Watts and Helen Forst; and "Legal Mercy Killing", negative, Lois Bloemker and Mary Gaskins. The debate that "The United States Government Should Control All Industry Pertaining to National Defense", is still to be given. The contestants are affirmative, Jim Gerig and Karl Eberly, and negative, Howard Tyndall and Clifford Matson.

Others Are Listed
 Period 3: "Lobbying As Practiced in Congress", affirmative, Margaret Cyr and Ruthann Stiegler; "Compulsory Military Training in High School Curriculum", affirmative, Joe Beckus and Bill Dreyer; "Incorporation of Labor Unions Under Federal Law", affirmative, Tompsie Hall and Joan Cartwright; "Canada Annexed to the United States", negative, Rebecca Abbott and Clifford Hess; and "Adoption of City-Manager Plan of Government for Fort Wayne", negative, Carol Whitern and Wayne Beechler.

Period 6: "United States Aid to Great Britain", affirmative, Arthur Howard and Alice Swanson; "Federal Government Ownership and Operation of Railroads", negative, Roy Heavner, Fred Bill, and Ralph Fortriede.

In each of the periods several students gave speeches about the different subjects and one winner was chosen each day from each period.

The winners in these contests were Colleen McCarty, Allen Smith, Bob Hockmeyer, Due Taz, John Craig, Ralph Herb, Dora Jackson, Janice Sprunger, Frances Nash, Marjorie Kruse, Mary Nell Speigel, La Von Cartwright, John Warner, and Byron Singer.

So-Si-Y Club Holds Installation Service

Gertrude Merkel, Hlene Franke, Marjorie Voltz, Betty Nichols Are Also Named As Officers

Gertrude Merkel was installed president of So-Si-Y at the club's installation service last Tuesday afternoon in the Dues, John Craig, Marjorie Voltz, Hlene Franke, and Betty Nichols complete the leaders, holding the offices of vice-president, secretary, and treasurer.

Other officers are held by Romayne Rediger, who will serve as Inter-Club Congress representative; Joan Dodge, social chairman; Elaine Boerger, musical chairman; Etheldrea Behling, membership chairman; and Louisa Haugk, publicity chairman.

Bernadine Bender is the retiring president. Other former officers are Marjorie Voltz, vice-president; Martha Thomas, secretary; Alice Volmerding, treasurer; Gertrude Merkel, Inter-Club Congress representative; Marjorie Gerding, social chairman; Romayne Rediger, service chairman; LaVerne Greiner, membership chairman; and Louisa Haugk, publicity chairman.

Marjorie Gerding, Alice Volmerding, Marjorie Voltz, and Gertrude Merkel had charge of the devotions, when they read a paper of thanks. Martha Thomas led a discussion on "Personality", and Betty Nichols led a book title contest.

Elaine Berger led a community sing during which the songs "There's A Long, Long Way", "Beautiful Dreamer", and "Auld Lang Syne" were sung.

Miss Martha Pittenger, Archer dean, was a guest at the meeting. Refreshments of tootsie rolls were given to members.

Feature Is To Tell Story Of The Times

How many of you have ever wondered how The Times is put out, how the stories are reported, how the stories are headed, or who writes the stories?

Probably everyone who has ever glanced at a newspaper wanted to know what went on behind the scenes. The opportunity everyone is looking for will soon be here. Starting shortly will be a new feature on the editorial page, in which the story of The Times will be told.

Watch for it on the editorial page in a forthcoming issue!

Mr. R. Nelson Snider

Mr. R. Nelson Snider, Archer principal, has announced the plans for the first day and extends his welcome to the freshmen.

Totem Extends Picture Drive Three Weeks

Circulation Campaign Will Be Carried On Till Early March For Frosh's Benefit

All underclassmen will have the opportunity of purchasing their pictures for three weeks more, from January 22 to February 14, it was announced by the underclassmen editors of the Totem. During these three weeks there will be a concentrated drive on all classes and especially the incoming freshmen. Pictures of all persons who have ordered snapshots up to this time and who have not yet had their photo taken will be snapped on Tuesday, February 18. This will be the last and only day that pictures will be snapped during the new term.

Everyone is urged to act at once and "take a step in the right direction" by ordering their underclass picture at once.

The Totem is rapidly completing its schedule for taking snapshots of the students and activities around school. Joel Salon and Lou Hallenstein, photographers, have been seen around many odd hours and at odd angles shooting everything in sight. These snaps will go to make up an unequalled Totem in pictorial quality, helping to build the biggest and best Totem ever.

Totem officials of the club section stated the club pictures will be taken on Friday, February 7, and again during the entire week of February 11 to 14 inclusive. There will be three or four pictures taken on each of these nights so a close adherence to the time schedule is asked. The exact date of each picture will be announced in the bulletin in a few days.

John Bonsib, editor of the 1941 yearbook, yesterday announced that a circulation campaign will be carried on during the last week of February or in early March. This campaign will give the new freshmen a chance to subscribe for the 1941 Totem.

Junior Subscribes First

Mary Jo Sites, 11A, was the initial subscriber for The Times of this semester. Emily Sweetland, '40, now residing in Oregon was the first person to subscribe last semester.

Music Department Gives Opportunities To Any Interested

Strike up the band, and let's look into the mystic maze of our music department. This cross-curricular activity is one of South Side's most important department and a great contributing factor to the enjoyment of South Siders. Students who are members of the band, orchestra, or chorus find that they receive a great deal of valuable experience through this branch of education.

Mr. Jack Wainwright has charge of the band and orchestra. Until last year he also instructed the chorus, but Mr. Lester Hostetter took over that part of the work this year.

Three different bands are organized: the concert band, which performs at concerts; the military band, which plays at basketball and football games; and the beginners' band for students who haven't enough experience for the other two bands. This beginning band meets the second period every day for practice, while the concert band assembles every day during the fifth period.

Most students who are in the concert band also belong to the military band. Approximately seventy students are in the band and twenty-five are in the orchestra. The orchestra meets every fourth period for practice. Concerts are usually given once a month, but this year they have been reduced to four a year.

All students who can play musical instruments or can sing or want to learn, are invited to join some branch of the music department.

Parents See Play By Marionettes

Scene From "Aladdin's Wonderful Lamp" Presented For Incoming Freshmen's Parents

Parents of the incoming freshmen were entertained at a meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association with a scene from the annual play of the Marionette Club. The play is to be "Aladdin and His Wonderful Lamp". The part presented was the scene in which the princess gave up the magic lamp as a result of the trickery of the wicked magician. Carol Lyman gave the narration.

The voices of the characters were those of Wanda Boney, Silene Smith, and John Rolop. The manipulators were Mary Morgan, Rosemary Beigler, and Pat Florenzier. Rose Marie Vogel, Barbara Burt, Jane Hickman, and Dorothy Risen comprised the stage crew.

The entire play will be presented some time in the near future, it was announced by Miss Blanche Hutto, sponsor of the club. Miss Hutto stated that making puppets is a vocation that may be used during later years. She also stated that the club needed more boys as members.

Dan Auer Chosen President Of Hi-Y

Other Officers Are David Azar, Bill Goodwin, Leslie Baumgartner, Robert Holzworth

Dan Auer was elected president of Hi-Y at the meeting January 16 at the YMCA. Other election results are as follows: Vice-president, Robert Holzworth; secretary, Bill Goodwin; treasurer, David Azar; and sergeant-at-arms, Leslie Baumgartner.

Preceding the meeting, members swam in the pool for a half hour. Dick Brauer was placed in charge of the pennant sale at the Central-South Side game, and he is to be assisted by all the members of the club present at the game. Leslie Baumgartner, Bill Goodwin, Jim Holzworth, and Gordon Nelson were placed in charge of the check room for the game. It was decided to check at the Sectionals and Regionals if possible. The new officers held a short meeting after adjournment.

Majors In Home Ec. Asked To Register

Parents, teachers, or others with college home economics training are asked to register with Miss Gertrude H. Keap at Central High School in connection with the National Defense program.

This request is made by the American Home Economic Association. All those with college training of one or more years are asked either to come to Room 168 at Central High School or phone Anthony 8425.

School Spirit Is Shown In Students' Attendance At After-Game Dances

When the school fills the gym for every basketball game, that's indicative of fine school spirit. It shows that students really take an interest in the school. Even if we are having a lean year, they are ready and willing to pay to see the team play.

There is another activity which should be better attended if we are to show the finest school spirit. That activity is the after-game dances. We do not mean to say that there are poor crowds at our South Side dances; on the contrary, the sponsors almost always come out far in the black. In fact, our dances are probably better attended than those of the other schools. What we do mean to say is that there is always room for improvement.

Why is it that some students would rather go somewhere else and bum around rather than come to our own school dances? There is that element which seems to think that anyplace, no matter what kind of a place it is, is better than the school. That definitely doesn't appear to be showing particularly good school spirit.

Our after-game dances are as good as can be gotten anywhere, especially as they are only twenty-five or forty cents. Furthermore, the orchestras are often composed of boys here in South Side, not a group of disinterested outsiders. You are supporting your school organizations by attending our dances. All proceeds up to a certain sum go to the club who sponsors the dance; the remainder goes to the school treasury.

If you pretend to call yourself a loyal supporter of South Side, remember the dances after the basketball games. We'll be seeing you there!

Government And Other Studies Aid The Next Crop Of Citizens

Have you ever picked up your newspaper and read of a party caucus, or of a steering committee, or perhaps of a whip? Did you know what it was all about, or did you wonder how a man could be the same as that weapon of punishment so often felt in the dear dead days of childhood?

If you are a senior, you know what all these expressions mean; if you are not, you will soon learn. These are all terms applying to our government and its organization.

A person can not read a paper intelligently unless he knows something about the workings of his government. He can not vote wisely nor discuss current problems with any degree of sanity.

A democracy depends on the people, as a whole, being interested and well enough informed to keep it intact. It is a government by the people which means that each and every one of us helps or hinders as to the degree of his knowledge and intentions.

Surely all of us have the best of intentions. We all hope and desire to be constructive citizens, to make our country into the dream of the patriarchy, to hand it down to the next generation just a little better, a little more perfect than it was handed to us. However, along with these intentions must go knowledge.

While in high school, too many of us do not realize just how much the study of civics means. Our voting days seem too far in the future for us to worry or get excited about them. Yet, this may be our last chance to get any factual information in a concentrated, concise form of political partisanship and fanatic radicalism. It may be our last chance to learn the technique of our government, the behind the scene party set-ups, the sly tricks of political bosses and the difficulties besetting an honest reformer; of smear campaigns and ballot-stuffing; of how bills are passed and what we, the people can do to register protest or approval. All these and many other important, perhaps even crucial facts are embodied in a civics course.

All of you students who start into such a class this semester remember: you are being trained for citizenship in the United States of America; make it proud of you and yourself worthy of it.

Teachers are required to judge students' neatness for personality charts. It's a good thing they don't judge them by going through notebooks!

Those boys were dopes who got heiny haircuts just before grades came out.

Starlet of the Week Jeanne Smith

This week we are featuring that swingin', flingin', ringin', bingin', pingin' tennis skirt champion who answers to the name of Jeanne Smith.

We didn't think that the small town of Avilla in our own state of Indiana could produce such a masterpiece of feminine pep.

Life: We-I-I, it all started in 1923 in Avilla, Indiana, and progressed to Fort Wayne. Marilyn Jeanne Smith entered Irwin Grade School and continued her education at James Smart. During this time she had moved about fourteen times.

Upon entering South Side, she carried over her gymnastics from the younger days. Turning handsprings all the way to school seemed to be one of her favorite tricks. But as she grew older, she chucked those kiddish tricks and took up something more useful, tennis for example. During her four years as an outstanding girl athlete she has won the class tennis championship in her freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior years. Who could ask for anything more? Jeanne holds the honor of being the first junior ever to be president of GAA. She was also manager of sports and became girls' sports editor of The Totem this year. Last year Jeanne was girls' sports editor and news editor of The Times and this year she holds the position of managing editor. Besides her Times and sport activities, she is a member of Three E's, Cameraman, and Service Clubs; in the latter she has been active for five semesters with her work in the gym office. Jeanne is a member of 1500 Club and has acquired her silver pin. So you see that even though her name may be a common one, she is a very extraordinary girl.

Love: As all modest girls reply to this subject, giggle, giggle, "I don't have any." That's a laugh. No girl with the vim, vigor, and vitality could avoid boys for four long years, especially the South Side males. Of course she was overlooking Bill Martin, Jim Straley, and Chuck Close. Now tell us another, Jeanne.

An' What Have You? Well, she's got plenty! But that's a little off the subject. As a little girl in grade school she enjoyed the Pageants at North Side and was awfully boy-shy. Her most embarrassing moment was being put under the gym shower in her sophomore year. Her most thrilling moment took place last summer when she won the tennis championship. Jeanne's favorite food is hamburger and malted milk. Other favorites include Guy Lombardo and "Dream Valley" (the song, remember?).

Dazzling Futures For Dizzy Seniors Predicts Madam It

All studious seniors specializing in socialized stupidity are requested to lend their eyes and ears, and gasp over the following future news forecasts about your Kelly Klassmates.

Professor Aluisius Amstutz, savior of the class of '41 and educator on dropology, recently wrote the literary masterpiece, "Trips Through Tripoli" or "If You Must Trip, Do It Gracefully." The book has not been publicly reviewed or viewed as yet, but one of the well known critics, Doodle Duwaldt encouragingly quotes: "It is well worth the half page that it is printed on." Unquote. Our sincere thanks to Professor Amstutz for such a valuable contribution to education.

Since Thug They recently took over the famed "Foosy Flophouse" nightclub, there has been a constant stream of customers eager to absorb the entertainment and stimulants of this popular rendezvous. The nightly floor show consists of a snappy dance routine featuring Francis Nash and Henty Ditton. Doing a little vocalizing on the program is Morris "Caruso" Sprinkle. He always receives a shower of applause. (Pun.) Also on the program is Ed alias Elmo, Tanner, the whistling wonder from the Canary Islands. Occasionally Tootsie Trulock does his dance of the apes if the audience is in the mood for monkey business.

Detective Drizzly Dosch, whose motto is "Our man always gets us" recently boasted of capturing the notorious onion eater, Macbreath McMyler. Macbreath was accused of killing three people and seriously handicapping two by exhaling the flavor of onions into the faces of the poor innocent victims.

Well, chilluns, now either the best or the worst has been known. Unless you have been in a daze for the last few days you will know that grades have been issued and the awful truth has been brought forth.

Let's talk about something more interesting than those things which are to be issued today, for instance, DIRT. I knew that would catch your eye and pep you up. Well, let's see what there is to tell you about.

Pat Klebe seems to be doing O.K. for herself; she has had the opportunity to catch the heart of Jim (Dimples) Worman and seems to be taking advantage of the situation. Nice work, if you can get it and you can get it if you try.

Bill Seibold is another one who seems to have the right idea about things. After a misunderstanding, he seems to have two girls to his credit, one being Joan Cox and the other is Joan Pope. Maybe he's allergic to

Boys, Girls Take To Outdoors In Warm, Gay Sport Costumes

The sportswear for boys shown in the above picture, contains two of the newest creations in men's fashions. The first is the matching glove and scarf combination. This set is not only practical and good looking, but inexpensive, and after all, that's what counts. This scarf and glove combination can be worn with most any sport outfit. These sets, which are of fine knitted fabric, come in brown, green, yellow, and blue so that you have a wide color range.

The second feature is the much talked about finger-tip length coat. These coats are the main spring for men's fashion changes this year. While these coats are made out of many different materials, corduroy is still the best for these coats. Although these coats are the same in length, they are made in numerous styles. Some coats are styled so that they have a slight split up the back, while others have small slits up each side. The pocket styles differ, too, in that on some coats they are patch and others are zipper closed. These coats also come in reversible styles, one side being corduroy the other of waterproof material.

Styles in ice skating togs are as numerous and varied as anyone could wish for.

A skating dress of white wool with a checked yoke and a skirt faced in red is a stunning outfit. For m'lady's head, a white bonnet fitted closely to keep out the cold winter winds. For her hands a pair of knitted gloves to match the hat. What could be more eye-catching than an outfit of this type?

Of course, if the outfit mentioned above does not suit your taste, there are many more skating creations that would make any girl proud to be wearing. Take for instance, an outfit composed of a Shetlandcardigan edged in Tattersall check with a bias wool skirt to match.

A corduroy outfit is smart looking and practical for those of you who intend to get a lot of wear out of your costume. The particular outfit that I have in mind is a full circular skirt trimmed in leopard with a corduroy jacket to match which is lined in Kasha for warmth. Attached to the jacket is a hood to protect your head from the icy winds. This hood is detachable and is trimmed in leopard to match the skirt.

Good Old Days Can't Compete With Today's Modern Times

Mother and dad often talk about "the good old days", but their good old days just can't compare with those of the modern generation. Mother thinks that daughter should act, speak, and live like she did, and junior should follow in dad's footsteps. Ah, but times have changed since dad was a young blade and mother a bashful school girl. As proof of this statement, let's compare mother and dad's date to one of this streamlined generation.

Scene: Front parlor some twenty-odd years ago at approximately 6:30, since the evening supper was eaten before dusk.

A young girl in a white middy blouse and black skirt, with her hair tied in back with a large bow sits before the fireplace crocheting. Her father is smoking and reading the evening paper in the chair opposite her. Her mother is darning stockings. A knock is heard at the door and her father admits the young man into the parlor. After greeting the family he sits timidly in a chair next to the father and cautiously inquires about the new buggy purchased by the family. After an hour of general conversation the young girl remarks, "I'll get the corn popper and you can pop some corn while I see if the taffy is ready to pull."

"That's a fine idea", replies her mother. The young man pops the corn and, following the taffy pull, the father clears his throat and taking out his watch, says, "It's after eight, Henry. I think it's about time you left." So Henry picks up his hat and departs thinking of that marvelous girl and the delicious taffy she can make.

Time marches on and things have changed. Let's picture the same scene in 1941 at approximately 8 o'clock. Our heroine in place of the middy blouse is wearing the latest in sweaters and skirts and the two-inch heels of her pumps have replaced mother's button shoes. Daughter's face has more coloring and her lips are redder than mother's. The door bell rings, and she runs to admit a youth of today complete with saddle shoes and "crew cut".

"Greetings and salutations, where's the family?", he joyously greets his fair one.

"Mother and dad took the new car and drove to the fifty-mile crossroads for a dinner party. Where are we going?"

"First, we'll pick up Barb and Bob, take in a show at the Palace, buzz out to the lake for a few twirls, and then meet the gang at the banquet. How's that?"

"Perfect, let's get going."

So dear students you can plainly see the difference between when mother was a girl and what daughter does today. Everyone to his own opinion, but "I'm having a wonderful time living now."

What Would You Do If

Since several students have taken the advice offered by this column, and have asked for more, it will be continued for their benefit. Your stringing reporter has rummaged through the troubles of the student body to find what difficulties they need advice about.

WHAT WOULD YOU DO IF:

- If a brick fell on your head?
- Wish that you were Little Abner?
- Drop dead?
- Enjoy the ensuing peace?
- Scream?

If your steady got a crew cut?

- Wring his neck?
- Match him with a boyish bob?
- Take up knitting?
- Buy him a stocking cap?

If your alarm didn't go off until 8 o'clock?

- Turn it off and go back to sleep?
- Develop a sore throat or stomach ache?
- Use violent language?
- Get up and go to your second period class?

Tasty Bits Of Gossip Concerning Freshies

Now that we freshmen are turning a paler green color, let us discuss those who have been outstanding in some field or other, whether it be glamour girling or always being ready with an answer, etc.

Among the freshmen who come under being ready with an answer, is Tom Brett, who when asked the reason for not having his algebra assignment replied thusly, "The guy that sits next to me kept his paper covered, so I couldn't see his paper, therefore I haven't got my work for today."

One girl who definitely comes under the title of glamour girl is Dorothy Lemert, for she is blessed with sparkling, dark eyes and a very pretty head of hair.

Martha and Mary Harry and Marilyn Ream are equipped with super-dex lux thinkers. Martha and Mary are also well informed on the latest "what did something say to something else jokes."

Austin Gardner is quite a practical joker, or he just believes in taking people literally, for he took three marriage certificates to one of his teachers that happened to mention fact she had never seen one.

Tall, dark, and whatever other adjective you choose to use describes Peggy Needham. Peggy is a very friendly freshman, because of this Peggy has loads of friends and is constantly making more!

Vernie Mitchell is especially gifted doing work with his hands. Vernie makes many difficult and intricate model airplanes. He has displayed his talent in many shows that feature this type of work. Vernie also has great enthusiasm for basketball and fishing.

Another freshman who is talented with his hands is David Peterson. He makes excellent drawings of people in action such as football players, basketball players, etc.

Dorothy Krohne and Hilda Keel, two blond, blue eyed girls, display much talent in the art of baton twirling.

Enslö Drake, otherwise known as the "Saint", is an accomplished artist on the toy bugle. Enslö has enlightened his English class many a day between bells with his music.

Students Can Take Or Leave Crew Cuts

Have you been frightened by those fuzzy-headed creatures who have been roaming around the halls of school? Has your boy friend threatened to get one of those abominable hair cuts known as crew cuts?

Before he takes such a drastic step it would be wise for him to read this poll taken among the students.

Pete Holzworth: I think girls should have them too.

Elrie Miller: Rough.

Marge McNabb: Awful.

"Killer" Miller: My pet peeve is a near-sighted barber with halitosis.

Marge Wigbel: Depends on who wears them.

Barbara Cross: Terrible!

George Waldschmidt: At first they did not appeal to my sense of beauty and culture. However, I feel unsympathetic in stating that they are O.K.

Judy Wilson: Horrible!

Nancy Cherry: Wouldn't speak to anyone who had one.

Pat Dietrich: Adorable.

Mary Lou Feller: Horrible!

Janet Rea: Ditto.

Ken Iba: I'm getting one.

Chuck Harrison: The world could not live without 'em. Neither could I.

Lyrics Of Leisure

By Ima Poet
The Freshmen

Do you know what happens to us but twice a year? Of course I don't mean you funk—have no fear. Eighth grade graduates from schools all around, Come to South Side High—the best in town.

Big and little, short and fat will all be here, We certainly should give them encouragement and cheer. I remember my extremely sad plight, don't you? Can you forget the fountain, or your long-lost shoe?

So when you see the freshmen with faces so green, Remember, dear student, yours wasn't always serene. Don't tell them the elevator is the quickest way up, For such an answer is mighty abrupt.

We want them to have a favorable impression of us all, For in this group of students there will be many a cute moll.

So being helpful all of the time is a good deed, To all you boys and girls, this case I do plead. Petunia Pegonia Potowski.

The New Fad
The boys of South Side have adopted a new fad, Which makes all of their onlookers feel very sad. I realize less energy is demanded of them, But the "crew cuts" don't benefit those men.

Their hair stands up on its very end, You'd think they saw a spectre comin' round the bend. I suggest while their follicles are in such a state, A toupe for them, all would appreciate.

Aunt Emma Ethics.

Rolling Romancing
Spring, spring, comes but once a year, But when it does we girls do cheer. For at this particular season tide, The boys all give our hearts a ride.

We don't have to wait until March the 31st, For to Bette Ann Bohn, Bryce Augsburg has rehearsed. Bob Welty doesn't want to wait for this date, Because he must hurry, if Mary Carlo he wants to rate.

Killer Miller has indeed rushed the season, Dating Wigbel and McMahon, I say is the reason. When I see all these couples little me does sigh, Oh, by the way, have you seen Hank Schaaf and Nan McKay?

When you feel a gust of wind which makes everything blurry, Don't be very shocked for it's Mar Smith and Dick Steury.

The calendar doesn't mean much to South Siders it seems, After seeing R. Earl McVay with Edith Ream.

This brings to an end all my little ditties; I hope you all think they are a bit witty. Sentimental Susie Slush.

Glamour Boy Of 1941 Will Be Comfortable

Comfort and more comfort is the latest trend in men's clothing. No more high, stiff, detachable collars and tight-fitting suits. Suits are now made to fit "easily"; broad shoulders, fullness in the chest for the coat, while the trousers are ample in the seat and hips which help form the contour of the coat and trouser combination as well as being comfortable. Softer fabrics are popular now, some of these being worsteds, flannels, chevots, and shetlands in plaids, herringbones, and diagonal stripes.

The double-breasted suit for more formal wear has a very soft front to enable the wearer to button the coat on the lower of the two buttons. This type of suit should be a conservative color of either a worsted or flannel material. For a sportier occasion single-breasted plaid or herringbone pattern in tweed or Shetland material is just the thing.

For ties. Most fellows are "suckers" for ties at any time but more so at this time since something new has come to the front this season. It's the wool and knitted ties. This is largely due to the heavier, softer material of the suits. These brightly colored ties are best featured with an Oxford cloth shirt, a colored handkerchief, and a rough pair of socks. This is a hard combination to beat.

Now ties. Most fellows are "suckers" for ties at any chiefs, and socks, there's one thing more left, shoes. This year shoes are featured in rough "burly" leather (about 90 per cent of these being brown.) These shoes are extremely popular with rough, shaggy appearing suits and top-coats. Shoes, as are the other clothing features, are designed for comfort and wearing quality. Patterns for shoes are in keeping with the theme, "rough and ready".

Central Tigers Defeat Kellies Friday Night

South Side Archers Start Slow, But Almost Register Upset In Thrilling Battle

Central's Tigers, showing some of the hottest basketball ever seen on the southern court, eked out a 32-to-31 decision over the Green, January 17. The downtown netters were hitting consistently and working well on their defense. South Side started slowly, but came along fast to almost register an upset. Every seat in the Southern gymnasium was taken long before the varsity melee, and most of the fans felt that they had witnessed the most thrilling city battle of all time.

While the Central Cagers shot with little accuracy in the first quarter, the Green netters were stalking and watching for set-up shots. Dick Tackett, big pivot man of the Blue, tipped in a fielder shortly after the opening whistle to give the visitors a short-lived 2-to-0 lead. Chuck Close brought the Archer rooters some satisfaction by canning a charity toss to bring the hosts within a single marker of the Mendenhallmen.

Archers Take Quarter

Bob Hines then fouled Wilkin, who in turn converted his gratis throw to again give the Blue a two-point lead. Dallas Zuber came through with a fielder and a foul to give the Archers a quarter lead at 4 to 3.

After Coach Mendenhall replaced Sitko and Stanski with Barfell and Van Ryn, the Tigers began to turn the second quarter into a rout. Barfell hit two fielders and a foul, and Bill Washington added two goals to pace the Bengal's second quarter spurt. Tackett and Van Ryn also hit a goal apiece and Wilkin canned another charity toss to run the Tiger half-time count to 17. Tom Brower and Chick Shimer hit goals for the Green, as did Bob Hines who also added a foul toss, to run the local's score to 11.

Tom Barfell gave the South Side rooting section a real scare when he hit a well-aimed goal from the 19 arc to give the Tigers the lead, 19 to 11. But then the fireworks started to pop. Before the Tigers recovered, the score was knotted at 19-all. Tom Brower sparked the uprising by hitting two field goals, while Kellies Close and Feistkorn also contributed to the Green cause. Wilkin attributed added goals, and the team finished third quarter of play with the score reading 23-all.

Washington and Sitko cared free goals at the beginning of the final frame to give the Tigers a short advantage, as Zuber flipped in a one-hander to knot the count. Chick Shimer rebounded a shot by Hines to give the local's a lead, but Wilkin retaliated for the Blue and White by hitting a beautifully executed pivot shot.

Tackett Ties Score

Gus Feistkorn grabbed a loose ball and converted a one-handed job to again further the Archer cause. But Dick Tackett returned with a high arching shot that tied the score. The count with a minute to go flashing on the southern scoreboard read: South Side 29, Central 29. Bob Hines, who played his usual great game, tried a little too hard to block an attempt by Wilkin; as a result, the Central star caged the point which ultimately clinched the verdict.

Not to be outdone by visitors Wilkin and Tackett, Gus Feistkorn hit another one-hander to give the Green a 31-to-30 lead. With some fifteen seconds remaining, Wilkin took a quick-cut pass from Washington and fired a wild arching effort which hit the hoop cleanly to regain the final advantage. Bob Hines hastily dribbled down court and passed to sparkplug Tom Brower. With six seconds to play, Tom aimed well and fired; but Washington of Central blocked the effort enough to cause the ball to fall short of the hoop.

The summary of the scores follows:

	G.	F.	T.
Wilkin, f.	3	3	9
Washington, f.	2	2	6
Shaw, f.	0	0	0
Tackett, c.	3	1	7
Sitko, g.	0	1	2
Van Ryn, g.	0	0	0
Barfell, g.	3	1	7
Totals	12	8	32
	G.	F.	T.
R. Hines, f.	2	1	5
Brower, f.	3	0	6
Shimer, f.	2	1	5
Feistkorn, c.	3	1	7

Heavyweight Division Contest Results In Five Wins; Middle, Two; Light, One

Boys' intramural basketball tournament slumped into a temporary lull of activity during this last week with six heavyweight games, two middleweight games, and one lightweight game, making a total of only nine games.

The heavyweight division was the best represented in the total number of games played; and, with very few exceptions, all of the games were close and exciting. After a fast and exciting duel of basketball wit, the Rockets overcame the Rafterers with a close score of 14 to 10.

The Flatfeet didn't live up to their name when they took the Five Stooges down the floor and walked all over them. When the bewildered Five Stooges came to their senses, the game was over with the Flatfeet the victors by a score of 14 to 6.

Zipppers Are Winners

The Zipppers opened up on the Sons of Garibaldy in a fast and ferocious battle that came out with the Sons of Garibaldy defeated by a score of 12 to 9. The mighty S.O.F. pulled down the flashing Rockets in a very tight match that resulted in a score of 15 to 12.

In the game between the Musketeers and the Red Devils, the Musketeers banished all superstition and fear and proved that the Red Devils weren't so hot after all when they properly squelched the Red Devils by a score of 23 to 7.

The Dubs played a very good game without committing one foul, but the Five Slops were slopping the ball in the basket too often for the Dubs to make any headway. The final score was 13 to 18 in favor of the Five Slops.

Gamboliers Are Victorious

Only two games were played in the middleweight division, and both games were very one-sided. The Gamboliers were very hard pressed when the mighty Cats went to work and made nine baskets and two out of four fouls, while the Gamboliers were saved from complete humiliation when Dale Amstutz made one out of five fouls giving the Gamboliers their only point. The final score was 20 to 1 in favor of the Cats.

The Super Prunes proved their superior qualities when they canned five fielders and two out of seven foul attempts, and the Jitterbugs were consoled only by a basket and a foul, both made by Doyle. The final score was 12 to 3 in favor of the Super Prunes.

IHSAA Names South Side To Be Sectional, Regional Host

Tourney Tilts To Be Played At North Side

City, County Quintets To Participate In Section Clash; Three Outsiders In

At a recent meeting of the Indiana High School Athletic Association, South Side was named along with 63 other schools as hosts in sectional play. It was also disclosed that the local meet will be held in the North Side gymnasium. South Side was also named as a regional host, and the Archers will again entertain at North Side's big gym.

Included in the sectional tournament at Fort Wayne will be the three city schools, ten quintets from Allen county and three outfits from nearby Whitley county. Of the sixteen sectional entrants, Monroeville, New Haven, Hoagland, Leo, Woodburn, Lafayette Central, Harlan, Huntertown, Arcola, and Elmhurst will represent Allen county, Columbia City, Jefferson Center, and Coesse from Whitley county will fill out the card.

Winners from Garrett, Warsaw, and Kendallville come here for regional play. Previously Huntington and Fort Wayne had been awarded alternately the regional for this district. Both cities have regionals this year.

Here is the set-up for the semi-finals and important regional and sectional centers:

- Semi-Finals
- Hammond—Winners of regionals at Gary, Lafayette, South Bend and Logansport.
  - Indianapolis—Winners of regionals at Anderson, Rushville, Greensburg and Attica.
  - Muncie—Winners of regionals at Fort Wayne, Marion, Huntington and Muncie.
  - Vincennes—Winners of regionals at Washington, Evansville, New Albany and Terre Haute.
- Regionals
- Marion—Winners of sectionals at Kokomo, Marion, Wabash and Noblesville.
  - Muncie—Winners of sectionals at Richmond, Muncie, New Castle and Winchester.
  - Huntington—Winners of sectionals at Hartford City, Bluffton, Huntington and Decatur.
  - Fort Wayne (North Side Gymnasium, South Side sponsor)—Winners of sectionals at Kendallville, Garrett, Warsaw and Fort Wayne.
- Sectionals
- Hartford City—Eight Jay, three Blackford and enough Randolph teams to cut, if necessary, Winchester to 16 teams.
  - Huntington—14 Huntington, two Whitley (South Whitley and Washington).
  - Warsaw—14 Kosciusko, one Whitley (Larwill).
  - Kendallville—Eight Lagrange, eight Noble.
  - Fort Wayne (North Side Gymnasium, South Side sponsor)—13 Allen, three Whitley (Columbia City, Coesse and Jefferson Center).

Central Five To Meet

Hammond, Hatchets

Central's Tigers are carded to meet two tough foes this week-end, meeting Hammond High and Washington. North Side handled the Hammonds easily several weeks ago, and it is highly probable that the Blue will do the same. The Hatchets of Washington are always tough. An upset in either tilt would not be unexpected, as the Central cagemen are due to have some letdown after grueling battles with North Side, South Side, and the Huntington Vikings.

Coach Murray Mendenhall is expected to lead with his usual starters. Veteran Dick Tackett will handle the pivot post, and Tigers Barfell and Van Ryn will probably hold the guard positions. Bill Washington and Russ Wilkin are certain to team together in the forward posts.

IM's Foul Throwing Tourney Lists Finalists

Finalists have been announced in the Intramural Foul-Throwing Tournament which has been going on every day in the gym for the past week. Many contestants turned out for the sport which was under the direction of Mr. Louis Briner, head of IM activities.

In the heavyweight division, Reynolds tied with Theye for first honors with 15 scores out of 30. Von derau captured second place; and Welch, third.

Clibon took top honors in the middleweight class having 24 out of 30 goals with Miller and Hegerfeld placing second and third.

Lightweights named Shannon as their king, who caged 18 shots out of 30 with Morton and Bredemeyer following closely with 15 and 13.

Wilkin Scores, Archers Lose Tough Battle

Above is Russ Wilkin of Central as he makes a foul shot with 33 seconds to go in the first Central-South Side City Series tilt. A few seconds later he scored a fielder after Feistkorn had scored to beat out the Archers in the last five seconds. The players, left to right, are: Wilkin at the foul line, Van Ryn (10), Hines (77), Tackett (5), Feistkorn (74), Washington (11), Close (72), and Shimer (73).

Meet Our 'Chicken', Who Is Really One Good GAA Booster

"Hi, Chicken", says someone in a happy voice. If you happen to turn around quickly enough, you'll see a dark-eyed and brown-haired girl scooting down the hall, most likely in the opposite direction. This slender, gracious student is none other than Maxine Volz, 10A. Better known as "Sis", she has been active in GAA since her freshman year, and has been a captain in every sport in which she has taken part.

Her motto is to like only those people who like her. For the next two years in Kelly College, she will be enrolled in the clerical course. When "Sis" graduates, she plans to take a beauty course.

Her favorite sports are ice skating and tennis, while she chooses dancing and the movies for a pastime. Hamburgers and raspberry pie are at the top of her list of foods, with spinach and chop suey at the bottom.

"Sis" says the best movie of the year was "Gone With the Wind", and Ann Sheridan and James Cagney are the best movie stars. When asked who she thinks is the outstanding basketball player at South Side, she nominates Chuck Close. "Sis's" secret ambition at present is to become better acquainted with curly haired Pete Holzworth.

Her favorite colors are red and blue. At the top of her pet peeves are boys bow ties and girls' knee length socks. "Sis" has earned 1,143 points in GAA and hopes to be a member of Lettergirls by next June. Besides belonging to GAA she is active in Service Club and Student Leaders.

CC's Irish To Battle Elmhurst Next Friday

John Levicki's Irish of Central Catholic, after experiencing much difficulty with a good Vincennes team last Saturday, are expected to regain the victory trail against Elmhurst next Friday.

Coach Waveland Snider's Allen County basketball unit has been both hot and cold this season. The Trojans may take fire and trim the Irish, but this is improbable unless Trojans Link and Hower can have a good evening. Other Elmhurst starters will be Mutton, Greider, and Coleman.

The Irish starting five will include Captain Bob Heiny, Bob Walker, Bud Gladieux, and Dick Krouse.

Hammond Back on Top—This week, North Side yields first place to Hammond Tech in the state-wide ranking. The Techs step into the top spot again because of consistent wins over good teams, North Side remaining in the first four by virtue of a good season record. Here are the rankings:

1, Hammond Tech; 2, Fort Wayne North; 3, Muncie, Burris; and 4, South Bend Central.

Although their season records are not as good as the above clubs, such teams as Central, South Side, Columbus, Anderson, and Rushville deserve just as much consideration as the teams listed above.

A Tip of the Hat To... Russ Wilkin of Central for his great last minute effort against South Side... the city Alumni Association for offering the fans a good alumni tournament. North Side won, but the South Siders and Centralites looked like the champions of old... It's a little early, but it looks as if the Irish of Central Catholic are on their way to another state and national title... Zollner's Pistons, one of the strong semi-pro cage fives of this locality, are scheduled to meet the Akron Goodyear's tonight. Dale Hamilton, Jim Hilgeman, and Don Beery are standout performers for the Pistons. Steve Sitko, former Central basketball star and Notre Dame football luminary, is one of the feature attractions of the visitors... Huntington's Vikings, although they seemingly would be no match for the Fort Wayne sectional victors, should have easy sailing into the semi-final round at Muncie. Unless Roanoke's Stone-walls can pull a surprise in the Lime City meet, the Vikings appear to be sitting pretty.

Archers Down Spartan Team By Ten Points

Reserves Are Used Through Most Of Game To Easily Win; Score Is 33 To 23

Using reserves throughout most of the tilt, the South Side Archers downed the Spartans of Connersville, January 17, by a score of 33 to 23. The locals had their usual tough luck in getting underway, but the decision was never in doubt.

South Side was held down closely in the first half by the Spartans' tight defense. The Green grabbed an 8-to-5 lead at the end of the first quarter. Connersville rallied in the second quarter to threaten the lead, but the locals led at the half, 14 to 12.

Just as Archers Reichert and Gildea had sparked the Fiddlemen in the first quarter of play, so did Kellies Shimer and Babbitt lead the locals in the second half. Babbitt hit two valuable fielders in the third quarter to bring the Green into a commanding 23-to-18 margin.

Summary of the scores follows

Archers May Enter National Essay Contest

"Why National Unity Is Important To My Country" Is Subject Of Articles

South Side Archers are invited to compete in a National Unity Essay Contest, which is being sponsored by The National Unity Essay Committee. "Why National Unity Is Important To My Country" is to be the subject of the essay. First prize of the Senior Division is $1,000, while the first prize of the Junior Division is $500. Two awards to the editors of the school newspapers who show the best editorial initiative in publicizing this contest in their school consist of a trip to New York in the company of the forty-eight state award winners and a four-day stay with all expenses (including transportation, hotel accommodations, and entertainment).

Participants Divided
Participants will be divided into two groups. First, those who have not yet reached their fifteenth birthday on January 1, 1941. This group will be called the Junior Division. Second, those who have reached their fifteenth birthday but who have not reached their nineteenth birthday on January 1, 1941. This group will be called the Senior Division. All participants must be actively attending school at the time their essays are submitted.

Junior Division contestants will be limited to not more than 150 words. Senior Division contestants will be limited to not more than 250 words. Typewritten essays are preferable, but not required. All essays not typewritten must be written in ink. All essays, whether typewritten or in ink, must be written on one side of the paper only.

Awards City Wide
Awards will be made on a city wide basis. First, the city wide winners of first place in both Junior and Senior Divisions will be awarded silver medals. Second, city wide winners of second place in both Junior and Senior Divisions will be awarded bronze medals. Third, essays of the city wide winners of first prize will be eligible to compete for the state award.

One essay will be chosen in each state from those which were awarded city wide first prizes. The writer of this essay will be given the state award, a gold medal. This state award will be made in both the Junior and Senior Divisions.

Compete For Grand Prize
The state award winner will compete for the grand prize, the national award. The national award will be made as follows: First, the national award winner in the junior division will receive, at his choice, either a $500 scholarship to any college or $500 in cash. Second, in the senior division only, the winners of the state awards will be brought to New York during the Easter holidays. There they will be entertained for four days as guests of the National Unity Essay Contest Committee. All expenses will be paid by the committee. On the last day of their stay they will attend a banquet where the national awards in the senior division will be made. This award will consist of either a $1,000 scholarship or $1,000 in cash, at the option of the winner. The awards and funds for expenses have been donated by Mr. Elias Lustig, president of Adams Hats.

Essays are to be sent to the National Unity Contest Committee, 657 Broadway, New York, New York. Entries must be postmarked not later than midnight, March 15, 1941. All essays become the property of the National Unity Essay Contest Committee. The decision of the judges is final in all matters pertaining to this contest.

Upperclass Girls Invited To So-Si-Y

Club Members Plan Program For Junior, Senior Guests; Mrs. Keene To Review Book

All junior and senior girls are invited to attend the first meeting of the new semester of So-Si-Y Club which will be held in the Greeley Room at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow.

A preview of the year's work will be presented to both new and old members. The new theme will be "Gracious Living" and will be carried out in each of the semester's meetings. Mrs. Archie Keene, well known for her book reviews, will review "One Foot In Heaven" by Hartzell Spense. This is Mrs. Keene's first opportunity to give a review to So-Si-Y members. Sample of cuttle dolls and animals will be shown at this meeting. The cuttles, which will be made at the second meeting, will be given to children at the Pixer Relief home for Valentine and Easter holidays.

A bargain sale on Archer mittens and scarves is slated for Friday and Monday mornings for the incoming freshmen. They will be sold at 10 cents each. Any of these may be obtained from Miss Beulah Rinehart in Room 66 and Miss Hazel Miller in Room 12.

Gertrude Merkel, president, will have charge of the meeting. Assisting her are the other officers who are: Marjorie Voitz, vice-president; Hene Franke, secretary; Betty Nichols, treasurer; Romaine Rediger, Inter-Club Congress representative; Marguerite Calkins, service chairman; Elaine Boerger, music chairman; and Louisa Haugk, publicity chairman.

Miss Eleanor Smeltzly Speaks To Social Science

Miss Eleanor Smeltzly, resigned social science teacher here, and world traveler, spoke on her trip last summer to Alaska at the Social Science meeting last Friday. Miss Smeltzly told of her observances of Alaska's religion, industries, and fishing canneries. Ruth Dauner and Dick Fishering presented arguments on the question "Should We Appease Japan?" Katherine Guild was the discussion leader.

The next meeting will be February 7. Election of officers for the new semester will take place at this meeting.

Seniors, Know Why You'll Wear Gowns, Caps To Graduate?

Now that graduation day is gradually approaching, the thought of caps and gowns comes to the mind of most of you seniors. The cap and gown has a special meaning to every graduate, for it is his uniform worn to signify that four years of work and study have been completed.

Way back before your grandparents ever thought of graduating or even going to school, the only educated people were the priests of the church. Since these men wore long robes, the people took up the idea of long robes as a symbol of a learned person and handed it down to us today. Thus the seniors of South Side have the honor of wearing robes to show that they have received an adequate education.

According to tradition, a graduate is not to wear his cap and gown until he is graduated. Since we wear ours before we have received our diplomas, we are going against tradition. But we get around this very nicely by wearing the tassels on the wrong side of the square cap until we receive our diplomas. And so with pride the new graduate places his tassel on the right side.

It won't be long now before all of you seniors will have the opportunity to proudly display your caps and gowns.

Three E's Have Meeting Saturday

Ionejean Tracht Is Hostess Of Club; Members Give Report On Words, Spelling Contest

"Tompie Hall gave an interesting report on combining words at the Three E's Club meeting last Saturday at the home of Ionejean Tracht, 710 Oakdale Drive. Ionejean reported on interesting words from their background, and Dorothy Gilda read a poem entitled "A Foreign Language Student Speaks".

A test was given on connecting English words with the language from which they are derived. The group filled in blanks in a group of given sentences, choosing the proper word from a given list and a spelling test was conducted.

The members were entertained by piano selections by Ionejean Tracht, Elaine Hirsche, and Wilma Lagermann. Selections played were: Prelude in C Minor, "Dainty Miss", "I Am An American", "God Bless America", "Sunrise Serenade", and "Star dust". Refreshments were then served.

The next meeting will be held on February 11 at the home of Elaine Hirsche, 536 West Packard Avenue. Vivian Shamburger and Janet Hottmeyer will be the assisting hostesses.

Social Scientists Name Dick Theye President

Dick Theye was elected president of Social Science at its meeting held last Tuesday night in the Greeley Room. Other officers are: Eva Jean Wyllie, vice-president; Bob Newhard, sergeant-at-arms; Ruth Dauner, secretary-treasurer; and Marjorie Dyer, Inter-Club Congress representative. The retiring officers are Paul Keil, president; Bob Brooks, vice-president; and Dick Theye, sergeant-at-arms.

The next meeting will be held with in the next three weeks. Evelyn Erickson and Marjorie Dyer will present the program at this meeting. The topic will be "Should the United States Take a Position of World Leadership?" The club is planning a joint meeting with the Social Science Club of Muncie.

Mathematics Students Taking Purdue Exams

Purdue tests are being given in the mathematics department today to the Algebra and Geometry 1 and 2 classes for semester examinations.

Also, recognition tests are to be given today at 3:30 o'clock for algebra and geometry students who have been recommended by their teachers. The Algebra 2, 3, and 4 tests will be given in Room 188 under the direction of Miss Adelaide Fisk. The students taking the Geometry 2 test will meet in Room 146. Mr. A. Verne Flint will give this test.

Six Scholarships Offered Archers

Stipends From Leading Universities Are To Be Awarded To Eligible South Side Grads

Six more scholarships are being offered to South Side students from various states. Lehigh College of Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, offers a four-year scholarship valued at $1600. This scholarship is available in the Lehigh College of Arts and Sciences, the College of Business Administration, and the College of Engineering. The awards are based on the college entrance examination, high school activity record, character recommendation, and place of residence.

Offers Forty Awards
Tulane University of New Orleans, Louisiana, offers forty honor scholarships to high-ranking graduates. There are ten scholarships available in the College of Arts and Sciences, and twenty-four in the H. Sophie Newcomb Memorial College. Honor scholarships are for one year only.

Kalamazoo College of Michigan offers six competitive scholarships, three to men, and three to women. The value of these scholarships vary from $1,200 to $400. Eligibility requires that the student should be a graduate from an approved high school with an average grade of B or better during three and one-half years of high school, and ranking in the upper one-tenth of his class.

Cornell Stipend Proffered
The John McMillen Regional offers a scholarship in engineering at Cornell. The stipend is worth $400 a year, varying on the course of study selected and provided a scholastic record is maintained at the required level. The fields of study include civil, electrical, mechanical, chemical, and administrative engineering in electrical, mechanical, or civil engineering.

University of California offers thirty-five national tuition scholarships valued at $280 to $300. To receive one of these the student should be in the highest tenth of his class, and recommended by his principal.

The New Jersey College of Women offers the following scholarships: Mabel Smith Douglass scholarship of $800, Elizabeth Rodman Vooches valued at $700, National scholarship of $250, and the McClymonds scholarship of $200.

Elinor Muntzinger Is Junior Math Leader

Elinor Muntzinger was elected president of the Junior Math Club at the meeting January 14. Aileen Betts was elected secretary. Ellen Briggs was chosen Inter-Club Congress representative.

The program was in charge of George Spears, Jean Stewart, and Pat Harruff, the retiring officers.

Original Oratorical Meet

Jim McClure won first place in the Wranglers' Original Oratorical Contest held Tuesday night in the Greeley Room. His subject was "Of Human Progress." Bob Young placed second, and Bob Robinson took third place. Bob Young's speech was "Education—America's Greatest Common Defense," and Bob Robinson's subject was "The Constitution—Our Guarantee for Democracy."

Other contestants and their subjects were Kolman Gross, "Freedom's Ally"; Maxine Case, "Is This Equality in a Democracy?"; and Sam Bacon, "America's Economic Soap-Bubble."

Jim McClure will represent South Side in the state contest at Wabash College on February 13. Bob Robinson, with a speech on the Constitution, will represent South Side in the American Legion.

Judges were Mrs. Lex Combs, Miss Helen Potter, Mr. David Parrish, and James Murphy.

Stipends Offered By Four Colleges

Hiram, Connecticut, Rockford
Colleges, Brown University
List Awards Qualifications

Hiram College, of Hiram, Ohio, offers twelve four-year scholarships, six worth $1,800 ($200 per year), and six worth $600 ($150 per year). The basis of these awards is judged by competitive examinations and interviews to be given February 15. The awards are for law, social or religious service, medicine, business, science, and high school teaching. All applications should be in by February 10.

Brown University of Providence, Rhode Island, offers five scholarships to students outside the state of Rhode Island. The scholarships are worth $450 each. The basis of the award is scholastic ability and need of financial assistance. For information students are asked to write to the admissions office at the college.

Connecticut College of New London, Connecticut, offers a limited number of scholarships known as Robinson scholarships. The stipends are for one year and are worth $300 each. Awards are made on the basis of scholarship and personal qualities. The scholastic and aptitude achievement test will be given April 16. All applications should be made before February 20.

Rockford College offers scholarships in any of the following departments: art, biology, chemistry, French, German, history, Latin, math, music, physics, Spanish, speech, and writing.

Any student interested in these scholarships may talk with Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal, or see the front bulletin board.

The Elmhurst team and their individual scores are as follows: Gebhart, 93; Trumpey, 95; Johnson, 92; Hiltbrandt, 94; and Cable, 93.

The second team and the scores of each team are as follows: Edmund Bauer, 100; Bud Puff, 99; Joe Bekius, 99; Dick Myers, 99; and Dick Theye, 99. The Elmhurst second team and scores are Sessions, 98; Miller, 96; Vogts, 100; Whitbeck, 95; and Slater, 97.

New Members Sought By Junior Math Club

Junior Math Club met briefly last Tuesday to decide how the campaign should be conducted to urge 9B's and 9A's to join the club. It was decided that each member present should obtain a list of all students in the 9B and 9A home rooms.

All present members of the club are requested to come to Room 146 next Wednesday after school to write the names of the students on the invitations.

The committee for the next meeting is to be made up of the newly elected officers. They are as follows: President, Elinor Muntzing; secretary, Aileen Betts; and Inter-Club Congress representative, Ellen Briggs.

Staff Managers Announce Picture Studio Has Been Shifted From 170 To 114

Joel Salon Lists
Rules To Follow

Regulations Are Formed To Eliminate Confusion During Taking Of Pictures

Announcement of the official club picture schedule for the 1941 Totem has been made by Joel Salon, business manager. He has also set forth the following rules for all club members to abide by when having their pictures taken:

1. All club pictures are to be taken in Room 114 instead of 170.
2. All pictures will be taken on the time and day scheduled unless announced differently by the teacher in charge of the club or by a Totem official. Please be on time!
3. All students arriving in Room 114 should be quiet and cooperate with the photographer and Totem official in charge.
4. If you are a Letterman or Lettergirl please wear your letter sweater on the day the picture is to be taken.
5. On the day that your club's picture is to be taken remind your friends to be in Room 114 on time.

If these rules are adhered to there will be a minimum of confusion, and all pictures can be taken when scheduled.

Following is the schedule as announced:

Friday, February 7
3:30	SPC
3:40	Camenean
3:50	Latin
Monday, February 10

	(Please wear sweaters)
3:40	Times
3:50	Times
	(second picture)

Any club which has not been mentioned in the above schedule will have its picture taken at a slightly later date. Also any club which has not yet signed a contract but which is planning to will be photographed at a later time.

The clubs have at the present time signed contracts for twenty-eight pages. Joel Salon states that several more pages may be ordered soon. Janet Holtmeyer, Hilda Schubert, and Jim Brooks, underclassmen editors, are urging that all underclassmen see their home room agents soon and pay thirty-five cents for their pictures. The officials stated that so far 385 pictures have been taken. Eighty pictures have been ordered but have not been taken. This makes a total of 465 pictures, leaving eighty-five to be obtained in order to reach the goal of 550 pictures.

Archers! Get Behind Move To Revive Varsity Baseball

Should South Side have a baseball team? Or maybe it would be more appropriate to ask if South Side should revive baseball as one of our varsity sports. In the early history of our school, hardball was a popular game; but, after several seasons, this sport was discontinued because so many windows were broken by "the mighty Archer sluggers."

This may sound funny to us now, but to the athletic department it was no joke. At one time a ball crashed through a large plate glass window and the plaintiff put in a claim for a sixteen dollar bill. Since that time baseball has ceased to exist on our sports program.

Now the question arises as to whether or not baseball should be reinstated in South Side. No doubt, if this sport was revived again, we would have the same difficulties as before. But in the past ten years a new sport called softball has been gaining more and more popularity until now just about everyone has seen or played in a softball game. Certainly if we established a varsity softball team in South Side, we wouldn't have the difficulties that arise from playing with a hard baseball.

Next, what does South Side have in the way of softball talent? It is a well-known fact that many Archer boys are talented in this sport, as is shown through the participation in softball in our intramural department. Many Archer boys have played on outside federation league teams and have become skilled softball players, too. These boys would be only too willing to show their loyalty to South Side by helping the Archers produce a champion softball team.

Now that we have our team who

Local Women Help Red Cross By Making Garments Tuesday Afternoons In Room 170

Seated: Mrs. W. Smith, Mrs. F. Bloemker, Mrs. Parmelee, Mrs. E. L. Hill, Mrs. C. Birely, Mrs. G. Packler, Mrs. R. F. Meeker, Mrs. E. C. Moel-lering, and Mrs. J. A. Hanke. This group is the South Side High School Parent-Teacher branch of the American Red Cross unit. A welcome is extended to women (not necessarily mothers) who find it inconvenient to reach the Red Cross Production Center on West Berry Street.

Up to date the following garments have been completed: sixteen pairs of boys' trousers, 132 girls' and women's dresses, twenty-nine men's and boys' sweaters, twenty-two remodeled baby dresses, and sixty-two baby garments. The group meets each Tuesday afternoon in Room 170.

Archer's Automobile Will Not Go Or Stop On Slippery Streets

By Margaret Kuntz

Fortunately for me, I found I didn't have to walk to school last Thursday morning on that horrible scum of ice since my sister was driving. We did not start until rather late. We rolled out of the driveway on all four wheels of our car which was an almost unheard of feat on such a morning. Upon stopping to pick up a neighbor, the car made a beautiful swerve for the gutter.

There we sat! My sister shoved the car into first, it would not budge; then into second, still no results. Finally she shifted to third; the car just knocked and rattled but would not move. Then Buck, the other passenger in the car, got out and started to push, but nothing happened. The wheels spun around and around. When they stopped, we were back where we started. Upon Buck's suggestion we backed the car into our driveway and started from scratch!

Start Off Again
Slowly but surely we were on our way. With a chug, chug and a knock, knock, we managed to get up the five degree incline in front of our house. After we reached the top, the old buggy ran along pretty smoothly. We passed up our walking friends, since we could not start after we had once stopped and we could not stop after we had once started!

We crawled on and on very slowly, scarcely breathing for fear the car would make another dash for the gutter. If the kind city authorities had not spread sand over the ice at intersections, I fear we would have arrived at school with a few more dents in the fenders than we started out with. When going around corners, everybody grabbed for a handle to keep the center of gravity in the right place.

Along the way the scenery was rather disturbing with people sliding and falling down as their books flew hither and yon.

We rode on and on until that slippery mile and eight-tenths grew to an end. The car parked itself by sliding into the curb as soon as the brake was applied.

New Teacher Joins Faculty

Mr. Ralph C. Murray Takes
Mr. James Mills' Place In Commercial Department

Since the departure of Mr. James Mills from the commercial department to take a Civil Service position, Mr. Ralph C. Murray has taken over the duties of Room 182.

Mr. Murray came to South Side from the faculty of the Ben Davis High School of Marion County, Indiana.

He specialized in shorthand at Ben Davis High School where he taught for two and a half years. He also had one class in bookkeeping and junior business.

Prior to teaching at Ben Davis, Mr. Murray was a student at Indiana University. He graduated from the School of Business at Indiana with a B. S. degree. Mr. Murray studied last summer at the Armstrong College in Berkeley, California, where he majored in business education. He attended Bloomington High School in Bloomington, Indiana, but South Side rates second only to Bloomington in his opinion.

He stated that he enjoyed all of his classes and found both the students and teachers at South Side very genial and helpful. Mr. Murray also said he hopes to spend a long time here in South Side, as he likes it here.

Archers May Apply For Rector Stipends To Attend DePauw

New scholarships are being offered by the Rector Foundation for DePauw University for September, 1941. To be eligible for a scholarship, a student must be of outstanding ability, ranking in the upper ten per cent of their graduating class. Any young man interested should confer with Mr. Snider soon, as all applications must be sent in during February.

Mr. Edward Rector of Chicago created the foundation, the largest singly endowment scholarship foundation in the United States, in 1919. Each year the foundation has awarded several scholarships. Last year sixty-five Rector scholars were selected from four times that number of applicants. Each scholarship pays $1,000 on the tuition in the College of Liberal Arts at DePauw for four consecutive years.

At present, there are 315 Rector scholars on the DePauw campus representing twenty-two states of the Union.

Ann Heller Is Chosen Marionette President

Ann Heller was elected president of the Marionette Club at the last meeting held in Room 61 under the supervision of Miss Blanche Hutto on January 16. Rose Marie Vogel was elected vice-president, Mary Lou Feller, secretary, and Mary Curven, treasurer.

The first meeting of the semester will be held today in Room 61. Plans for the rest of the semester will be made. All new freshmen are invited to come, especially boys.

Grad Is Honored

Robert Hoffman, graduate of South Side, was chosen as one of the seventy-four students of Indiana University who will compose the Indiana Varsity Band. The band will play at basketball games and other social functions.

At the last meeting Mr. James Mills, commerce teacher, presented the topic "Economic Planning."

Perplexed Freshman Spends Bewildering First Day At School

Upon entering the portals of South Side, I was stricken with awe at the hustle and bustle of the crowds. There seemed to be noise and confusion in every inch of the building. I stepped aside to view the panorama taking place around me and leaned against the wall wishing my shaking knees would hold me as steady as those walls were holding the building.

Everyone was greeting someone else, but to me it seemed an ocean of strange faces. Then to my horror and amazement I was caught in the crowd and swept across the hall, pushed and carried up the incline. I felt like a drowning cat or dog in a whirlpool. I entered the gymnasium and asked an upperclassman what to do, explaining I was new. "Hum! A freshman?" he said. I nodded yes, feeling as low as a worm. He told me I was to get my card examined and that we were placed in alphabetical order.

I thanked him and backed away, fearing he might grab me and sit me on the drinking fountain. When I reached the section marked K to N I tried to enter, but to my dismay some boys were coming out; I did a reverse act, practically going over the railing. After this episode I crawled to one side to collect my nerves and arrange my hair and clothes.

Then taking my card, I started to hunt my assigned rooms, and again I was lost in endless corridors and what seemed a million of rooms. Next I was told to go stand in line to rent my books. Then when I received them, I realized I had no place to put them, and again I timidly asked for information and was told I must rent a locker in Room 102. So I was on the hunt again.

There I was given a card and told to go to the locker room, but where, oh where was the locker room? Well, I finally found it; but was so bewildered I was forever in learning the combination. When I finally succeeded in getting it open, I dropped in my books, walked out of the building very tired and dazed, but oh so happy to be a student of South Side High School, even glad to be termed a "freshie!"

Not Only Freshman Has Disastrous Day When Term Begins

M. T. Head
Rush! Rush! Rush! That's all I got done Monday," said one student to another. Everything went wrong. Gosh, first thing out of the box the car got stuck in a snowdrift, and I, precious little darling, got out and pushed. Not for a few minutes but practically a half an hour. When I finally reached school—Ah! Then the rush began. Guess what? I was late. I ran up the incline which must have been recently waxed for I kept slipping back faster than I went up. After I reached the top I was puffing as much as the wolf who blew down the little pig's house. I started into the gym to find my own dear card.

To my horror and amazement R. Nelson Snider had removed the cards and was starting out the other end of the incline. I started. Again I found at the landing the traffic was so congested that I couldn't get through. By the time I had made the rounds to all my classes my spirits were drooping so much I looked blue, not felt but actually looked blue.

I had books to buy. My money was floating through my hands so fast I could feel a breeze from it. To add to all these discouragements, I had homework. I am thinking sadly, "Bless the man who invented homework. Ah—"

'Times Derby' Nets One-Third Of Total Mark

Betty Stump's Book V Leads With Most Subscriptions;
Kenneth Iba Tops Agents

About one-third of the goal of 1500 Times subscriptions had been reached by Tuesday evening at the close of the second day of school. Book V with Betty Stump, assistant manager, received the most subscriptions.

Kenneth Iba, a sophomore agent, received twenty-three subscriptions on the first day. Franklin Neff placed second.

The theme of the campaign is the "Times Derby," and each of the six circulation books of The Times represents the name of a horse. Book I represents War Admiral; Book II, Sea Biscuit; Book III, Princess Doreen; Book IV, Galladion; Book V, Gallant Fox; Book VI, Top Flight. An assistant circulation manager is in charge of each book. The assistants are Tom Yates, Franklin Neff, Marilyn Sondles, Laura Grazier, Betty Stump, and Peggy Harrod.

A complete list of the room agents and their respective home rooms follows:

Room	Assistant Agent
4	Jane Chenoweth
6	Lois Bloemker
8	Ruth Werkman

Seniors May Use College Literature

Catalogs From 200 Schools Are Available In Room 102; List
Rules, Regulations In Usage

In order to help seniors in choosing colleges, Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal, and Mr. A. Verne Flint, guidance director, have placed in Room 102 approximately 200 catalogs from various schools. The following is a list of rules and regulations on college literature in Room 102:

1. Students cannot take catalogs out of Room 102.
2. Permission to take books out is granted by Mr. Flint only.
3. Attendants keep catalogs in alphabetical order.
4. When students are through with catalogs, they are to be given to the attendant in charge.
5. Rooms must be kept quiet at all times. Talking should be done in a low voice.
6. Attendant in charge should attempt to become familiar with names of catalogs and colleges.
7. Students who have special questions about colleges are to be referred to Mr. Snider or Mr. Flint.
8. A record of the names of the students visiting Room 102 during each period is to be kept in the book provided for that purpose.
9. Requests for catalogs of colleges not in Room 102 are to be referred to Mr. Flint.

Special college literature attendants who work in Room 102 are, period 1, Ilene Franke; period 2, Kathryn Eipper; period 3, Evelyn Erickson; period 6, Rosemary Spore; and period 7, Rosa Lee Hall.

Special Pep Meet Slated Tomorrow

Session Precedes Traditional
North Side, South Side Net
Game; Skit Is To Be Given

The much-publicized North Side vs. South Side basketball game will be preceded by the traditional pep session tomorrow morning.

Ed Kettler, chairman of cheer leaders announced that this pep session promises something different in the way of a new opener, which is to be presented for the first time to the student body. This was written by our own music maestro, Mr. Jack Wainwright. He has also arranged a surprise in the form of a skit, the first presented this year as part of a pep session.

Also, the new songs introduced at the last session will form a big part of the program.

The main pep session will be preceded by a special one for the new freshmen who will be taught the yells and songs by Ed Kettler and Bud Lampton, two of the older cheer leaders. These freshmen are expected to add a lot to the growing enthusiasm that has been shown at the last games.

Claim Lost Articles In Office Of Dean

Many lost and found articles have been turned into Miss Pittenger's office. Articles that are in lost and found now are books, gloves, pencils, fountain pens, compacts, notebooks, hats, gym clothes, locks, bracelets, and scarves. Students should claim their belongings immediately.

Here's What Your Faculty Instructors Say About Students

If you wanted to discover your most glaring faults here in school, where would you go to find out? Of course the logical persons to see would be those on the faculty. But it isn't a common sight to see a student discussing his faults outside of classwork to a teacher, so we have interviewed various teachers in order that we may set before you the defects of the student body as the teachers see them.

The predominant evil among South Side students, says the faculty, is lack of courtesy. One member of our faculty says she hates to see students chewing gum in class. She states that there is nothing more confusing than to see before her a battery of students all vociferously chewing gum. Another member says there is a lack of cooperation and courtesy in the halls. In his opinion, students are not doing all they can to keep the halls orderly-looking and to relieve hall confusion by being careful and considerate of others.

A third teacher states that our biggest fault is thoughtlessness and carelessness. She believes that South Siders intend no discourtesy; but, like all young people, we are always in a hurry and apt to be inconsiderate of others and their rights in our haste. It seems to be the general opinion that we are somewhat discourteous. However, it is important to say that all of the interviewed teachers sturdily declared that we are a fine bunch, the finest that they know of. It was only after careful deliberation that they were able to point out any definite fault. Here's a good chance to prove our teachers wrong on the question of that little defect, by turning over a new "consideration for others" leaf during this semester.

You Shouldn't Need Coercion To Subscribe For The Times

Once again the division line which we call a "term" has cut its imprints into the semester of yesterday. And, with this severing of lines comes also the discontinuance of your friend, The South Side Times. (Assuming that you haven't renewed it yet). Seriously, we of the staff hope that our efforts in the past year have been such as to produce a genuine desire in your hearts for a renewal. Need we say again that the price per semester is only 75 cents? Must we reiterate the departments in the paper—the folksy editorials, the thrill-packed sports page, the human interest features, and the fresh and "first-ree!" news flashes? Do we have to plead with you to subscribe to the nationally-acclaimed, first-rate, high school publication of the United States? We sincerely hope the answer is NO!

And, along with this matter of subscribing or renewing your Times, comes the matter of appreciation. It is our hope that you will take the next issues we put out with a spirit of understanding and true evaluation. DON'T just turn to the dirt columns and put the paper away at that. DON'T be satisfied to read only the news stories and to skip all of the important and helpful editorials. DO use the Times to advise, to criticize, to instruct, to—well, to do just about anything that the best paper in the country should do for its readers! In other words, fellow students, SUBSCRIBE FOR THE TIMES!

You don't know how it feels to be a real school spirit until you have sprouted wings in the form of a season's athletic ticket. (Even if it is only for the second half.)

The increasing number of school dances should be an inspiration to those of us who are always complaining about too much work and too little fun.

And did YOU make those grades you said you were going to about last September?

Why is it that the motto, "Write it, don't say it" is in the reverse when one is in the Study Hall? (Or is the saying the other way around?)

February is a slippery month; watch those feet of yours when you cross the streets.

Turn over a new leaf, and clean last semester out of your notebook.

When you get mad, count to ten slowly. You can think of a larger variety of things to say in that length of time.

February Specials

By A. Loeser

February

F—is for Freshman, so new and so green.
E—is for Everyone who boosts our team.
B—is for Birthdays, which make this month grand.
R—is for Remembering these patriots of our land.
U—is for United States, of which we are proud.
A—is for America, whose praises we'll shout loud.
R—is for Reverence we want in our hearts.
Y—is for Yesterday's Lincoln and Washington, the patriarchs.

Leap Year

This year there will be no February twenty-nine. And, shucks, there isn't a chance to make that boy mine. Why does Leap Year come but once in four years? I suppose, to give the boys three to recover from their fears.

But, girls, please remember you still have a chance. To get that certain swain whom you want to enhance. Sadie Hawkins Day will be comin' pretty soon, So start your preparations and get a harpoon.

You might practice up on your running ability, too; Also, tie a knot in your boy friend's shoe; If this doesn't work, then try some paste, Then you can nab him with subtle haste.

Lena Lover's Lines.

Valentine's Day

Valentine's Day has an interesting history. But this to most of us will remain a mystery. Some will receive lacy cards with sentiments true, While others will be cynical, and you'll wonder who Had the nerve to send such a terrible verse, As, "roses are red; violets, blue, if I had your face, Why I'd join the zoo."

Dan Cupid

I am Dan Cupid, who is famous at least once a year, And to many of South Side's students, I bring cheer. I remember how happy I was when I met Psyche, And do you remember Arlene Snyder and that certain Ike?

I know you couldn't have forgotten them so very quick, And have you ever cast eyes upon Vasika and Dick? The Stephens sisters must have what it takes, For with a certain Joe Loos, Theodora does rate.

Here is another romance which is surely a killer, I do mean petite Shirley Rogers and Charles Miller. Some of Chase's friends do all right for themselves, For when Mike Beall sees Peanuts through a crowd he'll delve.

Cupid Couldn't Miss A Kelly If The Kelly Klad Like This

Going places? You bet! We all are these days, and the uppermost thought in our mind is, "Do we look all right?" It's quite hard to put on your worn winter clothes and still feel that you are dressed according to the last fashion report, yet that is what most of us have to do. But there will come a day very soon when you will suddenly get the urge to go on a shopping spree; or should I say that the day will finally come when your mother will break down under your strenuous pleas for a replenished wardrobe, and grant you the money to purchase the things your mouth has watered for for months.

First on any girl's list would be the new tweedy two-somes. Dress up in a light-on-dark tweed suit. Most men will admit that the jacket might have been cut by a fine men's custom tailor. I say that it's the last word in the new longer length. Now I also state that it is outlined in contrasting saddle-stitching to match the front-and-back pleated skirt. Doesn't that sound pretty good to you?

Classic sweaters are always good:—Fall, winter, spring, or summer. I loudly sing out praises for the ones I saw. They are completely full-fashioned, knitted on very fine gauge machines to make them thin, light, and expensively supple. All wool, of course, in such delectable pastels as delicate pink or blue.

Here's another marvelous pick-me-up for a tired wardrobe:—The sheer silk blouses that all the stores have been featuring with so much success. They have flowing full sleeves, huge slit pockets, fine stitching, and detailed pearl buttons—all this for a very reasonable price.

Time and time again you'll choose this best-all-rounder over any dress in your wardrobe. Its classic lines are so easy to wear; its young neckline, freedom of movement back blouse, and exquisite hand-made jeweled studs will take you from dawn to dusk with a certain dash.

Good times afoot!—Especially when you wear the new flighty opera pumps. They feature a moccasin toe frothed with brass nail-heads. You'll find yourself wearing them with everything. Added note is their comfortably low heels, yet high enough for fashion.

Here Is A "Pitcher" Of A Pitcher Fan

Sallie Claiborne, 11A

Staff Photo

Above is pictured Sallie Claiborne, 11A, who specializes in collecting pitchers (not a poor spelling of "pictures") of various shapes and sizes. Sallie has thirty odd pitchers, which range in size from one-half inch to six inches. This interesting hobby began when Sallie's mother bought her a small pitcher as a souvenir. About this aspect, Sallie states, "My mother has always liked large pitchers, and has a collection of them. I decided to do just the same thing, only I made my collection consist of miniature pitchers."

In the photo above Sallie is holding one of her prize vases. This vase is white, and has an oriental design in colors covering it. She also has a set of Grecian vases of a light blue blown glass variety. Among other pieces in the collection is a straw vase from Mexico. This item is one of the most prized possessions in Sallie's repertoire. Her oriental vases are from both China and Japan.

"Most of my Mexican vases," says Sallie, "are made from clay." Then, in response to our question concerning family heirlooms, she replied, "My mother has given me many antique vases which have been handed down in the family for generations." Our next question dealt with the value of such a hobby. To this question Sallie replied, "I find that collecting these vases helps me to gain a very valuable cultural background. I find that each new vase I add to the collection gives me a different sort-of thrill. It is really grand to know that you have a hobby which may be worth real money some day, and which you may be able to pass on to grateful children."

Before we leave this enterprising junior, let us let you in on a secret. Know ye here and now that Miss Claiborne is always eager to enlarge her collection, and would welcome any information the students of South Side could give her regarding the interesting pitchers and vases they have on hand.

And have YOU a hobby which you would like to see written up on this page, be sure to notify us of it. We prelate a note telling about it. We are especially interested in odd and special hobbies in which the pupils of our school have indulged. However, if you are in doubt as to the value of your hobby in reference to this page, be sure and notify us of it. The dirt column box outside the Study Hall is a good place to drop your letters.

If You Can't Take Investments, Then Don't Read This Column

Have you ever settled down one afternoon and decided to read deeply into the news from the morning paper? If this has ever happened to you, you probably ran across the stock exchange page; and, no doubt, you just skipped over this particular section. I can't say as if I blame you, because this is quite boring and no person in high school ever gave much thought to the stock reports. It would probably be more interesting if they would contain a little dirt about people around school. This may sound a little vague; but, if you read a little further, you will catch on to what I am trying to get across.

For instance, the stock that has gone along pretty steadily is that of the firm of Wanda Bowman and Roger Busch. Rosemary DeFramel would like to take out stock in this corporation, but there is not much hope that they'll admit any more stockholders. The commodity stock of Gloria Orr and Bob Racht is pretty well divided between the two and there is no room for anyone else in this corporation. Another company where there is little room for policy holders is the Juanita Drews and Dick Holmes Inc. Fred (Junior) Collins seems to be taking in baby bonds.

Then there is the group whose stock is running along very smoothly, but mostly, very steadily. These firms are, Wanda Eiler and Russell Crumrine. We would put them up as good collateral, because they are preferred stock. Another corporation that is climbing steadily is that of Les Baumgartner and Carolyn Snok, their bonds are growing stronger with every report. Bob Hockemeyer and Janis Tremper Inc. is another pair of steadies, without stockholders except themselves. Ticker tapes are not needed to measure the love that Sally Claiborne has for Junie Doe; well; neither is it needed to measure that of John Galbreath and Jean Junk.

The depressions in the market have resulted in the breakup of Dick Wilson and Evelyn Arnold. Another couple to go into receivership is Tyke Hartman and Lorraine Lord; the stock is distributed between Janis Murray and Dan Auer. It seems that Jean Peterson and Bill Knoll have also gone into receivership. Bill is devoting his time to basketball, swearing that he will never play the markets again; while Jean is forming a new firm with Bud Boyce. Phyllis Wefel has taken an interest in Eugene Reichart, while Joe Hayes has taken an interest in a certain J. H. Bernice Appel has given all her collateral to Willard Clark in hopes that he will give her a half ownership in his firm.

Marilyn (Cuddles) Sondles has given a great deal of interest to Bob Merchant. They are thinking of forming a new one. Now to get away from the original theme, I will give you a bit of gossip that can be told only in plain every-day language.

It has been rumored that Warren Cook and Ina Nahrwald are on the verge of going steady. However, this report is not yet authentic. Perhaps it may be a fictitious rumor, (as most rumors are) but Jeanne Seidel has forgotten about her Culver sweetheart, John Gould; and has found a real love in Howard Blood. However, there may be a few complications with Betty Jo Jones around.

Southern Symposium

Dear Editor:
As a graduating senior's advice to freshmen, I would say: Have a lot of fun, but study hard. Remember that, when you are a senior, you will wish that you had studied harder.
Peggy Harrold, 12A.

Dear Editor:
As a cheer leader, I feel that we should have our pep sessions in the afternoon. When we have them in the morning, the students think primarily of how long they will be able to stay out of classes. We usually have our games on the same day as our pep sessions; so, if our sessions were held in the afternoon, the spirit would hold over better. Anyhow, only those students who were really interested would stay after school, and we could get some good loud yells!
Ed Kettler, 12A.

Dear Editor:
"School Spirit"—These two words should follow us all through our high school days. They mean: respect for our teachers, support of school games and contests, participation in academic activities, and conscious study.

Becky Abbott, 12A.

Dear Editor:
I think that something should be done about people who are always marking on our walls. These walls have just recently been painted. To protect them we must arouse a civic pride in the rougher element of our school. This could be done much better by personal contact from the more conscientious students than by faculty members.
Safford McMyler, 12A.

Dear Editor:
There are plenty of waste paper containers provided by the school; therefore, there is no excuse for throwing scraps on the floor. After the home room periods in the morning, the halls are littered with paper. This presents a bad appearance to visitors. We should have as much pride in South Side as we have toward our homes, and keep it always clean.
Evelyn Erickson, 12A.

THURSDAY'S CHILDREN—

His first is Extemp, a cheer leader, too. You'll find him at Wranglers, with Math-Science crew.
His Dad is a proud one because he's a star;
In studies and clubwork he's gone very far.
His peeve is in Goons, but he likes the women,
And Margaret Ann Fellows and he aren't dimmin'.
For hobbies his third is in all Records, Especially the classics, (He can't find the words!)
His fourth is in Kommerce, excuse the poor spelling,
But this is his course after leaving our dwelling.
A nickname called "PeEb" is pronounced with great gusto,
And this silly name is pinned on this fellow.
His fifth is in Totem;
His sixth is in Times.
I got the two t's in;
Gee, gosh, I hope this rhymes.
A Leader in school,
And a swell Egg to boot,
If you can grab KETTLER,
You've got a real loot.

From a school girl's diary—
Tonight I have decided to study for a change. Glenn Miller comes on in ten minutes, but I don't care. Now, let me see—I'll study history first. What was that date I was supposed to remember? Oh yes, February 21. Gee, that's the day I have that date with Jim. I wonder if I should dress up or wear my angora sweater. That's right, he doesn't like angora sweaters, so that's out. I wonder if I'll have a good time? Jim is so cute, especially those dimples. Of course Bob is a better dancer, but I could teach Jim to dance. The last time I was on the dance floor with him, he tripped me and I fell down right in front of Professor Gilp.

Read These Notes Out Of The Diary Of A Modern Girl

Gee whiz, I still have time to hear part of Glenn Miller. I'll just turn on the radio for a little while. (Sigh.) I could listen to Ray Eberly sing for hours. That's right, Bob Hope is on, too. I just can't miss it. Oh, I can't study history, so I'll look at my French. L'amour, that means love. Gee, I wonder if I'm in love with Jim. That's enough French. I'd better study for that literature test. Let's see, "Ivanhoe gazed at the fair Rowena." I wonder if they had rouge and lipstick to make their look beautiful in those days? I love my new lipstick.

Ho hum, it's 10 o'clock. I'm so tired from doing all that work, I'd better go to bed. I'll finish tomorrow in home room.

Music Hath Charms To Soothe; Likewise, Hath This Treatise

Swing Notes From Here And There.

People are still talking about the death of Earl Gardner's vocalist, a native of Fort Wayne. The gracious way in which Guy Lombardo accepted his new title, "The King of Korn." The manner in which the Archers' own proteges, Phipps and Anselmi, are battling for rights at school and other affairs. . . . Wap's refusal to play in the city on Valentine's Day. . . . The ASCAP-BMI fight which results in the perpetual drumming in of "My Old Kentucky Home" . . . Yvette's sudden turn from the Parisian to the Latin American. (She now sings with Xavier Cugat.) . . . The appearance of Lou Armstrong in the Summit City.

We Wonder What's Become Of . . . Hal Kemp's band. . . . The waltzes which used to keep Wayne King mighty busy. . . . The Duncan Twins, whose vivid impressions of Topsy and Little Eva sent their audience into tears and laughter at the same time. . . . Paul Whiteman's concert records, (The Rhapsody In Blue was his best). . . . The Hot Club of France. . . . The little cafe on Broadway from whence ye strains of Boogi Woogi used to emit. . . . Ralph Ginsberg's Palmer House rendition of a popular song. . . . Woody Herman and his Woodchoppers. . . . The Four Ink Spots recorded version of "Whispering Grass", to which we used to listen to so often. . . . Kate Smith's much-appreciated version of "God Bless America". . . . Mannie Strand's three o'clock-in-the-morning program from Earl Carroll's. . . . The "Little Boy Love" number from the show of the latter. . . . The small and petite juke boxes of yesteryear. . . . The reduced record campaign which was carried on as a lift to the classics. . . . The step which became so popular about the time everyone was singing "Six Lessons".

Hit Of The Week: I Hear a Rhapsody.

Band Of The Week: Glenn Miller (For staying on top for such a run).
Man Of The Week: Stephen Foster (for composing songs which may still be enjoyed by those of us who have to rely on our radios for entertainment).
Fem Of The Week: Ethel Waters (for coming through with another musical hit).
Instrument Of The Week: The bass fiddle (for continuing to support its fellows in the spirit of unrelenting gallantry).
Spot Of The Week: The Club Versailles (for continuing to employ such artists as Paul Draper, Sheila Barrett and the like).

Editorial of the Week: Why is it that we are so inclined to enjoy popular music only for such a period as it is in popular favor? It certainly would be no crime for us to reach in among the cobwebs and drag out "Mister Meadowlark" or "The Champagne Waltz", and treat these and other songs fallen into decay to another period of popularity. Think this over the next time you refuse to purchase a disk because, "It's too old!"

The Dictionary Told Us All These Facts 'Bout The Valentines

If you will look in almost any complete dictionary, you will find many words and phrases which have the word "Valentine" in them. Many of the terms relate directly to the holiday, which is soon approaching; but the majority refer to other matters. Following are various facts gained from the observation of these words:

1. Valentine is the name of a noble youth in Shakespeare's play, "The Two Gentlemen of Verona."
2. Valentine is a name which may be applied to anyone's sweetheart.
3. A Valentine is any loving message sent to a loved one. It may also be a love song.
4. The word may also be used as a verb to greet some dear friend or to sing them a love song.
5. St. Valentine was a Roman saint whose memory is sanctified in the secular festival of February 14.
6. Arizona is the Valentine State because it was admitted into the Union on February 14, 1912.
7. There was a Valentinus of ancient Rome who went about teaching a theory, Gnosticism. This belief held to the theory that the divine pleroma is made of eight aeons. These aeons were supposed to be the natures or aspects of God.
8. In the early years of the Middle Ages an alchemist, Valentine, discovered the properties of antimony. This discovery is called the valentinite find.
9. A Valentine's knife is one used to cut thin slices of fresh tissues.

Listen To The Tale Of Three Monkeys

Once again we come to those three funny little monkeys. You see them with their hands to eyes, ears, and mouth. As you all know, they stand for "see no evil, hear no evil, and say no evil." You can find them any place. They are in the home, adorning clothes, and even in the school. If the American people would only accept these little monkeys and what they stand for, back yard gossip would run into a lull, which would be unbearable for some people. To really illustrate how one should trace a gossip story down the line before passing it on, let's take as an example an incident that might happen right here in South Side High School:

One day a teacher asks one of the students to read a part of a short story aloud to the class. The student refuses; and, being a rather shy person, does not explain her reason for not wanting to read. The teacher not knowing this, passes on to another student. After class was over, the student explains that his reading ability is impaired by some speech defect. Student John Jones gets by the faculty by complaining of poor hearing. In this way he is able to sit in the front seat by his best pal—a very valuable one, considering that this pal is able to prompt him in all memory work, and help on tests.

The last kid who we come across refuses to see evil. In other words, he just sits back and goes to sleep whenever there is a recitation. This chap is of the bored variety, and would be the last to admit his faults to the general public. Do you know any such persons as those we have mentioned?

TALK — TALK — TALK — Gift O' Gab — TALK — TALK — TALK —

CHALK TALK:—It has been said that there are seven characteristics which the pupils demand of a school teacher. These seven requirements were drawn up at a recent meeting at Purdue University. They are:

1. Friendly and interesting personality.
2. Ability to make students want to work.
3. Introduction of personal experiences into lectures.
4. The setting down of a minimum requirement in regard to work AT THE BEGINNING OF THE YEAR.
5. Subjects of teacher should be linked with fields of students in all departments.
6. Presentation of a neat and dignified appearance.
7. Exams should include thinking questions.

(We would like to hear more on this subject from both peds and pupils!)

SQUAWK TALK:—The only difference between a scholastic gum chewer and a cow who chews cud is that the cow looks intelligent. . . . The "Ten Demands" of South Side stress the fact that you can't pass St. Peter's gates without a pink slip. . . . Some seniors are still raving about the little apple pie that wasn't there at the senior banquet; later found under an upperclassman's chair. . . . And doesn't that person who steps on your foot on his way out of the Study Hall, only to return to ask you if he did it because he wanted to know if he was returning to the right room, sorta GRUE you?

IDLE TALK:—"Dear Sirs: Kindly tell me where ASCAP and BMI academics are located". . . . The ideal of a male school teacher is not to instruct the classes but the lasses. . . . Our old friend from the Orient had this to say of high school merry-makers: "He who has heavy time instead of homework arrives at school with heavy lids instead of heavy learning."

BABY TALK:—The little (Why do we use the word so much?) bit of advice which follows happens to be written by our good friend of poetic, not radio, fame, Bob Burns. Listen to it aloud and just see why we include it under the Baby Talk heading:

"Oh wad sae power the giftie gie us,
To see ourselves as ithers see us;
It wad frae many a blunder free us
(Smart baby, eh?)

Archer Drama Pupils Initiated Into SPC Club

Standout Actors, Actresses Are Listed After Presentation of Play, The Organ

Elinor Muntzinger, Mary Nell Spiegel, Bob Guion, Everette Truelock, and Bob Newhard were announced by Miss Margery Suter, adviser of SPC, as the best initiate actors and actresses from South Side at the initiation held in the Central High School auditorium last Monday night, January 27, at 7 o'clock.

Judges of the actors' abilities were Pat Malone, North Side; Jim Brooks, South Side; and Ruth Duell, Central. The South Side initiates gave the play entitled "The Organ." The committee for the initiation consisted of Fred Collins, chairman, Alice Sweet, Dick Theye, and Safford McMyler.

Central and North Side also presented plays. North Side was awarded the plaque for presenting the best one.

Following the presentation of the three plays, the SPC members attended a dance in Central's cafeteria from 9:15 to 10:30. Gene Sheridan's orchestra played for the affair.

Meterites Will Meet Tuesday After School

Meterite Club will hold its next meeting Tuesday in the Greeley Room at 3:30 o'clock when this semester's theme will be chosen.

New members will be taken into Meterites and the rules of the club will be explained. Committees for the coming year will be announced at this meeting.

Wins Booster Contest

Janet Rea, 9B, was announced as the winner of the second booster ad name contest by turning in a total of fifty-four names. Virginia Gray 11B, was second with forty-eight names, and Gloria Kramer, 11A, was third, having a list of twenty-two names. Janet won the prize of $1, and Virginia won 50 cents.

Archer Grads Honored

John and William Cargile, 40, have been honored at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, where they are student by selection as first bassoonist and first oboist in the university band. Both are members of the Fort Wayne Symphony Orchestra; and, while in South Side, they were active in the music department.

UP AND DOWN OUR INCLINES

In a 100-word vocabulary review in Mr. Sterner's Latin 2 class, the following made a perfect score: Mary Morgan, Arvilla Rediger, and Mary Whittner.

Miss E. Crowe's health students who finished the first aid course in December have received their certificates.

Pupils receiving 90 or above on a test given by Mr. Gould to his Botany 1, period 7 class are Wanda Bowman, Irene Franke, Janet Holtmeyer, Gloria Kramer, Hilda Leinger, Marilyn Loomis, Lenora Meyer, and Mary Murchland.

Bonnie Heller, Virginia McCormick, Mary Morningstar, Charles Rodey, Joan Strahlem, and Herman Turner recently received A or A- on a test given by Miss Pocock to her English 3 class.

On a general review test on verbs given by Miss Perkins to her French 3, period 7 class, Georgia Johnson scored 100, Carole Overland, 100; Betty Harrison, 96; and Delbert Veatch, 94.

Marilyn Meyers, a first period English student of Miss Kiefer, won a contest in knowing principal parts.

Miss Rehorst's sewing classes studied budget planning this week.

In a recent test given by Mr. Gould to his Botany 1, period 2 class the following pupils made 90 or above: Georgia Johnson, Lisea Kiser, Romayne Rediger, Marcella Schwartz, Florella Shimer, and Kathleen Stanton; Bernita Eggers, and Elinor Muntzinger made 100.

Thomas Goodwin and Ralph Wehrly, industrial arts students of Mr. Plasket, received A on their projects this semester.

Miss Magley's English 3 class wrote a letter to Mrs. Carl Akley, asking her about a native boy of whom she wrote in one of her stories.

In a test on Jeffersonian and Jacksonian Democracy given by Mr. Peirce to his U. S. History 1 students, the following made the highest grades: Lois Bloemker, Mary Nell Spiegel, Jim Holzworth, Jack Rogers, James Timmons, Rosa Lee Hall, Lenora Meyer, Truman Neuenschwander, Virginia Ormiston, Mary Ellen Barrett, Bernita Eggers, Charles Gramlich, and Jane Klinefelter.

Norman Fortress, a Shortland 1, period 1 student of Mr. Murch, and Delores Selby, a period 6 student, made the highest grades on a checkup.

Lois Craig made 100 on a Julius Caesar test given by Miss Magley to her English 4 class.

In writing a synopsis of a verb and the verbals in Latin and translating them into English, the following students in Mr. Sterner's Latin 2 class made perfect scores: Eugene Gittel, Margaret Hahn, Sally O'Rourke, Arvilla Rediger, Jack Stark, Mary Whittner, Evangeline Witmer, and Tom Yates.

Bill Wissler and Eugene Stratton received the highest scores on the final test in Mr. Smuts' two wood-turning classes.

In Mr. Makey's English 1 classes those who made the highest grades in a composition test, are period 1, Ruth Gerlack, and period 3, Martha Davenport.

Marjorie Dyer, 12A, and an art 4 student of Miss Dochterman, made the floating flag in the lighted box in the front hall.

The following pupils made 90 or above on a test given by Mr. Gould to his Botany 1, period 3 class: Audrey Calder, Gloria Orr, Emalyn Rummel, Joel Salon, Betty Rose Stumpf, and Patricia Towns; Mary Nell Spiegel made 100.

On the final metal working test given in Mr. Smuts' three classes, the highest grades were made by Herman Turner, Jimmy VanBuskirk, and Richard Moreo.

On a review test given by Miss Perkins to her French 1, period 6 class, Arlene Perry made 97 and Sally Hobbs scored 95.

On the latest test given by Mr. Murphy to his United States History 2 classes, Roger McVay, William Roth, Ionejean Tracht, Peggy Greany, Mildred Holmes, and Kenneth Lampton received the highest grades.

Tom Wilson, Donald Perry, Owen Bradley, and Arthur Garrison received perfect grades on the final test given by Mr. Smuts to his pattern making

GE Expert Speaks To Industrial Club

Mr. E. L. Persing Demonstrates How Motion Study Increases Production Of Defense Goods

Since National Defense is one of the foremost things in the minds of most Americans, the Industrial Arts Club had Mr. E. L. Persing, motion study expert, as guest speaker at the last meeting, held January 14 in the Greeley Room. Mr. Persing, by an illustrated talk, told how motion study, the science of producing more assembled products from the same amount of work, greatly increased the production of industries from 38 to 72 per cent.

This motion study is accomplished by taking motion pictures at the rate of from one to four thousand a minute of the operator doing the job. These pictures are then greatly slowed down so that Mr. Persing and his assistants may see what unnecessary motions the operator is doing in the assembling of the part. After careful study of the job, sometimes taking many days, the men try to take out all holding, lifting, and other fatiguing and slow motions, and replacing them with faster motions such as sliding.

This having been accomplished, operators are trained to do the work the new way, which saves much time and reduces fatigue. The layout of this job is then filed so that if any more similar jobs come in, the layout will be instantly at hand.

In the short business meeting that followed, President Kenneth Schell urged all members to submit their ideas for the club button. The contest closed last Wednesday and the winner will be given one dollar at the meeting tomorrow.

Miss Rehorst's sewing classes had a lesson this week on the darning and kettling of runs.

Home room cafeteria is losing two students this semester. Gene Zumbum plans to attend North Side, and Shirley Wixom is moving from the city.

In a final test given by Miss Osborne to her English 1 class the following received a grade above 95: Mary Jane Hale, Kathleen Neith, Rose Stemen, and Marcelene Batdorf.

Gilbert Baumgartner, Darrell DuVall, Vernon Ehlerding, Jack Parker, Harry Anderson, Bill Deyce, Wayne Kerr, Ralph Wehrly, and Thomas Goodwin, industrial arts students of Mr. Plasket, received A or A- as their final grade on their projects.

Recently Miss Kiefer's English 2, period 7 class appointed two teams for a spelling contest. The girls' team consisted of Marilyn Toole, Ruth Kello, and Nelda Runge. Richard Schemehorn, Richard Clendenen, and Bill Dickmeyer composed the boys' team. The girls won.

Martha Harry, student in Mr. Sterner's Latin 1 class, made the highest score of 106 points on a 111-point test. Patty Rhodes scored 101 points; Stanley Trier, 100 points.

Joan Cartwright, Joan Cox, Dorothy Gildea, Kathryn Guild, Elaine Polman, Richard Smith, Margaret Tenhaeff, and Carol Whittner made an average of A or A- on the outside poetry reports in Miss Pocock's English 6 class.

The girls of Miss Smith's and Miss Dean's dancing classes are doing bar work and starting the dances for the spring show.

In Miss Demaree's English 7 class, students who made the highest grade in a test over "Macbeth" are Frank DuWaldt, Robert Allen, Bob Robinson, and Martin Gernard.

In Mr. Murphy's U. S. History classes Roger McVay, Wayne Turley, Charles Beall, Norman Fortress, Kenneth Lampton, Mildred Holmes, and Tom Brower made the highest grades on a final history test.

Miss Thorne's first and second period Geometry 2 students have made successful slide rules with the base 2.

Do Assemblies Concern You Like This Unfortunate Youth?

By Karl Eberly
"Oh, joy! Mr. Snider has announced an assembly for this morning. If there is anything I like better than eating, it is a pep session". These were my elated thoughts as I listened to the morning bulletin presented by Mr. Snider on a Friday morning. At 8:15 o'clock, everyone in my home room was clustered about the door for that eventful last minute rush. When the bell rang at 8:20 o'clock, we all dashed impetuously into the hall.

General Confusion Reigns
Now it so happens that my home room is right next to the entrance of the Study Hall, and we always seem to reach the same point at the same time. This time was not an exception and we came together with a rush, per usual! Confusion reigned, and no one seemed to be getting anywhere; but finally I got through the surging crowd and started toward the north end of the building where I always sit. Instead of entering the gym at a southern entrance, I went down the less crowded hall to the north entrance.

As I was walking very rapidly to my destination, I was stopped by a teacher and told not to run so fast, that there was no fire. Of course, I claimed I was only trotting and a discussion followed. Finally I was permitted to continue on my way, and I entered the door next to the section in which I sit.

Enjoys Assembly
Spotting several members of the "Attentively-Listening-To-Assemblies Club" of which I am a charter member, I raced up the steps and in my haste tripped on one of them and slid practically all the way down the steps.

In a final literature test given by Miss Osborne to her English 1 class the following received the highest grades: Ann Welborn, 98; Mary Alice Kerns, 96; and Janet Rea, 95.

Ruth Karshan, a member of Miss Coval's Home Room 184, is leaving South Side to go to a Chicago high school. Paul Horning is also leaving to go to a Dayton, Ohio, High School.

In Mr. Whelan's physical geography classes those who made the highest grades in a test over rivers are period 1, Keith Precise and Loren Ahern; period 3, Delores Markjorie, Eugene Witte, and Betty Jean Kite; period 6, Joan Cable, Kenrick Roth, and Eleanor Christ.

Joan Cartwright and Carol Whittner recently made an A on a final poetry test given by Miss Pocock.

On a comprehensive test given by Miss Perkins to her French 1, period 3 class, Dorothy Heslip, Rosemary Plummer, and Janice Sprunger made the highest grades.

In a test given by Mr. Peirce to his General History 1 classes, the following students received high grades: Lawrence Bacon, Barbara Cousan, Dolores Bailey, Dorothy McPherson, Russel May, Betty Schweikhart, and Shirley Wixom.

Following are the students in Mr. Cook's English 3, period 2 class who received the highest grades on the final test on "Three Narrative Poems": Opal Springer, Ellen Wehr, Nancy Fishing, Marshall Buchman, and Barbara Cousan.

Archers Win By Eleven Points In Elwood Tilt

Kelly Squad Stages Second-Half Comeback; Feistkorn Scores Fourteen Points

Bouncing back from a 19-point shellacking at the hands of a flurried Huntington team, the Archers came to life last Saturday to crush a good Elwood five, 35 to 24. Elwood held the upper hand in the first half of play, but the locals controlled the action during the final two frames with more scoring efficiency.

Without any show of superiority from the great Muff Davis, the Panthers grabbed the quarter lead at 9 to 6. The visitors continued to outplay the Green even after Coach Fridde inserted his regulars into the tilt. Elwood had the advantage at the conclusion of the second stanza, 14 to 9.

South Side's first half count of nine resulted from field efforts by Bill Knoll and Bob Hines and from five foul goals contributed by other members of the team. Bob Nuding hit two fielders, and Copeland and Blankenship hit one field shot apiece to combine with six gratis tosses to run the Elwood half-time count to 14 points.

As the third quarter opened, Burton canned two free throws to give the Panthers a 16-to-9 lead. But then the locals came to life. Before the gun cracked to end the quarter, the Friddelemen had knotted the count at 18-all.

Noting the six-minute mark flashing on the time board, Gus Feistkorn took the situation in hand and soon cooled the Elwood fire. With the score knotted again, this time at 20-all via goals by Close and Muff Davis, Gus contributed two fielders and a free throw to give the Archers the lead which they never relinquished.

After holding the lead throughout the game, the South Side reserves were nosed 27 to 26 in the preliminary tilt. Varsity summary:

S-O-S

Shorts On Sports

The column this week is being devoted to those new freshies who would like to know something about the intramural department and its activities. Many boys say that they would like to join the intramural department, but they don't know what to do. The first thing to do is to hand in a health card. Go to Mr. Briner, get a health card, take it home for your parent's signature, and then return it to Mr. Briner. You will then be called, during your study period, for a health examination.

The next important step is to organize a team. Teams are not organized by the department, but by the boys. There are two rules which must be obeyed if you wish to remain eligible. First, you must have a health card on record. This card is only good for one year, and a new one must be made out at the end of that time.

The other rule is that you can play on only one team. If either of these rules are violated the violator becomes ineligible for intramural activities for a year.

Most tournaments are double elimination; in other words, a team must lose two games before it is eliminated entirely.

An entrant receives two points for each game in which he participates, and if he or his team wins the tourney extra points are given. When a student receives 125 points, he is entitled to a letter.

If a student has any desire of playing in varsity sports, he should first enter in the intramural activities. This gives the coaches a chance to look him over and see what his talents are. Consult this column weekly for any further news in the intramural department.

DOUBLE TROUBLE COMING—This week-end the Archers are heading into two outstanding quintets, the Redskins of North Side and Kokomo's Wildcats. North is big and tough, having proved itself a high calibre outfit in downing the Central Tigers to capture the city crown. Kokomo, lacking big Chet Gabriel and Don Ricketts, still appears to be a tough hurdle for the Green. The Kats hold third place in the North Central Conference, with five wins and four losses in league play. Kokomo whipped Frankfort last Friday, 25 to 15.

North Side is not going to have an easy time stopping the Green on our home court. Against Central, the Redskins, and especially Bob Cowan, were "red hot". It seems the Archers are just about ready to catch fire—and this may be the night.

South trumped Kokomo last season, 30 to 23. However, with the advantage of their home court, the Southerners are expected to offer the locals much more competition than they offered our team last year.

Here's looking forward to two great games. May the best team win, and may that team be South Side!

MEMORIES FROM A MEMORABLE WEEK-END—Last week-end we saw six good ball games, with only the Archer-Panther tussle being decided by more than four points. On Thursday, the county tourney lured this columnist to New Haven, and the two opening games were hard-fought and well played. The next afternoon was also spent in New Haven, watching Lafayette Central and Elmhurst drop four-point decisions. Outstanding performer of the Thursday session was little Vergil Hoepfner of Woodburn, who tossed in eight field goals and four free throws against the Leo Lions. Freddie Link of Elmhurst and Dick Crull featured the play on Friday afternoon. Woodburn deserved the title, and our congratulations go to Scott Smith for giving the Warrior rooters their first county crown. Huntentown's Wildcats displayed the best zone defense seen around here in many a campaign. Only the Woodburn speed and sniping ability enabled that club to beat the Wildcats. South Side Times' All-County five: Hoepfner of Woodburn and Crull of Lafayette Central at forwards, Stelhorn of New Haven at center, and Hostetler of Woodburn and McComb of Huntentown at guards.

North Side's clinching of the city crown will forever return to us as one of the "greats" of city series play. Especially brilliant was the play of Bob Young and Bob Cowan. The former was a hawk on rebounds and the key man on the defense, while Cowan was the Indian offensive spark with 22 markers. Cowan hit 10 goals in 22 tries. Not bad at all! Fred Shaw really made his comeback, and all local fans are once again to see Fred start shooting the works.

STATE-WIDE RANKINGS—Here are the rankings of the state's top fives as of games played last week-end.

1. Hammond Tech.
2. Muncie Burris.
3. North Side, Fort Wayne.
4. Central, Fort Wayne.
5. Anderson.

Explanation: Hammond Tech holds top ranking on the basis of a fine season record, and a consistent scoring aggregation. Burris of Muncie is undoubtedly one of the finest teams in the central section of the state, as is evidenced by good wins over highly-touted teams. Fort Wayne North and Central need no plugging. They have earned their places. Anderson rates high via eight wins in nine starts in play in the strong South Central Conference.

CENTRAL STARS SET PACE—Russ Wilkin and Bill Washington of Central continue to lead the city netters. The forward duo of Central has managed an average of eight points apiece per game. Here are the twelve city leaders.

Volleyball Winners Named In Classes

Marilyn Bullerman, Alice Dolin, Maxine Beck, Marilynn Domer, Phyllis Amstutz Head Victors

In the girls' gym classes, the volleyball tournament has come to a close with one winning team from each period except the second period of Miss Alice Dean.

In Miss Gretchen Smith's classes the winning team for the first period was team 2A captained by Marilyn Domer. The members of her team are Alice Fisher, Marcella Bazzinette, Lois Gumpfer, Marjorie Bechtel, Leona Witte, Evelyn Champlin, and Joan Stroblum.

Maxine Beck's team 4 were the champions of the fourth period. The players on this team are Mary Brown, Betty Brubaker, Betty Lou Hancock, Velma Willy, Betty Clem, Betty Cutler, Virginia Coil, and Phyllis Crabbill.

In the sixth period team 2A captained by Alice Dolin won the tournament. The members of her team are Marion Faux, Dorothy Ewiglein, Lavon Taylor, Margaret Cyr, Mary Weber, and Ruth Porter.

In Miss Alice Dean's classes the winning team for the third period was Marilyn Bullerman's team 2. The players were Jeanne Cyr, Betty Dice, Ruthanna Doll, Mary Lou Feller, Ruth Gerlach, Virginia Griffith, Wanda Grim, Catherine Horn, Maxine Huffman, Elmiretta Huiston, Jean Junk, Esther Kiermaier, and Neva Rabel.

Phyllis Amstutz's team 2A were the winners during the seventh period. Barbara Scudder, Jane Chenoweth, Betty McKay, Evangeline Wittmer, Vivian Klompfstein, Dorothy Meyers, Wyla Baldwin, and Betty Malone were the team members.

The student leaders in all of the classes refereed these games.

Wins Gold-Jeweled Pin

Faye Gumpfer, 12A, recently received her gold-jeweled Times pin for having earned over 10,000 points. Faye has worked on the Times staff since she was a freshman A. During this time she has been mailing manager, news editor, classroom news editor, and a club reporter. Faye received her latest points for being the senior editor on The Totem.

Kelly Kounters

South Side's netmen bounced back from a disastrous evening at Huntington to hit a fair percentage of their fielders in trouncing Elwood. The Archers were also fairly consistent at the charity stripe against the visitors.

Muff Davis, heralded center of the Panthers, did not show up very highly in the scoring column. The Elwood star had plenty of shots, but most of his attempts were hurried efforts which fell far from the net.

Here are the individual scoring statistics for the South Side-Elwood game.

GAA'ers To Begin Tumbling Monday

Beginners To Meet In Room 170 At 3:30 O'clock; Advanced Group Will Meet Wednesday

First sessions of GAA tumbling will be held next Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday nights. The Monday group will meet in the gym at 3:30 o'clock. This, however, is for beginning tumblers. The Tuesday group for beginners will meet in Room 170. The advanced group will meet in Room 170 Wednesday. Only girls who are especially limber are qualified to join the advanced tumblers.

Those who have signed up for beginners on Monday are Marguerite Calkins, Bernadine Bender, Bernadine Pressler, Marjorie Pressler, Pat Har-nish, Gloria Hardendorf, Ilo Hirschman, LaDonna Russel, Ruthette Firse, Patricia McMahon, Jeanne Smith, LaVon Taylor, Betty Kyvick, Marilyn Meyers, Helen Marschand, Phyllis Jackson, Lois Buysinger, Virginia Griffith, Laurie Bacon, Charlotte Baker, Alice Dolin, Mary Mollers, Phyllis Westerman, Theadora Koutras, Ginger Runge, and Betty Hargan.

In the Tuesday group are Marilyn Bullerman, Donna Peel, Dorothy Strunk, Solly Agder, Jo Anne Spore, Kate Sanders, Joan Schwartz, Fuzzy Amstutz, Laurel Bacon, Betty MacKay, Connie Abbott, Miriam Abbott, Mary Parker, Maxine Volz, and Helen Anderson.

Those who signed up for the advanced tumbling are Betty Brown, Joan Hotman, Arlene Goudy, Phyllis Puff, Dorothy Snively, and Reba Pollock.

Points for GAA tumbling will be given on a basis of cooperation with their leader, determination to do each stunt, as well as regularity of attendance. This is in conformance with the aim and objectives of GAA.

Girls' Sportsettes

Calling all freshmen! Don't forget, you have a date next Monday night after school in the gym to join GAA. We will be waiting for you. Don't forget!

Doesn't time fly. Volleyball is half way gone, and tumbling is our next big feature. Of course we can always be proud of Marjorie Williams and Orinda Braun for their excellency in this sport. And to, we should be proud of Phyllis Puff, our freshman, who really knows her stuff when it comes to tumbling.

We would like to introduce you freshmen to our executive board in GAA: Geneva Martin, president; Frances Nash, vice-president; Bette Thiele, secretary; Martha Cash, treasurer; Maxine Sterling, Inter-Club Congress representative; and Jo Anne Spore, manager of sports.

Everybody, don't forget to read the bulletin boards to see when the Totem pictures for GAA are to be taken. We expect a big turnout for this.

Judy Kaser suggested that GAA go in for boxing. We would have some pretty good fights. For example, can't you just see "Poodles" Nash give "Man Hunter" Michel a left in the jaw? I can't either.

Gus Feistkorn, Dallas Zuber, Bob Hines Are Top Scorers

With fourteen games already in the books, Gus Feistkorn continues to pace his fellow Archers in scoring with a total of 105 markers. Bob Hines now ranks second with 78 points, and Dallas Zuber places third with 62 tallies.

In piling up his high total, Feistkorn used the Burris and Elwood games as his big stepping stones. Gus hit five fielders and four foul goals against each club. Bob Hines had his big night against Horace Mann, sniping the nets for 15 markers on five field goals and a like number of charity throws. Dallas Zuber has not had a really outstanding scoring evening this year, but on two occasions the Kelly ball hawk has paced his teammates in scoring with seven points.

Only Dallas Zuber and Chick Shimer have seen action in all 14 of the tilts. Both of these boys scored in 13 of the games; Shimer failing to count against Burris and Zuber having a like fate at Connersville.

In the column below are the shooting figures for the first 14 games. Included are games played, field goals, free throws, total points. Every point scored by the Archers this season is accounted for in these shooting statistics.

Feistkorn Furnishes Fuddling Facts From Favorite Funfest

Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of features to be written by South Side varsity basketballers. Charles "Gus" Feistkorn, senior forward, has authored this initial article.

Looking over the prospects for the team this year, Coach Fridde told us that there was plenty of hard work ahead. We started and worked hard for six weeks before the season started.

As I came to the school in preparation for the opening game at Kendallville, I realized that if smiling faces meant anything, South Side would win.

As we approached Kendallville, the team members busied themselves with the talk of the conditions in Europe and basketball as played elsewhere in the state. Upon arriving at Kendallville, I was set right as to the Beau Brummels of the Archer team. McClain and Babbitt were the boys.

As soon as we left the bus for the gym, the duo followed two cute gals into the gym. Our reserves looked good, but perhaps the play of our two lovers was hampered by the presence of the two Kendallville beauties.

Shortly after we began to engage in our warm-up drills for the varsity game, the teams from North Side and Central entered to give us the glad eye. We were coasting along pretty well—until the last quarter. A Comet "blitz" which was ended by the gun, luckily fell three points short of our lead.

The next week we played Bluffton in their tiny gym, which reminds one of an oversized cracker box.

We had plenty of determination and pep, but we played the wrong type of game. (It couldn't have been the women who occupied the south stage.)

Mr. Knoll was red-hot with twelve markers; however, he was relieved of further scoring by fouling out in the third quarter.

In the overtime period, Chuck Close was challenged by a Tiger fan who seemed pretty well oiled. The Blufftonite urged that Chuck be removed for disorderly forwarding. A boy by the name of Lockwood proved our undoing.

Bob Hines and Bill Knoll had their inspirations in the stands, but the rest of us managed on our own. Those are just highlights on a few of our games. You know about most of the others.

I just want to say in conclusion that I appreciate the cheering and good wishes which the Archer students have given us. We try our best to win 'em all.

Friddlemen Face Tough Tilts With North Side, Kokomo

Series Battle To Be Friday In Kelly Gym

Southerners Will Travel To Kokomo Saturday Eve For Hard Tilt On Kat Floor

South Side's rapidly improving Archers are slated to meet two of Indiana's top cage units this week-end. On Friday night, the locals will play hosts to a highly touted Redskin five from North Side, while on the following night the Green will travel to Kokomo for a tilt with the vaunted Kats.

The Archer-Redskin battle on Friday should prove a fitting aftermath to the previous hard-fought battle between these two clubs. North Side enters this game in the favorite role, as the big Red Raiders have registered wins over many of the state's strong outfits. Kokomo is slated to be another tough foe with the Archers again being heralded as dangerous underdogs.

Redskins Are Powerful

North Side's power house Redskins, undefeated in city play, should give the Archers another acid test. While Coach Nulf's charges are improving, the North Side mentor is still looking for the play which marks a squad as a potential titlist.

Having lost but one regularly scheduled game, the Nulfmen approach their final city hurdle with ten wins already recorded. The Northerners have whipped such outstanding fives as Central, South, and Central Catholic of this city, Hammond High, Decatur, Illinois. The majority of the Red wins have been walk-away affairs. Only Hammond Tech, reigning state holder, has been able to repel the tough Indians.

Coach Nulf has a well-balanced crew which averages slightly below 6 feet in height and about 165 pounds in weight. Bob Cowan and Jim Harrison will probably be assigned the forward posts, with dependable Jim Hinga in the pivot, and Bob Young and Corrie Ervin at guards.

Last year the Kokomo Kats reached the semi-final round at Muncie before giving in to a hot New Castle club. While the charges of Peedad Campbell are not as powerful as last season, the Kats should nevertheless offer the locals an interesting evening of competition.

Two weeks back, the Kats dropped a 39 to 38 decision to a good Logansport aggregation. Unless the Green basketballers continue to stride continually upward, the majority of the state's experts are figuring the hosts as being a bit too tough for the Friddlemen.

List Probable Starters

Coach Burl Friddle is expected to lead off with Kellies Bob Hines, Dallas Zuber, Gus Feistkorn, Chick Shimer, and Chuck Close. Hines is playing his usual cool brand of ball, and Zuber is becoming an ace defensive man.

Gus Feistkorn is blossoming rapidly into a good offensive man and a ball hawk on the defense. Chick Shimer is, as always, the Archer who instills the drive and pepper in the Green forces. Big Chuck Close has developed into a fine ball player, being responsible for many valuable rebounds and offensive thrusts. Reserves Brower, Knoll, Augsburg, and others should also see action in the games this week-end.

If the Kelly Klads are working their blocks and hitting their setups as was the case against Central, the locals have a very fine chance of notching two wins this week.

Archer Riflemen Tie Senior Team

Mr. Maurice Cook Shoots Only Perfect Score In Match; Two Rank Second With Score Of 99

Shooting in the prone position only, the South Side High School Junior Rifle Club broke even in a match with a team composed of senior shooters at 484 all. This senior team, known as the All-Stars, was composed of three shooters from Indiana Tech, and the rifle instructors of South Side, Mr. Stanley Post and Mr. M. J. Cook.

There were five teams entered in the match. Four teams were of the South Side Rifle Club. These four teams were each made up of some members of the first team and some of the less experienced shooters.

The individual and team results are as follows: All Stars—Cook, 100; Rapp, 98; Colburn, 97; Goble, 95; Post, 94. Team total, 484. Archers No. 1—Ed Bauer, 99; Art Puff, 99; Joe Beckus, 97; George Walden, 96; Dave Bastian, 93. Team total, 484. Archers No. 2—Art Longworth, 97; Clifford Springer, 96; Richard Hornberger, 96; Russel Siples, 95; Gene Brems, 93; alternates, Richard Sunier, 89, and Bob Taylor, 88. Team total, 477. Archers No. 3—Tom Broxon, 98; John Myers, 97; Dick Theye, 96; Phil Chalmers, 86; Ed Showalter, 86; alternates, Eugene Gettle, 86. Team total, 463. Archers No. 4—John Cleland, 98; Gene Zumbum, 97; Richard Brintzenhofe, 94; Everitt Trulock, 94; Grau, 74. Team total, 457.

The Archers are soon to have a return postal match in two positions with the Far Rockaway Junior Rifle Club of Far Rockaway, New York.

Archers To Give These Redskins Fierce Battle

The 1940-41 City Champions

The South Side court team needs a victory over the above North Side team for its first win in the City Series and is expecting to make it a thrilling contest. The Redskins pictured above from left to right are as follows: Front row—Al Gunkler, Bill Ranly, Pat Barley, Herman Moyer, Mike Bojoff; second row—Jim Harrison, Ronnie Reese, Bob Cowan, Corrie Ervin; back row—Norman Oetting, Jim Hinga, Byron Popp, Bob Young, Kay Short.

Hammond Tech, Anderson Win Tilts

Indians, Tigers Continue To Lead State Quintets; Defeat Muncie Central And Washington

Anderson's Indians and the Tigers of Hammond Tech continued to pace the Indiana prep quintets in their tilts last week-end. The Indians whipped a good Muncie Central unit, 40 to 32, for their eighth victory in nine conference battles. Hammond Tech barely edged by a mediocre Washington of East Chicago club, 25 to 23.

Kokomo, New Castle, and Richmond turned in other outstanding wins. Important results of the play last week follow:

Muncie Burris 41, Wabash 33.
Peru 33, Rochester 26.
Huntingburg 27, Jasper 25.
Kokomo 25, Frankfort 15.

Frosh Are Invited To Join GAA Club

Dear Freshman Girls:
You are cordially invited to join one of South Side's finest organizations, the Girls' Athletic Association. All girls interested in sports should join GAA. Volleyball, tumbling, baseball, and track are on the program for the remaining part of the school year. Many friends and good times are obtained from this organization. A letter is also given to any girl receiving 1500 points and numerals for 300 points. To join GAA, sign up in the girls' gym office, which is on the left side of the south entrance of the gym. Miss Alice Dean and Miss Gretchen Smith are the GAA supervisors. We'll be seeing you at the next GAA meeting.

Yours truly,
Girls' Athletic Association.

Here He Is, Frosh, Mr. "Louie" Briner, Intramural Leader

This article is for the benefit of those new freshmen boys who will be connected with Mr. Briner and the intramural department. Mr. Louis Briner, Louie, as he is known by most of the boys, has been in charge of this department for the last twelve years. Ever since he came to South Side, he has worked out a schedule of intramural activities for each year and there is always something doing. Mr. Briner also has charge of the boys' gym classes. In these classes the boys are shown the fundamentals in basketball, speedball, handball, kickball, and volleyball. The boys are then able to show their talents by joining the intramural activities.

Louie has worked out an intricate system of points for the many sports activities which he sponsors. Mr. Briner is also known for his ability to referee. He spends much of his spare time refereeing basketball games in and around Fort Wayne. During the summer months, he is a supervisor at Lafayette Park.

Woodburn Wins County Tourney

Warriors Defeat Leo, Harlan, Arcola, Huntertown; New Haven Is Host To Net Squads

Coach Scott Smith's Woodburn captured their first Allen County cage title by whipping a stubborn Huntertown club, 37 to 22. The Warriors gave a great exhibition of good basketball in downing the Wildcats, and the 2,500 fans who departed from the packed New Haven gym felt that the Smithmen had definitely earned their right to claim the crown.

Woodburn disposed of the defending champion Leo Lions, the Harlan Hawks, and the Lapless Arcola Aces before winning the finale from Huntertown. The runner-ups reached the final game via victories over Elmhurst and New Haven. Complete results of the county meet:

Huntington Vikings Defeat South Side

Archers Are Without Service Of Bob Hines; Dal Zuber Is High Scorer For Green Netter Crew

Hitting a poor percentage of their shots and playing without the services of the ever dependable Bob Hines, the Archers fell before the Vikings of Huntington, 44 to 25. Both squads were in poor shape for the game, with the Archers nursing along Hines, Feistkorn, and Close, and the hosts managing without the services of five members hit by the flu epidemic at Huntington.

The host Crowmen held a 17-to-12 half-time lead, but the complexion changed still more as the Vikings took on "steam". Led by big "Whitey" Grossman, the hosts had little trouble in snowing under the Green in the second half of play.

Grossman, enjoying a "hot" evening, hit five fielders and four fouls to pace his club. Dallas Zuber led the Archer cause by contributing three field goals and a foul for seven markers. South Side was definitely off-form; and without the cool leadership of Hines, the locals appeared none too impressive to the Lime City rooters.

"South Side'll Defeat North Side", Exclaim Enthusiastic Kellies

"South Side will beat North Side", so say the majority of the Archer rooters. Although the local netters have experienced many fruitless evenings of late, the Green fans are convinced that the Archers are on their way to a title. The Friddlemen have been improving with each battle, and the South Siders may soon answer the hopes of their followers.

Here are the opinions of the South Side fans concerning the approaching game between North Side and South Side.

Tom Jacobs: South Side will win by 12 points. (I hope).

Janet Anderson: North Side is good. South Side is better.

Dorothy Allen: South Side will beat North Side.

Fred Schwiier: If the fellows play as they did against Central, the game is ours.

Edmond Bauer: I hope we'll win.

Lee Harter: South Side has a swell chance.

Virginia Hastings: The Archers will win.

Sarah Jane Makey: North Side has a good chance. Ours is better.

Ada Prange: I hope that the boys will win.

Albert Schaaf: South Side will win by ten points.

Dick Fishering: May the best team win.

Ed Schouweiller: North Side is no good; so how can we lose?

Lois Holzworth: South Side is going to win in an overtime.

Carol Brudi: From my viewpoint, the Green should annex another victory.

Dick Nahrwald: If they're as tough as they looked against Central, the game is ours.

Fifth Period Is Busiest Hour For Cafe Staff

Room 114 Used Fifth Period During Overflow; Pupils Help During Lunch Hour

Cafeteria routine is busiest during the fourth and fifth periods each day. In fact, during the fifth period, more students eat in the cafeteria than there is room to accommodate at the tables. Therefore, patrons are allowed to eat their lunches in Room 114, the study hall adjacent to the cafeteria. This is due to the small number of classes held this period.

During the fourth period, the cafeteria is conducted on the time basis of a class period. Students who eat there this hour must stay the full time.

In addition to the counter in the front of the room a candy counter and a sandwich counter are situated at the rear of the room to accommodate those people who make their lunches of sandwiches and candy. It is customary at South Side to enter the dining room door and to form a line at the front counter in order to be served. Courteous students should permit the teachers, who have only a short time for lunch, to precede them at the counter.

The cafeteria routine is carried out by an adult staff and a student staff. Miss Lucy Mellen, the director, Mrs. Mercer, Mrs. Bitner, and Mrs. Clark make up the adult staff.

About twenty students work during their lunch hour each day for approximately thirty minutes. Their pay is twenty-cent lunch. They must follow a code of ethics and a set of rules made by Miss Mellen.

Those students who serve in the cafeteria are Virginia Ormiston, Helen Peck, Eva Bulgamott, Betty Bligh, LaVon Byer, Richard Hamilton, Betty Baker, Ilo Hirschman, Jeanette Whetzel, Bernice O'Brien, Alice Dolin, Mary Brinker, Eleanor Alvather, Marcella Reinking, Leonora Kiessler, and Betty James.

The staff attempts to give Archer patrons an efficient and courteous service. Any complaints or suggestions will be appreciated if they are taken directly to Miss Mellen for consideration.

Show appreciation; buy from The Times' advertisers regularly.

All Students Should Follow Rules When Fire Alarm Sounds

In the portals of South Side a fire drill is held once a month. These fire drills are directed under the supervision of the City Fire Department and through the cooperation of Mr. R. Nelson Snider, Archer principal. It is the purpose of these fire drills to enable the students, faculty and any other people in the building to escape from South Side in case the building is burning. In each teacher's room is a card or bulletin on the blackboard which tells the students which entrance to use. This is in case the gong rings any time in the day, the students would be able to escape, regardless in which part of the building they happen to be.

Here is the way a regular fire drill is held. The bell rings and announces that it is a fire drill. The students leave their books and belongings in the teacher's room and prepare to march out. Pupils should not talk. The students line up to the door of the room in two's and march out. The teacher leads them to the correct entrance. The entrance doors are already opened by the pupils nearest the door when the gong rings. The students march out to the sidewalk and stand at attention.

As soon as the return signal is given, the students march into the building to their classroom and resume classes. The purpose of holding so many fire drills is that each time a fire drill is held the students will be more accurate than before. The old saying goes, "Practice makes perfect."

Some students are heard asking, "What's the use of a fire drill?" The use of a fire drill is a worthy one, and should be obeyed like any other act in South Side. If the student does not obey the command for a fire drill, he is endangering the lives of thousands of students.

In the future, fire drills will be held and all students are asked to participate wholeheartedly. The students who have just entered the building are also asked to help make the school safe in case of fire.

The Times' Copy Staff Corrects, Writes Headlines On Copy Like English Teacher

(Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of articles which tell of the work that goes on behind the door to The Times room. The purpose of this series is to bring about greater familiarity by students of the details of the publication of The Times. The copy staff is the first to be dealt with.)

Did it ever occur to you to wonder how a story is handled before it goes to press? Perhaps you thought everything was assembled without much time or preparation, but had you considered the fact that a headline must be written for each story submitted to the copy desk, and that all copy must be proofread for mistakes before being printed?

Such is the work of the copy staff, which works early and late editing copy for The Times. Approximately two dozen people constitute the copy staff. In the order of their rank, they are managing editor, three copy editors, eight copy readers, and about twelve proofreaders. This is the size of the present staff, but the number of members varies.

Before a copy reader can do much toward butchering a story, the managing editor has to decide what kind of head the story will have. For news stories, there are five general types of heads—A, B, C, D, and E. The A heads are reserved for the biggest stories which affect the largest number of students in the Archer student body. From then on down, all stories are marked commensurate with their length and importance to the pupils. An E is the smallest head, being a three-word head for an item about some less important incident.

Copy Editors Get Story

After a story has been written at the top of the first page, the copy reader puts the copy in a box on the managing editor's desk, marked "Copy edited by copy readers". The copy editors' turn at the job comes next, when they correct the stories for mistakes in punctuation, grammar, wrong constructions, and uneven counts in the heads. They then put the read copy in the desk marked "Read by copy editors".

The managing editor is the last person who looks over copy before it goes to the pressroom to be printed. She supposedly does a thorough job of re-checking the copy editors' work, and also oversees all copy editing.

The copy returns from the pressroom printed on pink, white, and blue paper, called a galley of proof. The white proof goes to the make-up editor who uses it to make up dummy pages for the paper. The blue proof is taken up to the general office, where our principal may like (strike out) any copy he thinks should not be printed. The pink proof goes to the copy desk, where it is read by the proofreaders.

Each galley of pink proof must be read by three different people, eliminating the possibility of any error missing the proofreaders. Isn't it appropriate to call these people galley slaves?

Readers Work Late

On an average, the copy desk readers spend about twelve hours a week, totaling three nights' work. The managing editor spends more, doing some work each night; while the proofreaders read proof on Monday, Tuesday nights and Wednesday morning.

Of course, the angle of remuneration is to be considered. Each proofreader receives five points for each galley of proof he reads, while the copy readers and copy editors may hand in one point sheet per week, on which are listed the heads they wrote for the preceding issue. The managing editor receives 3000 points per semester of work.

Any person having an average of B in English composition is eligible for a position on the copy staff. Usually, copy readers are on the staff a semester or two before obtaining a higher position. Each member of the copy staff is required to have a style book, which contains the rules concerning punctuation, capitalization, and rules for putting out the paper.

Cafeteria Director Formerly Taught In Far Porto Rico

Do you know that Miss Lucy Mellen, cafeteria director and home economics teacher, has taught school in Porto Rico? It is true that her first teaching position was at San Germon, a small town in the southwest part of that country. She says she found it very interesting, but difficult to teach the students; for she knew no Spanish, the language they spoke, and they knew little English. However, Miss Mellen finally managed through interest and necessity to learn some Spanish.

But before all this Miss Mellen had to study for her profession. She began her education in Booneville, Indiana. After she graduated from high school there, she attended DePauw University for one year. Having definitely made up her mind to become a home economics teacher, she transferred to Bradley Institute at Peoria, Illinois; for at that time DePauw had no home economics course. She received her B. S. degree from Bradley Institute. Last summer Miss Mellen finished at Columbia University and received her Master's degree.

When she returned from San Germon, she spent six months in New York and then went to Mobile, Alabama.

Mayaguez, a town of about 30,000 population in the western part of Porto Rico, was Miss Mellen's third station. She taught home economics and English to students in grades seven to twelve, there. The students were industrious, eager to learn, very courteous, and appreciative of their teachers. She found it very interesting to learn their ways, their art of cooking, and customs.

Upon returning to the states from Mayaguez, Miss Mellen went to Grays Harbor, in the southwest part of Washington, to teach. From there, she came to Fort Wayne, where she taught at Harrison Hill for two years before coming to South Side to be director of the cafeteria and home economics teacher.

SSHS Served Many Ways By Cafeteria

Cafeteria Serve Many Types Of Lunches; Patronized By Many Pupils, Teachers

Approximately one-third of South Side's entire student body and forty-five per cent of the faculty eat at the Archer's cafeteria during the winter months. In the spring and fall, however, only a small proportion of students eat at the school cafeteria since the weather is then more agreeable for students to go home than it is in the winter time. In general, the cafeteria crowd fluctuates with the weather.

Possibly one-half of the Archers who eat at the cafeteria buy lunches consisting of a sandwich, milk, ice cream, and a candy bar.

Hamburgers, fresh vegetables, salads, pies, and hot soups seem to be the most popular foods with South Side cafeteria eaters.

While the cafeteria is operated to accommodate students and the faculty, the cafeteria management is glad to accommodate parent patrons when it is called upon to do so.

In addition, South Side's cafeteria serves South Side in several other ways. Many times the staff is called upon to plan and buy the food for club refreshments. It also serves dinners for student and faculty social affairs.

Our school cafeteria is one important spoke of South Side's wheel, for it too works with the South Side Parent-Teachers Association when refreshments are needed.

From twelve to thirty-five dozen hamburgers are sold daily, the latter on days when the weather is not as pleasing as it might be.

Fresh fruits and vegetables are secured daily so that wholesome lunches may be had by the Archers at the lowest possible cost in the cafeteria.

One day of each week, Miss Lucy Mellen, cafeteria head, oversees the laundry work for South Side, North Side, and Central. All the laundry from these three public high schools is delivered to South Side and is done by the laundress in the South Side laundry.

Instructor Proclaims Rules For Cafeteria

Students Are Asked To Follow Orders; Hot, Cold Drinks, Foods Are Offered To Patrons

Rules have been issued by Miss Lucy Mellen for students who patronize the cafeteria. If the students will follow these rules, the cafeteria will be a more pleasant place. They are requested to obey the following rules:
1. Patrons should remember not to stack books on the tables and turn down chairs in an effort to save places for friends. Such an act shows lack of courtesy and is not democratic.
2. Patrons should not go along the railing and ask their friends to hand them something, but should stay in line and wait patiently.
3. The dining room should be kept quiet.
4. When the patrons have finished, they should leave their tables clear.
5. Patrons should especially remember not to stick gum on the furniture or drop it on the floor.
The cafeteria is a place where one may secure good food and a well-balanced meal at low prices. Hot and cold foods, fresh vegetables, and fruit salads are served daily. The patrons may also have a choice of things to drink. It is hoped that the students will appreciate these factors and help support the cafeteria.
Remember to read the advertisements. They offer interesting news.

Foods In Cafeteria Are Handled Well By Present Means

"Equipment in the cafeteria is such that food can be easily prepared, safely kept, and dispensed hot," it was stated by Miss Lucy Mellen, director of the Archer cafeteria. Because some of the equipment is beginning to be run down, Miss Mellen has hopes of getting new equipment to replace the old.

Equipment in the cafeteria consists of a steam counter to keep the food warm and an ice cream frigidaire furnished by the Furnas Ice Cream Company.

The equipment in the kitchen of the cafeteria consists of a dishwasher, cafe refrigerator, a General Electric refrigerator, a small steam counter, and several gas stoves.

For the adult staff, the cafeteria is equipped with a toilet room. The student staff has access to a special wash-room.

Some of the needed equipment includes china, glassware, and better chilling facilities.

Boy: I can have more fun when I go out with just boys than when going out with girls.
Girl: So can I.

Kelly Cafeteria Offers Well-Balanced Meals

Economy is one of the best features of our school cafeteria. A well-balanced meal can be obtained in the cafeteria at a low cost. A list of the food and prices follows: soup, 5 cents; hot vegetables, 5 to 7 cents; meats, 8 to 12 cents; salads, 5 to 7 cents; desserts, (fruits and puddings) 5 to 7 cents; ice cream, 5 cents; bread, 1 cent; butter, 2 cents; milk, 4 cents; orange juice, 5 cents; candy, 5 cents; cookies, 1 cent; and hamburgers with mustard or catsup, 5 cents.

Of Cafeteria Foods, Hamburgers Rate Tops With Kellies

During the winter months, many Archers are lured to the school cafeteria by the delicious food smells. Salads and hamburgers seem to rate first in their minds according to the answers given to the question, "What do you like best about South Side's cafeteria?" Following are the statements made by several South Siders.

Elizabeth Mundt: I like their salads.

Marilyn McGuire: Ditto.

Dot McPherson: The food, of course!

Mary Evelyn Mock: Their ham salad sandwiches.

Connie Harrison: The lovely, delicious smells.

Laurel Bacon: Ditto.

Mary Ann Stark: Hamburgers.

Laura Nahrwold: Salads.

Donna Peel: Hamburgers and chocolate milk.

Sally Ogden: Pies and puddings.

Marilyn Bullerman: Hamburgers.

When you buy (as you will) think of your school paper's advertisers.

Mrs. Mercer Is Chief Cafe Cook
Mrs. Bitner, Mrs. Clark Assist In Dining Hall, Kitchen To Prepare Foods For Archers

Those people who are responsible for the food the students eat in the cafeteria are Mrs. Mercer, Mrs. Bitner and Mrs. Clark, the cooks in the cafe kitchen.

Mrs. Mercer has general charge of the kitchen. She also has charge of the general cooking of foods, which includes soups, meats, and vegetables. Another duty is keeping track of the supplies and equipment. Mrs. Mercer has been a worker in the kitchen for fifteen years.

Mrs. Bitner assists in the preparation of vegetables for cooking and has full charge of making the salads. She has been here for six years.

Mrs. Clark prepares the hamburgers, bakes pies and cakes, and makes the puddings. She has worked here for five years.

Department Will Change Recognition

Faculty Of Social Studies Announce That They Will Give Three More Awards Achievement Tests To Name Winners

A change in its system of making awards for scholastic proficiency or distinction in the field of the social studies has been announced by the Department of Social Studies.

In previous years only one award has been made. The department has now decided to increase the number of awards offered and to establish definite rules of competition for them. One award will be offered for each full year of work in the department. Recognition will also be given to the outstanding student in the occupational classes, bringing the total number of awards made each year up to four.

Departmental recognition will be based upon scholarship, attitude, and character. All these factors are to be determined or weighed through objective tests insofar as possible. Any student in the department who desires to do so is eligible to take the tests, and is urged to do so. Achievement tests will be given to those seeking recognition this year on May 16. Civic attitude tests will also be given at a time to be announced later.

The department feels that it will be a distinct honor to win recognition under such a system and with only one award being made for each year of work. The awards will be graduated in value, the most important in value given for the senior year of work.

The teachers urge all who may be interested in achieving departmental recognition to inquire of their social studies teachers concerning the rules. This single award in previous years has been given to the student who, in the opinion of the faculty of this department, was most deserving of recognition because of his scholastic achievement in the field and because of his social attitude. The student winning this award has, in the past, been given a Certificate of Honor, and has had his or her name engraved on a silver shield bearing the names of all previous winners of the award. The awards are made upon Recognition Day.

Previous winners of the award have proven their merit by making outstanding records since receiving it. Among the winners are John Bremer, now teaching in the high school in Crown Point, Indiana; Jack Thackeray, senior student in Ball State Teachers College; Vernon Miller, junior student in Manchester College; and James Murphy, student in Indiana University.

Rifle Club Scores In National Contest

Shoots 495 To Place Thirteenth In Nation; List Individual Totals In Bi-Weekly Match

Shooting in a bi-weekly match, the Boys' Rifle Club scored 495. This series of matches is sponsored by the National Rifle Association and about 225 teams from all over the nation. To date Archers average thirteenth place in these matches.

Edmund Bauer and John Myers fired 100 in the bi-weekly match Monday in the gallery. Other varsity scorers and their scores are Dick Theye, 99; Joe Bekius, 98; and Arthur Puff, 98. Dick Bruntzenhof, Arthur Longworth, and Bob Showalter fired, but did not place in the first five team.

Tom Broxon led the reserve squad with score of 96. David Bastian, Bill Vanderford, Phil Chamness and Russell Siples. Their scores were 96, 94, 92, and 91.

Brehm, John Cleland, George Waldschmidt, John Gregg, Walter Thomas, and Snyder have not yet fired on the reserve team. Richard Hornberger and Clifford Sprunger have not yet fired for the varsity squad.

South Side will fire Monday, February 11, with Arcot High School. The evening South Side Rifle Club will shoot at Dehler-Hughes at 7 o'clock with Indiana Technical College team.

Pupils To Receive T-B Tests Monday

Patches Will Be Removed On Wednesday; Final Reading Will Be Following Friday

Patch tests for tuberculosis will be given Monday morning to students who have not yet had them, if they have had their cards signed by their parents. The test will also be available for those who tested positive in former tests, if they wish to have a check-up.

The patches will be removed on Wednesday, and the final reading will be done on the following Friday. This test is a fairly accurate indication of one thing, which might be called an allergy to tuberculosis. A positive result does not mean that one has tuberculosis; it merely means that the student should have an x-ray examination to see if there is actual danger. The tests may be the means of finding this disease in the early stages, and thus make possible the proper steps to prevent its becoming serious.

What Weird Body Indeed We Humans Appear To Possess

Perhaps you have never taken a course in human anatomy, but listed below are a few of human beings' most prized accomplishments and heredities. We do not think you will have to stretch your imagination too much.

- The human body has:
1. A pit in the stomach.
  2. A drum in the ear.
  3. Lids for the eyes.
  4. A bridge for the nose.
  5. Arches in the feet.
  6. Several joints.
  7. It has a crown on its head.
  8. Lashes for the eyes.
  9. A blade in the back.
  10. A bone for a collar.
  11. A coat for the tongue.
  12. A lot of waist.
  13. A cap on each knee.
  14. Plates in the mouth.
  15. A palm in each hand.
  16. Pains (pains).
  17. Roses in the cheeks.

Here are some other human functions, with which we are quite familiar yet have never stopped to think of them in a humorous way. Amazingly enough we find that the nose can blow, the heart can beat, the ears drum, and the eyes can bat. Also the nose can be tweaked, the joints can creak, the mind can wander, the eye lashes, and the arms can swing out.

People can also turn many colors. For example, people turn white with fright, green with envy, purple with anger, red in embarrassment, and blue with cold.

People are often stumped, thrown for a loss, beaten to a pulp, lost to the world, or hurt to the quick.

53 Students Aid Teachers

Biography Of Archer School Building Since 1922 Is Given

It all began back in 1922, when South Side was first built. Three acres of floor space is the total amount of ground that South Side takes up. The material used to build this beautiful place was Indiana limestone and yellow brick. The entire building is fireproof except the doors, the gymnasium floor and trim. The size of the classrooms are 22 by 30 feet.

The cost of the equipment in this Grecian Ionic building was $51,700. Cost of the building was $935,000. There are 1,240 lockers. The system of ventilation for our school is fan blast steam. The stadium alone cost $63,619. We own thirty-two shower baths. The height of the chimney is 150 feet.

For the past thirteen years Mr. R. Nelson Snider has been principal of our high school. He has had opportunity to watch its development from early stages to one which is now outstanding in many fields.

Work was really started on South Side in the fall of 1921, and it was the largest one-story building in the United States. Approximately one year was spent in building this magnificent structure. About 3,400 people can easily be taken care of in our stadium. Griffith and Goodrich were the architects for the building, and the engineers in charge were Snider and Rotz. At the time of building the school, Louis C. Ward was superintendent and H. J. Collier Jr. was business manager of the school system.

Many of our present faculty were teaching when South Side first opened its doors to the public in 1922. Among the very first to teach at this fair school were Miss Elizabeth Demaree, Mr. J. H. Chapin, Miss Adelaide Fiedler, Mr. W. O. Gilbert, Mr. Elma Gould, Miss Rowena Harvey, Mr. Louis Hull, Miss Mary Ley, Miss Hazel Miller, Miss Crissie Mott, Mr. Earle Murch, Mr. M. E. Murphy, Mr. Benjamin Null, Mr. Delivan Parks, Miss Martha Pittenger, Miss Beulah Rinehart, Miss Mabel Thorne, Mr. Lloyd Whelan, and the eminent chemistry teacher, now deceased, Mr. Herbert Voorhes.

Here are some interesting facts about The Times, which is another reason why every intelligent person should subscribe. As far back as October 23, 1923, The Times was awarded the loving cup, winning the title of "Best High School Paper" in Indiana. A month later The Times was awarded the silver loving cup for first prize at the press conference at Franklin College. Then in December Times' writers took top honors in Hunter's advertising contest. On October 24, 1924, the South Side Times won the award of first in the United States in Central Intercollegiate Press Association, while later became the National Scholastic Press Association.

The South Side Times was next adjudged as best in the nation at the New York Convention in 1924, and for four consecutive years after that, it was adjudged the same, "Best In The Nation". The 1927, 1928, 1929, and 1930 Totem was awarded first place in the United States in contests conducted by the Arts Craft Guild of Chicago, and the National Scholastic Press Association.

A permanent college loan fund for needy, deserving students was established and over $1,000 was raised.

The 1924 Senior Class play, "Come Out of the Kitchen," given at the Majestic Theater, met with one of the greatest successes of any play ever produced in Fort Wayne. So goes the story of South Side, the school everyone loves. Probably ten years from now we shall look back at things that are making history right now.

Pep Session To Be Tomorrow Morning

Immediately after home room tomorrow, students will go to the gymnasium for a pep session preceding the South Side-Central game on Saturday.

South Side's yell leaders will present a skit at this pep meeting under the direction of Mr. Albert Heine. Music by the band and yells will also feature the session.

List Activities Of Speech Club For Semester

Archer Pupils Enter Many Contests; Declaration, Extemp Meets To Be Held

A large field of speech activities for the coming semester has been announced by Mrs. Dorothy Rieke, speech adviser. South Side extemp contest is open to anyone in school who wishes to enter. The other activities are restricted to Wrangler members.

Bob Robinson will represent South Side in the Rotary Sectional Discussion contest before February 15. He has won this honor by placing first in the city Rotary discussion. Bob will also represent South Side in the American Legion original oratory contest. Jim McClure will represent South Side on February 15, at Wabash College in the state original oratory contest.

Sam Bacon and Bob Young will take part in the Indiana University discussion contest in March. The topic for discussion is "Inter-State Trade Barriers."

Other state contests to be held in the spring are the state extemp contest at DePauw University and the state contests for humorous, dramatic, oratorical declamations in March at Purdue University. Bud Brudi and Jim McClure will be the South Side entrants for oratorical division. The humorous and dramatic entrants will be announced later.

Other contests to be held this spring are the city declamation contest sponsored by the Kiwanis Club and city extemp sponsored by the Rotary Club. An original oratory contest will be held between public speaking classes.

The contests for Wrangler members to be held in the near future are: Humorous declamation, February 10; dramatic declamation, February 24; radio broadcasting, March 10; and Wranglers extemp, April 21.

150 Couples Enjoy Wrangler Dance

After-Game Hop Friday Draws Twosomes From North Side, South Side; Prizes Awarded

Approximately 150 couples attended Wranglers Winter Wonderland and dance after the North Side game last Friday night. Prizes were given to nine people. They were for the cutest North Side-South Side couple, Margaret Ann Fellows and Ed Kettler, the best jitterbugs, Carmel Roy and Bud Lampton; runners-up, Dorothy Cooper and Dick Green; the smoothest dancers, Elaine Ferguson and Dave Rea; and for the best stage dancer, Corrie Ervin.

Paul Dannecker's orchestra played. Chaperones for the affair were Mr. and Mrs. R. Nelson Snider, Mr. J. H. McClure, Mrs. Elizabeth McAtee, Mr. and Mrs. G. Barrett, Mr. and Mrs. John Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sterner, Miss Martha Pittenger, Mr. and Mrs. Art Young, Mr. and Mrs. H. Meyer, Mr. and Mrs. F. McMyler, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Cook, and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Rieke.

Jim McClure was general chairman of the dance with Betty Ann Bohn serving as program chairman and Emalyn Remmel, decorations. Paul Kell headed the prize committee, while Alene Loeser headed the chaperone committee. Dick Bailhe and Bill McNulty were in charge of the check-room, and Don Meyer was chairman of the publicity committee.

French Will Hold Installation Rites

New Officers Will Officially Assume Their Positions In Meeting This Afternoon In 138

These officers are Mary Bowly, president; Caroline Lichtenberg, vice-president; Marjorie McMahon, secretary; and Laverne Michelfelder, point recorder. The retiring officers are Katherine Kuntz, Clara Makey, Joyce Reed, and Eleanor Christ.

Alene Loeser and one Jean Tracht will give reports on the history, geography, and customs of France. Caroline Lichtenberg is the program chairman.

The members will also discuss plans for their after-game dance to be held on February 21.

Latin Club To Hear Miss Blanche Hutto

The next meeting of the Latin Club will be in the form of a Valentine Party, February 13. The guest speaker will be Miss Blanche Hutto, who majored in Latin as well as art. She will discuss the "Influence of the Roman and Grecian Arts on the Modern Arts."

The meeting, which will be held in Room 65, will also consist of an exchange of Latin Valentines.

So-Si-Y Officer Elected Prexy Of Club Council

Marguerite Calkins Chosen Head Of Organization During This Conference

Marguerite Calkins was elected president at the mid-winter conference of the Girl Reserves' Inter-Club Council, January 23. The meeting was an all-day affair, which was held at the YWCA building.

Marguerite is a member of So-Si-Y in which she holds the office of service chairman. Previous to holding office as president, she was vice-president of the Inter-Club Council.

Officers of the USA were in charge of the registration. They are Marilyn Domer, president; Phyllis Crabill, vice-president; Grace Rendelman, secretary; and Carolyn Packler, treasurer. Martha Thomas, Joan Druhot, and Ilo Hirschman from So-Si-Y had charge of the luncheon.

The conference included various discussions, for example, devotions, led by Pathfinder Club of Wheatley Center and an open discussion led by Mrs. Otto Grant Jr., on "Program Planning This Spring." Miss Mary Elizabeth Dinsdale, Girl Reserve Secretary, gave an outline of the semester's work. She also led in community singing.

Other new officers are Wanda Lipp, vice-president; Lois Laster, secretary; and Kathleen McNamara, publicity chairman.

Retiring officers are Kathleen McNamara, president; Marguerite Calkins, vice-president; Wanda Lipp, secretary; and Alice Greine, publicity chairman.

Philo Arranges After-Game Hop

"Sweetheart Swing" To Follow Froebel Game; Mary Bowlby Heads Decoration Committee

Committees for Philo's after-game dance, the "Sweetheart Swing," to be held February 14, after the South Side-Froebel game, were announced at Philo's meeting Monday.

Mary Bowlby is chairman of the decorations committee. Assisting her are Margaret Meyer, Mary Burt, Dorothy Altevogt, Mary Carlo, Mary Dunbar, Betty Stein, Rozella Foutz, Lois Gumppe, Marilyn Gregerman, Frances Nash, Virginia Hill, Martha Shaffer, Harriet Greer, Ann Heller, Miriam Jackson, Carolyn McNabb, and Kathryn Kayser.

Charlotte DuWan is chairman of the program committee. Assisting her are Maurine Leas, Joan Cox, Katherine Kuntz, Jean Foreman, Faye Gumppe, and Betty Harrison. The door committee consists of Hilda Schubert, chairman, Kathryn Guild, Marg McNabb, Dorothy Gilead, Ruth Hageman, and Barbara Hadley.

Lois Gumppe, vice-president; Hilda Schubert, treasurer; Margaret Kienzie, secretary; Ellen Harry, program chairman, new officers of the semester, were installed into their offices by the new sergeant-at-arms, Faye Gumppe, who was installed by the president, Rebecca Abbott.

Cards were signed for Miss Martha Pittenger, dean of girls, and Miss Elizabeth Demaree, club sponsor.

Camenean Heads Arrange Meeting

Totem Picture Is To Be Taken Tomorrow In Room 114; All Members Urged To Attend

Newly elected officers will have charge of the next meeting of the Camenean Club, on February 18.

At 3:40 o'clock tomorrow, the Club Totem picture will be taken in Room 114.

At the meeting held Tuesday, installed officers were held, which the old officers explained and turned over their duties to the present officers. They also expressed their opinion as to their particular office. Marian Roebel, former president, thanked the members and Miss Mary and Miss Edith Crowe, the club advisers, for their help in making her duty a pleasure.

Miss Mary Crowe, on behalf of herself and her sister, Miss Edith Crowe, expressed their appreciation of the cooperation of the officers and club members in helping to make a success of the club.

The committee in charge of the meeting which was devoted to the topic of reading was Eva Jean Wylie, chairman, Ruth Cyr and Miriam Seemeyer. Eva gave suggestions what to read and indicated that one should read only books in which he is interested. Ruth stated one should read with mind entirely on the subject. Miriam then tried to convince the members that reading is really a pleasure.

Two games were played at the last meeting. The one consisted of letters of the alphabet given, which were to be rearranged so as to form titles of books. The other game was to identify slogans used by various companies by naming the product which they advertised. Refreshments were served at the end of the program.

Booster Club Needs Tournament Sellers

Since South Side is to be host for the Sectional and Regional basketball tournaments this year, the Booster Club will be in charge of selling refreshments at the games. As a result, new members are needed. Any person interested in this work may report to either Miss Nell Covault in Room 184 or Miss Mary Pocock in Room 30.

A Roving Reporter Visits The Lincoln Foundation Exhibit

By Margaret Kuntz
Your roving reporter recently visited the Lincoln National Life Foundation, which was established for the purpose of gathering and organizing historical information about Abraham Lincoln's life and work. The procedure for gathering this vast amount of information about Lincoln took much work for a period of twelve years. This series of "Famous Lincoln Collections" falls into four classifications: library, museum, gallery, and archives.

List Library Contents
The library contains several subdivisions of literature, which all refer directly or indirectly to Abraham Lincoln. One section is devoted to Lincoln exclusively, having books and pamphlets based on him. The most rare of all the books acquired is Vose's "The Life and Speeches of Abraham Lincoln" and "Hannibal Hamlin", there being only two other copies in existence. Among the scarce campaign biographies in foreign languages is a biographical sketch of Abraham Lincoln; a sixteen-page booklet written in German. Another section of the library is devoted to a collection of books which are of the same editions that Lincoln is known to have read. A Swiss Bible like the one used by the Lincoln family in Kentucky. The library contains over 3,000 magazine articles discussing some phase of Lincoln's life.

The museum division contains the bronze statue of Abraham Lincoln at the entrance of the foundation, which portrays Lincoln as a Hoosier youth leaning against a tree with a dog at his side, an axe nearby, and a book in hand. Also in this collection are several bronze statues and busts of Lincoln, numerous plaques, and a collection of bronze medals. Under the museum divisions are tokens of political campaigns, mourning badges, and mementos pertaining to Lincoln's death and funeral services.

Rare Subjects Collected
The gallery of Lincoln pictures includes many rare subjects in wood cuts, engravings, etchings, etc. Many of America's best known artists have made for the foundation oil paintings representing various episodes in Lincoln's life. A favorite among these is "Lincoln at His Mother's Knee", which is a popular mother and son portrait. A large and valuable collection of original Lincoln photographs is assembled there, some of which are autographed in Lincoln's own hand.

The archives division of the Lincoln Foundation contains over 30,000 manuscripts. Among these are hundreds of family letters and twelve hundred original Kentucky manuscripts, some dating back to 1780. This collection is perhaps the largest known of any one man, excluding characters from the Bible.

Principal Announces Activities Of Classes

Class activities for the coming semester have been announced by Mr. R. Nelson Snider, Archer principal. The Senior Fun Fest will be held March 28. Other senior activities are as follows: Senior Play, April 24; Ivy Day, May 16; Recognition Day, June 6; baccalaureate services, June 8; and commencement services, June 11.

The Junior Prom will be presented May 2, and the sophomores will have their annual party May 9.

Heads Boy Scouts

A. W. Kettler

"I consider it quite an honor to serve such a worthwhile enterprise," said A. W. Kettler upon being elected president of the Anthony Wayne Boy Scout Council. Mr. Kettler presided over the meetings of this council which is made up of members from nine counties in Northeastern Indiana.

The council meets about seven or eight times a year to discuss or pass approval on the various Boy Scout activities of this section. A National Council meeting is held annually at different cities in the United States. Last year, Mr. Kettler attended this event at Oklahoma City.

As you know, the Boy Scouts are a part of the Community Chest in which Mr. Kettler takes an active part. He is also active in other civic organizations, being vice-president of the Park Board, and prominent in church enterprises.

In regard to the importance of Boy Scouts today, Mr. Kettler believes that the program represents the American way for all boys. Living the Scout laws and learning the oaths, sets up a democratic way of doing things, which certainly benefits the future of every Scout. Mr. Kettler believes. It builds the individual and develops his character and ideals, he says. The Boy Scouts form a definitely worthwhile civic organization according to Mr. Kettler, who feels privileged to be able to help and serve the young boys of America.

Times Has Subscribers Totaling 738

About Half 1,500 Goal Has Been Reached According To Circulation Manager

Display To Mark Publication Week

Two Posters, Dummy Sheet, Three Types Of Proof To Be Exhibited This Month

Subscriptions, totaling about one half of final goal of 1,500, had been recorded by Tuesday evening, according to the announcement made by Becky Abbott, Times circulation manager. The goal for the semester is 1,500 subscriptions, although it never has been reached.

Meeting of all room agents was held Wednesday in Room 114. Brother and sister slips were given out to the agents. Today's is the last free issue of the Times, after which those who pay at least 25 cents will receive the Times.

Display To Be Shown
During the semi-annual Times Week, which will be held February 10 to 13, a display will be placed in the front hall. Included in the exhibit will be two posters, dummy sheets, three types of galley proof, old copy, and the actual galley of type.

Thus far features on the copy staff and the circulation staff have appeared in The Times. In the coming issues the various other staffs will be featured. The purpose of this series is to bring about greater familiarity by students of the details of the publication of The Times.

A complete list of the home room agents and their room subscriptions follows:

Flying Cadet Scholarships Being Offered

High School Graduates Accepted By U. S. Can Make $10,000 In Three Years

High school or college graduates of Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia, and Indiana, who qualify for the United States Army Flying Cadet scholarships are offered a $25,000 professional education plus more than $10,000 in earnings in little more than three years, it was announced at Fifth Corps Area Headquarters, Fort Hayes, Columbus, Ohio.

Two hundred forty-five scholarships, leading to careers in aviation, weather forecasting, and allied fields, now are being awarded every month. More than a thousand youths from the four states already have won them.

In calculating earnings of Flying Cadets, the following sums were included: The monthly pay of $75 drawn by cadets during their nine-month training course or a total of $675; dollar a day food allowance or $1,270; the monthly pay of flying school cadets, (including rental allowance of $40, which in three years totals $8,330. To these sums may be added a bonus of $500 paid whenever the cadets return to civilian life or a grand total of $10,283.

Applicants must be unmarried, male American citizens at least 20 years old and not yet 27 who are physically fit and pass a scholastic examination covering subjects on the curricula of most high schools. Two years of college exempts applicants from mental examination.

Applicants fulfilling these requirements may obtain further particulars at any Army Recruiting office.

Times Reporter Is Visitor At Session Of Marionette Club

As we go through the door of Room 61, we are greeted by Miss Hutto, the Marionette Club adviser. The room itself is overflowing with atmosphere. There is a marionette stage in one corner, and all about the room hang small figures dangling from strings. These are the marionettes.

After a short business meeting, the club members begin work on various projects. The club is divided into several groups according to which type of marionette the member is most interested in. First we'll see what this group is doing. They seem to be working with much bigger marionettes. This group is the one that is producing Aladdin and the Wonderful Lamp, which is soon to be finished. All the marionettes are being made by hand. The finishing touches. There's Aladdin, complete with lamp and turban. The scenery for the play is spread out on desks tops for finishing while members of the cast are studying their lines.

Over in another corner a group of marionette-minded people are working on a play, but are using much smaller marionettes. These marionettes have either wood or paper mache heads. The members of this group are at this time working on the heads for various puppet bodies. The paper mache heads are made of paper soaked in paste and water, then put on clay molds. Here it is allowed to dry. When dry, it makes a hard and durable head, after being cut away from the clay model. The wooden heads are carved from blocks of balsa, a soft and workable wood. After the head has been made, it is painted to have a life-like appearance.

Coming around to another corner of the room, we see members of the club learning how to manipulate the complicated strings of marionettes. To make the puppets, as they are sometimes called, wiggle, wiggle, the control; to make it bow, pull up the ball of the control, and so forth. These people are practicing on a stage belonging to the club.

Now that we have taken you behind the stage, so to speak, of a Marionette Club meeting, we think that you will have to admit that this club is doing a fine job.

So-Si-Y Arranges Party For Guests

Junior, Senior Girls Invited To Meeting Tuesday; Members To Make Dolls For Children

So-Si-Y's meeting next Tuesday will be a membership party. All junior and senior girls are invited to attend this meeting.

In connection with the membership party, service work will occupy most of the time. The project for the meeting will be the making of cuddle dolls. These dolls have been put out by Margaretie Calhoun and her committee, Marjorie Gerding, Elizabeth Kelso, Bernadine Bender, Betty Porter, and Margaret Kienzel. The dolls will be taken to the Pikes Relief Home for the small children.

Joan Druhot will have charge of the social part of the meeting. Refreshments will be served at the close of the meeting.

Mrs. Harry Hogan gave a book review on "Harvest" by James Hilcomb at the meeting of January 28. Mrs. Archie Keene, who was scheduled to give the book review, sent Mrs. Hogan as her proxy. Mrs. Hogan was introduced by Marjorie Voltz, who had charge of the meeting.

Meterite Club Names Theme For Semester

"Choral Reading" is the theme of Meterite Club for this semester, it was announced by Miss Susan Peck at the meeting in the Greeley Room Tuesday. The chairman for the committees are as follows: Program chairman, Dorothy Meyer; music chairman, Evangeline Wither; social chairman, Peggy Needham; publicity chairman, Wanda Boney; house chairman, Joan Carman.

Miss Peck urges all freshmen and 10B's with B or above in English and all other grades passing to come to the meeting. Dues for the semester are 25 cents.

Here's A View Of Another Staff, This Time Circulation

"Would you like to subscribe for The Times?" I know you hear that for weeks at the beginning of every semester, and it gets pretty tiresome. But did you ever realize that without your subscription, we wouldn't have a school paper? Subscriptions and advertisements pay for the high expense of making up and printing any newspaper.

The circulation department is organized to "put over" every campaign the paper has. Each room in the building has a home room agent appointed by the circulation manager according to his ability and eagerness to support South Side. It is the room agent's job to get subscriptions in their home rooms, collect payments, and report every night to their assistants.

These assistants, six in number, are appointed by the circulation manager to help things run smoothly, and are responsible for ten or eleven rooms and room agents. These assistants tabulate the subscriptions of a room in their individual notebooks, which are numbered I to VI. If there is a doubt as to whether a certain person in a certain home room has subscribed, the agent goes to his assistant, who looks up that room and tells him immediately if the person in question has subscribed. (We hope he has).

Our ultimate goal in every campaign is 1500. The nearest to that ever gained was 1284, which was reached last semester.

Kelly Boiler Room Is Setting For Unusual Party Of Faculty

Did you ever think of a boiler room as a place for a party? This was the place that the men teachers entertained the women teachers of South Side at the mid-term vacation. The invitation, written by Mr. Benjamin Null, is as follows:

"Dear Gals: We know, dear Gals, we know full well how great the fall will be. From teas like those the ladies give With form and dignity.

We like, dear Gals, we like so much Your dainty things to eat. Prepared with neatness and with skill And served with hands petite.

But O, dear Gals, we also know Our debt is not small. So now we long, O how we long! To square things up with you.

We're men, dear Gals, crude, rough hewn men, With manners coarse and raw; But join us, won't you, in our feast, To guzzle, growl, and gnaw.

Hot dogs, stewed beans, corn bread, head lettuce, stewed prunes, and coffee made up the menu. The women faculty enjoyed this immensely and here are a few of their acceptances:

"Dear Boys: We know, dear Boys, how well we know The dash that you will make—; When on our plates you'll heap good things Including juicy steak.

We like substantial things to eat Oh yes, dear Boys, so much. Prepared by strong and manly hands Yet gentle in their touch.

You know, dear Boys, to some of us There is no debt to pay. But I'll be there to feast with you And hope you'll let me stay." —Miss Fiedler

"The term is done, and the grade books, Dog-eareds betraying their plight, Are no worse looking than we are Depressed from working all night.

I see the commas and the run-ons Gleam through the rain and the mist, And a feeling of tiredness comes o'er me That my soul cannot resist.

Like strains of martial music, Those senior themes suggest Life's endless toil and endeavor And now I long for rest.

Come find for me some poem Which simple and heartfelt you deem, That will soothe this restless feeling And banish all thoughts of a theme.

Why here is one in my mail box, Writ by a bard sublime! I bet his footsteps will echo Through the corridors of Time.

Such rhymes have power to quiet The restless pulse of care, And come as the end of the class hour In answer to students' prayer.

I'll come to your feast of the poets, And the cares that infest the day Shall fold their tents like the Boy Scouts And noisily scamper away." —Miss Rinehart

"Dear Rough Hewn Men: Three E's Will Hear Reports This Saturday

Reports on interesting words will be given by Vivian Shamburger and Janet Holtmeyer at the Three E's Club meeting, which will be held Saturday, promptly at 2:30, at the home of Elaine Hirsch, 536 West Packard Avenue. A short musical program is also planned.

Members are reminded that they should pay their 30 cents for the Totem picture as soon as possible.

Philalethians Hold Annual Musicales

Program Is Staged At Home Of Katherine Kuntz, February 2; Participants Are Listed

Philo held its annual musicale at Katherine Kuntz's home Sunday, February 2. A trio consisting of Hilda Schubert, celloist; Paye Gumpfer, violinist, and Lois Gumpfer, pianist, played "Pizzicato Gavotte"; Mildred Hanke, pianist, played "In a Monastery Garden" and "Fifth Overture Fantasy"; Ione Jean Tracht played "Liebestraum" on the piano and Wilma Lageman, "The Butterfly".

Singers of the afternoon and their selections were: Mary Whittier, "A Brown Bird Singing"; "Morning"; and "The Lilac Tree"; Charlotte Du Wan, "Ouvre Ton Coeur" and "Indian Love Call"; Jean Weil, "A Nightingale Sang in Berkeley Square".

Ruth Dauner, Helen Savage, Lois Craig, and Emelyn Remmel composed a quartet which sang "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice" and "My Beautiful Lady". They were accompanied at the piano by Betty Koehler.

These Orders Are For Scholars Who Are Absent, Tardy

For the benefit of incoming freshmen, the following article on attendance rules has been written. These freshmen and all other students may obtain permission to be absent from a class in only a few cases. Members of musical organizations, athletic teams, and those in other contexts, and those engaged in Times or Totem work are excused when it is absolutely necessary. Sometimes, those who wish to follow our teams out of the city are excused, but permission must be obtained before doing so.

Pink slips are necessary when a pupil must enter a class after it has begun. These are obtained at the office. When a pupil is tardy, he must go to the office and ask for a slip to get into class. As a general rule, all tardiness must be made up after school. Slips are also given to those who have been taken from classes.

Pupils are required to bring excuses after they have been absent. The excuses from home are taken by the pupil to the attendance clerk in the attendance office before the home room period. The clerk will then give the pupil an admit slip, which must be signed by all the teachers from whose classes the student has been absent and then returned to Room S after the last teacher has signed it. If the excuse is accepted, a white admit slip is given and pupils are permitted to make up work; if not, a pink slip is given and pupils are not permitted to make up missed work.

If a student skips his classes, his parents are held partly responsible. When a student is absent without the knowledge or consent of the parents, he is automatically excluded from classes until the parents see the principal and arrange for the pupil to come back to school.

No pupil may leave the building during the day unless he obtains special permission from the office or from the dean of girls, Miss Pittenger. Teachers themselves may not give this permission.

Cinder Coach Issues First Call For Hoping Thinly Clads

Spring Track Season Starts With Practice

Some Stars Remain From Team Of Last Year; Good Prospects Are Shown

First call has already been made for members of South Sides varsity track team to report for practice for the 1941 spring track season, which gets its start in the Gary Relays at Notre Dame in March. Coach George Collyer has hinted that South Side may be as tough this season as they were last year, at which time they won the sectional meet and toppled North Side off the throne of supremacy.

Missing from this year's squad will be some of the more outstanding stars, but early practice and hard workouts can be expected to do their part in building an efficient squad. Coach Collyer also expects to use many of his older, more experienced men to balance the squad.

Close Looks Promising
Coach Collyer hopes to draft Chuck Close, Chick Shimer, and Gus Feistkorn onto the track team after they complete their basketball activities. Chuck looks even more promising at the beginning of this season than he did last year. In Chick Shimer, our coach has one of the fastest track men in the city. Chick proved himself last season as a member of the relay team that went to state. Gus Feistkorn, a large reason for our basketball team's success, will also join the tracksters following the hardwood campaign. Gus was rapidly making a place for himself last year, and he should prove to be a big asset to the team this season. He ran his best with the quarter-mile relay squad.

Other stars back from last year include Art Parry, an important member of the previous season's state relay team, who will again run the half-mile relay; Rudolph Wuttke, our broad jump star, who will be in there to show his wares again this year. Rudy was a member of the Archers' state track squad last year.

The hurdling position will be well filled by Lester Oppenlander, who had some experience along this line last year under "Superman" Vogel, and Tom Thiele. Jim Workman will again strengthen the quarter-mile relay team. Another ardent Archer trackster returning from last season is Bill Miller, outstanding in the quarter-mile relay and the quarter-mile run. Bill has the stamina and speed needed to win if he just exercises them.

Probable Schedule Listed
Richard Kilpatrick, one of Mr. Collyer's recent track finds, will return this year to carry off honors in the high jump for South Side.

A tentative schedule has been compiled by the athletic department. This schedule includes all the teams we meet except Huntington, which will have to be arranged for later. Schedule is as follows:

Gary Indoor Relays at
Notre Dame	March 29
Marion	April 1
Green	April 1
City Meet	Tentative (April 15)
Proebel and Mishawaka at
Mishawaka	Tentative (April 26)
City Meet	Tentative (April 19)
Proebel at Mishawaka
Kokomo Relays	May 3
Sectional Meet	May 17
State Meet	May 24

Play By Play Of Redskin Fray

South Side's Archers established themselves as definite possibilities for sectional and further laurels by humbling a highly rated North Side Redskin five, 37 to 31. For those of you who wish to review the scoring or the most exciting periods of the tilt, The South Side Times sports staff presents a shot-by-shot cover of the game which follows below:

(First Quarter)
2-0 Dallas Zuber hits field goal from foul line.
2-1 Corny Ervin sinks one charity toss.
4-1 Feistkorn hits a tip-in shot.
6-1 Gus hits two free throws.
(Second Quarter)
8-1 Bob Hines counts a fielder on set-up play.
9-1 Chuck Close cages a gratis toss.
9-2 Jim Harrison sinks a foul.
11-2 Close hits a close-in shot. Redskins call time.
11-4 Bob Cowan reparks Reds with one-handed goal.
11-8 Cowan adds a foul toss.
12-5 Shimer matches Cowan with a free throw.
12-7 Jim Hinga scores on a rebound.
12-9 Cowan adds another field goal. Archers stall.
(Third Quarter)
12-11 Bob Young counts on a set-pass from Hinga.
12-12 Close fouls Hinga, who ties the score.
12-13 Bob Young gives Reds lead with a foul toss.
12-15 Harrison hits from half-way out.
12-16 Hinga sinks a free throw. Time-out, South.
14-16 Close hits arching shot from back court.
16-16 Zuber dribbles floor for set-up effort.
16-17 Harrison hits foul. Close out. Knoll in.
18-17 Whitey Knoll hits from center line.

NEWS

ARCHER'S ARROWS AIMING AT TIGERS—With North Side already numbered among the victims of the local cagers, the Archers are looking with vengeance toward Central. But more toward Centralite Russ Wilkin, who put on a great one-man show the last time the Archers and Tigers met. The Tigers are big, tough, and unusually fast. Washington, and Wilkin are exceptional performers, who add the needed spirit to an otherwise dull outfit. As usual, this game is wide open with either team having a chance of winning or being humbled. North Side is coming. Central and South are cooling off; so, I'll pick the Archers.

MEMORIES AND MUMBLINGS—Do you remember the short quip in the column last week concerning Muff Davis? Well, it seems Muff revived last Friday at Huntington. The Elwood forward tossed in 22 points to help the Panthers whip Huntington. Also, in the last column, I paid special tribute to Bob Cowan for his 22 points against Central. But Bob cooled off against South Side. Which all adds up to praise for Chick Shimer. The great Kelly guard had "taken care" of both of these lads when they appeared here. Hats off to a swell job by the city's outstanding defensive man, Chick Shimer. Bob Heiny of Central Catholic is beginning to come back, and if the return to form is complete by March, the Irish should be ready for another duo of titles. John Hackett, who has aired local high school sports for the past six years, has left WOWO and WGL in preference for station WING in Dayton. How can a sectional be complete without the sight of Hackett feverishly trying to outtalk the noisy rooters?... Hilliard Gates is now the head of the local radio sports staff. Don't forget your quarter tomorrow for a ticket to the Archer-Tiger game. North Side certainly looked weak against the locals; Hinga and Cowan were rushed on all of their tries. Washington's Hatchets really iced Central last Saturday, hitting 26 of 61 field attempts. Not bad! Of the games remaining for the Summit City cagers, these tilts should be the standouts: the Archer-Tiger clash; Central Catholic's battle with Bluffton; Central's tussle at Marion, and North Side's final test with Huntington. All of these games look like toss-ups. So, local fans, do not think that the Fort Wayne five are finishing out their careers with "breathers."

YOU FIGURE IT OUT—I'm still looking for the statistician who can classify Indiana teams by comparative scores. As evidence let's look at a strange trio of games. South Side lost to Huntington by 19 points, and dropped Elwood by 11. Yet, the Panthers upset the Vikings by six markers. It's a strange situation, but that is Indiana basketball!

BURRIS TOPS CAGERS—Hammond Tech dropped from first place in the state ranking by losing a 32-to-28 decision to the Owls of Muncie Burris. Here are the rankings for this week:

1. Muncie Burris.
2. Hammond Tech.
3. Anderson.
4. Washington.

North Side and Central drop from the first four because their current play is nothing spectacular. The Redskins looked sluggish against the Green, and the Bengals were beaten decisively by the "hot" Hatchets of Washington.

BATTLE FOR SECOND SPOT—With Russ Wilkin holding a comfortable lead in the city scoring chase, the real battle is being waged for the runner-up post. At this writing, which includes all scores to date, three netters have an excellent opportunity to grab the spot. Gus Feistkorn now holds the position, with Bengal Washington and Redskin Cowan within a foul and a fielder respectively of the Archer center. Here are the leaders:

	F.G.	P. T.
1. Wilkin, C.	55	41 151

High Schools Plan Tournament News

South Side, North Side, Central Have Part In Issuing Paper For Sectional Basketball Tilt

The Tournament News, edited by the three city high schools' publications staffs, will be published for the sectional tournament February 27. The paper will consist of about twenty pages, a page about each of the sixteen teams participating in the tourney.

South Side is in charge of the contents, North Side the advertisements, and Central the circulation. All the schools will assist each other in the work. To get the news for the pages, someone from each of the schools will have to go to sectional high schools.

Central is contacting Leo, Harlan, Huntertown, Arcola, and Lafayette Central; North Side will travel to Columbus, City, Jefferson Center, and Coesse; and South Side is in charge of New Haven, Woodburn, Monroeville, Hoagland, and Elmhurst pages. The paper will be given free to all subscribers. All others will be charged ten cents a copy.

Girls' Sportsettes

Congratulations go to all the girls who have bowled recently for GAA. Some of these girls are Ilo Hirschman, Norma Russell, Sally Ogden, Gloria Hardendoff, Joan Spore, and Kathleen Sanders.

This week we wish to salute Laurel Bacon, a hard working GAA'er, an excellent player in ping pong, and hard to be beat in any other sports.

GAA's ideal girl this week should have the speedball ability of Phyllis Jackson, the hockey ability of Jeanne Smith, the basketball ability of Frances Nash, the volleyball ability of Geneva Martin, and the tumbling ability of Bernadine Pressler.

GAA should be proud of those three Pressler girls: Bernadine, Marjorie, and Barbara, a new freshman this semester.

Congratulations go to Marilyn Bullerman, Alice Dolin, Maxine Beck, Marilyn Domer, and Phyllis Amstutz for leading their teams to victory in the gym class volleyball tourney.

GAA has some good tumblers to be proud of. Some of these are Bernadine Pressler, Marjorie Pressler, Florence Anderson, Jo Ann Spore, Kathleen Neith, Pat Ehle, and Jeanne Smith.

Gus Feistkorn Gets 18 Points In Two Games For 123 Total

Adding 18 points in games against the Redskins and Kokomo, Gus Feistkorn has raised his season scoring total to 123 counters. Bob Hines tossed in 16 markers in the same two tilts to boost his total to 93 points. Both Gus and Bob have played in all but one of the Archers' 16 clashes.

Dallas Zuber and Chick Shimer, who rank behind the two leaders in the team scoring standings, have seen action in every game. Chuck Close is in fifth place with 35 points, and the rest of the squad is fairly well divided in the remaining counters. Here are the standings:

	G.	F.G.	F.T.	Tot.
Gus Feistkorn	15	46	31	123
Bob Hines	15	29	35	93
Dallas Zuber	16	22	31	75
Chick Shimer	16	22	19	63
Chuck Close	15	15	5	35
Bill Knoll	12	15	1	31
Tom Brower	14	6	3	15
Bryce Augsburg	10	6	2	12
Bob Babbitt	5	5	2	12

Second Place In City Is At Stake As Green Meets Blue

Kelleys Have Chance To Tie With Tigermen

Victory By Central To Put Them In Second With Archers Trailing Behind

Coach Murray Mendenhall's Tigers of Central will entertain the Archers on Saturday night at the North Side gym. If the Kelly Kids can register a win, the locals will finish their city play in a tie for second place with the Tigermen.

Central can gain undisputed possession of the runner-up spot by dropping the Green. The varsity game will start at 8:30 o'clock, with the usual second team prelin game to precede the feature attraction.

Central approaches the meeting with a far better record than the Archers, for the downtown basketball team has a dismal start to hang up seven successive wins. Coaches Mendenhall and Dornte will lead off with Bengals Washington, Wilkin, Tackett, Barfell, and Van Ryn.

Wilkin High Scorer

Russ Wilkin is at the present time pacing the city scorers with 153 points, while Bill Washington is third in the scoring chase with 122 markers. Both of these lads are fast and tough. Wilkin single-handedly accounted for the Blue's 42-to-41 win over the Archers early in January.

Dick Tackett is a good center, being capable of dependable play on offensive and defensive. Guards Barfell and Van Ryn are relatively new cogs in the Blue machine, but both fit well into the Tiger set-up. Other Centralites almost certain to see action are Fred Shaw, Charlie Stanski, and Red Sitko.

The Archers will be ready to "shoot the works" against the Tigers, for the Green has nothing to loose and everything to gain by a win. Coach Friddle will start Shimer and Zuber at guards, Hines and Close in the forward positions, and Feistkorn at center. Gus has proved his merit to the Archers this year, as is evidenced by his gaining second place in the city scoring standings.

Hines, Close Dependable

Chuck Close has come slowly, but the big Green forward has been looking better in each succeeding tilt. Bob Hines needs no commendation from this source for his fine work, as every Archer has long ago realized that Bob is the main cog in the Green machinery.

Guards Shimer and Zuber have no match in this district, and it will be interesting to watch these lads handle Bengals Wilkin and Washington on Saturday.

South Side is decidedly the underdog in this match, for the Archers have come fast and a majority of the city's fans are expecting the Green to take the Blue into camp.

Archers Find Thrill In Riding Toboggan Going At Fast Speed

By Karl Eberly

"Some snow at last, now I can have some fun." Those were my thoughts as I glanced out of a window, not so long ago, and saw the several inches of snow which had fallen during the night. I hurried to the telephone and called several of my friends. We finally decided to take advantage of the wonderful snow by going tobogganing. With one of my friends driving, we hooked a toboggan onto the rear of the car. There were six of us. The toboggan only hold four; so we took turns at driving and riding. There was very little traffic that day, and we had a very enjoyable time driving up and down the lesser-used streets and parkways. I know of no other thrill that can compare to the swift speed of a toboggan when it is being pulled along at twenty-five or thirty miles per hour. Of course, we had spills—plenty of them, for it is a real trick to learn the proper balance so that one will not overturn.

Ride Three-man Toboggan

After about an hour of riding four on the toboggan, we took turns at riding a three-man toboggan. This was much harder to do. One time, when three of my friends were riding the toboggan, it overturned in some gravel at the side of the road. They each slid about seven feet, as was borne out by the mute testimony of the paths which they had made. The sled was splintered in several places, and the three "comrades in peril" stated in no uncertain terms that they would never be able to sit down again.

But after a brief rest period at one of the boy's houses, we were on the go again; and, after four enjoyable hours of this sport, we called it a day. The next day, however, we were on the go again and this time it just about beat twice as many fellows. In fact, there was quite a long procession of snow scooters behind the car. First came a two-man sled, a four-man toboggan, and finally a single-man sled.

I believe that the greatest thrill of the day was riding that final sled, for it was the hardest of all to stay on. The most uncomfortable position was the number-one position on the toboggan, for a huge quantity of snow was kicked up by the front sled, and when one was through riding he was covered with snow and nearly frozen stiff.

But it still was a lot of fun. I believe, as do many others, that there are no greater sports than those which come during the winter. Whether it is tobogganing, skiing, or ice skating, there is always the stimulating speed and invigorating exercise which comes with winter sports.

Does Team Have Good Time? Read Member's Description

By Gus Feistkorn

Our fighting South Side Archers left the portals of South Side, bound for Kokomo at precisely 4:31 o'clock last Saturday, after defeating a hard fighting Northern squad the night before. The entire squad was in high spirits, confident of victory, and a little fatigued, which was one of the reasons for our defeat that night.

After eating an enjoyable supper at the South Side Grill, we climbed into our bus and started on our way. On the way down, Bryce Augsburger furnished the entertainment by playing various tunes on his "uke" while the rest of us sang (if you want to call it such). Even the coachman joined in on the chorus of "We Had a Little Party Down at Newport". Knoll and Babbitt, not to be outdone by "Mousie", wrapped their combs in paper and made weird sounds by blowing through them.

The coach told us that we had to be there at 6:45 o'clock because they set the varsity game at 7:15 o'clock so that some of the fellows could get home for their Saturday night dates. Being in love myself, I felt great until he said he was only kidding.

The game then came up and went down just as quick, as far as we were concerned. "My", I said to Knoll, who usually gets hot in the tight squeezes, "It looks like it isn't your night". After the game got going, Campbell went on a one-man scoring spree. I saw him stumbling, shooting on the run, and generally messing up our defense. Other than the defeat, we had a great time.

Shimer and yours truly are thinking seriously of becoming musicians. We can really swing out the rhythm on a "uke". My favorite tune (by the way, it has only four notes in it) is "Yankee Doodle", while Shimer goes for the classics, making up a few new tunes when his strings didn't get mixed up with his fingers.

All in all, (I am speaking for all the seniors who made their last scheduled trip with the team) we want to thank Coach Friddle, Mr. Davis, and all of South Side for the wonderful times they have given us since we entered the portals of South Side. We would also like to thank the many students of South Side who so loyally supported us this season.

Did You Express Your Ideas About Subsidizing Athletes?

By Sam Bacon

Subsidization of athletes has presented a great problem to amateur athletics in college. Practically every large university and some smaller colleges subsidize boys who show an ability in some field of sports.

Sports have become a major issue in many schools. If a college produces a good football team, the team's record will serve as publicity for that particular school. Whether or not that school's scholastic record is what it should be, the enrollment will soar to new levels if the athletic teams are exceptional.

Let's see just what goes on when a college subsidizes a student. First of all, the school is informed from reliable sources about the athletic ability of the prospect. Next, a field scout will watch the boy in action. If he is finally accepted, he is given a scholarship to attend that college.

Often we hear that such students are getting paid to attend school, but in reality they do have duties which they perform (or should perform). For example, in many schools the football players take care of athletic fields. In other colleges the athletes are given various other tasks for them to do about the campus.

Faults In System

Perhaps now you wonder what is wrong with subsidization. There are two major faults in this system. First, and probably the greatest evil, is the fact that this practice of paying athletes is kept such a secret. Why not bring subsidization out into the open? If there is nothing wrong with giving football players money, why don't the universities and colleges defend this principle they have adopted?

In some schools, however, subsidization should be kept a secret if they want it to remain. In such institutions students are paid large sums of money to participate in varsity sports. For example, many schools pay their athletes enough money so that they can send part of it home each month. Schools of this type disregard the original purpose for which sports and games are played, that based on willingness and interest in athletics.

Part Scholarship Plays

Another fundamental fault in subsidization is the lack of scholarship in choosing athletes. Some schools who have a high scholastic rating otherwise will employ students to participate in athletics, who do not approach the intelligence requirements for entrance at all. Chicago University corrected this practice; however, they went too far. It isn't necessary to do away with subsidization altogether. As long as the athletic scholarship holders can maintain the average grades required, they should be permitted scholarships; but today too many schools regard only athletic ability and not the scholastic standing of their athletes.

Subsidization has many fine points. If the principles of this practice were fairly administered, the paying of athletes would be beneficial not only to the school, but to the receivers of such scholarships as well.

Archers Take Redskin Scalp In City Contest

City Champs Are Tumbled By Green Netters 37 To 31; Hines Is Highest Scorer

North Side's so-called "power-house" Redskins, lacking any semblance of their vaunted power, fell before a greatly improving South Side team, 37 to 31. Most of the fans attending the Archer-Redskin tilt last Friday expected the city champs to turn in a win over the Green. But the locals greatly changed the minds of the overflow crowd as they outplayed and generally outclassed the Red.

North Side did not have the upper hand at any time, for the Archers were continually forcing the speedy Redskins to play their stalling game. Shortly after the opening whistle, Dallas Zuber drove under to count the first goal of the game. Conny Ervin counted a foul goal to give the Green a 2-to-1 advantage. Gus Feistkorn took up where Zuber left off, and the slender Archer center canned a tip-in and a brace of fouls to give the Fridliemmen the lead at the quarter of 6 to 1.

Green Leads Red

Bob Hines hit an easy one-handed shot to tie the Kelly count at the start of the second stanza. The Green then spurred to lead the Redskins 11 to 2. Cowan and Hinga combined to rally the Red forces and the half ended with the visitors on the short end of a 12-to-9 count.

North Side opened the third quarter with a sudden basket barrage which turned the tide in their favor. The Archers could make a comeback, the Reds ran the score to 16 to 12. However, Bill Knoll and Dallas Zuber came to the rescue of the locals. After Zuber had knotted the count at 16-all on a long dribble-up shot, Harrison gave the invaders the lead again by hitting a free toss.

Chuck Close left the game via this penalty. Bill Knoll brought the Green and White rooters to their feet as the white-headed forward hit a long fielder from the far center of the court. Gus Feistkorn hit a foul shot to give the locals a 19-to-17 lead. Harrison and Feistkorn traded goals before Zuber and Knoll again came through.

Knoll Comes Through

Bob Young, of North Side, tried a flying tackle of Dallas Zuber, a shot; Young followed Close to the bench on fouls and Zuber hit his foul. But Bill Knoll sensed the need for two more markers, and "Whitey" came through with another long field shot to give the Archers a 24-to-19 lead at the end of the third period.

North Side knotted the count at 30-all with four minutes gone in the fourth quarter. Bob Hines hit three fielders to give the hosts the victory. Both Feistkorn of the locals and Hinga of the Reds left the game on fouls in the last quarter. Summary:

Colored Basketball Coach Favors Tourney Equality

By Bob Young

Many highly publicized sports figures have at some time come to this city, but last week-end I had a short conversation with one of the most likeable sportsman I have ever met. The visitor was Mr. John D. Smith, whose national colored champions from Roosevelt High School of Gary were appearing in Fort Wayne against a strong local club. Mr. Smith has one of the most enviable coaching records in this section of the country, for his teams have won six straight national titles.

In starting off our brief conversation, I asked, "How do you feel about the admittance of colored and Catholic teams to participation in the annual IHSSA tournaments?" He replied, "For the sake of upholding the democratic ideals in our country, I think that we need the further unification which such a move would provide."

Bill In Legislature

Mr. Smith expressed great interest in the efforts of the Indianapolis Star to bring about such a change. He went on to say, "At the present time there is a bill in the state legislature which provides for such a change, but I am doubtful of the outcome."

"We tried hard to book a game with Central Catholics national champs this year", Mr. Smith added, but the Irish had a full schedule before our request. I am hoping that such a meeting may be arranged. The Gary fans would really go for a meeting between two national championship teams!" Following this statement, I queried the likeable mentor as to the chances for his five in the national tourney this year.

"Well", he said, "the competition will be tougher, so I can't say". Then the Gary tutor named a few of the quintets his Roosevelt cagers have beaten this year; among those were South Bend Catholic, Attucks of Indianapolis, and Wendell Phillips and Sullivan High Schools of Chicago. The Gary outfit has lost but one game, and that was to Lincoln Institute of Lincoln, Kentucky. About the defeat Mr. Smith stated, "The southern team was good, and they appear as our big threat in the coming national tournament."

Naturally inquisitive concerning the national meet, I asked for further particulars. He told me that the national tourney was an annual meet held at Fayetteville, North Carolina. Championship fives from eleven states compete in the meet, and the tournament is usually a hard-fought affair.

Offered IHSSA

Next, he told us that Roosevelt High School was to be offered a limited membership in the IHSSA. "We like to play other public and Catholic schools, and it would be a great thing for Indiana if our schools would be accorded full privileges."

Roosevelt's touring squad left Gary on January 27 and returned on February 2. In Fort Wayne the colored titlists defeated an all-star local team, 27 to 21. After leaving this city, the 10-man unit departed for LaSalle, Ohio. On the following evening the Roosies played Dunbar High School of Toledo, Ohio. John closed our brief talk by inviting South Siders to pay him a visit at any time that they might be in Gary.

Not many coaches are free to speak their minds or to offer any good criticism of our hardwood system, but Mr. Smith expressed the great desire of his race and the Catholic schools to meet on a par with our athletic teams. Perhaps his hopes will come true; but not until that time can we call Indiana the state of "equalization in athletic opportunity."

Following their impressive win-over North Side, the Archers traveled to Kokomo Saturday night where they fell before the host Kats by a 37-to-31 count. Carl Campbell, Kokomo's "Jewell Young", managed to hit enough one-handed push shots to settle the issue. While the locals played good ball throughout the entire tilt, the Kats seemed far more rested than the Archers. The Kelly Klads employed a slow game during the early stages of the game, but switched too late to a more effective fast break style of play.

With Gus Feistkorn and Dallas Zuber setting the pace, the Archers held the host Kats to a 7-all deadlock at the end of the first quarter of play. By the end of the first half, the Fridliemmen had grabbed the lead at 16 to 14. Hale, Turner, and Campbell looked best for the host Kokomo outfit during the first two quarters, while the invading Green Archers played more as a well-balanced unit.

Coach Pee Dee Campbell's cagers held the lead at the end of the third stanza, 25 to 23. The lead was regained largely through the efforts of Campbell, who hit two very important fielders to change the complexion of the tussle.

With about two minutes gone in the final period, the host club rallied to increase their advantage to 34 to 25. Coach Friddle employed reserves throughout much of the final quarter. Summary:

Mr. Smith expressed great interest in the efforts of the Indianapolis Star to bring about such a change. He went on to say, "At the present time there is a bill in the state legislature which provides for such a change, but I am doubtful of the outcome."

"We tried hard to book a game with Central Catholics national champs this year", Mr. Smith added, but the Irish had a full schedule before our request. I am hoping that such a meeting may be arranged. The Gary fans would really go for a meeting between two national championship teams!" Following this statement, I queried the likeable mentor as to the chances for his five in the national tourney this year.

"Well", he said, "the competition will be tougher, so I can't say". Then the Gary tutor named a few of the quintets his Roosevelt cagers have beaten this year; among those were South Bend Catholic, Attucks of Indianapolis, and Wendell Phillips and Sullivan High Schools of Chicago. The Gary outfit has lost but one game, and that was to Lincoln Institute of Lincoln, Kentucky. About the defeat Mr. Smith stated, "The southern team was good, and they appear as our big threat in the coming national tournament."

Naturally inquisitive concerning the national meet, I asked for further particulars. He told me that the national tourney was an annual meet held at Fayetteville, North Carolina. Championship fives from eleven states compete in the meet, and the tournament is usually a hard-fought affair.

Offered IHSSA

Next, he told us that Roosevelt High School was to be offered a limited membership in the IHSSA. "We like to play other public and Catholic schools, and it would be a great thing for Indiana if our schools would be accorded full privileges."

Roosevelt's touring squad left Gary on January 27 and returned on February 2. In Fort Wayne the colored titlists defeated an all-star local team, 27 to 21. After leaving this city, the 10-man unit departed for LaSalle, Ohio. On the following evening the Roosies played Dunbar High School of Toledo, Ohio. John closed our brief talk by inviting South Siders to pay him a visit at any time that they might be in Gary.

Not many coaches are free to speak their minds or to offer any good criticism of our hardwood system, but Mr. Smith expressed the great desire of his race and the Catholic schools to meet on a par with our athletic teams. Perhaps his hopes will come true; but not until that time can we call Indiana the state of "equalization in athletic opportunity."

Coach Fighting Tigers Of Central Kokomo Cats Too Much For Green, 37-to-31

Feistkorn, Zuber High Point Men With 9, 8; Reserves Get Chance For Action

Following their impressive win-over North Side, the Archers traveled to Kokomo Saturday night where they fell before the host Kats by a 37-to-31 count. Carl Campbell, Kokomo's "Jewell Young", managed to hit enough one-handed push shots to settle the issue. While the locals played good ball throughout the entire tilt, the Kats seemed far more rested than the Archers. The Kelly Klads employed a slow game during the early stages of the game, but switched too late to a more effective fast break style of play.

With Gus Feistkorn and Dallas Zuber setting the pace, the Archers held the host Kats to a 7-all deadlock at the end of the first quarter of play. By the end of the first half, the Fridliemmen had grabbed the lead at 16 to 14. Hale, Turner, and Campbell looked best for the host Kokomo outfit during the first two quarters, while the invading Green Archers played more as a well-balanced unit.

Coach Pee Dee Campbell's cagers held the lead at the end of the third stanza, 25 to 23. The lead was regained largely through the efforts of Campbell, who hit two very important fielders to change the complexion of the tussle.

With about two minutes gone in the final period, the host club rallied to increase their advantage to 34 to 25. Coach Friddle employed reserves throughout much of the final quarter. Summary:

Boy Scouts Assist In Raising Flags At Archers' Games

This week being Boy Scout week, it is only fitting and proper to pay some compliments to those scouts that take part in the impressive ceremonies presented at the games.

At the beginning of a basketball game, three Boy Scouts open the evening game by raising the American flag. While the flag is being raised, the band plays the National Anthem. The three boys who take part in this impressive ceremony are Lawrence Bacon, Eagle rank with bronze palms, of Troop 38, Ronald Christoffersen, first class, of Troop 25, Jack Green, life rank, of Troop 38.

The Boy Scouts not only raise the American flag at the games, but those of other countries also. At the half of the Huntington game, the flags of South American countries were displayed. Fifteen Boy Scouts took part in the ceremony. The name of the country was announced over the loud speaker by Mr. Wainwright, then, while the band was playing the national anthem of the country, three Boy Scouts came out on the gym floor bearing the flag of that certain country.

The boys from South Side who took part are Bob Childers, Bob Zimmers, Jack McMillan, John Lamont, George Spears, Bill McNulty, and Tom Henry. The Boy Scouts from Harrison Hill are Gregg Glass, Dick Don Bitterberger, Howard Fishback was from Culver Military Academy.

Raising the flag at the basketball game is only one of the many activities of the Boy Scout organization. At the present time the scouts are entered in a Mid-West first aid contest. First of all there are troop eliminations to see which patrols go to the contest. Then the selected patrols go to the district contest. After a certain average is achieved, the patrols from Fort Wayne go to Butler Field-house in Indianapolis. From there, if they get a certain average, they travel to Chicago for the finals. There are so many points for each problem, and there are five problems.

Hi-Y Club Initiates Twenty-Five Boys

North Side Is In Charge Of Induction Ceremonies; Pencil Sale Campaign Is To Begin

Initiation of Hi-Y members was held at the meeting January 30 at 7:30 o'clock at the YMCA. Bill Goodwin and Dick Nahr were in charge, and they were assisted by members of the North Side Hi-Y who gave the North Side initiation into Hi-Y. The honor initiate was Richard Holzworth, vice-president.

Other initiates were John Heffelfinger, Dan Auer, Sam Johnson, Gordon Nelson, Bill Dwyer, Dick Dwyer, Howard Bloch, Gene Stehm, Warren Cook, Joe Bekius, Dick Brintzenhofe, Jim Gerig, Leslie Baumgartner, Carl Ortschalt, Dick Wilson, Dave Azar, Bob Gregg, Jim Holzworth, Dick Brouwer, Bob Holzworth, Keith Coverdale, John Gumpfer, Bill Goodwin, and Roger McVay.

Bill Goodwin, Bob Holzworth, Leslie Baumgartner, and John Heffelfinger were placed in charge of the check room at the North Side-South Side game. David Azar, Dick Nahr, and Jim Holzworth, and Bob Racht were placed in charge of the sales of a new pennant campaign. Dick Brouwer, Dick Wilson, and Jim Gerig were placed in charge of the sales in a new pennant campaign.

Sixteen Will Battle In Wrangler Meet

Humorous Declamation Contest To Be Run Off Throughout Monday In Speech Classes

Wranglers Humorous Declamation Contest will be held next Monday after school. Sixteen people have signed up, and they will compete during the day. A Wrangler medal will be presented to the winner, and the others will be recognized at Wranglers banquet.

Contestants and their subjects are as follows: Bill Bone, "The Raft"; Bob Guion, "Frog Farming"; Betty Hargan, "Brothers Take A Vow"; Mary Ellen Barrett, "The School Programs"; Alene Loeser, "The Cat Came Back"; Wilma Lageman, "Four O'clock At The Ship's Bait"; Ruth Cyr, "A Young Man's Fancy"; Wanda Baney, "Jane"; Marge Riehmiller, "China Blue Eyes"; Hilda Leininger, "Background"; Ruthann Steigler, "Laugh, Clown, Laugh"; and Caroline Lichtenberg, "Gertrude, the Governess". Those who have not yet chosen their topics are Kolman Gross, Bud Lampton, Carol Whitner, and Jerry Mansbach.

Discussion Is To Be Feature Of Social Sci

"Should the United States take a position of world leadership?" is the topic to be discussed by Marjorie Dyer and Evelyn Erickson at the regular meeting of Social Science to be held tomorrow in the Greeley Room at 7 o'clock. Bob Brooks will lead the discussion. The club will elect a parliamentarian from Ralph Sebold and Jim Brooks, who were nominated for this position. The proposal of visiting the City Council meeting next Tuesday will be discussed.

What Part Of School Is This?

There is a certain section in school that is not very well known to the average student. No, I'm not going to tell you what it is, but I am going to give a few hints as to what it is, and see if you can guess the name of this room.

a. It is in the basement, and you have to go through a long drawn out process in trying to find it.

b. You will find Mr. Maurice Cook down there giving instructions to some boys on how to become skilled in a certain field.

c. At the end of this spot there is a piece of wall that looks as though it has been pretty well battered up by some powerful force.

d. What father wouldn't go for one of these rooms in his old-fashioned house to practice up for his shot-gun weddings.

Answer: The Rifle Range.

Students, How Much Do You Know About Europe's Schools?

Modern education in Europe is much different from that in the United States today. Let us take England for the first example. Their present school system had its foundation laid in the latter part of the nineteenth century. The government appropriated money in proportion to the number of pupils in the school who passed the state examinations. The amount given to each school also depended upon the impression that was made upon the government inspector. This plan proved to have serious faults, so the schools were turned over to the local governments for supervision. But still the schools are governed greatly by the English government.

Another good example of European education (before the war, that is) is in France. The laws are very strict concerning the teachers. A teacher must have five to seven years in a university, and then he must take oral and written tests to prove his superior knowledge and his ability to present his subject before a class. Only those who are exceedingly brilliant are allowed to pass. This averages about ten per cent of each class tested. The national school system offers five years of primary work, eight years of secondary schooling, and the university course. The government is the only one to grant scholarships to primary, secondary, and university training institutions. Therefore, only a small portion, that is, the privileged classes, ever receive higher training.

As another example, the German school system is in decided contrast to our own. In 1934 schools were established for leadership. That is, thirty-two schools, each containing 4,000 pupils, were established to train prospective little "fuehrers". Then three ordensburgen, (citadels of the nazi order) surrounded by German mysticism and medieval trappings, were established along with the highest educational citadel—fuhrerschule. The training received in the latter school is equal to postgraduate work of any of our colleges plus strict military training.

The German starts his government, military and school training at the age of twelve. He leads a strict, secluded life. All of his initiative and originality are subdued even to his clothing—he wears a brown uniform like everyone else. Language, history, and leadership qualities are stressed to the utmost. There are no exams during his whole career.

After this fundamental timing, he is released for seven years for "practical life study". During this time he is assigned manual labor jobs. One-fourth of each class is picked for training at Ardensburg. Each group of students spends one year at each of the castles where they are taught mostly ideology. After this training, selections are made for fichters.

New Semester, New Friends; How About Some New Clubs?

Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of features written by Karl Eberly for the purpose of giving the student body, especially the new freshmen, accurate information concerning South Side's many worthwhile clubs.

A new semester has started; and, as everyone settles down for the coming period, many pupils begin to consider the extra-curricular activities in which they will participate during the coming school year. Those of you who have just entered as freshmen and those who have not, as yet, entered into any school activity, we urge to survey the clubs at South Side in order to find the ones you will like the best.

First of all, for the girls who are interested in good literature and who want to promote friendship and high ideals, there is the Philaethlean Society, better known as Philo. All girls who are making a B grade in English and who are 10A's, juniors or seniors are eligible for membership in this organization. Miss Elizabeth Demaree is the club adviser. The club colors are white and gold, and the flowers are the chrysanthemum and daffodil. This truly is a fine organization and it would certainly be worth a young girl's time to join it.

The music department offers a good outlet for the musical interests of South Side's student body. First is the band which plays at pep sessions, assemblies, games, and music assemblies. It also produces an occasional public concert. Then there is the orchestra for those students who wish to play string instruments. The orchestra plays for dramatic and musical productions and also for South Side radio programs. Last but not least is the Glee Club, for those students who wish to develop their voices. Many talented vocalists have been discovered and developed by the

Two hundred seventy-five students in the Foreign Language department least one book in the last semester. have read at least one book in the last semester. ## America's Future Leaders We Salute You!

The Boy Scouts of TODAY will be the leaders of the FUTURE!

They are now receiving the training that fits them for leadership in their adopted avocation. They are fine young citizens who are learning the high ideals and principles that will make them America's foremost and honored citizens as they grow up.

1—A Scout Is Trustworthy

A Scout's honor is to be trusted. If he were to violate his honor by telling a lie, or by cheating, or by not doing exactly a given task, when trusted on his honor, he may be directed to hand over his Boy Scout Badge.

2—A Scout Is Loyal

He is loyal to all to whom loyalty is due: his Scout leader, his home, and parents and country.

3—A Scout Is Helpful

He must be prepared at any time to save life, help injured persons, and share the home duties. He must do at least one Good Turn to somebody every day.

4—A Scout Is Friendly

He is a friend to all and a brother to every Scout.

5—A Scout Is Courteous

He is polite to all, especially to women, children, old people, and the weak and helpless. He must not take pay for being helpful or courteous.

6—A Scout Is Kind

He is a friend to animals. He will not kill or hurt any living creature needlessly, but will strive to save and protect all harmless life.

7—A Scout Is Obedient

He obeys his parents, Scoutmaster, patrol Leader, and all other duly constituted authorities.

8—A Scout Is Cheerful

He smiles whenever he can. His obedience to orders is prompt and cheery. He never shirks nor grumbles at hardships.

9—A Scout Is Thrifty

He does not wantonly destroy property. He works faithfully, wastes nothing, and makes the best use of his opportunities. He saves his money so that he may pay his own way, be generous to those in need, and helpful to worthy objects. He may work for pay but must not receive tips for courtesies or Good Turns.

10—A Scout Is Brave

He has the courage to face danger in spite of fear, and to stand up for the right against the coaxings of friends or the jeers and threats of enemies, and defeat does not down him.

11—A Scout Is Clean

He keeps clean in body and thought, stands for clean speech, clean sport, clean habits, and travels with a clean crowd.

12—A Scout Is Reverent

He is reverent toward God. He is faithful in his religious duties, and respects the convictions of others in matters of custom and religion.

"A Scout Is Helpful"

He must be prepared at all times to render services to his associates and his community. We strive to make use of this Scout Law constantly—every day. We want to be helpful to our friends and our community. By being helpful, we believe we can better serve you with best quality groceries at surprisingly low prices.

The Times And The Totem

Suit Fabrics Are Factors To Consider

Worsted, Gabardine, Flannel, Broadcloth, Tweed, Covert, Popular Cloths

Material, as well as style and color, is an important item to consider when buying a suit. There are all kinds of materials corresponding to the seasons and occasions for which suits are being worn.

For the manly or flashy type, there is the worsted-woven suit. Worsted is a combed yarn, to make all the fibers lay in one direction and its name is derived from its birthplace, Worstead, Norfolk, England. Clear-finished worsteds are made of a yarn given a considerable twist, while the softer, unfinished worsted yarn is woven slack. It is slightly sheared, and passed over hot presses. All in all a suit of good worsted material can always be counted on for long, hard wear.

For Winter And Spring

For both winter and spring suits there is the gabardine suit. This is a very versatile cloth for it may be worn in fall, winter, or spring. It is a very strong, twist woven fabric, showing diagonal cord threads. Many instances it is waxed to give it a sheen. Wool, cotton, and silk are used as the basic yarn. For a snappy looking cloth, gabardine takes first prize, and its adaptability makes it the all-American goods.

With the cold weather in our midst, one should stop and consider a fabric which affords sufficient protection against the wind and snow. Flannel fabric is undoubtedly the best for cold weather. Flannel is used not only for the conventional long underwear but also for good-looking suits and sport coats. Flannel is of Welsh origin, being the only fabric produced in Wales for centuries. It is a coarse-threaded, loosely-woven, lightweight cloth, of plain or worsted yarns with a napped, unfinished surface. For the person who wants to keep warm as well as stylish, a suit of flannel will fill the bill.

Then there is covert cloth. It is not as well known as most materials. However, it is an excellent material for coats and suits. Covert cloth receives its name from the practice of riding to covert (cover) in fox hunting, a sport that popularized this fabric, because it was rugged, snagproof and most often waterproofed. It is a medium weight, twilled cloth in quite natural heather shades. It is a durable and long-lasting material and clothes made of this fabric are sure to give long and satisfactory wear.

Tweed Is Popular

Just about the best-known fabric is tweed. It is the wool from a very strong sheep. The finest tweed wool comes from the British Isles, but due to the present war the imported fabric is scarce. However in recent years, the mills in America have made great strides in duplicating this fabric and tweed suits may still be purchased. Unfortunately the American-made tweed is not as good as the British and therefore the material cannot be too highly recommended.

Probably the finest and most expensive material is broadcloth. It is a finely-woven fabric of either silk or cotton. It has a plain, close weave, with either a white or a colored warp. The cotton broadcloth is highly merized to make it resemble silk. If you are looking for an excellent material in a suit give first consideration to broadcloth. It is a fine investment.

Pastels To Lead Spring Fashions

Light Colors Will Prevail In Sports, Casual Knock-Abouts; Tailored Frocks Are Stylish

For your hey-day in the sun this coming spring, you should be decked out in plenty of pastels. They are flattering; they are attractive; and they are definitely the vogue. Pastels are being worn this year in sport clothes, dressy apparel, and casual knock-about clothes.

First on your list of requested numbers for your spring wardrobe, you should have some of the new light woollens made in such attractive styles. They have that certain look about them that gives the wearer an air of distinction. One for the sophisticated dress with a little girl touch would be a smartly tailored top with three-quarter length sleeves gathered in a clever manner at the elbows, and having a slightly flared skirt. The color note is added by jeweled buttons and softly pleated muffed pockets.

Another is a variation of the classic theme that hits its stride this season. Hammered gold accents grow on this simply tailored classic with stitched down pleats, novel gold belt, and a soft shirred yoke back.

Of course, shirtwaist dresses are still in the running. These dresses are appropriate for almost any kind of affair. The new ones have long full sleeves gathered at the wrists and a loose open collar. The skirt is pleated all the way around in a snug fitting style. Since loud prints and stripes are all the rage this spring you will probably see many colorful shirtwaist frocks.

The jumpers which made a popular showing last spring are again being shown for 1941. They will come in many of the new gorgeous pastels made from light woollens and corduroy. A contrasting blouse of stripes or polka dots would set this kind of an outfit off nicely.

Casuals Becoming Best Liked Shoes

Dark, Light Footwear Made Of Saddle Leather Is Most Popular; Spectators Worn Often

Christmas, New Year's, and mid-semester vacations are over. In between now and spring, however, various activities will be held which you will want to attend. Perhaps you have purchased an outfit and plan to save it for special occasions. Suddenly, you realize that you have no shoes in your wardrobe to match your newly acquired outfit. If this is the case, here are several suggestions as to footwear.

If your dress is quite sporty, there are many kinds of sport shoes that you can purchase in the downtown stores. The saddle oxford is still quite popular with many girls, although other types of shoes are gradually taking its place. The brown and beige golf shoes with moccasin toes are extremely popular here at South Side. They are also featured in brown and white. There are the casuals, in dark and light saddle leather, or a combination of brown and white. These casuals are becoming as popular as the saddle shoes. There are many other types of sport shoes that you could wear, but these are just a few ideas that will help you decide.

If your outfit is dressy and you need a pair of dressy shoes to match, here are some suggestions that you might use. The spectator pump is probably the most widely worn by South Side coeds. It is a suede shoe trimmed in either alligator or kid. The new-alligator pumps and sandals are exceedingly stylish. They are also showing pumps with wooden or plastic heels this spring, which add a unique touch to the new footwear.

The red, white, and blue shoes are really news this spring. You've probably worn red shoes with evening clothes before, but this year you'll want to wear them for afternoon wear as well. Navy blue buckled calfskin will be shown in both pumps and sandals. The red and blue being trimmed in parade-red alligator. This spring you will find an accumulation of ideas for shoes, and these are just a few of them. So remember, no matter what you choose, be sure to watch your step.

Watch These Styles Obtain Prominence Before Your Eyes

You don't have to be a bloodhound in the fashion world to sniff out the ideas and themes that will dominate a new season. The clothes which are shown now for the fortunates who are going away for winter vacations, will probably set the pace for spring styles. Here are some things which you can check on yourself.

Watch . . . shoulders. They are going to be lower. The squared-off boxy type which has been with us for so long is being changed to a drooping one with almost no shoulder padding at all.

Watch . . . flexible plastics. skirts. They are slated to take the place of many of the full circular ones.

Watch . . . Army and Navy themes. Just now they are tops, but even if our national patriotism becomes hotter, military emblems may not hold a high fashion place for long, although the strong colors and some of the lines taken from the uniforms probably will.

Watch . . . white cotton lace. It is equally loved and becoming to many types of women and makes luscious trimming for a gay spring frock.

Latest Style Determines Girls' Dress

Starched Lace Is New Thing In Junior Formals; Silk Jersey Is Again Popular

Today the girls must not only be neat in their appearance but they must also wear clothes that are suited to their types and included in the latest fashion forecasts. This applies not only to every-day street clothes but to formal as well. In selecting the idea is to find out beforehand what the newest colors and styles shown for skirts and waists are, for they are going to be the latest thing in the fashion parade of 1941. This does not mean that last year's formals are taboo, but this is directed to the lucky girls that are looking forward to purchasing new ones this spring.

Formals Listed

The latest materials, shades, and styles as shown in the best fashion columns are announced for the coming spring. There has been little lace used up to now in the junior formals, but this year it is the newest thing. Starched lace has come in for the teen age dresses, and it is going over big with the younger crowd. Silk jersey is again a popular material used for spring frocks. This material can be draped in beautiful and flattering folds. It will be shown in pastel and bright colors.

Among the formal notes of the season is a starched chiffon model with long, full sleeves and a bouffant skirt. The South American theme will effect many new formal styles this spring. They will be of large flowered and bright plaid designs. A long sleeved white cotton blouse with a brightly-colored skirt and a wide sash makes up a loud but stylish, attractive formal. If you care to add still more color to this outfit, a pair of colored wooden beads would do the trick. Wild combinations of colors will no longer be stared at or considered out of place along the formal line, for this year they will be worn by the smartest-dressed girls. All long skirts are going to be much fuller than they have been in the last few years.

Theme To Be Patriotic

The patriotic theme is going to be carried out frequently in the new formal wear. Some gowns will be similar to the conventional sailor's suit. And the colors red, white and blue will be carried out in many attractive gowns and formal wraps.

Lace and velvet trimming are being shown on many of the new spring frocks. Stiff, white lace trimming on a formal with a wide-tipped skirt is bound to bring many "Oh's and ah's". If you care to add a little color to last year's white or light-colored formal, just place a few little velvet bows on the shoulders or the skirt of the dress.

Into the fashion parade pops a new shade of beige or champagne color. It has been shown in both strictly tailored formals and frilly tulle frocks. With all these new ideas about spring formal wear, you may look forward to a season full of brightly-colored and light pastel evening clothes.

Shirt Collars Are Important Details

Certain things can either make or break your appearance. A good appearance is the result of attention paid to the small details in the fitting of the garment.

The first of these small, but important details is the shirt collar. The shirt collar should always be seen over the top of the suit collar about one-half inch. The new shirts are made with the collar backs.

At least one-half inch of the shirt cuff should show below the bottom of the coat sleeve. This bit of the shirt in sight will add color to the suit,

Jerkins, Blouses Lead Style Parade

Silk Jersey, Suede, Knit, Are Favorite Materials; Corduroy Skirts Coming Back In Favor

Every so often the jerkin shows up in the fashion parade. This year it will be widely featured in silk jersey, suede, velveteen, bunny suede, and wool knit. A jerkin would just complete a sporty outfit composed of long-sleeved shirt and a full or pleated skirt.

Most of the blouses shown for the coming season are white, either baste, dotted swiss or broadcloth. Fine wale striped pique or plain white pique with eyelet embroidered collars and cuffs are suitable for any school wardrobe. Chambray material, which made its debut last spring, will again be worn this spring. Blouses, this spring, will for the most part, have long sleeves, some with adjustable cuffs. To add to the collection of blouses in your wardrobe, are the simple but attractive cotton blouses with short sleeves. They come in all colors and are just the thing to wear under your new spring sweaters.

For the girls who are mad about plaids, here is some welcome news. Plaid skirts will be widely shown in all colors this spring. The new pastel plaids make stunning skirts to wear with blouses or to match skirts. The plaid skirts, which are pleated all the way around, add much to any girl's wardrobe. Some plaid skirts have inverted pleats in the front and back, while others are made on the bias and have circular skirts.

Corduroy skirts, which were shown this winter, will again be featured this spring. The new colors which they will come in are yellow, beige, light blue, and pink. With so many things being patterned after Army and Navy uniforms, the new navy blue sailor skirt has been introduced. It has kick pleats in the front and back, and looks especially patriotic when worn with a white shirt and red patent leather belt.

Jewelry Becomes Important Element In Attire Of Males

Just as the wool knitted tie has become the most popular of ties, jewelry has become man's chief accessory. There has been a revolution in the whole industry so that it is practically a new market.

Boys and men alike are buying collar pins, cuff links (mostly brought on by the popular French cuff), tie clasps, and watch chains on the same basis that they buy shoes—not that they need more, just that they never can have too many. The jewelry, inexpensive as it is, is so effective that another item is always usable.

This great jewelry market has been revived in just the last year or two when men began to realize that this jewelry added a certain "oomph", so to speak, to their attire. These pieces of jewelry come in many different styles; the popular colors being either silver or gold.

The most popular accessory in the jewelry line is the key chain. There are a number of styles that this chain is most popular in. The chain part may be of the "log chain" variety or may be small and finely woven. Most of these chains have places for your personal initials. All these various pieces of jewelry are very important to your appearance, so here's to seeing more jewelry.

height to the wearer, and complete the tapering of the coat sleeve.

Another important item that should not be overlooked is the break in the trousers. The short, flapping trouser leg at the ankle is a thing of the past. One small and neat break should always appear at the instep of the shoe. The correct trousers are made from a taper at the full hips through knees that are four or five inches wider than at the cuff. This break coordinates the taper.

Topcoat Styled

Topcoat Styles Offer Warmth For Wearer

1941 Overcoats Are Finely Woven In Medium Weight Making Garment Lighter

As it is now topcoat and raincoat time, we thought it would be fitting to give a few tips on what is in style this year in topcoats and overcoats. The topcoats this season are not only for the purpose of keeping the wearer warm, but to make the wearer appear neat and well-dressed at the same time. The 1941 version of this new topcoat in fleeces, chevots, shetlands, and camel's hair are very finely woven in medium weights, giving warmth but making the garment lighter.

All the models are cut over full and loose body lines, whether they are single or double-breasted, with either the full raglan sleeve or the new set-in sleeves with the large and very deep-cut arm holes.

The most popular topcoat models this season are cut in the practical—just below the knee—length. This is true for all types and sizes of fellows, because this length is more comfortable for walking and getting in and out of an automobile. It will neither stretch the tall men nor cut off the short man.

Now for the raincoats. Up until a few years ago raincoats were intended to do nothing but keep out the rain, but today all this is changed, because the raincoats are made roomy and comfortable, light in weight, light in color, and best of all, light on the pocketbook. These raincoats are tailored equal to that of the finest topcoat. The popular models are made with raglan shoulders, fly front or button through, and shortened to a length of about thirty-eight to forty inches. Instead of the old rubber or oil coated material that cracked or peeled, science has developed a new process that waterproofs and windproofs the garment.

The popular colors of oyster white, tan, and gray, in combination with the comfortable "quality topcoat" models, has improved the appearance of the raincoat today to such a point that they are wearable in place of a topcoat during the early fall and late spring, and feel perfectly at ease.

When you buy (as you will) think of your school paper's advertisers.

Learn How Botany Department Is Conducted By Reading This

Staff Photo

When the science department is mentioned, the details would not be complete without a description of the botany department. In the above picture the studious-looking pupils are shown trying to find out the structure of a cell by the use of a microscope. Botany is a study of plant life and all its interesting phases.

After a student pays his 50-cent fee, which is all that is required for a semester's use of equipment, he might think that this fee takes care of all the equipment he uses or breaks during the semester. He is entirely wrong in this assumption, however, for botany equipment is expensive. Microscopes, of which there are 28, cost about $70 apiece. Mr. Elma S. Gould, instructor, estimates he has invested about $400 in slides for these microscopes. A lantern on which some of the slides and pictures are shown is valued at $175 and a microprojector, purchased last year, cost $250. Besides this, Mr. Gould has the cost of the outlines and lessons which he prints himself.

The first semester of botany is mostly demonstration. That is, Mr. Gould takes equipment and shows such things as osmosis. This first term is concerned with the study of roots, stems, leaves, flowers, fruits, and seeds of seed plants. In the second semester botany students have the use of the microscopes and study cells, algae, fungi, mosses, ferns, and evergreens. Botany 2 students study cell parts and cell divisions, such as the nucleus, cytoplasm, cell wall, chloroplasts, chromoplasts, and starch. They also study about mushrooms and how to tell them from toadstools; wheat rust, yeast, bread mold, and most important of all the properties of bacteria. At present there are about 160 students in both semesters.

Chemistry Lab Creates Smells Which Permeate Our Portals

Staff Photo

"What's that smell? Help! It is a gas attack! The girls must be cooking." Above are some of the phrases uttered by students as they pass Room 2. This room isn't a kitchen or a cooking class. It is the chemistry laboratory, and with room number 4, which is the classroom, constitutes the chemistry department. The dynamic chemistry course is the most advanced in the science department; its course includes both classroom and laboratory work. The week's work includes one day of demonstration by Mr. Ward Gilbert, who does various experiments for the students to illustrate the week's work; then there is one day of laboratory work, at which time the students work experiments assigned to them by their teacher; the other three days are taken up by class work.

A fee of one dollar is charged at the first of the year, and this covers the expense of the equipment which is used by the students. A few pupils have complained that one dollar is too much to spend for one semester's work, but the pupil's fee doesn't cover the expense of the course at all. For instance, in the 1939-40 semester Mr. Gilbert collected $336.93 from the students, but the disbursement was $205.30. The school board gives the chemistry department between $150 and $180 every other year, to help with the expenses. The chemistry department is expensive to keep up, but when one considers the benefits which are derived from the course, it pays for itself many times over. Chemistry is an extremely interesting course, and it is taught by a very able teacher, so when your senior year rolls around be sure to take this advantageous course, which plays such an important part in the present-day necessity of the composition of substances.

In the modern world in which we live, chemistry is useful to everyone. More and more things are being made of plastics and new chemicals. Adulteration of certain foods can be prevented by knowledge of chemistry. Actual laboratory work by demonstrations by the instructors and plenty of class work combine to make chemistry a course worthwhile to every student, and plenty of fun, too.

Physics Department Boasts Well-Equipped Laboratory

Staff Photo

What fraction of a piece of wood whose specific gravity is six-tenths will remain above water when floating? If you have ever taken physics, or if you intend to take it, you would be able easily to figure out this little problem.

Our physics department, under the direction of Mr. Louis Hull and Mr. Paul Sidell, offers a very complete course to all South Siders who desire to learn more about natural laws and physical changes. Physics is a one-year course; the topics dealt with in the first semester are mechanics, which includes a discussion of the simple machines; heat, and molecular physics. In the second semester one learns about sound, light, and electricity, which includes radio.

Our South Side physics laboratory is very well equipped. Furthermore, the equipment is such that every student may use and understand it, rather than being complicated, difficult instruments which could be used for demonstration purposes only. There are a few, however, principally for demonstration, which are quite expensive. Among these are some delicate electrical measuring devices which are worth from twenty to twenty-five dollars. One of the prizes of the department is a Geryk vacuum pump, which can produce almost a complete vacuum. No mechanical pump in existence is capable of producing a complete vacuum. Perhaps you have wondered what was behind the door in the rear of the physics classroom. It is the entrance to the workshop and store room. In this place x-ray and considerable radio equipment is kept, besides the tools used for making such equipment as can be made and used by the department.

Our physics classes strive to give qualitative rather than quantitative instruction. In the words of the late Mr. Voorhees, "We intend to teach how rather than how much." By this he means that the physics department shows to students how and why things are done, instead of presenting technical and difficult problems, which the average student would have no use for in later life.

904 students had placed their bets in the "Times Derby" by Tuesday evening. Book VI, Top Flight, is leading with a total of 159 subscriptions; Book I is second, with total subscriptions of 158. The aim is 1500 orders.

Swinging into the fourth week of the campaign, the staff announced that no more free issues were forthcoming. Today only those students who have subscribed will receive the paper.

At a room agents meeting held Wednesday at 3:30, the agents received instructions for Times Week which is continuing throughout this week. Speakers at this meeting included Miss Rowena Harvey, adviser for the paper; Bob Robinson, general manager; and Becky Abbott, circulation manager.

Attention of the students is also called to the Times' exhibit in the front hall. This exhibit demonstrates various phases of Times work.

A complete list of the home room agents and their room per cent Tuesday night follows:

Publications Offer Pins For Awards

Gold-Jeweled, Bronze, Silver, Gold Emblems Are Given To Outstanding Times Members

Whenever you see a student wearing a bronze, silver, gold or gold-jeweled pin in the shape of a linotype matrix with the letters T. S. S. carved on, that student has won some recognition on publications staffs. The highest award, a gold-jeweled pin represents 10,000 points, the gold, 5,000, the silver, 3,000, and the bronze, 1,500.

Those six of the select few who have earned their gold-jeweled pins are Marge Sheldon, Robert Robinson, Martha Jane Krauskopf, John Gumpfer, John Bonisib, and Faye Gumpfer. Those who have gold pins include Carol Whittier, Bob Young, Sam Bacon, Jim Brooks, Lois Gumpfer, Elaine Hershey, Lois Haug, Joel Salom, and Jeanne Smith.

Those who have silver pins are Becky Abbott, Rose-Etha Brazy, Bob Brooks, Joan Cox, Karl Eberly, Virginia Gray, Peggy Harrod, Lois Hoff, Margaret Kienzie, Bud Lampton, Hilda Leininger, Lois Likins, Bill McNulty, and Delores Reiter.

Those who have their bronze pins are Mary Ellen Barrett, Katherine Eipper, Barbara Brower, Katherine Bultemeier, Wanda Eller, Mary Lou Feller, Dick Galmeyer, Laura Jean Grazier, Ruth Hageman, Sally Hobbs, Dorothy Jagers, Harry Kelsey, Jane Klafelter, Gloria Kramer, Charlene McEneaney, Frank Neff, Marilyn Sondles, Betty Stumpf, Theda Tyndall, Gloria Werkman, Mary Louise Wilson, and Marilyn Wolf.

On Sleepless Nights, Those Animals You Count Are Historic

When you see a flock of sheep grazing in the field what do you think of? How peaceful and picturesque they look, or what good lamb chops they would make; or don't you think much about them? In reality they are such useful little animals, and you owe them a great vote of thanks for keeping you warm in the winter. Those trousers you boys are wearing are wool and the skirts and sweaters, and even those knee length hose you girls wear are all woven from wool sheared from a poor innocent lamb, who has had to brave the cool wintry wind just so you could keep warm.

Have you ever stopped to consider just how wool is made into cloth? A recent article all about the process of wool, was so interesting that I am going to pass it on to you. The finest wool for fabrics comes from the Australian Merino sheep, which were imported and bred in Europe as early as the nineteenth century. The good old American ingenuity saw that the English really had something there so they improved some of these prized sheep to the United States in the 1800's, and after 40 years of constant care in raising these sheep this country ranks favorably with Europe and Australia in the production of this excellent wool.

The sheep's fleece is not all of the same value, but differs greatly according to the part of the body on which it grows. The very best wool comes from the sides and shoulders, the rest is a poorer grade, and is usually used in making cheaper bargain fabrics. Sharing the honor with sheep's wool is that which comes from those little kickers, the goat. There is Mohair cloth, made from Angora, Alpaca from a goat by that name, Cashmere, from the Cashmere goat of Tibet, and then there is also the swift kick from the mad billy goat, but that isn't about wool so we won't go into that.

Speech Contest Names Victors

Mary Ellen Barrett Captures First; Betty Hargen Is Second; Bill Bone Places Third

Mary Ellen Barrett captured first place in Wranglers Humorous Declaration Contest held Monday in the Greeley Room. Her declaration was "The School Program." Betty Hargen placed second and Bill Bone, third. Betty's speech was "Brother Take A Bitch," and Bill Bone gave "The Ratf!"

Other speakers and their subjects were Alene Loeser, "The Cat Came Back"; Wilma Lageman, "Four O'clock at the Sip'n' Bite"; and Kolman Gross, "Midsummer Night's Dream."

A Wrangler medal will be presented to Mary Ellen, and the others will receive recognition at Wranglers' banquet.

'41 Fashion Parade Shows More Rings, Necklaces, Earrings

Flash! Fashion experts predict jewelry to be more flashy and colorful this spring! With so much talk about South America going around, many of the styles this year have been fashioned after the South American trend.

Now, even jewelry is being patterned after the modes of that country. The big, gold earrings that adorn the ears of the South American women have been copied in the United States, and have become exceedingly popular with many. The coeds of South Side seem to prefer the bright gold-ringed earrings that easily clip on the ears. Another attractive type that looks especially decorative with a dressy outfit is the little white pearl earrings set in either gold or silver.

Three cheers for the red, white, and blue ones which have been displayed in numbers around South Side. Some are little round scrolls carried out in these patriotic colors, while others take the form of flags and ships.

A climax to a colorless sweater or dress would be hundreds of tiny cockle-shells and brightly colored tiny disks, tied around your neck in four heavy strands. And to clip on your ears, a cluster of gay shells to match.

Try Indian Jewelry. From New Mexico and Arizona, the Indian states, comes the beautiful Indian jewelry made from turquoise and silver. A smart combination would be a ring and bracelet of this colorful stone to match.

Of course, to adorn your sweater, the convention pearls are still the most popular. However, this year, a new way to wear them is in a long, single strand.

Hundreds of lapel pins have shown up in the fashion parade of 1941. Not only do they look attractive on the new spring suits, but they add a dash of color to the new blouses as well. There are so many various sizes and shapes of these pins that it would take a page or so to describe them, but if you like gaudy colors and humorous shapes, you are sure to like the new pins.

For anything that needs a flash of color at the neck, a string of imitation topazes strung together on a long gold chain would be just the thing. Rings this year are large and colorful. A popular type is the big, colored glass ring with a very small gold setting. Another kind that will surely attract attention is the silver band on which little bells or tiny figures are attached.

Sweethearts May Swing At Philo Hop

Dance Is To Follow Froebel Game Friday Night; Price To Be Twenty-Five Cents

B. Anweiler's Band To Furnish Music

Charlotte DuWan Program Chairman; Workers, And Chaperones Are Listed

Dancers may sway at the "Sweetheart Swing" after the Froebel-South Side game tomorrow night in Room 170. The price will be twenty-five cents a person, and Bob Anweiler's orchestra will furnish the music for the affair.

The chaperones for "Sweetheart Swing" will be teachers of South Side and a few of Philo's members. They are Mr. R. Nelson Snider, Miss Martha Pittenger, Miss Elizabeth Demaree, Miss Hazel Miller, Miss Emma Kiefer, Miss Pauline VanGorder, Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Flint, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Gumpfer, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Leas, Mr. and Mrs. McMahon, and Mr. and Mrs. Lageman.

Name Decorations Head. Mary Bowly is chairman of the decorations committee. Assisting her are Margaret Meyer, Mary Burt, Dorothy Altevort, Mary Carlo, Mary Dunbar, Betty Stein, Rozella Foutz, Lois Gumpfer, Marilyn Gregg, Francis Nash, Virginia Hill, Martha Shaffer, Harold Green, Anna Heller, Marion Jackson, Carolyn McNabb, and Kathryn Kayser.

The theme for the dance will be carried out in red and white. Marjorie Dyer and Charlotte DuWan will decorate the blackboard. The bulletin boards will be covered with red hearts. Balloons will be hung down from the ceiling. In order to carry out the theme still further, the lights in Room 170 will be alternately red and white. Programs in the shape of hearts will be distributed to each person attending.

List Program Group. Charlotte DuWan is chairman of the program committee. Assisting her are Maurine Leas, Joan Cox, Katherine Kuntz, Jean Foreman, Faye Gumpfer, and Betty Harrison. The door committee consists of Hilda Schubert, chairman, Kathryn Guild, Marge McNabb, Dorothy Gilda, Ruth Hageman, and Barbara Hadley.

The officers of the club are Rebecca Abbott, president; Lois Gumpfer, vice-president; Hilda Schubert, treasurer; Margaret Kienzie, secretary; Ellen Harry, program chairman; Jean Kerns, Inter-Club Congress representative; Faye Gumpfer, sergeant-at-arms; Gloria Staley, scrapbook; Mildred Kienzie, pianist; Ruth Dauner and Kathryn Beckman, music chairmen; Wilma Lageman, Tiespin chairman; and Carolyn Snoke and Ruth Werkman, publicity chairman.

Superintendent Is Math-Sci Speaker

Mr. L. R. Mathews Chooses "The Fort Wayne Water Supply" As Subject For Meeting Tonight

Mr. L. R. Mathews, superintendent of the City Filtration Plant and Sewage Treatment Works, will be the guest speaker at the regular Math-Science Club meeting to be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock. His talk will be on the general subject, "The Fort Wayne Water Supply," which will include the process of filtration and various statistics concerning the amount of water used by each person per day and amount of water used during the summer months in comparison to that used in the winter months.

Installation of officers will also take place at this meeting with Safford McMyer acting the Spirit of Math-Science Club; Miss Adelaide Fiedler, the Spirit of Mathematics; and Mr. Lloyd Whelan, the Spirit of Science. The incoming officers are Martin Gernand, president; Betty Koehler, vice-president; Janet Holtmeier, secretary; and Ralph Sebald, treasurer. Retiring officers are Safford McMyer, president; Elaine Hirschy, vice-president; and Bob Wylie, secretary.

Eva Jean Wylie, Bob Wylie, Ruth Dauner, and Elaine Hirschy have been appointed by the club to serve in the following positions: for the spring semester: co-chairman of the games committee, chairman of the refreshment committee, and chairman of publicity.

"The House of Magic" presentation will be the outstanding feature of the March Math-Science Club meeting. "The House of Magic" show is a presentation by the Fort Wayne Works of the General Electric Company. It is presented under the direction of Mr. Howard Miller, engineer of the Fort Wayne Works' Laboratory, assisted by Mr. Claude M. Summers and Mr. Emerson G. Downie, also of the Works' Laboratory personnel. There will be a later announcement as to the time and place of this meeting.

Believe It Or Not, Snowballing Began Boston Massacre

In winter a young man's fancy turns to snowballs and snowball fights. Snowballing is an ancient and venerable sport. Undoubtedly the early Stone Age men kept their throwing arms in condition by throwing snowballs at each other. It is said that the Vikings used to team up and have grand snow fights. Down through the Middle Ages young knights hardened their muscles by throwing snowballs. In fact, even the Boston Massacre was started when a little colonial boy threw a snowball at a British soldier.

In snowball flare-ups about our school, there are, generally speaking, three types of participants. On nice thawing days, you of the first type know that feeling of a shell-shocked doughboy as you cautiously dash toward the door. Or perhaps you have even experienced the delightful sensation of the gentle contact of a snowball with your cranium, and, consequently, the slightly refracting feeling of that same wave of snow, transformed into a liquid state, trickling homily down your back.

On the other hand you may be of the bolder type—a person who likes to participate in such cave-mannish activities. Then you are the type which takes a savage delight in ruthlessly masculine sports. It is a pleasure for you to throw a snowball with mighty fury, and to stand immovable as the Rock of Gibraltar when one of the deadly missiles sails your way.

Or you may even be of a third type of student. If you belong to this category, you are the most sensible. You are not directly interested in the fighting, but you intend to defend yourself should the need arise. You intend to reach your destination without a skirmish, but you are ready and willing to punish any offender with a well-packed snowball. Your motto is "Live and let live."

Radio Players Give Program

WGL Broadcast Recorded For National Air-Wave Contest On February 17

"What Fort Wayne Youth Is Doing" was the topic of a radio broadcast by South Side's Radio Players on the Fort Wayne "School of the Air" last night from 8:30 o'clock to 8:45 from station WGL. A recording was made of this broadcast to be sent to a national radio contest sponsored by the American Youth Commission at Washington, D. C., announced by Miss Gretchen Smith, director of radio activities in the public schools. The contest closes February 17.

The skit depicted one of the YWCA Mixers to show youth's activities in Fort Wayne. High school radio groups over the entire nation are submitting records which show activities developed by young people as contribution to better community life in the religious, educational, and recreational fields.

The cast included Jean Weil, Bob Young, Bob Safer, Dick Galmeyer, Emalyn Remmel, Pat Sanford, Bud Lampton, Becky Abbott, Jim McClure, and Marjorie Sheldon in the speaking parts; and an orchestra composed of Bernita Eggers, piano; Faye Gumpfer, Betty Elbersen, Elaine Boerger, and Betty Nichols, violins; Gilbert Baumgartner, drums; and Hilda Schubert, cello. The script was written by Marjorie Sheldon.

Special features of the program included a song by Jean Weil, "It All Comes Back To Me Now"; a square dance with calling by Bud Lampton; and the following music presented by the orchestra: "Soldier's Joy," "Frenesi," and "Listen To The Mockingbird."

Three Books To Fill Idle Hours Listed For Archer Readers

Many students have inquired about books which help in study and increase one's general knowledge. Some books are written especially for study and some for enjoyment as well as learning.

So to help those students who want a few good suggestions we recommend the following books.

The first is "Benjamin Franklin" by Carl Van Dancer. This book covers the life of Franklin from the time of his birth. Outside his political life the stories of his fire engine brigade, the Pennsylvania Gazette are most interesting. Since Benjamin Franklin is found many times in the background of American history, this book should be an inspiration to all who read it.

A second suggestion, "Listen, Wind," by Anne Morrow Lindbergh, is a short book which can be read in two hours. This book is light and centers on the experiences of the author while flying across the Atlantic, Europe, and Africa. She relates experiences with various peoples and the wind.

Our third and last suggestion is "The Life of Andrew Jackson," by Marcus James. This is not only the life of Andrew Jackson, but also of America. This book portrays Jackson as a frontiersman, coming from the wild to be a famous leader of a nation. The book explains the balance of power of the different sections of our country. It is full of authentic statistics, and written for the layman.

Rules Drawn By Committee Of All Groups

Students, Parents, Faculty Represented To Decide On Fairest Possible System

Sectional Tourney Ducats Total 850

Season Ticket Holders Are Next After Athletic Department And Associates

A committee consisting of parents, students, and teachers met Wednesday evening, February 5, to consider the basic principles and the method of distribution of tournament tickets for our school. The three parents, appointed by the Parent-Teacher Association, were Mr. Clifford Matson, Mr. E. H. Haug, and Mrs. H. H. Tracht. The three students were Robert Robinson, general manager of The Times, James McClure, president of the senior class, and Robert Hines, president of the Lettermen Club. The teachers were Miss George Anna Hodgson, Mr. A. V. Flint, and Mr. R. N. Snider, principal.

The following statement is a result of their deliberations.

Experience during the past few years has definitely established the fact that there will be several demands for each ticket which we may be able to secure for each of the tournaments soon to be held. It seems necessary, therefore, to establish some method of procedure for the distribution of our share of the tickets so that fairness to all will be practiced. There is no way possible to make one hundred tickets satisfy five hundred people, but some method should be devised so that the people who get the one hundred tickets available should be the ones who most deserve them.

It is our belief that the game of high school basketball should be conducted for the benefit of the boys and girls of the school, and that if this is not so, there can be no justification for it. If this belief is true, then the boys and girls of the school should have first choice to purchase tickets for the tournaments, the only exception to this general rule being the provision for those members of the Athletic Department of the school who handle the athletic work during the year and parents of team members. Too often in the past the crowds have been larger than the tickets, with students unable to secure tickets for the game which is provided for and by them.

Every effort should be made to discourage the practice of purchasing tickets of the school with the idea of re-selling them. The following information from the Office of the Internal Revenue Department should be known by all.

The Indiana High School Athletic Association, being classed as an educational organization, is able to sell through its members, the high school principals of the state, tickets for a tournament, without having to pay a tax. An exemption is on file in the state office. However, should any person purchase a ticket from one of the principals of the state, and then resell it to someone else he would immediately be violating a Federal law if he did not make proper arrangements with the national government for the payment of the Federal tax. Violators of this law would be subject to Federal prosecution.

Sectional Tournament. In past years we have always sold about 1200 tickets in our school for the sectional tourney, the largest number of any school in the tourney. Beginning with 1940, however, the demand for tickets in the tournament to other schools in the tournament to such an extent that we had to divide the tickets according to the enrollment.

Public Speakers Choose Officers

Positions Consist Of Chairman, Assistant Chairman, Secretary, Doorkeeper In Classes

Public speaking classes of Miss Dorothy Rieks recently chose members of their various classes to fill the offices of chairman, assistant chairman, secretary, assistant secretary, and door closer.

In the first period class, Bill Bone was chosen chairman; Bob Allen, vice-chairman; Mary Ellen Barrett, secretary; Ross Lee Hall, assistant secretary; and Ray Hargan, door closer. In the second period class, Others are John Gumpfer, vice-president; Ruth Anne Stiegler, secretary; Dave Rea, assistant secretary; and Ralph Shimer, door closer.

This semester's president of the third period class is Karl Eberly, with Dick Bailhe as vice-president; Jim Gerig, secretary; and Alice Sweet, assistant secretary.

John Warner has been chosen chairman of the fourth period class. Barbara Brower was elected vice-chairman; Dick Hornberger, secretary; Jean Weil, assistant secretary; and Doug Kiger, door closer.

Bud Brudi is chairman of the sixth period class. Roger McVay is assistant chairman, and Janis Tremper is secretary. Jack Vetter is the assistant secretary, and James Holzworth is the door closer.

Washington, Lincoln Did Their Part! Are You Doing Likewise?

There is a saying that a person born in February is likely to become great. This axiom is not pure superstition—at least not in the case of two very famous Americans, two founders of those things for which a war is now being fought, two men who are dear to the heart of every United States citizen, Lincoln and Washington.

If we were all to stop for a moment and contemplate the things for which they struggled, and at the same time consider present affairs, it would begin to look as if their efforts were futile. It would seem that Lincoln and Washington were not as great as we think they were. It would appear that Washington and his men suffered in vain at Valley Forge, that the fall of Yorktown was an empty victory, that the Constitution was a mere scrap of paper; that Lincoln labored fruitlessly to preserve the Union, and that the emancipation of slaves was only temporary.

Hardly so!—Lincoln and Washington did their part. If their goals and ideals are lost, the fault is ours, not theirs. Our forefathers only started the battle. Should all that they have thus far gained fall before dictators and isms? If all of Washington's Constitutional principles and Lincoln's equality ideals succumb to present-day radicalism, we will have nobody to blame but ourselves.

There is something more important to the preservation of Americanism than all the vessels the shipyards can build, or all the men the government can conscript. That something is the determination to preserve our ideals. It is the essence of the spirit of Washington and Lincoln, a will to fight to the last ditch against radical autocratic elements. That spirit is what we Archers as representative Americans desperately need. This is February, the month of patriots!

Even Demosthenes Could Not Face Some Of Our Assemblies

South Side may not have an auditorium in which to hold assemblies, but merely because they are held in the gym is no reason for us to act as if every assembly given is a pep session! Assemblies are given in the interest of the student body. The speakers are not brought here to get practice in speaking to large audiences. Therefore, even if you are not at all interested in what the lecturer is speaking about, your duty is to be quiet in order that the persons sitting next to you, who are interested in what is going on, may be able to derive something other than the current gossip.

By giving undivided attention to what is going on, we do not mean that every student should strain himself to be attentive. Going from one extreme to the other is not going to help remedy the situation. The point we are driving at is that you are not supposed to act as though you are at a sacred play when attending a pep session, or vice versa. Why not try concentrating on what is going on at the next assembly? You are just liable to find out that the programs are not as bad as you think they are. In fact, after a while, you will find they are usually very educational and interesting.

If the students would act as if they really enjoy the programs arranged for them, we would probably have more assemblies. If you have never tried to give a speech to an inattentive audience, try it! This is about the only way to find out how a speaker feels when he gets out to speak to our student body. We have a swell school, a wonderful faculty, and a grand student body. Because of this, we don't want our guest performers and speakers to say that it is a very unsporting and discourteous school. If we all work together, we can make our assemblies worth the time spent on them; and make them much more enjoyable to the students, the faculty, and the guests.

Too bad, girls! Just about this time last year you were recognizing the fact that this was Leap Year.

There is no such thing as bad weather; there are only good clothes.

Freshmen, have you sent your Valentines yet?

And we'll be cheering more of the inter-faith assemblies.

Read These Doggy "Boners"; Don't Bark Down Their Alley

According to the wisdom of our ancestors, there is a fool born every minute. When our forefathers were composing this axiom, they evidently forgot that, for every fool that is born, there are twenty people making fools of themselves in the classrooms. Of course you all have heard and enjoyed some of the ridiculous answers given by your classmates. No doubt you know from experience what it feels like to use the wrong word when the whole class is carefully listening, so we now present to you some of these absurd mistakes as the teachers remember them.

Naturally, a chemistry class furnishes a fertile field for students to get their words tangled. Mr. Ward Gilbert says that he has pupils who graduate, in spite of all his efforts, still saying, "A 'particulate' is the result of some chemical actions." (The word should be "precipitate".)

"Alimony" is a mineral, "is what one girl said in chemistry class. "What she meant to say was 'antimony,'" says Mr. Gilbert. When she made this remark, Mr. Gilbert promptly said, "A little young to be thinking about that, aren't you?" Once, when a student was called upon to use "denatured alcohol" in his recitation, he pronounced the phrase with the accent on the last syllable instead of on the second. French, eh what! Another common "boner" is pronouncing the word "liter" as if it were spelled "litter". No doubt another student was thinking of a visit to the dentist when he said that in his experiment he used "iron fillings".

The language classes have their bright sayings, too. One time in Miss Olive Perkins' French I class, a pupil was asked to use in a sentence the word "livre", which in the Frenchman's lingo, means "book". Thereupon, the girl student gave this answer, "I have a liver."

There is always ample chance to make a mistake when listing Latin derivatives. Mrs. Grace Welty has a little list on which she keeps some of the "boners" pulled by pupils writing tests. In one particular instance somebody wrote, "An egotist is an eye specialist." Another answer was, "An equestrian is one who asks questions."

Even civics classes are not free from this evil. One of Miss Pauline Van Gorder's most industrious students gave this most disconcerting definition of federalism: "Federalism is the theory that the states are designed to support the iniquity of the central government." Iniquity means wickedness—a meaning hardly intended in that definition!

South Side Is The First Stop On This Vacation In Verse

The Halls

Our hall situation has been debated a great deal, And all of us hope the free fifth won't be repealed; For if that should happen, it might be a mess—I wouldn't enjoy being locked out, I must confess.

It is up to the students to prove that we are able To be quiet and orderly, it certainly is no fable. Of course one must eat, but not in the hall, For on a banana peel or ice cream cone one can fall.

Noise is not necessary because classes are in session; We all can be quiet and make a magnificent impression. It shouldn't be that Miss Pittenger watches all the time; I'm sure if we tried harder, the fifth would be fine.

Ima Stew Dent.

The Rush

I'm sure all you boys and girls have had this sad plight, Which surely does make you a horrible sight. Of course you remember how you hurried from class one day, But very sad consequences you were forced to pay.

First, someone stepped on that very sore corn; Then someone smeared pencil marks on the shirt you had worn. All of a sudden you received a terrific blow, And the books and you in every direction did go.

Finally, your notebook was retrieved with the rest of the books, While everyone around was showering you with dirty looks. After much grief and sorrow, your destination is reached; Of course you are tardy, and then a sermon is preached.

Miss Treated.

The Library

Our school library is indeed a very helpful room, But to get a table one certainly has to zoom. There are references for all subjects you possibly take; To every boy and girl, this particular room is a break.

Some very high class literature is often read, Although many students by comic magazines are misled. Oh yes, I agree education is a wonderful thing.

Gone With Ambrose!

By AL VERWEIRE Chapter I A Hysterical Novel

The little man on the left is just urging you to begin this first chapter of Ambrose, looking about speculative-ly, "Is yo de boss?"

"Uh-weell-uh-weell, I sort of run things, that is—oh, do you want to place an ad?" Bob solicited, suddenly affable and friendly. (You know, these Times agents).

"Now, ah jus' was thinkin' that maybe yo' got some excess trash. Ah collects anything fum flypaper to flies."

"Oh," Bob's joviality dropped like lead. "Well, there's some old paper in that corner in the other room," Bob gesticulated faintly.

"Thank yo', ah's mighty 'preciation of this. Ambrose's the name, Ambrose Ramases; ah'll clean that up quick."

(I pause here to make clear to anyone silly enough to read this that Ambrose's character was of the highest, despite close association with the razor (shaving only) and poker chips.

Ambrose then walked into the adjoining room; and, upon seeing the stacks of paper, immediately had visions of a very prosperous business. It wasn't Ambrose's fault that he never even got near the corner which "Robby" had designated. After all, the room did have four corners; (most rooms do) and, being a business man, after a fashion, Ambrose took the corner with the most papers in it. After several trips he had completely cleaned out the room.

Ambrose then ambled back into the Times Room to thank the manager and was immediately the center of attraction. Alene Looser was horrified when she saw Ambrose's coat; (it was a dead ringer of her best fur cape), and Jean Myth, Dolores Mightier, and Bill Groan found Ambrose too much a match for them in a really rugged poker game. (Three minutes flat—Ambrose's cards.) Ambrose soon tired of this, however, and departed in his wagon. Bob then went in to find out if The Times was off the press. He was told that it had been off the press for about an hour, and that the papers were lying on a table in the corner. He then walked into the room peacefully, and there was not a sign of a Times.

Next week, if Becky Abbott doesn't take in too many subscriptions and blow up the circulation desk, I'll tell you about - - Sugar Daddy Miller, hired by The Times.

The Gift O' Gab

Chalk Talks: A few weeks ago we gave Purdue's idea of the ideal pedagogy. This week we have obtained the standards of an ideal school from Ithaca College, New York. Although the complete list of requirements is too large to include, here are a few of the most important ones: (Read them and then see how South Side measures up.)

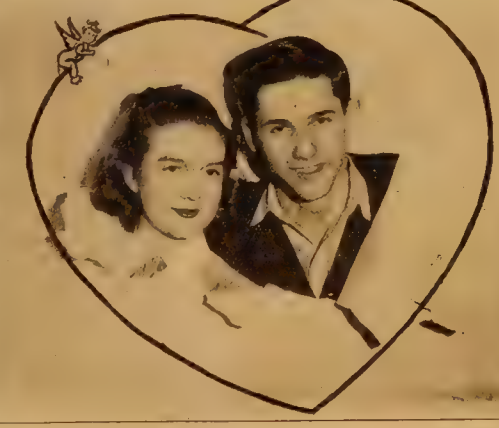

1. The school should be located near a main highway and should not be over two miles from the farthest home. Score 10
2. The shape of the grounds should be a rectangle. Score 10
3. Telephones should be provided. Score 5
4. There should be a school library. Score 10
5. Each room should maintain a temperature of 68 degrees. Score 10
6. The desks should be single and should have attached seats. Score 10
7. Every room should have a bulletin board. (Minimum size of 500 inches). Score 30
8. The inside finish of the school should be painted or varnished. Score 10

Idle Talk: Last week's story, in case you didn't know, was written with an eye to homonyms. This week, by popular request, we bring you a study in heteronyms:—Job's job was to mow mow. One day he found a slough in the slough. This creature was wound because of a wound. Job was stingy and; even though he knew the slough was stingy, he refused his new mate mate and would not even give sake for any sake. Suddenly the wounded-slinger became a swinger and started to wind around in the wind.

Squawk Talk: Several members of the student body are still looking for the practical joker who sent in a fake notice (headlines, too) to a local paper. This notice, by the way, announced a sport dance in February. Oh well, we can still go to Philo... If this edition is not what it should be, you'll know it was those typewriters in the Times Room (or will you?)

Double Talk: Don't don't forget to send in to send in to your your bits bits of info info to to this this column column.

The Times Plays Cupid—Just Look!

Pictured above are Marjorie McMahon and Bill Miller, bursting from a sheet of paper which would have eventually become part of next week's Times.

Tomorrow, as we all know, is Valentine's Day for sweethearts over the nation. The above illustration is the result of a custom which has a long and interesting history. This article will not attempt to cover the complete background of Valentine's Day, but to present the most interesting highlights.

This custom of observing February 14 as a holiday began far back in the records of folk and village lore. It was originally a festival in honor of St. Valentine, the lover's saint. St. Valentine was supposed to have suffered a martyr's death under the Emperor Claudius on February 14, 271 A.D. The story is that Emperor Claudius issued a decree forbidding marriage. This decision was prompted by the fact that the married men in Rome appeared to make poor soldiers. The decree was read by Valentine, and it made him very sad. He then invited lovers to come to him secretly for the marriage ceremony. For this, Valentine perished in a dark prison.

Last, and certainly last, is the comic valentine. Cheap postage seems to be responsible for this hideous bit of vulgarity, which sells for a penny. We will say no more about this last phase of Valentine's Day, but leave you kids free to send those expensive frills (and comic valentines) to your loved and not-so loved-ones.

It's Marvelous! It's Manly! It's Meyer!

Only Half Here?

We certainly can't say this about Ed Meyer. Of course we all know that Ed Meyer comprises the other half; but each twin is a complete unit; and, at the present time, we have only room for one installment. Energy is His Keynote.

This ambitious personality has a fond liking for the unusual but places sleep first on his list. Seriously, Ed indulges in basketball, tennis, handball, golf, and a host of other sports. He received an athletic letter when only a junior.

Speak No Evil:

At the head of Mr. Meyer's list is public speaking (Mrs. Rieke). Lois Likins and Alene Looser share top honors for Ed's idea of the perfect woman.

Smart As A Whip:

Edward's scholastic rating deserves definite recognition in that he is a member of the National Honor Society and belongs to the four year honor roll.

Clubs Plus A Paper:

Ed indulges with "wim" and "wigor" in South Side's many clubs and organizations. He is seen at Wranglers, SPC, Service, Social Science, and Intramural Letterman's Club. The Times and The Totem also claim this lad.

The Future Looks Bright:

Ed is in the dark as to the future but is sure that he will attempt to become an engineer. We are sure that any student with a record such as Edward Meyer has cannot help but become one of the leading citizens of tomorrow. We take leave of you, Ed Meyer, with the advice, "Stay just as you are now, and you'll go a long way in the future!"

Read This Recipe For Spring Clothes

RECIPE FOR A SPRING WARDROBE:

1.—At least, new spring suit. The suit habit has taken hold of the American woman firmly and doesn't show any signs of weakening. The suits this year feature several "musts". First, you must have the long and tight fitting jacket with large pockets. Second, you must have a skirt that fits snugly at the hips and that is flared at the bottom or pleated in a clever manner. Third, it must be either plaid or a striking combination of plain jacket and skirt. In other words, the suits this year are especially designed to give full benefit to milady's attractions and figure.

2.—Soft, shetland sweaters in pastel shades that will flatter you as you have not been flattered all winter. Square necklines are being shown this season with much success.

3.—Skirts that can be worn with your suit jacket, thus giving you several different combinations. One point to stress in skirts is the length. Many girls have overdone the shorter length lead to the point that their legs are ridiculously exposed in a very unflattering manner. Every girl, no matter who she is, looks much better in skirts that do not show the knee at all. Keep this important thing in mind when you pick out your spring skirts. Get at least one in a pastel tweed, either made plain or with one or two pleats.

4.—Gay, colorful print dresses that you can make at home yourself for practically nothing. Place perky little white collars on them, or just have a plain round neckline. Make them as feminine as possible to contrast with your more severe sportswear. The nicest thing about these is that you can wear them all through the summer without suffering from the heat.

5.—Casual or dress coat, as your wardrobe calls for. If you choose a casual coat, be sure that you choose a color that can be worn with all the rest of your wardrobe. The safest way to attain this ideal is to choose a beige, navy, or black coat (in a well-tailored style that can be worn on chill evenings or balmy days.) Dress coats are really simple this year, and take definite swing to the fitted type.

LEARN HOW TO LICK BAD LUCK

With

Tips from the Teachers

By Mr. Joseph Plasket

Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of helpful articles inspired by our faculty. This column will contain weekly hints from the teacher best qualified to give advice on the particular subject selected for the week.

Bang! A fuse burns out. Can you fix it? Mr. Joseph Plasket, our manual training teacher, has prepared an article on how to meet the emergencies that come up in the course of a day. Not only fixing bad fuses, but repairing iron cords and extension cords is a problem which all of us must contend with at least once in our lives. Mr. Plasket started his explanation by telling us how to fix a fuse.

"First you should pull the main switch. Then find the cause of the blown fuse. After doing this, proceed to replace the old fuse with a new one of the proper size, not with a penny. I suggest you have an electrician or a person who has some knowledge of the science of electricity repair the article which caused the fuse blow-out. Otherwise you will have to begin all over again in your fuse changing. Remember that a fuse is a safeguard against possible fire, so never use anything but a fuse. It is also wise to keep a supply of fuses in the house for emergencies."

Wouldn't you know it? Just as you are comfortably situated in your easy chair with your favorite book, the light goes out! What do you do then? We'll wager that you get up and go to another chair when all you would have to do is repair the extension cord leading to your lamp. It doesn't take much time, and it isn't hard with the few simple instructions offered by Mr. Plasket. He says, "Before you start to pull the socket to pieces, unplug the cord. This saves a lot of embarrassing as well as 'shocking' moments. With the help of a screw driver, unscrew the two screws and remove the wire attached thus: Cut these wires about one inch below the bare wire which had previously been attached to the socket. Peel the outer and inner insulation off about one-half inch from the end. Wind these bare wires around the screws and screw them fast. Put the socket back together, and go back to your easy chair and favorite book."

Another thing that will help to keep peace among the women folk is, as Mr. Plasket says, "To be sure that all chairs and low tables are smooth on the edges. This is easily accomplished with smooth sand paper. Such consideration will save many runs in your mother's or sister's hose."

If You're A Hound For Publicity, Try A New Hairdress

You might speak with a southern drawl. You might color your face green. If you do, they're bound to guess that you're after some publicity. The easiest and best way is to change your hair. They may like it or they may not, but you'll surely hear it. School days not only require the use of the head for readin', writin', and 'rithmetic, but ransacking for ideas about hair dressing. It's the same old complaint of what to do to change your hair. Confidentially, there isn't anything new, just variations of the styles and different combinations.

Pompadour Is Striking

The pompadour is the basic idea behind the hair styles this year, but there are many different variations and combinations of this and, needless to say, each person individualizes her style. In trying to form a new style, decide what are the shortcomings of your face, and what your good points are so that you can emphasize them. Is your head, nose, or forehead long or short? Are your eyes close together or far apart? Do you have full cheeks or thin ones? After studying yourself, fit these styles to your face.

Basically speaking, a simple wave which has the hair forming the front part of the dip built up forms the pompadour. It can be ended there. Then have the remaining ends form small individual curls, or have the ends curl into the roll formed by the side hair. Still another way of finishing a pompadour is to place a large curl directly behind the pompadour in a huge spiral design. An unusual style is to part your pompadour in two, tie an actual half-knot with the two strands of hair and slip the ends into the curls that brush up from the temples. In back, tie a half-knot with the rest of your hair and anchor the curling ends behind each other with a shell comb.

Try Swirling Bangs

A form of the pompadour is bangs. A clever way of having the pompadour effect with bangs is to wear them very short and have them round with their ends curled under. It appears to be a perfect pompadour but upon closer inspection you see the bangs. (It makes the fellas look twice, too!)

Stunning in its simplicity, but striking in its appearance is the pompadour accentuated by a long page-boy. It really gives a new swirl to those long locks. Pinning the hair up on the side, wearing your hair fluffy at the temples, or pushing it off the face and behind the ears are also different combinations to change the casual glance to an interested look.

Perhaps these suggestions will help you in making your hair-do a sensation.

St. Valentine's Day Signifies Greetings, Candy To Archers

Saint Valentine's Day means candy, red hearts, and lace to some people. To others it means lacy Valentine's. To the "like-to-have-fun-all-the-time" it means a crazy versed valentines, which sometimes result in violent feuds. When asked, "What do you like best about Saint Valentine's Day?" various students replied thusly:

Colleen McCarthy: I don't like it.

LaVon Taylor: The candy!

Mary Mallers: The pretty little valentines.

Phyllis Westerman: I like the lavishly decorated red valentines!

Dorothy Krohne: I never gave it much thought.

Roy Heavner: It's a wonderful institution!

Jack Meyer: I think Valentine's day is a great, old custom and should be carried on!

"Chuck" Harrison: I like Valentine's Day fine, but I like Christmas better.

Betty Ann Bohn: I think it's nice. What girl wouldn't?

Carol Overman: Ditto.

Margaret Stalp: It's okay.

Ruth Gerding: I like the candy.

Ward Gilbert: It's like any other day.

Ken Lauer: I like it. It's my sister's birthday and I get cake!

Dale Koonce: I don't like it.

Phyllis Bumke: I like the beautiful valentines that I don't get!

Marilyn Cairns: The candy I never see!

Know Your Wools? In Case You Don't, Read This Article

When you go to a department store do you know what kind of material you are buying? Most people just buy a good-looking suit and let it go at that, and then when cold weather rolls around, they wonder why they are so cold. Too late, they discover that they have purchased a suit made of material suited only for warm weather, and as a result they have to go around feeling like an ice cream bar packed in dry ice. So the next time you save up enough pennies to buy a suit, be sure that you buy a wool suit for the blustery winter season.

Now let's see, what kind of wool do you want? You want a worsted material? That's fine, but how can you tell worsted from woolens?

Here are a few pointers on that subject. When you examine the suit, see if the fibers lie parallel. If they do, you have worsted material, because woolens are made from yarns in which the fibers are crossed, matted, and intermixed. You can tell further by the fact that a worsted thread is fine, even, and wiry, while a woolen thread is uneven and irregular.

Furthermore, in the finished product, the worsted fabric has a clear, bright, well-defined weave, firm and closely woven. A woolen fabric is softer, and the weave is not easily distinguished. Wool for woolens is carded only while for worsted it is both carded and combed.

When you buy (as you will) think of your school paper's advertisers.

TRIDY FAMILY WASHINGS

Can You Name This Office? It's Our Room Of The Week

Staff Photo

Pictured above is an office which is well-known to many of the students in school. In case you have not already recognized this room, here are a few hints to enlighten your mind.

- The man in charge of the office is tall and dark. If you look at him closely, you may be able to see a similarity between him and Abraham Lincoln.
- He is a person who gives advice to many boys and girls undecided as to what college he or she would like to attend.
- He gives advice to persons who are confronted with general problems.
- This room is located on the left side of the general office. In case you have not already guessed the answer from the hints that I have given to you, turn the paper upside down.

Answer: Mr. Flint's office.

Hey Kids! Get Wise, It's Time To Have Fun By Joining Clubs

Here we are again with some more information about the various clubs and organizations at South Side. By this time you have probably settled down to your school work after the initial rush of a new semester is over. So, now is the time to join a club or two. We have several clubs this week which will be of interest to those of you who have either just entered South Side or have not, as yet, joined any extra-curricular activities.

Last week we told you about the Hi-Y Club. There is a branch of this club which is called the Torch Club. This organization is open to every freshman and sophomore boy in the school. The purpose of this club is to create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character. The Torch Club meets at the YMCA every Wednesday at 7:30 o'clock. Among the activities held throughout the year are a father-and-son banquet in the fall and a mother-and-son banquet in the spring. For boys who wish good companionship, this club is recommended.

Come One, Come All Support Your Team By Attending Games

"Garrett to play South Side for championship game this Saturday at the North Ball Park." This is what I read as Mr. Ward Gilbert, South Side's dynamic chemistry teacher, showed us an old poster that had been displayed back in 1924, when South Side was just a new school.

That poster symbolizes the difference between the old and the new school. For when Mr. Gilbert was the coach for South Side's championship team, one dollar was the price of admission and everyone came. Yes sir! at one dollar a throw several thousand persons came to witness the football games between our school and their opponents.

Today when pupils can see athletic contests for about fifteen cents a game (that's the price per game on a season ticket), they lose interest in their team and just stay at home and listen to it over the radio. When Garrett played our team, which by the way won 12 to 12, according to Mr. Gilbert, practically everyone in town turned out to see the game, and South Side always made hundreds of dollars per game, with which they bought athletic equipment and other needed supplies for the school.

So why don't you, that is if you haven't already, buy a second half ticket and support the team? It will cost only 25 cents a game instead of a dollar, and you get just as much for your money. So go to the games and support the team in its final lap before the tournament starts.

There are several clubs for the student who is particularly interested in mathematics. Math - Science is the outstanding club in this field. The members cooperate in making each program interesting and original. The meeting usually consists of discussions on either mathematics or some problem of science. It meets on Friday each month at 7:30 p. m. Those students who are taking either math or science and have had two consecutive terms of either are eligible. Club advisers are Miss George Anna Hodgson, Miss Adelaide Fiedler, Mr. Lloyd Whelan, and Mr. Elna Gould. This club is recommended to those students who desire to learn more about science and mathematics.

Still another club which deals in mathematics is the XYZ Club. Any senior who has completed or is taking advance work in mathematics and is intending to continue work in this field upon entering college is eligible for membership in the club, providing his average in math is not less than a B+. The purpose of the XYZ Club is to give those students more drill in the work which is required by the College Entrance Examination Board. The group is limited to twelve members and meets one evening after school each week. Miss Adelaide Fiedler is the founder and faculty adviser. This seems to be a very select group, and if your grades are high enough it would be an interesting as well as helpful club to belong to. In other words, it is nice work if you can get it.

A Faithful Janitor, Joe Junk, Familiar To Kellies, Is Sick

You all know him, even if you haven't known his name, for every student that has been in South Side has had some contact with him. He is Mr. Joe Junk, one of the oldest and most dependable custodians. Mr. Junk came to South Side in June, 1924. Now for the first time in many years, he has been absent because of illness from work for the last week and a half.

Mr. Junk is the small, white-haired quiet man who is at present in charge of the rooms in the lower north wing. He is the one who washes your marks off the black board and keeps the rooms that all of us are in every school day clean. The best wishes of all the school are extended to him in the wish that he will get well and come back soon.

Newcomers Decide Archerdome Is Big, Strange, Confusing

As your roving reporter was strolling through the hall the first day of school, she came upon a group of very bewildered and innocent-looking people. Some of the answers received to the question, "What do you think of your first day of high school?" were as snappy as those we old sophomores, juniors, or seniors give.

Following is a list of their replies: Barbara Spiegel: Oh! Swell! Margaret Lou Hoffman: It was the most pleasant moment of my life when I entered the portals of South Side.

Ruth Barnett: It's just too swell! Walter Hackett: Don't know much about it; but what I do, it's swell. Time will tell.

James Uebelhoer: I think it's swell. Bob Owen: Oh-h-h-h I love it! Only it's so big.

Nigel Brown: Everyone told me I'd get lost and I was scared, but I haven't gotten lost yet.

June Ellenwood: I think it's pretty mixed up.

Neola Fabian: It's all right.

Eric Baader: It's noisy and hot and confusing, but I think it's nice.

Phyllis Roberts: It's all kind of strange, but I like it.

Elaine Pumphey: Oh, it's swell.

Frank Dickmeyer: It's fun chasing your shoes across the gym floor.

Charles Crill: I don't think.

Milton McCormick: Ditto.

Sweaters Remain In 1941 Fashions

Sloppy Joe's Pastel Two-Toners, Short Pull-Overs, Cardigans Are Favorite Styles This Year

Classic sweaters are always good, in summer, winter, fall or spring. The sweater has become almost a password to the alert coed, who wants to follow the styles. The popular "sloppy joe" cardigan is still definitely in vogue, although it is longer and sloppier this year. Some of the new ones have plaid, grosgrain ribbon bands with big white pearl buttons. The long slip-over is becoming more popular than ever. Most coeds like the long sleeved ones better, because they give a sloppier effect. However, for a neater appearance, the short sleeves are preferable. A new idea on the sweater angle is the knitted pull-over which is crossed in front. Usually these sweaters are in two pastel colors; one side crossed in one color and the other half in another color.

They seem to be going back to short pull-overs for dressier wear. The new ribbed knit ones are tight and short around the waistline and fuller up above. The practical but attractive Tyrolean sweater can be worn for either good or school. This classical is covered with various embroidered designs and little knitted figures. It may be worn over an evening skirt to make an attractive two-piece evening gown. The colorful designs on this sweater are enough to catch anyone's eye.

If you are the owner of any of the above mentioned sweaters or the new cardigans with suede fronts, you are sure to be in the 1941 trend.

NABI Offers Chances To Young Composers

Because of the controversy about the use of the music controlled by the ASCAP on the air, an unusual opportunity is being offered by radio. Young composers of the various kinds of music are urged to send in their work to the National Association of Broadcasters Incorporated. Out of the entire controversy, a new era in American music may be born. This information was received by Miss Gretchen Smith, of public school radio, in a letter from the association. She was asked to report the names of any young composers in this community.

UP AND DOWN OUR INCLINES

On a recent test given by Mr. Heine to his Biology 2, period 2 class, the following pupils made 95 or above: Richard Engelbrink, Betty Hart, Isobell Johnson, Harry Mast, Mary Louise McNabb, and Mary Peterson.

Sally Hobbs, a former student in Miss Perkins' French 2, period 6 class, has withdrawn from school to attend Frances Shimer's School for Girls.

Eileen Gebhart, student of Miss Demaree, gave a report on the Crusades.

Students in Mr. Cook's English class who made the highest grades on essay tests for outside reading are Louise Buesking, Betty Peppeler, Max Stobaugh, Jim Hurst, Jack Parker, Maxine Stough, and Dorothy Lou Boese.

Miss Demaree's English 6 classes handed in their reports on outside reading in poetry last Friday.

Seven students from room 52 who are now enrolled in home room 24 are Kathleen Sanders, Virginia Sapp, Bill Schlose, Richard Schmieding, Donald Schrimp, Eileen Schullen, and Joan Schultz. Betty Baker has also newly entered this home room.

Lorraine Lord, student in Miss Demaree's English 6 class, gave a report on the Pulitzer Prize.

In Mr. Heine's Biology 2, period 4 class, those who made 100 on a test over the classification of animals are Marilyn Bullerman, Barbara Burt, Marilyn Domer, Patty Hocker, Sally Ogden, Marge Pressler, Don Perry, Opal Springer, Marjorie Vallier, and Doris Pape.

Archer GAA Girls Are Awake, Active On Their Days Off

What did you do when you had Wednesday afternoon, Thursday, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday all to yourselves? Probably most of you slept and ate, but not the GAA girls. GAA is one club in which the members are practically always active, not only at school but also outside of school.

Here is proof that the GAA girls were active during vacation. When asked what sport they engaged in over the week end, the following were some of their answers:

Gertrude Merkel: Ice skating.
Margaret Calkins: Ice skating.
Kathryn Zaegel: Bowling, ping pong.
Jeanne Smith: Ice skating, sledging, ping pong.
Katy Dinkel: Ping pong, bowling.
Rosemary Spore: Ice skating.
"Duck" Spore: Ice skating, bowling, hiking.
Lois Bremer: Ping pong.
Norma Russell: Bowling.
Betty Hargan: Badminton and walking.
Betty Nichols: Ice skating.
Betty Weiss: Ice skating.
Ruthanna Doll: Walked five miles.
May Scheele: Sledding on cardboards.
Margaret Brower: Walking and sledging.

Social Sci Discusses United States Position

"Should United States Take the Position of World Leadership" was discussed at the Social Science meeting held Friday. Evelyn Erickson and Marjorie Dyer presented the topic, and Bob Wylie led the discussion. During the business meeting, Paul Kell, retiring president, presented the gavel to Dick Thayer, president. The next meeting will be held March 7.

Ten IM Teams Reach Tournament Semi-Finals

Boys' Intramural Basketball Tournament has reached the semi-finals with ten teams still left in the fracas. Scores of games played last week are as follows: Badgers defeated the Mixed Nuts with the total reading, 14 to 3; Klassy Kids were overpowered by the Cats, 10 to 6; and the Blackbolts downed the Bamboles, 5 to 4.

The Wildcats were defeated by the Badgers, 10 to 8; Flatfeet stepped on the Count Basies, 12 to 10; and the S.O.G. squad was vanquished by the S.O.P.'s, 15 to 12.

Games scheduled for today are Supermen versus Five Stooges, Zippers versus Count Basies, Blackbolts versus Cats, and winner of game 1 versus winner of game 2.

Hines Challenges Feistkorn For Position Of High Scorer

By virtue of counting eleven points against the Tigers, Bob Hines is now within striking distance of leader Gus Feistkorn. There were no changes in position among the scorers on the squad. Feistkorn was held down to two foul shots by Bengal Charlie Stanski, and this contributed to the chance afforded Hines of overtaking the leader.

Both Feistkorn and Hines have appeared in all but one of the Archers' sixteen battles. Neither of the leaders has yet to encounter a scoreless night. Chick Shimer and Dallas Zuber have seen action in every game, but their contributions have been of a defensive nature.

Here are the standings:

	G.	F.G.	F.T.	Tot.
Gus Feistkorn	16	46	33	125
Bob Hines	16	31	42	104
Dallas Zuber	17	22	32	76
Chick Shimer	17	24	22	70
Bill Knoll	16	15	6	36
Tom Brower	13	15	1	31
Bryce Augsburg	10	5	2	12

Mural Volleyball To Take Limelight

Two Games Have Been Played; Two More Are Scheduled; Entrants Are To Sign Up Soon

With just a few games remaining on the intramural basketball schedule, volleyball comes into the intramural limelight once more. Games between the Badgers and the Six Drips resulted in a win for the Badgers, 15-10 and 15-12. This game was in the lightweight division. In the heavy-weight class the S.O.S. drubbed the Dubs, 15-0 and 15-0.

Next Friday's schedule includes games between the Spikers and Cats, the Fighting Irish and Campus Cities. Mr. Louis Briner, intramural director, wishes that all entries be in as soon as possible.

For those who do not know the fundamentals of this game, here are some rules.

A team is comprised of six boys, all in the same classification. The lightweight division includes boys who weigh less than 110, the middle, 110 to 130, and heavy, above 130 pounds.

After a team is formed, a list of the players must be taken to Mr. Briner, where it will be placed in its proper weight division. The six boys are divided into two rows with three boys in each row. The first boy serves until he fails to get it over the net, or his team fails to return it. In order to win, a squad must score fifteen points, and a team must win by at least two points. Two losses are required to put a team out of the league.

S-O-S Shorts On Sports

By Wayne Bechtol
Along with its deserved, volleyball now receives its basketball attention in the column for this week. Only a small number of games will be played before the boys' intramural basketball champions in all three weight divisions can be announced. All teams for the volleyball tournament, totaling forty-six, have been entered.

Because of the large number of teams entered for basketball and because of the large amount of time required in the process of elimination, two leagues have been formed, a noon league and a night league.

Champions in the noon league for both the heavyweight and the middleweight divisions have been named. In the heavyweight division, the Rockets conquered the Ruffians in a fast thrilling game with the final score reading 14 to 10.

The noon league champions in this division have not yet been decided; but barring upsets, it will probably be between the Zippers and the Hot Stuffs. In the middleweight division the Cats squelched the Klassy Kids by a comfortable margin of 10 to 6 to win the championship of the noon league.

The final game for the championship crown of the middleweight division will be played between the Cats and the Blackbolts, champions of the night league in the middleweight division.

The Badgers conquered the Wildcats in a close and exciting game to receive the championship of the night league in the lightweight division. The final score was 10 to 8. As yet the champions of the noon league in this division haven't been named.

Of the forty-six entries for the volleyball tournament, six represent the lightweight division, 110 to 120 pounds; ten represent the middleweight division, 120 to 130 pounds, and thirty teams have been entered in the heavyweight division. Because of the very recent start of the volleyball tournament no scores have been announced for the very few games played.

Jeanne Spore, 11A, Is Very Prominent Lettergirl For GAA

One of the most outstanding junior GAA members is Rosemary Jeanne Spore, 11A, who has already earned her letter. Usually called Jeanne, she has earned a total of 1,718 points while in GAA.

Jeanne was born in Port Wayne on September 12, 1924. She spent her early school life at the Louis C. Ward and the James H. Smart Schools. She came to South Side in September of 1938, when she immediately entered GAA.

Jeanne rates Jeffery Lynn and Errol Flynn as her favorite actors, and Bette Davis as her favorite actress. The color blue rates highest of all the colors, and she states that hamburgers are her favorite food. For her favorite teachers, she names Mr. Maurice J. Cook, Mr. A. Verne Flint, and Miss Mabel Fortney. Her favorite subjects are English and U. S. History.

She rates "Gone With The Wind" as her favorite movie, and "The Count of Monte Cristo," as her favorite book. "Perfidia" and "Frenesi" are her favorite popular songs.

Jeanne's pet peeve is "kids who poke in the halls when I'm in a hurry," as she puts it, so you "pokers," beware. Her happiest moment came when she took her first ride on the roller-coaster. Her most embarrassing moment occurred when she waited for the elevator in the front hall.

Her favorite sports are basketball, tennis, and ice skating. She rates Jeanne Smith as her school heroine; and to her, Bob Hines and Dallas Zuber are South Side's most important players on the basketball team. She rates Lux Radio Theatre and Bob Hope at the top of her radio list. Besides being one of GAA's most enthusiastic members, Jeanne also belongs to the Stamp Club. At the present, her ambition is to get better acquainted with Tommy Hall.

Irish Face New Haven Bulldogs February 14

Central Catholic's Fighting Irish will see action against the New Haven Bulldogs in an evening game tomorrow night on the Bulldog's home floor.

Thus far in the season, Central Catholic has attained an excellent record with few losses and many victories over teams having a very high standing in the state rating. The Fighting Irish have also given some very good fights in the city tournament.

The Bulldogs have shown some good qualities in several of their season's games and gave the Ossian team a very good fight in the County tournament. The Bulldog's record has shown them to be very inconsistent in their victories and losses.

The New Haven team rates only as a third or fourth rate team in the state-wide rating of teams; and consequently, in comparing the Fighting Irish and the Bulldogs, we can safely predict, barring upsets, that the Central Catholic team will have no trouble in ringing up a victory.

The starting lineup for the Fighting Irish will probably be Leto and Keenan as forwards, Walker as center, and Gladioux and Heiny as guards.

Annual 'Mural Court Tourney Nears Finish

Six Games Are Played Since Start Of Semester; Five Clashes In Heavy Division

Boys Intramural Basketball tournament is rapidly nearing the finish. Only six games have been played since the start of the new semester, with five of the six games representing the heavyweight division, 130 pounds and over, and one game representing the lightweight division, 110 pounds to 120 pounds.

Between the Supermen and the Flatfeet, two very evenly matched teams, a slow and deliberate but exciting game was played. The match was a fine example of sportsmanship with only four fouls charged to both teams, but the Flatfeet won the game at the foul line by converting two out of their four foul shots, making the final score read 8 to 10. A fast and ferocious battle was seen between the Zippers and the Sons of Garibaldi, but the Zippers were in the groove and eliminated the Sons of Garibaldi with a final score of 12 to 9.

The match between the Cats and the Owls proved to be a one-sided affair, with the victory conceded to the Cats by a score of 17 to 11. Most of the attention of this match was centered upon Kilpatrick, a fast, sharpshooting forward, who made eight of the seventeen points for the Cats. The Zippers again proved their mettle when they conquered the Five Slops by a lopsided score of 17 to 4. The Zippers played it fast and clear game with most of the credit for the Zippers' victory going to McNeal, who made nine out of the Zippers' total of seventeen points.

The Musketeers couldn't cool the Hot Stuffs down to the point where they could make any progress, and consequently the Musketeers were felled by the lopsided score of 13 to 6 in favor of the Hot Stuffs.

The only game scheduled in the lightweight division was between the Mixed Nuts and the Wildcats. The Wildcats won by a forfeit.

The Boys' Intramural Basketball tournament is down to its last few games, and, according to Mr. Louis Briner, head of intramural activities, the champions in all three weight divisions will be decided within the next two weeks.

Irish Wins Two, Loses One Clash

Central Catholic Downs Butler, Auburn, Friday, Saturday; Falls Before Leo Of Chicago

Sharpening their shooting eyes for the approaching Indiana Catholic tourney, the Irish of Central Catholic chalked up two wins and lost one last week-end. The Levickim whipped Butler and Auburn, and bowed to Leo of Chicago.

The Irish had little trouble in disposing of the Butler Windmills by a 46-to-32 count. Butler held the half-time lead, 18 to 17, but the locals rallied to easily overcome this lead. On Saturday evening the Auburn Red Devils fell before the Purple by a 37-to-34 score. John Karthill paced the Catholics with 12 markers.

Leo of Chicago downed the Irish by a 44-to-39 count on Sunday. The important clash was played in a preliminary contest to the DePaul-Loyola game at the Chicago Coliseum. The Leo defeat was the third loss of the year for the Irish.

Girls' Sportsettes

Come on, freshman girls, join GAA! If you don't, you will miss a lot of good times. If you have not yet signed up for tumbling, you may do so immediately in the gym office.

Congratulations go to all the new student leaders. Many of these are freshman A girls. Thanks should go to all the student leaders who are 10B's and above.

Attention, all gym classes—When you carry the mats out on the gym floor, have enough girls carrying each mat so that they do not drag on the floor. Dragging is hard on the mats, and the janitors find it hard to clean the floor if the dust is scattered about.

Pat Harnish, Fuzzy Amstutz, Ducky Spore, Rosemary Spore, Harriet Swager, Kathleen Sanders, and JoAnn Schwartz should be complimented for their skating activities. Every possible night they go ice skating.

Ping-pong players cannot play ping-pong after school for six weeks. Too much noise has been made, and Mr. Friddle has been unable to instruct his players carefully.

Miss Dean and Miss Smith request that all student leaders turn in their tumbling requirements not later than next Tuesday.

Compliments go to the office girls in the gym office. These are Betty Lapp and Marguerite Calkins, period 1; Helen Savage, Norma Russell and Donna Peel, period 2; Joan Squires and Marge Shantz, period 3; Ilo Hirschman and Alice Dolin, period 4; Louisa Haugk and Mary Menze, period 6; and Alice Fisher, Bernadine Pressler and Geneva Martin, period 7. They are a great help to both gym classes and GAA.

Archers To Face Strong Foe In Froebel Tomorrow Night

Improved Kelly Team To Give Devils Trouble

Gary Squad Has Win Over Hammond Tech; Has Record Of 10 Wins, 3 Losses

Tomorrow night the Kelly quintet will face some stiff opposition against a tough Froebel of Gary court squad. Gary's Red Devils have displayed exceptional ball ability so far this season, since they managed to edge out the state favorites of Hammond Tech by a score of 33 to 39.

Last year the Froebel five were defeated by the Archers in a sudden-death overtime when Blackie Braden sank the tell-tale basket and made the score 36 to 34.

Although this year the Archers have a seasonal record inferior to that of the Calumet netters, South Side is banking on their remarkable improvement during the past few weeks for an upset.

Froebel has a tall, rangy team with four boys who tower over 6 feet. This season the Red Devils have had a crucial but successful season with only three defeats against ten wins. However, all of their games have been close bouts.

South Side can be expected to show a battling attitude in tomorrow's bout, as the team has shown such marked improvement after their victory over the North Side Redskins.

Bob Hines, Dallas Zuber, and Tom Brower showed up well on both offense and defense in the Central tilt; and the team, as a whole, displayed exceptional basketball playing.

South Side's probable lineup will consist of Hines, Feistkorn, Zuber, Shimer, and Close.

Top Ranking Fives Register Victories

Anderson, Leader Of North Central Conference, Takes Kats; New Castle, Richmond Win

Indiana's top ranking hardwood teams again proved their worth last week-end by marking up a new set of victories.

The North-Central Conference squad which is to date leading the field of contestants is Anderson. Anderson registered a 39-to-27 win last Friday over a powerful Kokomo team to swell their winning streak to ten victories in eleven conference games.

Richmond overpowered Frankfort, 35 to 29, to annex second place honors from Kokomo. Richmond's conference record now reads seven wins and four losses.

Give Division Ratings
New Castle gave Muncie Central a shellacking by a score of 57 to 32. Third place honors are evenly divided between Kokomo, Muncie, and New Castle, each team having five defeats and six wins.

In the eastern division of the Northern Indiana Conference, South Bend Central retained its first place position by chalking up its sixth win in seven starts over Elkhart with a total of 43 to 18. Laporte, by virtue of a 48-to-35 victory over Nappanee, held first at its second place post. In a close game, Michigan City downed Mishawaka, 30 to 29.

Hammond Tech, rated the state's best squad by many experts, was idle Friday night; however, they are sure of the western division crown with the score board registering twelve wins and one defeat. Gary Lew Wallace drubbed East Chicago Roosevelt, 43 to 39, to tie the Gary Froebel for second place honors. Both teams have won eight and lost four tilts.

Muncie Burris holds the team-to-team list in the Central Indiana Conference division. Snowing Plymouth under by a 49-to-36 score, the Owls still maintain the leading position. Elwood downed third-place Peru by 48 to 32 to stay in the runner-up position.

Columbus Still Leads
Columbus still in the lead in the South Central division defeated Rushville, 35 to 30, to add its eighth victory in nine tilts. Holding fast to second place is Shelbyville, who defeated Greensburg, 39 to 26. This was Shelbyville's ninth win with only three losses on record.

Madison, winner of the Southeastern Conference crown, won its thirteenth league tilt without a defeat, completely drubbing Paoli, 48 to 27. A few of the more important hardwood teams and their showings made last week are listed below.

Allen County
North Side 52, Decatur 13.
Central Catholic 45, Butler 32.
Woodburn 41, Monroeville 21.
Northeastern Indiana
Huntington 48, Columbia City 37.
Auburn 53, Lagrange 29.
Berne 30, Hartford City 28 (double overtime).

General State
Lapel 25, Fortville 19.
Bedford 17, Vincennes 18.
South Bend Riley 30, West Lafayette 29.
Huntingburg 40, Mitchell 36.

Choral Reading To Be Feature Of Meterites
Choral reading will be started in Meterite Club at the meeting next Tuesday in the Greeley Room at 3:30 o'clock. Evangeline Witmer, Dorothy Meyer, and Sally O'Rourke will lead the reading.

An attempt will be made to reproduce the feeling and rhythm of selected poems. No classification of voices will be tried at the first few meetings.
All 9B girls are cordially invited.

Members Will Finish Book Review At Philo
Joan Thomas and Carolyn McNabb will complete the reviewing of a book studied the first semester at Philo's meeting Monday.
Girls who are interested in becoming members of Philo should give their applications to Miss Elizabeth Demaree, club adviser, in Room 68, as soon as possible.

Gary Froebel Coming Fast—South Side will have to be stepping fast on Friday, for Froebel is big and tough. Two weeks ago the Gary five turned back Hammond Tech by a 39-to-31 count. The Techs had previously lost but one game, and that tilt was yielded to the high-flying Owls of Muncie Burris. Last season the Calumet quintet fell before the Archers 36 to 34, with Blackie Braden's fielder in the "sudden death" overtime bringing victory to the Green. If the Archers appear as they did against the Central Tigers, it looks like the Gary five should chalk up a win. But the South Siders should be back in stride this week, and perhaps the locals may surprise a good many of the local experts by whipping the Froebel team.

Net Nibblers—Outstanding performers in the Archer-Bengal clash were: Tigers Stanski and Wilkin and Kellies Bob Hines and Tom Brower. Dr. Litkenhouse seems to have little regard for Coach Friddle's efforts, for in his latest rankings the Louisville statistician places Woodburn, Ossian, and Roanoke several notches above the Green. Kokomo and Elwood fans are moaning greatly this season, for both of their favorites are losing their scoring stars via the 20-year-old rule in Indiana high school sports. Carl Campbell, Kokomo's one-man show, becomes 20 years old three days before the state tourney and Muff Davis, who seemingly makes this column every week, played his final game for Elwood last Friday. I wonder when North Side will schedule teams who have something on the ball. While the Archers enjoy a mediocre season against such good teams as Muncie Burris, Huntingtonburg, Crawfordsville, Elwood, Kokomo, and Gary Froebel, the Redskins are heralded as "world beaters" by running over Masonic Home; Decatur, Illinois; Decatur, Indiana; Nappanee; and South Bend Riley. North has played only two good outside fives, Hammond Tech and South Bend Central. They dropped both games. North deserves top ranking in the city for their city title, but the Red Raiders cannot be considered a high calibre five in my books until they whip decisively a foreign foe. Central Catholic has a tough "row to hoe" in its quest of another state title, but here's wishing Coach John Levicki and company success in the meet next week. Central's Tigers should be really tough next year, what with Stanski, Washington, Sitko, Miller, Barfell, VanRyn, and Rice returning for action. Bob Reed, sports editor of the Journal-Gazette, has picked Muncie Burris to cop the state crown. Not a bad guess! Woodburn's Warriors deserve a nod for their continuously fine play among the Allen County prep fives.

State-Wide Rankings—Muncie Burris continues to hold the number one position in my state rankings on the basis of good offensive and defensive play, while Hammond Tech stays near the top rung by the virtue of a good season record. Here are the rankings:
1. Muncie Burris.
2. Hammond Tech.
3. Anderson.
4. Washington.
Again For Wayne teams are not among the top four. But this is only right, as the Tigers have not showed any signs of looking good on two successive nights, and the Redskins have not played foreign teams which are of high merit. South Side is naturally not among the leaders, for the locals have enjoyed a rather lean campaign. But nevertheless, the charges of Burl Friddle are going to be tough in that tourney—and after all, it is really the tournament grind that pays off!

Russ Wilkin Strengthens Lead—Big Russ Wilkin of Central had a good night against the Archers, tossing in 12 points to raise his season mark to 172 counters. Previous to the Archer-Tiger fracas, Russ had netted nine markers in a mid-week fracas with Elkhart. Gus Feistkorn and Bob Cowan traded places in the standings this week. Cowan garnered 19 markers over the week-end to pull into the runner-up spot, while Gus had to be content with two foul shots against the Tigers and a drop into fourth position. Every game played to date by the local schools is figured in the scoring, including Central Catholic's battle with Leo of Chicago. Here are the leaders:

1. Wilkin, C ..... 63 46 172
2. Cowan, NS ..... 60 19 132
3. Washington, C ..... 59 15 133
4. Feistkorn, SS ..... 46 33 125
5. Heiny, CC ..... 47 28 122
6. Hines, SS ..... 31 42 104
7. Hinga, NS ..... 42 19 103
8. Tackett, C ..... 40 19 99
9. Leto, CC ..... 35 16 86
10. Ervin, NS ..... 21 22 84
11. Krouse, CC ..... 28 22 78
12. Zuber, SS ..... 22 32 76

Fort Wayne—Appreciate Your Quintets—Summit City basketball fives have won 38 games this year to outside foes, while losing but 14. South Side dropped half of the tilts lost, and Central Catholic has won four more games with non-city opponents than have any of the other local teams. Let's look at a few of the teams who have taken the wind out of local sails. Muncie Burris downed South Side, Hammond Tech edged the Redskins, and Washington whipped Central. These three fives now rank among the top quartet of Indiana's cage powers. Central has lost tough games to Muncie Central and South Bend Central. The Tigers need make no alibis for these defeats. Huntingtonburg and Kokomo have tripped the Green. And again, there is no ground lost because of the high ranking of these teams.

Fort Wayne fans cannot help but realize that this city is the home of Indiana basketball. The sectional tourney is not far off. If the local rooters are at all appreciative of the efforts of our netmen, the big North Side gym will be packed at every session. Here are the records of the four city fives against foreign units.

	Won	Lost
South Side	5	7
Central Catholic	14	3
Central	10	3
North Side	9	1

Central Catholic Is Tourney Host
Central Catholic's Irish will again act as hosts for the Indiana Catholic net tourney. The Rev. Gilbert Wirtz of Central Catholic, who is handling the tournament plans, also announced that the meet will be held at both the Central and South Side gymnasiums. The Friday and Saturday sessions on February 23 and 24 are carded at Central, while the semi-final and final sessions on Sunday, February 25, will be played on the Archer hardwood.

In former years no tourney games were played on Friday afternoon, but this year the increase in entrants to thirteen quintets has made the Friday play necessary. Only Marion Catholic is not participating in the meet, for the Indiana Catholic net loop has entered the meet in full force with the exception of the Marion unit.

Decatur Catholic and Indianapolis Cathedral will tangle in one of the feature games of the first round of the meet.

Central Catholic was fortunate enough to draw a first round bye, but the Irish are expected to encounter plenty of trouble in their first game of the second round. The tourney schedule follows:

Friday Afternoon
Game 1—South Bend Catholic vs. Evansville Memorial.
Game 2—Decatur Catholic vs. Indianapolis Cathedral.
Friday Evening
Game 3-7—Collegeville St. Joseph's vs. Anderson St. Mary's.
Game 4-8—Huntington Catholic vs. South Bend Central Catholic.
Game 5-9—Michigan City Cathedral vs. Hammond Catholic Central.
Saturday Afternoon

Game 7-3:30—Winner game 2 vs. winner game 3.

Central Tigers Defeat Green By Five Points

Kelly Netmen Are Nosed Out, 36-31; Tom Brower, Bob Hines High Scorers

Central's fighting Tigers shoved the Archers into fourth place in the city standings by whipping the locals, 36 to 31 last Friday night. After the first quarter of play, the Tigers gained the lead, which they never relinquished.

Central won via speed and a remarkably efficient defense. The Kelly Klads stayed with striking distance of the Blue by caging seventeen foul goals.

Play Moves Fast
Dick Tackett capped a free throw early in the first quarter to give the Bengals a short-lived advantage. Chick Shimer hit a long-arching fielder from far back court to turn the tide in favor of the Green.

Bob Hines and Dal Zuber then took over for the locals; and by means of one foul toss by Zuber and two field-fives by Hines the Archers had the lead at the end of the quarter by the score of 9 to 6.

Bob Hines hit two foul goals, and Gus Feistkorn caged one to constitute the Green's second-period offense. Wilkin, Sitko, and Stanski pooled their efforts to give the Blue and White an 18 to 12 advantage at the half.

In the third quarter, Russ Wilkin had another hot streak. The big Tiger forward hit three field goals and a foul, while Bill Washington and Charlie Stanski each caged a one-handed fielder to give the Blue a 29 to 20 lead at the third quarter. All of South Side's scoring, with the exception of Brower's one-hander, came from the charity stripe.

Coach Mendenhall's crew moved ahead fast in the final stanza to hold a 10-point margin at 33-23. But South Side did not give up. Sparked by Tom Brower the Green neared the Blue at 34 to 28. Central called time out to quell the Archer surge.

Central's Tigers Stall
Chick Shimer hit an easy set-up goal to stir the Kelly rooters to hope for victory, and Dal Zuber added a free throw to further establish the possibility that the locals might yet win. With 90 seconds remaining, the charges of Murray Mendenhall went into a stall.

The Archers tried desperately to gain possession of the ball, but the Tigers stalled effectively to allow Sitko an open shot to clinch the decision at 36 to 31.

Install Officers At Stamp Club Candle Service

Prominent Members Awarded Pins For Points; Refreshments After Games

Installation of officers by candlelight was the feature of the Stamp Club meeting last night in the Greeley Room. The guests of Stamp Club included Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal; Miss Martha Pittenger, dean of girls; and Mr. Jack Feller, a graduate of South Side.

The officers were installed into their respective offices by Jack Feller, and they are as follows: Maxine Case, president; Ray Fish, vice-president; Etheldrea Behling, secretary; Dick Lockhart, treasurer; Ralph Herb, point recorder; Keith Lakey, Inter-Club Congress representative; and Albert Kranz, sergeant-at-arms.

Following the installation, six members of Stamp Club were awarded pins. The members who were awarded pins in the form of small "P" are, Dick Lockhart, Etheldrea Behling, and Philip Schwartz, bronze "P", for having earned a total of 400 points or more; Keith Lakey, silver "P", for having earned over 900 points; Maxine Case, gold "P" with green bar, for having over 1,900 points; and white bar for having accumulated a total of 2,300 points.

After this the meeting was turned over to the officers who carried out the theme "Fields of Interest", which has been chosen for this semester. Dick Lockhart and Etheldrea Behling gave illustrated talks on their fields of interest.

Games were then played and refreshments followed the games.

The committee which was in charge of getting the room ready for the installation services was headed by Rosemary Spore. Those who assisted are Wayne Graff, Nancy Geake, and Alvin Haley.

French Installation Of Officers Is Held

Mary Bowlby Named President At Thursday Meeting; Members Discuss February Dance

Installation of officers was held at the last meeting of French Club, Thursday evening in Room 138. These officers are Mary Bowlby, president; Caroline Lichtenberg, vice-president; Marge McNeil, secretary; and Loretta Michelfelder, point recorder. The retiring officers are Katherine Kuntz, Clara Makey, Joyce Reid, and Eleanor Christ.

Alene Loeser gave a report on the history of France from the Roman acquisition to the present time. The members also discussed plans for their dance to be held after the Jeffersonville game, February 21.

Rules Drawn By Committee Groups

ments of the schools. This meant that last year we received 850 tickets. We probably can get about 850 tickets this year.

The following groups of tickets should be set aside first: For athletic department, parents of team members, workers, yell leaders, Booster Club, reserve squad, and band.

All of the above tickets must be paid for at regular rates by the athletic department of the school. Then the remaining tickets should be put on sale, with preference given to the groups in the following order:

1. Students and teachers with full season tickets—one each.
2. Students and teachers with basketball season tickets—one each.
3. Adults with full season tickets—one for each season ticket.
4. Adults with basketball season tickets—one for each season ticket.
5. Students and teachers without season tickets—one each.
6. Adults without season tickets—one each.

Regional Tournament
The number of tickets available for this tournament depends, of course, to a large extent upon our participation in it. If we do not participate, we shall have no tickets for sale beyond the number which we probably can get for our team members and the coaches and managers. If we do participate, the same scheme as used in the sectional tourney should apply.

Semi-Final Tournament
If we do not participate in this tourney we shall be able to secure ten tickets, only. If we do participate, the sectional tourney scheme should prevail.

State Tournament
1. Sure State Tickets: We are entitled to 5 per cent of our enrollment as reported last fall. That means we shall get 95 tickets.
2. Semi-Final Participants: A school which is eliminated in the semi-final tourney is entitled to 125 seats.
3. Final Participants: Schools whose teams participate in the final tourney are entitled to 725 seats each. The same kind of distribution should be used as outlined for the sectional tourney.

Dates Of Sale
Orders for the sectional tickets for students will be taken in the home rooms on February 20 and 21. Money will accompany the orders.

Any tickets available for adults will be placed on sale on February 24 at 8:25 a. m. in Room 170 of the school. Orders for regional tickets, for students—if we are in the tourney—will be taken in the home room, March 3. Money will accompany the orders.

Any tickets available for adults will be placed on sale on March 4 at 8:25 a. m. in Room 170 of the school. Orders for semi-final tickets, for students—if we are in the tourney—will be taken in the home room, March 10. Money will accompany the orders.

Any tickets available for adults will be placed on sale on March 11 at 8:25 a. m. in Room 170 of the school. Orders for the final tickets for students: Sure tickets—Orders will be taken for the sure tickets on March 10. Money will accompany the orders. Any tickets available for adults for the state out of our share of sure tickets will be placed on sale on March 11 at 8:25 a. m. in Room 170 of the school.

Archers Play In Junior Civic Symphony Orchestra

Eleven Archers Are In Symphony

Kellies To Play In Second Concert Monday At Civic Theater; Graduates To Take Part

Eleven Archers are in the Fort Wayne Junior Civic Symphony, which will hold its second concert Monday evening at the Civic Theater. Those students taking part are Hilda Schubert, Elaine Boerger, Dave Link, Frances Weir, Dorothy Rutz, Ruth Fauner, Betty Nichols, Betty Elbersson, Alice Jean Light, John Meyers, and Faye Gumpfer. Also taking part in the program will be three Archer graduates, Bob Wiehe, Velma Connert, and Loretta Rinearsen.

Miss Blanche Hutto and Mr. Jack Wainwright are the teachers from South Side who are on the governing committee. Martha Jean Exner, violinist from Central, will be the soloist and will play the first movement of the "Concerto No. 23 in G Major" by Vioetti, accompanied by the orchestra.

Among other numbers on the program arranged by the conductor are the overture to "The Magic Flute", by Mozart, the first movement of "Symphony No. 8 in G Major" by Joseph Haydn, "Woodland Whispers" and "March Herioque".

The Lions Club is sponsoring the concerts in co-operation with the Fort Wayne Public Schools. The tickets are twenty-five cents for adults and fifteen cents for students and children. The orchestra was organized last spring by Mr. Gaston Baillet. Talented musical pupils from the three high schools make up the orchestra. Proceeds from the concerts will be used for any necessary equipment for the orchestra.

Others: Orders will be taken March 17. Money will accompany the orders. Any other state tickets available for adults will be placed on sale on March 18 in Room 170 of the school. Certain groups or organizations of citizens of the community sometimes seem to have claim to preferential treatment in the distribution of tickets for the tournament. The committee members decided that the officials of the school system were entitled to listing in the preferred class, but that no other group should be so listed. All of the others will fall into the scheme as outlined above.

The requirements of the State Association state that each principal shall keep on file a list of the names and addresses of the people who secure tickets for the semi-final and final tournaments. The committee approved the system in use in South Side for several years of having on file a list of all purchasers of tickets for all of the tournaments. It also approved of the system of requiring the signature of the parent to the agreement that each ticket purchased will be used by that student, and not sold to another person.

Two Students Leave South Side This Term

Since the beginning of this semester, only two students have left South Side to enter the portals of other schools. Harry Moreland, who came to South Side from Georgetown, Kentucky, has returned there to complete his schooling. Sally Hobbs, 11A, left South Side to enter Frances Shimer Junior College.

South Side Rifle Squad Wins Two Matches In One Night

South Side Boys' Rifle squad was victorious over both the Arcola Aces and Indiana Technical College teams last Monday. The South Side-Arcola scores, fired at the Archer range, were 496 to 487.

The armory was the scene of the Indiana Tech-South Side match. The scores for this match were 495-480.

Richard Sunier, junior B, who was put on as a second alternate by Mr. Maurice Cook, adviser, made a perfect score in the Indiana Tech match. This was Richard's first time to shoot for a year. His highest score previous to this was 95.

Other high scores were made by Richard Brintzenhofe and Jack Hornberger, who helped the Archers to victory in the Arcola match. Joe Bekius shot a possible ten perfect shots in the Indiana Tech match.

Dick Theye, John Meyers, and Art Puff completed the first team with Richard Brintzenhofe and Dick Hornberger and whose scores were 90, 99, and 98. Edmund Bauer, Joe Bekius, Phil Chamness, Clifford Sprunger, and Tom Broxon comprised the second team in the South-Arcola match with scores of 97, 97, 94, 94, and 90.

Arcola's first team was led by Coleman whose score was 99. Other individual scores were made by Yeater, who scored 98; Newhouser, 98; Przewindowski, 97; and Butts, 95. Second team comprised Dennie, 95; Roy Greener, 94; Robert Greener, 94; Arnold, 93; and Bieber, 93.

Edmund Bauer, John Meyers, and Richard Theye assisted Dick Sunier and Joe Bekius in being victorious over Indiana Tech team. Their scores were 99, 98, and 98, respectively. Art Puff, Richard Brintzenhofe, Clifford Sprunger, Arthur Longworth, and Richard Hornberger were members of the second team. Their scores were 97, 96, 95, 95, and 89, respectively.

McKown was highest in the Indiana Tech team with 97. Other individual scores of the first team were made by Colburn, Grigsby, Shaffer, and Henson, with scores of 96, 96, 96, and 95, respectively. Miller, Crouse, Blackburn, Frank and Sarabia, members of the second team, scores were 93, 93, 93, 91, and 90, respectively.

Archer Boys' Rifle team now places thirteenth in the National Bi-Weekly matches. Two hundred and fifty teams compete in these matches. South has entered seven interschool matches and is undefeated. They have tied one match with Mr. Maurice Cook, and Mr. Stanley Post, Archer boys' advisers, and three Indiana Technical riflemen.

Social Science Puts On Lincoln Day Program

The program held yesterday in the gym, commemorating Lincoln's birthday, was sponsored by the Social Science Club.

To start the program the band played "The Star Spangled Banner", while the flag was raised in the center of the gymnasium. The chorus then sang "I Am An American."

Mr. Verlin Harrold from the Lincoln Life Insurance Company, gave a talk on Abraham Lincoln. The assembly was concluded with the band playing and the students singing "God Bless America."

This program was one of many put on during the year by this club having a patriotic theme.

Representative Will Talk

A representative from Lake Forest College will be at South Side today to interview anyone who is interested in this school. Persons who wish to confer with the representative should leave their names with Miss Dorothy Alderdice in the main office.

USA Group Feature Is Get-Acquainted Games

Get-acquainted games were the feature of USA's organization meeting Thursday in the Greeley Room. The games were arranged and led by Anna Lee Bearinger.

Ilo Hirschman, a past member, was presented an award for doing much to further the club while she was a member.

Membership cards were filled out by the members. All paid members are to go to Room 114 after school for the USA Club Totem picture tonight.

Two School Members Are Out With Illness

Mrs. Ogden has been acting as a substitute in Room 26 for the past week during the absence of Miss Erma Dochterman, who is confined to her home with the flu.

Mr. Carl Vonderaue, custodian, has been unable to work for the past week because of illness.

So-Si-Y Club Fetes New Membership

Junior, Senior Girls Honored Tuesday Night; Joan Druhot, Peggy Berning Head Devotion

Membership party was held for new junior and senior girls of So-Si-Y Club, Tuesday in the Greeley room. Members were told the idea behind the club and of its Girl Reserve connection.

Joan Druhot and Peggy Berning led in the devotions during which prayer was read. Evelyn Hegerfeld read a poem on Teamwork by Edgar Guest. Margaret Calkins led the community sing. "Smiles" and "It Isn't Any Trouble" were sung. Members filled out cards for Miss Martha Pittenger, dean at South Side, who was guest at this meeting.

The remaining part of the meeting was spent in stuffing cuddle toys and making valentines for the Pixley Relief Home. Margaret Calkins, service chairman, had charge of the meeting. Refreshments, consisting of tea and cookies, were served.

EEE's Have Musicales, Reports Last Saturday

Martha Jean Smith gave a report on interesting words, and Janet Holtmeyer spoke on the origin of words and slips that pass in the type at the home of Elaine Hirschy, 536 West Packard Avenue. Several contests were then conducted.

During a short musicale, Hilda Schubert played a cello solo, "Ave Maria" by Bach; Bettliu Stein and Frances Weir, accompanied by Ione-Jean Tracht, sang a duet, "Schubert's Serenade"; and Wilma Legemann and Elaine Hirschy entertained by playing piano solos, "Sparkling Water" and "Largo" movement of Beethoven's "Sonata in D Minor". Refreshments were then served.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Wilma Legemann, 4334 Indiana Avenue. Hilda Schubert, Bettliu Stein, and Gertrude Merkel will be the assisting hostesses.

Torch Totem Picture Scheduled For Monday

Torch Club's Totem picture will be taken next Monday in Room 114 after school, it was announced by Mr. Ernest L. Walker, club adviser. Every member is asked to be present for this picture.

Election of officers will be held at the next meeting. The date of this meeting is indefinite. Franklin Neff, president, will be in charge.

The club welcomes freshman and sophomore boys, especially 9B's who entered South Side in January. Torch Club members meet every Thursday after school for a business meeting. Every month a meeting is held at the YMCA.

"Gay Nineties" To Be Theme For Musicale

Dr. Grant Cornell Will Be Guest Conductor Of Next Tuesday's Music Assembly

Dr. Grant Cornell will be the guest conductor at the music assembly next Tuesday in the gymnasium immediately after the home room period. The Glee Club will accompany the band on two of the selections.

The program will include the following selections: "Black Horses", "Barber of Seville", "Tanhauser", "Mystic Land of Egypt", "Zanette", "Moonlight and Roses", "Dedication" (Symphonic Poem), "Legionier March", and "Waltz Old Timers".

A program made up of "Gay Nineties" music and dances will be presented during the assembly, it was announced by Miss Lucy Osborne, who is in charge of the program.

Gilbert Baumgartner will dance to "The Sidewalks of New York". Marjorie Williams will dance to "Sweet Rosie O'Grady". Both will participate in a dance to the song, "The Bower". "Little Annie Rooney" is the song Marilyn Wolf will dance to.

Gloria Kramer is in charge of the finale. The finale is composed of students dancing to "After the Ball is Over".

All costumes will be in accordance with the "gay ninety" style.

Lester Oppenlander is the newly-elected president of German Club. The other officers are Sarah Makey, vice-president; Ada Prange, secretary-treasurer; Kenneth Junk, sergeant-at-arms; and Elmer Kahl, inter-club congress representative.

The first club meeting of the semester was held February 5, in Room 144. The meeting was devoted mostly to the organization of new members and the explaining of the activities of the club.

Any person wishing to become a member of German Club must have one semester of German. The dues are 25 cents a semester.

Mr. E. Paul Schnepel is sponsor of the club; anyone wanting further information can consult him in Room 144.

North Side, South Side Hi-Y's Meet Together

South Side Hi-Y and North Side Hi-Y held a joint meeting last Thursday night at the YMCA. The Rev. Howard J. Brown, pastor of the Forest Park Methodist Church, spoke on "The Flying Machine". This meeting was in charge of North Side.

After the speech, South Side retired to their clubroom for a short business meeting. Bill Goodwin and Larry Phipps were appointed as representatives to a meeting for the committee in charge of a Youth and Democracy Rally, February 11. All Hi-Y members were invited to the rally, February 12. Dave Azar, treasurer, gave a financial report. Mr. A. G. Leonard, boys' activities director at the YMCA, acted as temporary adult adviser for the night.

First Skit This Year Given In Pep Session

For the first time this year, a skit, "Down with the Dictator", was presented in our pep session. The director was Mr. Albert Heine. Jim McClure, the dictator, represented Central; Don Meyer, the Archer, represented South Side, and Safford McMyler was the soap box orator. Ending like all good South Side dramas, the Archer defeated the dictator. Mr. Paul Sidell gave a speech on sportsmanship.

Speakers Eligible For National Meet

Bob Robinson Captures Top Position In Rotary Contest Held Monday Night

Two Fort Wayne boys, Jim McClure of South Side and Sam Stuart of Central, brought home honors in the state oratorical contest, held at Wabash College, Saturday.

Jim McClure placed second in the annual state oratorical contest, held at Wabash College, last Saturday.

Both Jim and Samuel Stuart of Central are eligible for participation in the national oratorical contest the week of April 28 at Lexington, Kentucky. Jim's subject was "Of Human Progress". Judges for the meet were professors of Wabash College.

Bob Robinson captured a first place at the Fort Wayne group Rotary contest Monday night, and he will represent that group in the District Rotary Oratorical Contest at Wabash, March 17.

Bob competed with five other finalists from Huntington, Columbia City, Decatur, and Bluffton. Judges were Myron R. Bone of Fort Wayne, Pete Reynolds of Decatur, and Charles Thatcher of Auburn.

★ ★ ★

Several South Side speakers placed in an invitational tournament at North Side last Saturday. Bob Young took third in the experienced original oratory, and Harold Brudi and Dick Shriner placed second in experienced oratorical declamation. Jerry Mansbach tied for a second in the inexperienced oratorical declamation division, while Mary Ellen Barrett took third in the experienced humorous declamation division. Bob Guion tied for second in the dramatic declamation division.

Girls May Blush At Expose Of Their Locker Room Gab

By Margaret Kuntz

Maybe you think that the Study Hall is noisy between classes, or that the halls during the fifth period top all for noise! But, my dear fellow classmates, have you ever heard the girls in the locker room at noon and after school. (Undoubtedly you have, for what person merely sauntering down the hall hasn't?) Even the most feminine of girls "lets her hair down" in the locker room.

Vexed Student Has Hectic Time Trying To Board Streetcar

By Rundell Bone

Since I have the seventh period off, and having finished writing a Times story, I thought I would beat the mob and get downtown before school was out. I was leaning up against the mail box trying to fish a nickel out of it, which I had dropped in while mailing a letter. As I stood there with my arm in the box, the trolley bus rolled by before I even knew it was near. I tugged and pulled, waved my free arm, and hollered, but it was no use; the bus was already in the next block. "They ought to put a bell on those things," I murmured to myself.

"Now where is that book?" Then I remembered that I was trying to get the nickel with my geometry book. There I stood shaking, kicking, and uttering a few words at the box when the mailman pulled up in his truck.

"What you doing, sorry?" Don't you know it's against the law to tamper with the United States mail?"

"Well—that is—you see, I dropped my book in there," I replied.

After I obtained my geometry book, I stepped out in the street to board a bus which was stopping in front of the school. At this moment school was dismissed. There was a loud crash of lockers, much yelling and screaming, and the first thing I knew, I was sprawled in the street with everybody and his little brother running over me. Soon all was quiet, the bus moved on, and I was left standing amazed on the curbstone. I picked up my hat, dusted it off, and started to wait for another trolley.

"Now where is that geometry book?" I asked myself. Then looking around, I saw it floating down the gutter.

"Good heavens!" I screamed, "Somebody save my book." After chasing my book to the corner, I finally caught up with it.

The bus finally came, and after climbing aboard, I started to search through my pockets for a car check. "Well—er—I guess I haven't any money," I stammered.

Having been let off at the next corner, I walked home.

Three Archers Place In Journalistic Meet

Three students from South Side placed in the Second Group Contest given by Quill and Scroll Society. The numbers over 1,900 chapters and the winners are picked from different divisions. Our students placed in the East Central States Division.

Marge Sheldon placed fourth in the Copy Reading Contest. The basic requirement for placing was technical knowledge. Delores Reiter received honorable mention in the Ad Writing Contest, which involved originality and the inclusion of ad fundamentals. For Headline Writing, John Gumpfer received honorable mention. This was judged on accurately constructed heads, strong verbs used, and copy complete in thought and unity.

South Side Is Behind Indians In Circulation

Times Now Has 1,096 Subscriptions, 51 Per Cent; Northerner, 58 Per Cent

Exactly 58 per cent to 51 per cent is the standing of the circulation campaign between North Side and South Side; however, South Side is not the leader. Although the Archer school has 1,096 subscriptions, to North Side's 993, the Redskins' percentage is higher because their enrollment is less. If South Side wins the circulation campaign with North Side, the Archers will get to keep the circulation cup which this school has had for the last two semesters.

The previous subscription record for the spring semester is 1098, which was made last spring. The circulation manager, assistants, and individual room agents have been trying to break this record since they broke the previous fall record last semester, and with only four more subscriptions to go, they have a good chance to do so.

Tom Yates' Book I, War Admiral, is now ahead with 183 subscriptions. Book IV, Gallehaddon, which is headed by Laura Grazer, is second with 177 subscriptions. Gallant Fox, Book V, and Top Flight, Book VI, each have 176 subscriptions; while Sea Biscuit, Book II, has 175 and Princess Doreen, Book III, has 165.

There are no one hundred per cent rooms yet, but some are expected by the end of this week. Home rooms and agents that are ahead are: Room 8, Ruth Werkman, 89 per cent; Room 138, Betty Stumpf, 87; Room 188, Hilda Leininger, 86; Room 79, Jean Weil, 82; Room 82, Lois Likins, 80; and Room 85, Phyllis Wefel and Julia Wilson, 80.

A complete list of the home rooms, agents, and their per cents as they were on Tuesday night follows:

★ Final Tourney Dope Make Your Last Check-Up On Sectional Tickets Here

Final announcement of plans for distribution of sectional tickets has been made by R. Nelson Snider. This plan is the result of a meeting of three students, two teachers, three parents and Mr. Snider at which time the following outline was made as being most fair to all concerned.

Orders for the sectional tournament tickets will be taken today and tomorrow in the home rooms. Tickets for the tournament are a dollar and a half apiece, the money must accompany the order for each student.

In purchasing tournament tickets the following instructions should be followed exactly:

Each student applying for a ticket to write his or her name on the order blank. The student must understand that his signature is a promise that he is buying the ticket for himself. Each student is entitled to buy one ticket only.

Students who have season tickets should place their names at the top of the list when signing for tickets and should have their tickets with them Thursday or Friday when they order. Students must give the number of his or her season ticket when signing their name.

NO ORDER FOR PERSONS OUTSIDE OF THE SCHOOL WILL BE TAKEN IN THE HOME ROOM.

These rules must be carefully followed by both the teachers and students in securing sectional tournament tickets.

Skit At Pep Session, "Adolf Gissler", Is Tops Say Archers

At the pep session held before the Central game, the Student Players Club presented a skit. This skit, "Adolph Gissler", was indeed very funny and has been a long-awaited event. Apparently the students thought the skit was very good by the reports, because when asked if they liked the skit, they replied as follows:

Marilyn Hull: There should be more of them.

Jean Simmers: But definitely.

Joan Reichard: The skit puts more life in the pep session, and the kids really enjoy it more.

Audrey Smith: I thought it was wonderful and think there should be more of them.

Marge Shannon: They've had better ones before, but it was well.

Larry Phipps: Very good.

Marjorie Van Curen: Best they've ever had.

Crystal Valentine: Very fine, all we need is more.

Shirley Rubin: I thought it was real cute.

Robert Safer: Height of dramatic achievement. Without a doubt, it is deserving of the Pull-A-Boner award of the year.

Dave Lowe: I don't react to anything.

Dick McIntosh: Marvelous pep session.

Paul Keil: We should have more of them.

Martha Thomas: Cute and very clever.

Leah Schwartz: Larger pep sessions and shorter classes is what we need.

Scientists Install Heads For Term

L. R. Mathews Discusses City's Filtration Plant; Members Are Named To Five Committees

Mr. L. R. Mathews, superintendent of the city filtration plant, was the guest speaker at the Math-Science Club meeting held last Thursday night in the Greeley Room. Preceding Mr. Mathews' talk the installation of the newly elected officers was held with Safford McMyler, Miss Adelaide Fiedler, and Mr. Lloyd Whelan taking special parts in this ceremony. The new officers are Martin Grenand, president; Betty Koehler, vice-president; Ralph Sebald, treasurer; and Janice Holmeyer, secretary.

Following are some of the interesting facts that were included in his speech on "The Fort Wayne Water Supply." Hillsdale County, Michigan, is the source of our water supply, and the present filtration plant started operating in 1934. Eleven million gallons a day are consumed by the city. It is said that the reason for this increase is the large increase in factory employees. He also revealed to the club that each person is at present using from 75 to 92 gallons per day. Program cards were filled at this meeting, games were played, and the meeting closed with the serving of refreshments.

The president announced the following members to serve on committees for this semester:

Publicity chairman, Elaine Hirschy; refreshment committee, chairman, Dick Dauner, Hilda Schubert, John Gumpfer, Dick Fishering; arrangement committee, chairman, Richard Sebald, Paul Johnson, Evelyn Erickson, Ellen Harry; music committee, Mildred Hanke, Bob Moses; games committee, chairman, Bob and Eva Jean Wylie, Gloria Staley, Roger McCay; Inter-Club Congress representative, Dick Thayer.

"The House of Magic" presentation will be the outstanding feature of the March meeting. This show is sponsored by the Fort Wayne Works of the General Electric Company. It is to be presented by Mr. Howard Miller and Mr. Claude M. Summers, both of whom are workers in the General Electric Works Laboratory personnel.

Students Will Sing In Vesper Service

June Flaig Will Present Harp Recital Sunday At Trinity English Lutheran Church

Sixteen South Side students, members of the High School Choir of the Trinity English Lutheran Church, corner of Wayne and Ewing, will be presented in a Musical Vesper next Sunday, February 23, at 4:45 o'clock in the church. The choir will be under the direction of Mr. H. Eugene Casselman, minister of music at the church.

Miss June Flaig will give a harp recital preceding the affair. Other South Side students who will participate in the affair are Barbara Christ, Rosa Lee Hall, Joan Schwartz, Marilyn Toole, Martha Faye Harader, Bette Thiele, Jim Gerig, Warren Cook, Gretchen Greiner, Don Greenier, Jim Sterner, Warren Lotz, Mary Menze, Ruth Anne Steigler, Carol Trenary, and Jane Klinefelter.

The program for the choir will be as follows: "Blessing and Gloria" by G. O'Hara; "Lo, A Voice From Heaven Sounding" by D. Bortivansky; "The Heavens Are Telling" by L. Van Beethoven; and "Adore and Be Still" by C. Goodrich.

"Fear Not Ye, O Israel" by D. Buck will be sung by Mr. Eugene Casselman, "Prayer Perfect" by E. Stensen and "The King of Love" by H. Shelley will be the concluding numbers, and will be sung by the choir.

Latin Group Meets

Miss Blanche Hutto, art instructor, was the guest speaker at the Latin Club meeting last Thursday. She spoke on the "Influence of Grecian and Roman Art on Modern Art". Each member of the group brought a Latin valentine and presented it in answer to the roll call. Tea was served after the meeting.

Washington's Waltz French Club's Gift To School Friday

Dance After Jeffersonville Game To Add To Social Life Of School Affairs

Cut Rate Price For Dated Pairs

One Quarter Will Admit One By One And Forty Cents Will Do For Twosome

"Washington Waltz" will be the theme of the after-game dance tomorrow evening following the Jeffersonville tilt. Room 170 will be the setting for the dance being sponsored by the French Club. Decorations will be in keeping with Washington's birthday, and music will be provided by Bob Anweiler and his orchestra. The admission will be 25 cents per person and 40 cents per couple.

Chaperones will be Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smith, Mrs. Herbert Weil, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Bowiby, Miss Olive Perkins, Mr. and Mrs. A. Verne Flint, Mr. and Mrs. R. Nelson Snider, and Miss Martha Pittenger.

★ ★ ★

Marjorie McNabb is the chairman of the decoration committee and assisting her are Hilda Leininger, Alice Hall, Alene Lasser, LaVerne Michelfelder, and Jean Weil. Ruth Marie Cyr is in charge of posters.

The profit from the dance will be used to pay for the club's Totem picture, pins given to members, and the French dictionaries given on Recognition Day.

Officers of the club are Mary Bowiby, president; Caroline Lichtenberg, vice-president; Marjorie McMahon, secretary, and LaVerne Michelfelder, point recorder.

Other after-game dances held this year have been as follows: Letterman's Club after the Crawfordsville game, December 6; Torch Club dance after the Horace Mann game, December 21; Philatelic after the Central game, January 17; Wrangler dance after the North Side game, January 31; and Philo dance after the Froebel game, February 14.

PS Students Receive Excellent Training (And Grand Times)

Parties, short stories, impromptus, original orations, and introductions certainly don't sound like routine class assignments! They aren't! They're exciting experiences one has when he takes public speaking. The first part of each semester is devoted to humorous introductory speeches. These speeches reveal the past, present, and future activities of the students—so that the class as a whole can become better acquainted. This program is followed by a series of magazine articles given in the form of speeches. Of course, the famous parties that are held in Room 190 deserve special mention.

The fourth period class held a Valentine party Friday, with Dick Hornberger serving as chairman and Barbara Brower as toastmistress. The first semester students, only, are required to give short story speeches. These speeches are condensed versions of short stories from any popular magazine.

The first semester students also have to give five minute speeches with an introduction, body, and conclusion later on in the semester. Perhaps the most interesting speech of the semester will come in the spring, when the public speaking 2 students will prepare a ten minute original oration. The whole public speaking program is interesting, entertaining, and helpful to everyone who takes it. The frequent impromptus which the students are requested to give prove very helpful in later life when one might be called upon to give a speech without time for preparation.

Today: USA, Greeley Room; French, Hi-Y, Torch.

Friday: Jeffersonville game, here.

Saturday: New Albany game, here.

Monday: Wranglers, Greeley Room; Boys' Rifle Club, Range; Archery.

Tuesday: So-Si-Y, Greeley Room; Junior Math Club, Freshman Boys' Rifle Club, Range.

Wednesday: Girl Scouts, Philatelic, Greeley Room; Airplane Club.

Thursday: W-Ho-Ma, Greeley Room; Societas Romana, Hi-Y, Marionette, Shop; Torch.

Club Pictures Rescheduled

Members' Lack Of Co-operation Necessitates Action; Totem Resets Dates

Due to the lack of co-operation on the part of club members, the Totem club pictures were called off from Wednesday until Friday. Picture taking was resumed again on Monday of this week with much larger groups showing up each night. The clubs having pictures scheduled for tonight and tomorrow are

Thursday, February 20
3:30 Social Science.
3:40 Math Science.
3:50 Lettergirls. (Please wear letter sweaters).
4:00 USA.

Friday, February 21
3:30 Philo.
3:40 Philo (Second picture).
3:50 Times.
4:00 Times (Second picture).

Wednesday, February 28
3:30 Girl Scouts.
3:40 Totem.

During the week these clubs were photographed:

Monday—Torch, Inter-Club Congress, French.

Tuesday—Wranglers, W-Ho-Ma.

Wednesday—Rife, Hi-Y, Three E's, Booster.

ANY OTHER CLUBS WHO HAVE NOT HAD THE PICTURE TAKEN AND ARE NOT AS YET SCHEDULED WILL BE TAKEN AT A LATER DATE.

Parents, Teachers To Frolic Tonight

Affair To Be Held In Room 170; Mr. Fred W. Bloemker Is Master of Ceremonies; List Games

Mr. Fred W. Bloemker will act as master of ceremonies at the P-TA frolic tonight at 7:30 o'clock in Room 170. Cards, ping-pong, and games will be played. The game of "Famous Autographs" will include the officers of the South Side P-TA.

Miss Gretchen Smith and Miss Alice Dean will conduct the Circle Two-Step and the Virginia Reel. Mrs. Muriel McAllister will be pianist for the community singing. Mr. Earl Sterner will lead the Grand March. The card playing will be in charge of Mrs. George Fishering.

Mrs. Arthur Parry is program chairman for the party. She is assisted by Mrs. John Brooks, Mrs. Robert Wylie, Miss Pauline VanGorder, Mrs. Earl Hadley, Mrs. Simpson Parkinson, Mrs. Victor Rea, Mrs. Paul Scheele, Mrs. George H. Barrett, Mrs. P. W. Iba, Mrs. J. Earl Cunningham, and Mrs. Charles Beall.

Mrs. Harold Smith, hospitality chairman, will serve refreshments, assisted by Mrs. E. H. Haugk, Mrs. Earl Hadley, Mrs. Charles Cherry, Mrs. R. Peterson, and Mrs. Clifford Matson.

Miss Blanche Hutto is in charge of decorations and Mrs. George H. Barrett of favors. Home room mothers are bringing the cards and card tables.

Officers of the Archer Parent-Teacher Association are Mrs. A. K. Remmel, president; Mrs. Harold Tracht, first vice-president; Mr. Maurice Cook, second vice-president; Mrs. Fred Wilson, secretary; and Mrs. Ed Auer, treasurer.

Hi-Y Elects Boys To Fill Positions

B. Goodwin, P. Holzworth Are Chosen To Council; J. Gumpfer, Congress Representative

Bill Goodwin and Pete Holzworth were appointed club representatives to the council of Hi-Y clubs in District 4, March 4. A report was given by the committee, consisting of Bill Goodwin, Dave Azar, and Pete Holzworth, who were the club representatives at the February 12 meeting.

John Gumpfer was elected by the club to fill the vacancy of Inter-Club Congress representative since the former one, Dick Braun, has quit school. Larry Phipps gave a report on the "Youth and Democracy Rally," held February 25. Mr. Clyde Peirce, faculty adviser, told the club that the Totem picture would be taken Wednesday, February 19 at 3:40 o'clock in Room 114. Pete Holzworth, Dave Azar, John Heffelfinger, and Bill Goodwin were placed in charge of the checkroom at the Froebel game.

Dick Brower, Joe Bekius, and Bob Racht were placed in charge of the pennant sale for this game. Two pennants were handed out to each member to sell. A report was given in checking at the sectionals and regionals at North Side. Jim Holzworth and Dave Azar gave reports on the pencil sale, and Dick Brower gave a report on the pennant sale. Dave Azar, treasurer, gave a financial report.

A Job In The Hand Tops An Allowance In Anyone's Pockets

How often have you said, "Well, I sure would like to go; but I'm low on cash right now; and I don't believe I can make it." To a great many South Siders this is a very familiar statement. Allowances are often just not enough to meet the financial demands of an active high school student, and parents are not always in a position to raise them. When a student wishes to go places with his friends but cannot afford it, this situation creates a distinct problem.

Consequently, students who feel that they could use some extra pocket money must devise some means of obtaining it. What we mean, boiled down plain and simple, is WORK! Perhaps you have often heard how hard your parents and grandparents worked when they were young, but it probably seems a bit far-fetched to you. We don't believe in child labor any more; but, just the same, all play and no work makes Jack a dull boy.

We dare say that it wouldn't be stunting any boy's growth or mentality to get out and shovel a walk or mow a lawn, nor impairing any girl's development to take care of the neighbor's children once in a while. Neither are clerking and doing odd jobs in stores injurious to health. Here we have already suggested a few possibilities for making money on "your own hook." There are countless other opportunities—opportunities that do not interfere with school work, whatsoever. There are also many chances for making money after school. Paper routes and Saturday jobs are beneficial, too.

It all points to one thing:—If you want more money, the quickest and easiest way is to earn it yourself. You will learn better the value of money; and you will develop a measure of self-confidence, invaluable in later life. You'll make a finer citizen, a better South Sider, if, when you want money, you WORK for it!

A Stitch In Your Junior Year May Save Nine In The Next

Freshmen! Sophomores! Are you the ants who are industriously preparing for tomorrow, or are you the grasshoppers who are gaily playing in the sun? Are you thinking about what you will do in the next two or three years when you are seniors, or are you negligently letting things slip by without a thought for the future?

Today in The Times you read about the achievements of the present seniors. A great many underclassmen, too many in fact, regard the senior year as something vague and far off. They believe that, when they are upperclassmen, they can start to do great things for themselves and the school. Like the grasshopper who disdainfully surveyed his neighbor, the ant, who he industriously prepared for the winter, they think that they can merely step up and be an asset to the school when the time comes.

If you are this type, do a little investigating on your "own hook." Ask any of the leading seniors how they acquired the reputation that belongs to them now. They'll agree with us in saying that to be an outstanding senior demands a background of three good years of preparation. The outstanding scholars are, for the most part, made and not born.

How great a part in school activities you want to take two and three years from now depends on how much you want to put in right now. Output never equals more than input. If you have no intentions of ever becoming a leader of your class, this is of little value to you. If you intend to become a leader and are preparing now, all well and good.

We ought to establish a waiting room for those boys who wait around after school for their loved ones to emerge from club meetings.

Who says that the only place that you can take a two-mile walk indoors is on a steamship? What about South Side High School?

Just about the only way for you to be sure that you will see the 1941 Indiana High School Basketball Tournament is to buy a ticket NOW.

Pick up that paper you just threw under your desk at once!

And, while you're at it, you might just as well erase those marks on the desk too.

You can't change the weather but you can change your school attitude. Begin to study now.

Freshmen: Subscribe for your Totems at once.

This Latest March Of Rhymes Is Dedicated To The Seniors

Driving Cars

Every boy and girl who is an acquaintance of mine Can't wait until reaching sixteen—the age divine. For in this state one can get a driver's permit, Providing with you always an elder does sit.

So many Archers drive about these days; I imagine you have all seen the dust they can raise. All examples of automobiles can be seen, Varying in color from red to green.

Model T's are always the style in Fort Wayne, But they are certainly terrible things to ride in the rain. I had an experience with a Model T's leak, For that was the cause of mascara flowing down my cheek.

The categories of drivers are few and far between; My pet peeve is the driver who stops when the light is green.

Of course you all have heard of the driver with one arm, But no student here is guilty; no reason for alarm.

We students observe the traffic signals so well, I do believe; But to keep from paying all the fines is something hard to achieve.

My gift of gab never seems to work in predicaments such as these;

So when I ask again for the car, I must beg and say "Poleeze."

But if you are one of those who are so optimistic, Slow up a little or you might become a statistic.

When airplanes are the style, then you'll be all right, For a policeman won't stop you in your mad flight.

Stop Sign.

Post Graduates

Post graduates must like our school very very well, Unless in some subjects they didn't excel. But enough for such jibe which really isn't true, Because so many things for our school they all do.

We enjoy their company all the time they're here, And in this poem we'll give a few of them a cheer.

Marjorie Sheldon has worked hard on The Times for four years;

And so has Josephine Frosh, it does appear.

Paul Keil has been prexy of Social Science Club, And Bob Brooks served as his able sub.

Lois Likins can always be found working on The Totem; And, if your picture is taken, it will be by Joel Salon.

Bonnie Yaeger is a pretty member of this super-plus class,

While at the Meyer twins many girls would like to make a pass.

But, sorry to say, with Don it is too late to start; Because Marge Dyer has already won his heart.

Don't Be Misled! This Is Not A Big Fight; It's An Interview

By C. MacAtee

Ladies and gentlemen! In this corner we have the human dynamo, the little (?) man with great possibilities, and the handiest handy man around school, RALPH HERB. In the opposite corner we have yours truly, who will carry on a verbal battle with my honorable opponent, Mr. Herb. I will rapidly shoot questions to him, and his defending answers will hold the key to his character.

Q. Where did you receive your early training? A. If my memory hasn't failed me, I hail from good old Emmaus Lutheran Grade School, from which I graduated with flying colors.

Q. Why Mister Herb, your modesty astounds me, to say the least. Please enlighten me as to your activities at South Side, which must be very numerous from all I've heard. A. Oh yes, I believe that hard labor is good for the soul, strictly off the record, of course. I am an active member of Stamp, Math-Science, Social Science, Library, Service, Visual Education Department, and The Times. I have earned awards in Library, a gold L; and in Stamp Club, a gold P with six green and white bars.

Q. Remind me to get your autograph just as soon as this interview is over, will you? But to get on with the questions, just what are your hobbies? A. To me, sand and rock collecting is very absorbing. I have samples from all over the world, particularly the United States. I'm also interested in stamp collecting and aviation.

Q. Uh, Mister Herb, are you also interested in collecting girls? A. No siree, not at all. I fall into the very rare class of women haters. Of course, I might be persuaded to change my mind if, gosh, the right gal came along.

Q. Come now, Ralph; don't be bashful. Just remember the whole school is breathlessly waiting to read this sketch of you (if it ever gets in the paper). Tell me, what are your pet peeves? A. Vigorous gum chewers grate on my nerves as do neckties on my neck. Driving on icy streets makes a nervous wreck of me.

They Put Business Before Pleasure

Pictured above are: Barbara Brower, Dolores Reiter, Tompise Hall, Martha Jane Krauskopf, Carol Whittier, and Wanda Eller. All of the above girls are assisting with the selection of mats to be used in The Times. This is only one of the many functions of the business staff.

"How many inches to go?" is a familiar question heard approximately every five minutes on Tuesday night in Room 16. This refers to the number of inches of advertising yet to be solicited before The Times can go to press.

Assignments are given to the advertising solicitors by the advertising manager on Wednesdays. The assignments must be reported on not later than Monday evening. This is only one section of the business staff, but by far the most important. If there is not enough advertising, there is no paper; or, perhaps, only a small one.

The business manager carries the most responsibility, and the entire business staff works under the supervision of this individual and the business adviser. Both oversee the other parts of the staff.

Another wing of the business staff is composed of the credit manager and the bill collectors. The credit manager hands out the bills on the first of the month. These must be collected by the tenth day of that same month. Accounts must be audited before the end of the month so that new bills may be made out before that time. A professional auditor checks the records, number of inches, and the bills once each month.

All copy for the ads is checked and made up by the assistant business manager. This person must also take care of the mats that are sent to be cast. These mats are taken to the News-Sentinel, where they are cast with type metal and then returned to be used in ad copy. Points are a constant issue that everyone is highly interested in, especially to the extent of collecting for ad contracts. The issuing of points and a constant checking up on the ad solicitors are only two of the many duties which the advertising manager must take care of.

The circulation staff, which was described in an article of several weeks ago, is also a part of the business staff. Next week we will explain the many duties and functions of the feature and sports staffs. The following week our series will be continued with an article on the editorial and the news staffs.

College Clues---

Traveling on the highways of this nation, our paths will eventually lead us to the various colleges and universities of the United States. This week's path leads us to Butler University, Indianapolis, Indiana.

This university is an institution of higher learning with a non-sectarian spirit and program. The many colleges that make up this university are as follows: The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences; the College of Religion; the College of Education; the College of Business Administration; and the Division of Graduate Instruction. Affiliated schools are The Arthur Jordan Conservatory of Music and the John Herron Art School.

For the students wishing to enter Butler University, there is a student and faculty committee to help determine exactly what subjects one should take for the various degrees which are offered. Houses are approved by the faculty board before students are allowed to live in them.

Three of the many scholastic honors offered at Butler are: Phi Eta Sigma, scholastic achievement for freshman men; Phi Chi Nu, scholastic achievement for freshman women; and Phi Kappa Phi, which may only be conferred if the student is in the upper tenth of the senior class.

There are many different fields of campus activities. There are athletic activities, literary outlets, forensic debates, dramatic productions, and publication activities.

Butler University is one of the foremost universities in the United States. One of the distinct advantages for the students of South Side is the fact that the distance from Butler to Fort Wayne is only one hundred miles. Butler University is indeed a school of fine opportunity. It is definitely a school for those students who do not want to go so far away for an education.

Gone With Ambrose

By Al Verweire

Chapter II

The Times room, usually a tranquil spot (typewriters clanging, girls shrieking, doors slamming) suddenly became a bedlam of noise. Sabotage was rumored. (Dave Saylor of N. S. and Tyke Hartman, C. C., had been seen on the Southern premises.) John Bisno finally saw a solution, a detective agency to track down the misdeeds of the Times staff.

Thursday morning, and still no Daddy Miller Getaspo, made up of Mike Beall, Kent Lentz, "Sherlock" Holmes, and "Baldy" Nahrwald, was assigned to the job. Chas. insisted on an expense account but finally settled for five lollipops per day, flavored with Old Granddads. Chas. had the whole case solved in five minutes. Some posters were printed in various dives (Chas. knows them all) and three hours later the school had paid for twenty-five dollars worth of information. Still no Ambrose! Another problem was arising. How would the students take the matter of no Times being delivered on Thursday? Would they be as indifferent as they were toward their subscriptions? Gloom shrouded the Times room. Suddenly super sleuth Heffelfoo rushed in.

"I saw him!" Johnny gasped. Chas. immediately aroused from his siesta and shouted, "Ambrose? Where? Speak up, man!"

"Out by Moony Gooreshine's joint," Johnny said, regaining his breath slightly.

Immediately everyone rushed for the door, clamoring to go out after our culprit, Ambrose; but Chas. blocked the door. "Now look fellas, this takes brains! Now you just leave this to me and the Getaspo," Chas. cried, attempting to pacify the excited group.

The crowd was about to push by when Bob Robinson, the great pacifier, intervened. "Chas. is right! We ought to let him handle this even if he has made a few blunders." With all in readiness, the five happy sleuths roared away on their high-powered kiddy cars.

For Whom The Bell Tolls

By Dumbell

For The First Bell: (to be absorbed while you are waiting in the office for a late slip).

Most of us have at one time or another heard of pidgin English. A language used in the ports of China, it is made up of English, Chinese, Portuguese, and Malay. The endings ee or o are added to the words in this lingo so that the sounds are made relatively easy to pronounce by the easy-going Chinese tongue. Results? "To be or not to be! That is the question!" becomes "Can do, no can do! How fashion?" "Fool!" is the only logical Yankee reply to this expo.

Actually heard in a classroom: Upon seeing a droopy-eyed upper-classman gradually sink into sleep, the mentor of the class asked, "Are you always half asleep this period, A—?" "Half of the time," replied A—. "Then I guess I'm half right!" was the teacher's most timely retort. So it can't happen here? Well it did! Again the Archers will sweep the cobwebs from out of the nooks and crannies and play host to the sectionals of the annual net tourney. If you have your late slip by now, it's time to go into the study hall, do your lessons, and then read:

Liberty Bells: (those bells that announce the end of the third period at the beginning of your lunch period).

Some bright freshman once said that George Washington married Martha Custis and became The Father of His Country...that Detroit is that part of the mouth which houses the tongue and other oral odds and ends...that flatery is nothing but soap and soap is ninety per cent lye...If you are now in your first period class, you are probably wondering just what to do in the 9,800 seconds you still have until the fourth or the 19,600 seconds until The Five O'clock Whistle.

The kids who really have the idea are the ones who pass off Asthamadors and Cubes for rare Turkish cigarettes...The Grill is a quieter place since the new eighth period rulings have taken effect...This scribe wishes to salute Clarence Freeman, 12A. Clarence is the kid who bears all the grief when that film they're showing in your biology or civics class decides to divide itself into more sections than a Pennsylvania train...We know of at least four boys who are glad that they escaped in one piece from a certain hangout on the north side called Sandy's. You know—these street brawls! Lost: the circulation race with North Side—(Why don't YOU subscribe and make it a win?) Strayed: Sally Hobbs, popular young Archer, to a private boarding school. Stalen: several notes from the dirt box. (Are you the guilty Cupid-hater?)

Be Lucky In Love Read "Dirt", Fresh From The Bookies

Now to the race track to view the clashing of the fourteen to eighteen-year-old horses. I've practically lost my (censored) by gambling so much today, but I honestly think it was worth it because all the information I picked up hither and thither. The first race is about to start; the gun is shot; they're off! They're now coming around the last lap; it surely will be a close race! I wonder who will emerge the victor? Yes, Mary Carlo is leading the group; but Claude Bobilya, Bob Welty, and Chuck Harrison are all putting up a real battle for second place. The winner is none other than Claude, the Redskin.

Another popular gambling game is the dice game. Many of you probably have your own favorite versions of this game. "Seven come eleven!" is always a common saying in all the variations. We might imply several similarities between the dice game and various suits of South Side's popular Barbara Brower. She may not have eleven suitors on her apron strings, but she certainly has a great line of them. They, being too numerous to mention in full, are in brief: Bob Worman, Stu Welborn, Dave Rea, and Don Hire.

Another popular little girl is none other than Ruth Werkman, whose lovers are: Dick Theye, Jack Vetter, Bob Druhot, and Gene McClain. I thought it would be most interesting to take one dice and throw it to see what would be the result. One might know that three little dots would appear. That reminds me of the eternal triangle situation. I let each dot represent Marilyn Rose, Paul McKinzie, and Kenny Dieler. I also hear it rumored that there is another party slightly concerned. Could it be Benny Hartman? Do you all remember what an obtuse triangle looks like? This might be compared to the romance of Bob Hockemeyer and Janis Tremper. Although many do not know it, Gene Reichart also has a deep admiration for Miss Tremper. At present the largest amount of degrees are in Bob's favor, but the tables can always turn!

In every pep session you will find the bored, sophisticated students, who find it fatiguing to give forth with a little pep. They usually sit with their knees crossed and their hands up on their heads and let the other students do all of the yelling.

The sentimental type is a feminine one worth mentioning. She is a mushy junior who, "Simply adores that speaker." Into her friends' ears (and yours) pour the merits of this and that speaker. A second example of this type is the girl who repeats again and again, "My dear, I simply must tell you about my date last Saturday."

A pep session peeve is the boy or girl who screams into your ears. We know they possess a lot of school spirit, but spirit isn't quite as effective in your ears. After one of the assemblies, a neighbor of ours got up and said in a voice seething with sarcasm, "If you've lost your voice, you'll find it in my ear."

In every pep session you will find the bored, sophisticated students, who find it fatiguing to give forth with a little pep. They usually sit with their knees crossed and their hands up on their heads and let the other students do all of the yelling.

Wish We Could Sell The Times As Well As They Sell Shoes!

By Betty Stump

Girls are the most egotistical humans when it comes to the proposition of buying shoes. Any high-powered salesman can bring down their sales resistance in two minutes. What if you were? "Just looking?" "What if you, 'Don't need a pair of shoes?'" Let me warn you as a person of experience, that it doesn't mean a darn thing to the salesman.

Last week I bought a pair of shoes. They were cute shoes all right, but I really didn't need a pair of green ones. Blue happens to be my color, and this season green isn't being worn with blue. For the sake of harmony I hope it never will, much as I would like to use the shoes.

Yesterday I bought a pair of alligator pumps—size seven. I wear a size eight and always have. How on earth could that man sell me a pair of shoes one size too small and make me believe that they fit? It doesn't matter how he did as long as the issue is that he did! They really are lovely examples of workmanship, but not for this girl. There is a dance tomorrow night and what am I going to wear for shoes? I've talked to my friends but no one wants the darn things! Do you know of anyone who wants to buy a pair of shoes?

In case you are interested, there is a certain store downtown employing one excellent, demoralizing, super-powered, salesman. If you really don't want a pair of shoes, stay out of the store. He can spot a prospect a mile away; and, once you have a pair on, it is a physical impossibility to escape the fiend.

Could it be that this weakness is mine alone? No, I hardly think so! All girls are alike in this respect. A book could be written about the subject. If I weren't rushed for time, I might attempt it. For the present, the matter will have to be dropped.

The girl is attired in the latest fashion of that day for school girls; she is wearing a dress of wild boar hide, which is equivalent to the sarong of today. The boy is wearing one shoulder strap, a Little Abner type suit of pigskin fur. He, like all of his friends, has a stone clip (better known today as a crew cut).

Now that our little scholars are safely in school, let's look in on the classroom. The school building is a large opening in a cave. The teacher is a man with long hair reaching to his shoulders. Attired in a long furry garment, he sits on a rock with several slabs or books of stone next to him. Leaning up against the back wall of the cave are the drill and chisel with which the teacher writes on the cave wall. The trunk of a large tree has been smoothed over for the teacher to use to keep order. The students all sit on the floor of the cave to work with their slabs of paper and to write with the chisels.

The dunce of the class comes in late, dragging with him a large lizard as a gift to the teacher (this takes the place of bringing apples.) At recess time the boys enjoy a club fight. The remainder of the afternoon is then spent in disposing of the carcass of the loser of the club fight. While the boys are clubbing away, two girls are having a hair-pulling contest because one girl said she was a better chiseler (writer) than the other. After the study of chiseling, "Stonaic" and "cavistics", school is dismissed for the day.

DECISION Spells "Poison" To A Girl

Everyone must make decisions whether they be trivial or matters of vital importance. We must weigh them in our minds and turn them over and over. We must not be afraid of the consequences if our decisions should be wrong.

Spring Suit Is Desirable Item For Wardrobe

Two, Three-Piece Ensembles Offer Solution To Girls Having Budget Problems

Once again we females who have hopes of being glamorous begin to worry about what to get in the way of clothes for our "spring splurge". There is always one field that solves this quandry in practical and economical taste. This is the unlimited and ever-widening field of spring suits, coats, and jackets. The versatility of this line of clothes is sufficient enough to provide a solution for most limited budgets.

Suits Are Basic

Those classics which are always good and serve as a "basic" for your wardrobe, are the pin-striped, mantled two-piece suits, in proverbial navy, brown, or black, and the three-piece tweeds which also give you a start on next fall's wardrobe.

But the real news in suits this spring are those with the new masculine jackets imported from the eastern boys schools. These are long, loose, three or four-button jackets worn with simple matching or contrasting skirts in pastel plaids or solid colors. Tall, slender girls will probably wear these best, but with a proper unity of length and color, they can be very flattering to short girls as well. The fit of these jackets resembles a well-made potato sack, but they can't be beat for smartness.

Once again the simple cardigan jacket with matching skirt, in all the luscious colors will be good and practical. For you who are lucky enough to have tall, slender figures, the fitted torso suits are "in" again this year with all their long, lanky, fitted smartness. The best color for these sophisticated suits is black, worn only with a sparkling lapel pin for decoration.

Fashions Patriotic

Patriotic fervor is even influencing fashion trends this spring. Suits are being made in either exact copies or with characteristic touches of the smart navy, army, and marine uniforms. The predominating colors are navy blue, khaki brown, and gray. Then of course there are the ever-popular "Chum" suits, with the matching skirt and jacket, the latter with knitted sleeves.

Capes are back again this year in all shapes, sizes, and colors. The military capes with embroidered epaulets and contrasting linings are stunning when worn with a perfectly plain skirt and jacket. Once again, while gazing in mouth-watering wonder at these creations, one must take into careful consideration one's height and weight, for a wrong step in this direction would be drastic. Definitely, not every girl can wear a cape.

Cloth Resembles Fluff

Coats this spring will be dreams of fluffy pastels. Long and straight, they are good on any figure, and come in heavenly shades of pink, pale blue and yellow, light green and off white. The newest material resembles a cloud-like fluff and wears beautifully. Reefers are here again in both dark and light colors, and are good with either dresses or suits. These are especially practical as they can be worn either as sport or dress coats. So with all these opportunities for beauty and economy in clothes this spring, there is really no reason why anyone can't have a good-looking and original wardrobe.

Sophomores Express Opinions On Makeup

This column is dedicated especially to the feminine half of the sophomore class. But of course if you men want to take a peek too it is perfectly all right, because in an indirect way it concerns you as well as the women. We are going to have a debate on the question: Resolved, that the girls in the sophomore class should not wear make-up (to some of you boys it is classified as plain everyday warpaint). Of course, this does not only refer to the sophomore class, but to the whole school. We will first begin this discussion with the affirmative side.

When a girl first enters high school her first impulse is to act old and appear to be sophisticated; in her sophomore year this impulse is even stronger. If she was not allowed to wear make-up in her freshman year, it is more probable that no power under the sun can keep her from touching her pretty face up with a dab of lipstick and little bit of rouge. It is only human nature for a girl of fourteen or fifteen to do such a thing. When a girl is this old, she should be granted the privilege of wearing lipstick and a dab of rouge, if she wears it moderately and doesn't plaster it on as most girls are inclined to do. This is the biggest objection that older people have. They think that if you give a girl the privilege of wearing a little makeup it is probable that she will take advantage of the privilege. Therefore, I resolve that a girl in the sophomore class should be granted the privilege of wearing make-up.

Next we come to the negative side of the question. The affirmative stated that when a girl is given the privilege of using make-up she will overdo the job, but will soon overcome this. BUT, I do not believe that she does overcome it. She will abuse the opportunity to use cosmetics, and she will abuse it to the extent that she will appear to the eye as a walking cosmetic store. I am not saying that a girl be limited to not using any cosmetics as long as she lives, for that would be the same as saying that jitters could not jitter.

I do say that during her second year of high school, when she is susceptible to skin diseases and if she has her face plastered with a lot of warpaint it is probable that she will not have the fairest of complexions. Maybe you will ask, when should a girl begin her use of cosmetics? Well, I think that the time for a girl to start her use of cosmetics would be about the time when she is either a junior or a senior and no sooner. Therefore, I resolve that a girl in the sophomore class should not wear make-up.

Guess What Wild Animal It Is From This Picture, Suggestion

There is one particular place in the school which is a figure-head in the front hall. Perhaps you have not been aware of it, but there is something listening to you every time that you tell a little secret to your best friend while standing in the front hall. Here are a few hints to let you know about this thing that I am talking about.

a. It is in the front hall, and every day he watches the going-ons.

b. It is an animal with brown fur.

c. He was caught in the wilderness and was brought to South Side to be mounted.

Answer: Moose in the front hall.

Some Of These Poems Are Corny, They're Valentines On Safety

A bulletin on accidental deaths during 1940 in the United States will be posted in the various home rooms tomorrow, it has been announced by Mr. Paul Schnepel. The number of deaths in occupations, with motor vehicles, in homes, and other places will be discussed. Freshmen and sophomore home rooms will discuss these figures tomorrow during the home room periods. The teachers in the junior and senior home rooms will post the safety bulletin on the bulletin board so the students may see the information posted.

Mr. Schnepel is now tabulating the results of the Red Cross Accident Prevention Questionnaire which the students filled out two weeks ago. He intends to have the final tabulation completed in the near future.

On Valentine's day, the students in the home rooms were asked to write poems or lyrics on safety, referring to Valentine's day. The following are some of the poems written by the students:

Cutie

I know you're cute,
With eyes of blue,
But men won't always
Stop for you.

You're cute—but please,
Don't go too far,
And think all men should Stop their car.

You're swell, but just
Please keep your line,
By playing safe, my Valentine.

—John Wells.

Valentine

Valentine,
Feeling fine,
Drive like thunder,
Six feet under.

Must Never

My Valentine must never drink,
Or drive while on a spree.
For if he isn't put in the clink
He'll wind up in a tree.

There Was—

There was once a young man from St. Paul,
Who was driving to a Valentine ball.
He began drinking whisky,
And got feeling frisky,
And his car went through a brick wall.

In A Casket

In a casket, built by Plasket,
He's a handsome Valentine.
Too much whisky made him frisky.
He took a drink of gasoline.
—Dick Morton.

I Know!

Valentines come,
And Valentines go,
But this one thing
I'm sure I know:

That whether they're sweet,
Or whether they're sad,
Whether they're good
Or whether they're bad,
Whether they're funny,
Or whether they're true,
Life will never be sunny
If I don't have you.

So look both ways when you cross the street,
And don't "Jay-walk" for the love
Pete,
For, if you get killed, as thousands do,
You'll be the death of me and you.

Use Your Head

Some girls get boxes of candy,
And flowers are sent, that's true,
But instead of any of these
I give this advice to you:

If you want some one to say,
"Be my Valentine today,"
Look both ways, then cross the street
And use your head before your feet.
—Unknown.

To Lois:

Lois, my Lois, when I'm not near,
Please be careful of the inclines, dear.
For many things can happen; so slippery and slick.
You might bump into Mary, or Alice, or Nick.

Don't start running at your full speed,
You might get some flowers which you don't need.
(And I don't mean bouquets.)
—Lucille Zion.

Next Year!

Lads and lassies of South Side High,
As Valentine's day next year draws nigh,

Gay '90's Music Features Assembly

Dances Are Also Presented To Carry Out Theme; Glee Club Accompanies Band Members

First music assembly of the semester was held last Tuesday in the gymnasium after the home room period. The Glee Club accompanied the band on two of the selections.

The program included the following selections: "Black Horse," "Barber of Seville," "Tanhauser," "Mystic Land of Egypt," "Zanette," "Moonlight and Roses," "Dedication" (Symphonic Poem), "Legioner March," and "Waltz Old Timer."

A program made up of "Gay Nineties" music and dances were presented during the assembly. Miss Lucy Osborne had charge of the program.

Gilbert Baumgartner danced to "The Sidewalks of New York." Marjorie Williams danced to "Sweet Rosie O'Grady." Both participated in a dance to the song "The Bowery."

"Little Annie Rooney" is the song Marilyn Wolf danced to.

Gloria Kramer danced to "After the Ball Is Over."

All costumes were in the "Gay Nineties" style.

Males, Shoes Are Identical In Every Way, Says Teacher

Startling, but entirely true, are the following comparisons of men and shoes contributed by Miss Crissie Mott, home economics teacher.

For instance both have a sole (soul) which may be lost. Both have been tanned, both have been tightened by cobbles, both need a mate to be complete, and both are made to go on feet. With shoes the last is always first, with men the first shall be last. When shoes are worn out they are mended; when men wear out, they are "men dead", too. They both need heeling. Both are soled. Both are trod upon and are inclined to tread on others. Both have their ties and both do shine when they are polished. Both peg out and turn to mold.

Now which is more desirable, the man or his shoes?

Wo-Ho-Ma Girls Hear 'Cello, Piano Selections

Valentines featured the Wo-Ho-Ma meeting last Thursday in the Greeley Room, when they were pinned on the girls as they entered. Ruth Dauner and Betty Koehler played two selections on the 'cello and the piano, which were "Carry Me Back to Ol' Virginny" and "I'll Never Smile Again".

The game, "Musical Chair" was played with Doris Wulleman playing accompaniment on the piano. The general committee in charge of the meeting is composed of Lois Bonebrake, chairman, Doris Wulleman, and Margaret Heffelfinger.

Crispos were served as refreshments.

John Myers To Show Methods Of Printing

John Myers will demonstrate printing methods at the Camera Club meeting next Wednesday. The meeting will be held at 3:30 o'clock in the club's dark room.

Printing equipment was loaned to the club by Mrs. D. W. Merchant. The printing frames and a large professional printer will be used in printing pictures taken by members. Boys in the club are taking pictures on a general subject for the monthly contest. Winners will be announced later.

Kelly Teacher To Be Latin Contest Leader

Miss Gertrude J. Oppelt has been appointed county chairman of the 1941 State High School Latin contest by Mrs. Adele Bittner of the Indiana University Extension Division, Bloomington. Contests for divisions 1 and 2 will be held in South Side High School Saturday morning, February 22.

Contribute To Paper

Fred Collins, 10A; John E. Logue, 11B; Louis Ringenberg, 12A, and Ruthanna Doll, 11B, made contributions for Youths' Passing Show Page in The News-Sentinel recently.

Fred's story told about a group of pranksters receiving their fate. "Shakespeare, the horse, laughed at the boy with the false idea," states John in his article. A valentine from Rag-a-mur brought joy says Ruthanna. Lois states in her article that Mother Nature receives credit for much and receives "the blame for a lot of bad things".

Receives Gold-jeweled Pin

Lois Gumpfer, 12A, received her gold-jeweled pin recently. She earned 10,000 points by being a bill collector, reporter, assistant circulation manager, and assistant news editor on the Times staff and co-circulation manager on the Totem staff. Her sister Fay and kid brother John, also have earned the jeweled pins.

USA Meets Today

Discussion of famous men whose birthdays are in February will be the main part of USA's meeting today at 3:30 o'clock in the Greeley Room. Jean Webster, Alice Martz, Eleanor Ditton, and Jean Clark are in charge of the program. Nancy Griffith will read the devotions.

All girls who plan to join the club can still join at this meeting.

Absences Are High

One hundred seventy-six Archers were absent from school because of the flu on Monday of last week, announced Mrs. Lillian Scott, attendance recorder. By Friday the number had been reduced to 146. Other sicknesses have kept only a few South Siders out of school.

Marionettes Are Completed

Construction and completion of the marionettes for the Marionette Club play, "Aladdin and His Wonderful Lamp" took place at the last meeting on February 7. The club members who will portray the characters have not been chosen as yet, but will be in the near future.

When you buy (as you will) think of your school paper's advertisers.

We're Proud ... Of Our School

And we are also proud when anyone or any group brings an added honor to South Side. That is why we take pardonable pride in announcing that The Times has broken its past spring circulation record by (at latest count Wednesday noon) going over 1100 subscriptions.

However, our satisfaction is not complete because we have yet to win the Circulation Cup, which goes to either North Side or South Side after each circulation campaign, according to which school has the greatest percentage of subscribers among the student body.

So we're asking all who have not subscribed to do so as soon as possible to help South Side win another honor. Don't put it off—support your school.

Offense Fails, Archers Lose Froebel Battle

Gary Team Hits Consistently, While Green Attack Falters, To Win 32 To 27

Froebel of Gary whipped the Archers last Friday by a 32 to 27 count. South Side could not get going with any semblance of a good offense, while the visitors managed to hit consistently throughout the tilt.

Davage Minor, big guard of the Froebel five, was the outstanding performer of the evening. The high-gear colored forward hit five field goals and six gratis tosses for sixteen markers. Dal Zuber and Bob Hines paced the attack of the locals, garnering eight points apiece.

Below is a play-by-play and box score analysis of the South Side-Froebel game.

(First Quarter)

S.S.—Fr.

0 2 Martin hits a half-court shot.

1 2 Zuber counts one free toss.

1 4 Davage Minor hits a one-hander from back court.

1 6 Benko adds a foul throw.

2 6 Bob Hines continues foul parade. Hits on toss.

4 6 Hines keeps plugging with two more fouls.

4 8 Gene Isabell scores one two-hander from foul line.

(Second Quarter)

6 8 Bob Hines hits on set-up play.

6 10 Davage Minor hits again!

6 12 Minor sinks arching one-hander.

8 14 Zuber counts two free throws.

9 14 Dal adds another foul throw.

10 14 Zuber again. One more foul.

10 16 Minor sinks one-hander from side.

11 16 Hines sinks one foul throw.

(Third Quarter)

11 18 James scores on set-up effort.

11 19 Minor cages one foul.

11 21 Davage is fouled again. Counts two fouls.

12 21 Knoll sinks one foul goal.

14 21 Hines contributes two gratis throws.

14 23 Damian breaks under for a fielder.

14 24 Minor counts on one foul toss.

15 24 Gus Feistkorn sinks a foul.

16 24 Another foul goal! This time it's Shimer tossing.

(Fourth Quarter)

18 24 Gus is fouled. Counts two fouls.

18 26 Minor scores on a one-hander.

18 27 Damian hits one foul throw.

19 27 Zuber sinks one more foul toss.

21 27 After sixteen minutes of scoreless efforts from the field, Zuber hits a long goal.

21 28 Minor scores on another foul.

23 28 Tom Brower sparks Archers with set-up fielder.

23 29 Minor counts one more free toss.

Girls' Sportsettes

Since when does 30 subtracted from 32 equal 22? Well, confidentially, it doesn't, but that's what a certain sophomore GAA'er thinks. For further information consult Julia Kaser, the "Great Mathematician."

The gym office certainly seemed deserted without Miss Alice Dean last week. We all missed her, and we're sure glad to see her back.

Congratulations to Miss Gretchen Smith for doing such a swell job during Miss Dean's absence. Also, congratulations to all of the student leaders who have so ably assisted her.

There is a hint of South American music in the air, and the rumor is that GAA's annual spring show is going to feature South American dances, as well as our North American ones. Well, anyway, whatever it is, we can be sure of another GOOD GAA Spring Show.

Here's wishing good luck to all of the tumbling captains in GAA. And all of you who haven't signed up on a tumbling squad yet, come to the gym office and sign up.

"Duck" Spore got a little over-anxious to fill his bookkeeping class one day and the result was a bottle of ink which was spilled all over everything (including "Duck").

Well, the impossible has happened! Jo Ann Spore's Sophomore team was beaten by Geneva Martin's Senior 1's in GAA volleyball last Friday. Up to that time, the Sophomores had recorded seven wins and no losses. Nice going, Seniors!

Kate Sanders beat "Phy" Amstutz five games of ping pong! More impossible things happens.

25 29 Gus hits a one-hander from underneath.	25 31 Damian scores on a set-up play.
27 31 Gus hits on a one-handed push shot.	27 32 Archers hopeful again, but Isabel sinks a "clinch" free toss.
Here is the complete scoring summary on the game:

Chicken, Sundaes Are Norma Russell's Pet, Favorite Foods

Norma Jean Russell is the girl that GAA points to with pride this week. She is an 11B and a prominent member of other clubs besides GAA. Norma was born in Fort Wayne, Indiana, March 20, 1925. She entered South Side January 20, 1939, from James H. Smart School.

Her favorite foods are fried chicken, hamburgers, and chocolate sundaes. Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland are her favorite screen stars and "Strike Up the Band" is her favorite motion picture. Henry Aldrich and Kate Smith are her leading players in radio. All teachers are favorites with her and home economics is her favorite subject. Red is Norma's best liked color and "Seventeen" by Booth Tarkington is the book she enjoyed the most.

She is taking the stenographic branch of the commercial course. The most hated subject in Norma's opinion is study.

Basketball, track, ice skating, and bowling are her favorite sports. When Norma was asked what kind of people she liked, she just answered, "All nice people!" "Maybe" is the song that is nearest her heart and Jack Benny is her favorite comedian.

Normas heart throbs are few, but it is said that a certain tall, dark, and handsome South Sider and a senior from Central Catholic are heartaches to her.

She has 1308 points in GAA toward her letter. Other clubs that she belongs to are Service, So-Si-Y, and Wo-Ho-Ma.

If you see a girl in the hall with a bright smile and a pleasing personality, and she is talking to some of her many friends, it will probably be GAA's girl of the week, Norma Jean Russell.

Sophs Still Lead

Although they lost one of their games last Friday, the Sophomore 3's still retain their lead in the upper-class volleyball tournament. They defeated the Sophomore 2's by a 27-to-18 score and then were defeated by the Senior 1's, 18 to 17. The Senior 1's defeated the Sophomore 4's, 27 to 19 in their first game. The Senior 2's were defeated by the Junior 1's 26 to 27, and then came back and were victorious over the Sophomore 2's, 24 to 16.

The Junior 1's won both their games. They defeated the Sophomore 1's 15 to 13. The Sophomore 1's also lost to the Junior 2's, 41 to 10. The Junior 2's then finished off the games by also defeating the Sophomore 4's 25 to 19.

Colds Hit Teachers

Colds have caused the absence of many of our faculty members. Following is a list of teachers who have been absent this semester: Miss Dochterman, Miss Bean, Miss Dean, Mr. Walker, Miss Mott, Miss Peck, and Miss Perkins.

S-O-S Shorts On Sports

Basketball and volleyball are still the only events active in the intramural department for this week. Despite this fact, this column will reveal some important developments.

Within two weeks the Boys' Intramural Ping-pong and Handball Tournaments will be in progress. Preparations for the annual boys' gym classes will be eligible for entrance and most of the preparations will be made during the time of these classes.

It is now possible to announce some of the championships and probable champions of the intramural basketball tournament.

In the heavyweight division the SOP's are the noon league champions and the winner of the match between the Supermen and the Hot Stuffs will play the Flatfeet for the championship of the night league. After the champion of the night league has been named, they will still have to conquer the SOP's.

It is difficult to prophesy the final winner because of the lucky breaks that frequently take place in basketball; but if one were to look at the records that these teams have made, one would say that Hot Stuffs are favored slightly over the Supermen and that the Flatfeet have a good chance to beat the Hot Stuffs.

From there on to the finish, it's an even break for both SOP's and the winner of the night league, which from all indications of past records, will probably be the Flatfeet.

Because of the small number of teams entered in the lightweight division, the champion has already been announced through due processes of elimination. The Badgers are now the intramural basketball champions of the lightweight division.

The middleweight division has almost been concluded with the exception of possibly one more game which will decide the championship of the middleweight division. The Cats who haven't lost a game as yet, will play the Blackbolts for the crown.

Because this is a double-elimination tournament, the Cats have two chances to take the championship. The Blackbolts have already lost one game and they have to win two consecutive games to win the crown. Consequently, it is very possible that three games will be played before the champion of the middleweight division can be announced.

Although twenty games have been played in the Boys' Intramural Volleyball Tournament, the tournament is still in the beginning stages. Out of these twenty games played, fifteen represent the heavyweight division, three represent the lightweight division.

Are You Acquainted With Fort Wayne's Historical Museum?

Perhaps you know what a double-cross is, but have you ever worn one? Your roving reporter roved to the Allen County-Fort Wayne Historical Society at the Swinney Homestead, and saw a double silver cross and other Indian wearing apparel. This society was opened during 1924 and 1925 in the Court House, being moved later to the Swinney Home.

Most of the articles in the museum were found near the present location, which is the site of a former Indian hunting ground.

Displays Ancient Implements

One part of the museum is centered on various things found in the grave of Chief Little Turtle, who resided in Fort Wayne from 1795 to 1812. In this collection are a sword and a gun given to Little Turtle by George Washington. Also found were some war paint and a copper kettle in which was placed food, for there was an old Indian tradition that the dead should have food buried with them to take to the Happy Hunting Ground. In this collection are many silver arm and ankle bands worn by almost all Indians.

Aside from the possessions of Chief Little Turtle, there is a large display of pestles used to grind grain, scelts or skimmers used to skin animals, tomahawks, knives, and arrowheads, which are made of flint. In another part of the museum is a charm used by the Indian Medicine Man. This stick is composed of a scalp lock, some eagle feathers, and a buffalo horn. The museum has in it four Indian skulls, found on the grounds surrounding the homestead.

Having covered the Indian side of the museum, let us now take up the white man side. Among the many pieces of old furniture is the bed of Mad Anthony Wayne, a most prized and queer-looking possession. Another interesting bed is a four-posted one, having ropes across it which acted as springs; beneath was a small trundle bed. One room is completely filled with beautiful antique glassware.

Includes Relics Of Wars

There are many Civil War relics. Among these are three flags, all of which are a little the worse for wear. The seventh grade students of Forest Park made an exact duplicate of the original Fort Wayne and donated it to the museum. An article of much interest is the lock and key taken from the Civil War prison at Anderson. Trophies and medals for bravery during the World War were given by Paul Baer.

As a fellow classmate and reporter, I urge each of you students to visit the museum at your first opportunity. You won't be sorry if you do, but you will be if you don't!

Next week will probably see the end and announce the champions in all three weight divisions of the intramural basketball tourney, and announce that the boys Intramural Volleyball Tournament is well on its way into the second round.

Wilkin Ahead

Bob Cowan But Twelve Points Behind

Big Russ Wilkin of Central continues to pace the city scorers, but his lead is in danger. If Bob Cowan should get unusually "hot" this week end, Russ may find himself contented with the runner-up spot. Both of the leaders appear against top-notch fives, Wilkin showing at Marion and Cowan performing against the Vikings at Huntington.

Three Archers are among the top twelve scorers. Gus Feistkorn holds down the fourth position with 132 markers, while Kellies Hines and Zuber hold reign farther down the list.

Here are the twelve pace setters:

Bob Robinson Chief Of Staff; Other Times Staff Members Hold Important Positions

Bob Robinson was appointed chief of staff of all papers of the Tournament News, which will be given to all subscribers of The Times as well as many other high school students in schools entered in the sectional tournament.

The chief of the editorial staff is Bob Young. Those on his staff are Louis Hallenstein, Betty Stump, Alene Loeser, Bill McNulty, Pat Sanford, Jean Weil, Margaret Kuntz, Barbara Cross, and Wanda Eller.

Tompie Hall, Delores Reiter, and Martha Jane Krauskopf are the heads of the business staff. Other workers are Rose-Etha Brazy, Katherine Scholer, Marilynne McGuire, Joan Cox, Bob Brooks, Joan Duterer, Peggy Greaney, Martha Cash and Mimi Dunbar.

The head of the copy staff is Jeanne Smith with Ruth Hageman assisting. Others on the copy staff are Kenneth Breimeier, Jane Klinefelter, John Gumpner, Harriet Will, Grace Johnson, and Virginia Gray.

Mary Ellen Barrett is chief of the news staff and the reporters are Virginia Gray, Laura Nahrwald, Pat Davidson, Katherine Bultemeier, Martha Moellering, Margaret Kuntz, Opal Springer.

The make-up staff consists of Mary Lybrook and John Gumpner.

'Mural Netmen In Final Tilts Of Net Tourney

Seven Games Played; Supermen Defeat Count Basies In Double Overtime Game

Seven games were played this week in the near-finished boys' intramural basketball tournaments. As usual, near the end of the contest, the games are getting more exciting due to each team's eagerness to win in its particular class.

A rather slow and deliberate game was played between the Supermen and the Five Stooges, with the former downing the Stooges 7 to 5. Cleminder kept the Stooges in the game with four points and Lichtenberg led the Supermen attack with three points. Count Basies stepped all over the Zip-pers, the final score being 16 to 3, with Warner slipping six points through the basket.

The outstanding game of the heavyweight division was the Supermen-Count Basies duel, in which the Supermen nosed out Count Basies in a double overtime 15 to 14. Druhot won the game at the foul line canning a shot in the second overtime. Lichtenberg and Druhot shared top scoring honors, both making five points. The Count Basies were also conquered by the Flatfeet, 12 to 10, in a ferocious battle, with Cox of the Flatfeet scoring six points.

An outstanding battle in the middleweight division was the Cats-Black Bolts encounter. It was a rather one-sided battle, but, realizing the fact that the Cats had a decided advantage in height, it was a good game. Schurberg scored five of the points for the Bolts while Hansel took care of the other two. On the Cats side Hershey, one of the highest scorers in the tourney, made five field goals and a foul for eleven points, and Voight was next with five points. The Super Prunes and the Cats fought a hard, but decisive contest, with the Cats ousting the Super Prunes to the tune of 12 to 6.

Deal and Schmeding were high-score men with four points apiece. With the aid of Klopfenstein, their sharp-shooting forward, who made six points, the Badgers overcame the Wildcats, 10 to 8, in a fast, high-scoring game. Bolyard, Carlo, Moellering, and Virts divided the scoring evenly for the Wildcats with two points each. Referees for these games were Youngmans, Hirshey, Miller, Landis, Ludwig, Nahrwald, and Welborn. All of these games were very clean, making allowances for the fact that they were semi-final contests.

Representative To Be Here

Indiana University will send a representative to South Side Tuesday, February 25 to confer with students planning to enter that university. All who are thinking of attending the state university should leave their names with Miss Dorothy Alderdice before Tuesday.

Green Cagers Point For Tourney, Meet Southern Fives

New Albany, Jeffersonville To Be Foes

Artesians, Red Devils Are Expected To Provide Excitement Over Week End

Two strong southern fives invade the Archer balliwick this week, as Jeffersonville and New Albany come north for tilts with the Archers. Both teams have mediocre records, but they are nevertheless highly regarded contingents.

The Archers whipped the New Albany team by a 40-to-22 count last season, while Jeffersonville tripped the Green in their season finale by a 16-to-13 score.

Neither of the Ohio River aggregations should manage to trip the Friddlemen, but an upset in either clash is not improbable. Both of the week end engagements will start at 8:30 o'clock, with preliminaries to precede the varsity clashes. On Friday the Archer seconds will tangle with the Wolf Lake varsity quintet. A mediocre Adams County five from Monroe will furnish the opposition for the reserve squad.

Jeffersonville's Artesians, possessing a season record comparable to that of the Green, are not expected to cause the locals too much trouble. At times this year, the Artesians have looked good, especially against New Castle and Washington. The South-erners dropped games to both of these fives, but the scores were very close.

Washington's hard-chopping Hatchets eked out a 21-to-16 decision over the Artesians. The Jeffersons bowed to Strings Allen's New Castle Trojans by the count of 29 to 26. On the win side of the ledger, the Southern cagers have whipped such fine teams as Crawfordsville and Greencastle.

New Albany's Red Devils have a 33-to-31 win over a good Bedford quintet to substantiate their claim for hardwood plaudits. The Albany are a "hot and cold" quintet, not looking really good on two successive evenings.

For Captain Bob Hines, Gus Feistkorn, Chuck Close, and reserve Doyle Shirk the two final clashes this week represent a departure from regular season play under the South Side colors. This quartet looks for two wins to top off a mediocre, yet nevertheless encouraging campaign.

The Kelly Klads are pointing for the tournaments, and the South Siders are drilling hard and long to be ready to defend their laurels. South Siders Bob Hines, Dal Zuber, Chuck Close, Ralph Shimer, and Gus Feistkorn will probably form the starting five against the Ohio River quintets.

Another sectional tourney is a week away, and again the South Side Archers are cast among the favorites for the crown. I doubt if any net meet held during the past years of play could match the coming meet at North Side, for there are undeniably four teams with a good chance of finishing ahead. South Side, North Side, and Central are more evenly matched than in any former campaign. Scott Smith's Woodburn Warriors also have plenty of the drive which is so necessary for tournament success. But enough for the general color, and now to the Archers. In the short paragraphs following, I have attempted to give some interesting facts about each of the members who will probably form the South Side tourney squad. Here goes:

Bob Hines—When a ball player can continually stand out in all competition, he is regarded as a "one in a million" performer. Such is Captain Bob Hines. All experts and fans alike agree that Bob has been responsible for guiding a comparatively green team into a well-working cage machine. How many of you remember Ralph Hamilton's 22-point spurge during the blackout at Muncie last year? Well, it was the present Kelly captain who was responsible for calling those plays and feeding the ball to Ralph. Bob has had trouble hitting consistently this year, but I imagine that the Archer floor leader will really start sniping in the sectional. Being an outstanding student in addition to being a star performer on the court, Bob is regarded by all local fans as the ideal athlete.

Gus Feistkorn—Formerly known as Charles or Chuck Feistkorn, it seems that chum Chuck Close has renamed Feistkorn with the m. Gus. In grade school, Gus played with the Harrison Hill five which won the city title. As a freshman and sophomore along with the lanky southern forward, I was firmly given the impression by Gus himself that he was going to make the varsity cage team. Last year Feistkorn was a reserve on the team which fell before Mitchell. But this season, Gus has been carrying the scoring burden for the first five. On two evenings this year, Feistkorn has had high scoring sprees, hitting fourteen markers against both Muncie and Elwood. Wearing specially made basketball glasses, Gus is not handicapped in any way on the court.

As far as to the Archers' chances in the coming tournament, Gus said, "We'll do our best to win that sectional, and with a break in the draw I think we have a good chance."

Ralph Shimer—Better known as "Chick", this popular junior has won for himself the plaudits of all local rooters as one of the state's finest defensive cagers. No ball of fire on the offense, Chick more than makes up for this lack of scoring punch by his great guarding. Shimer has not scored more than seven points in any one game this season, but he has counted in seventeen of the first eighteen games. I doubt if any griddier in the state can kick a football as well as Chick, indicating powers on the gridiron as well as on the hardwood. Chick is the muscle man of the Kelly team, bearing an impressive frame under his 175 pounds and his 6 feet in height. Muff Davis, leading scorer in the South-Central Conference, and Bob Cowan of North Side have both felt the meaning of the phrase, "Shimer at guard". For Chick held Davis to but two fielders in twenty-five attempts, and he checked Cowan with but three field goals in twenty-two attempts. As to the tourney, Ralph says, "We have a good chance, with Central and North Side as our real worries."

Dallas Zuber—Most of you know this fine performer as Dal. An excellent foul shot, Dal has been responsible for many Archer markers this year. The score book shows that Zuber hit six straight foul goals against Froebel, and four successive gratis tosses against both Auburn and Crawfordsville. I can remember Dallas from his intramural basketball play, for it was in Louis Briner's cage leagues that our star was a standout performer with the Five Old Pals quintet. Tom Brower paired with Dal during the freshman and sophomore years of this duo to mark the pair as "smooth cookies" when performing together. Zuber and Brower, both measuring 5 feet 8 inches in height, are the two midgets among the Friddlemen. Dal has been one of the only two Archers to appear in all eighteen tussles, and he has so far chalked up eighty-four points.

Chuck Close—Baptized Charles Walker Close, the husky Green forward has risen to become a regular member of the Kelly five. I saw Chuck play during his grade school days. If you think he is a bit too over-aggressive or rough in his play, I refer you to Mr. Collyer for the tale of his grade school play. In seventeen games, Close has tallied thirty-six points. He is the heaviest member of the South Side team, taxing the scales with 190 pounds. At the start of the season Coach Friddle did not employ Chuck in a starting role, but as the campaign progressed, the Archer mentor soon realized that Close was possessed with many hidden possibilities and plenty of fight. "We'll try our best to win the tournament," says Chuck concerning the meet next week.

Bill Knoll—"Whitey", as he is better known, is recognized as the long range artist of the locals. Bill has played in twelve games this season, and the popular junior forward has scored thirty-two points. Knoll went especially wild at Bluffton, where he counted six long fielders for twelve markers. Not very fast but possessing plenty of fight and drive, Whitey is a valuable reserve for any one of the first line cagers. When the Archers took the measure of the Redskins on January 31, it was Bill Knoll who hit two long shots from the center line to keep the South Siders in the lead during the hectic last half. Concerning the meet at North Side, Bill says, "If we get going and start hitting some fielders, I think that we can win. But it's going to be tough."

Tom Brower—All of us know Mr. Brower as the sparkplug of the team, as he has proved on several occasions. If the Archers have trouble hitting in the tourney games, I imagine that Coach Friddle will freely employ Tom as the reserve spark. Brower has played in every tilt except the battles with Auburn and Huntington. He has hit ten field goals and six free throws for a total of twenty-six points. If I should try to select the southern basketballer with the most confidence in his ability to hit, my selection would doubtless be Tom Brower. Tom looked especially good in the last game with Central, hitting three fielders and three fouls to keep the Green near the leading Tigers. "If we can hit and work our plays right, we'll beat 'em all," said Tom about the approaching sectional meet.

Harry Hines—The third of the famous Hines brothers has some great athletic feats to duplicate. But Harry has the possibilities of matching any accomplishments of John or Bob. Throughout the season Harry, or "Squib" as he was named by Brother Bob, has played both varsity and reserve ball. Young Hines has seen action in eleven varsity tilts, garnering ten points. Next year Harry hopes to have his grade school mates, Bob Gildea and Lefty Werkman, as teammates on the varsity. Harry has teamed with these two boys since his early grade school days. "We'll try our best to win the sectionals, but North Side and Central are mighty tough," so stated Harry as an opinion on the coming tournament.

Doyle Shirk—One of the lesser known of the South Side cagers, Doyle should prove a valuable reserve for the Archers in the sectional. He has played in ten of the eighteen battles, scoring eight points. Doyle stands just above the six-foot mark in height and tips the scales at 150 pounds. This is Shirk's last season at South Side, and he has high hopes of seeing plenty of action in the tourney. When quizzed about the meet next week, Doyle said, "North Side and Central are the favorites, but we can be just as tough. And we are going to be!"

Bob Babbitt—The most promising prospect who has come up from the reserve ranks in the past weeks, Bob may have a chance to figure heavily in the meet next week. When the first line of defense needs a rest, Babbitt will be more than ready to lend his aid. Bob is only a junior, and he has one more good year ahead of him. He stands three inches below 6 feet in height and weighs 160 pounds. Bob is especially effective on one-handed hook shots. Although Babbitt is built for the football field, he is very fast and has plenty of ability on the court. Bob has been in five varsity games this year, scoring twelve points. As to the sectional, Babbitt says, "It's going to be a tough tourney. But if we can get going against the city teams, we'll win."

Eugene Reichart—Better known as Gene, this dark-haired South Sider is also following in the athletic steps of a member of his family. Don Reichart, Gene's eldest brother, is now the star center and leading scorer of the Franklin College quintet. Gene has played mostly reserve ball this year, but he has seen action in four of the feature games. As a junior, Reichart cops the prize for the tallest member of the team. He towers 8 feet 3 inches in height and weighs 160 pounds. Gene is optimistic about winning a fourth straight sectional crown, saying, "All of the city teams and Woodburn have a good chance to win. We will be working hard in the tourney and I think the fellows will win."

James Strawbridge—Known as "Big Jim" or "Alice" to his many classmates, Strawbridge stands as an outstanding prospect for next year's team. Jim stands one inch over six feet in height and weighs 175 pounds. Like the Hines boys and Gene Reichart, this Archer basketballer also has an athletic brother to follow. Jim's brother was an outstanding performer at Indiana University. Strawbridge has been in only one main game this year, and in that one appearance he substituted for only a few seconds for Captain Hines. But Jim needs little experience to play on a par with the best of the cagers. "South Side has a swell chance of winning the sectional, and with a few breaks we'll come through," so says Jim about the tourney.

And now here's special attention directed to the actors behind the scenes. First of all, I add another tribute to Burl Friddle for giving us another quintet of which we are justifiably proud. Five other fellows have made life easier for Coach Friddle and company. These hard workers are the student managers. I think the work of Archers Tom Hall, Lee Harter, John Enslay, Paul Kutsch, and Bill Grunewald is deserving of much praise and general commendation from all South Side rooters. Without the managers who so capably handle the boys, it is doubtful if the South Side athletes could so capably perform.

So, in conclusion, I want to offer a final pre-tournament wish that Coach Friddle, his players, and the helpers behind the scenes will find the just rewards for their efforts at North Side next week end. In other words, fellows, WIN THAT TOURNEY!

GAA Tumblers Elect Captains At First Meeting

Nine Leaders Chosen For Spring Stunt Season; 146 Girls Placed On Squads

Monday and Tuesday beginning tumblers of GAA organized last week, choosing nine girls as captains for the spring season.

In the Monday group, Kate Sanders is captain of team 1. Those on her team are JoAnn Spore, Joan Schwartz, Fuzz Amstutz, Harriet Swager, Loral Bacon, Barbara Renz, Pat Harnish, Betty McKay, Betty Kite, Alice Martz, Phyllis Crumrine, Katherine Clauser, Ruth Gerding, Marjorie Valler, Mary Peirson, Lois Bender, and Clara Long.

Team 2 Named

Team 2, captained by Mary Morgan, is composed of Barbara Burt, Kate Horn, Betty Kyvik, Joyce Dent, Maxine Clark, Charlotte Baker, Patty VanArsdal, Bernadine Bender, Elizabeth Kelsa, Martha Smith, Marilyn Meyers, Phyllis Hines, Doris Ontario, Joyce Archbold, Carolyn Plummer, Wilodean Cotton, Marcella Reinking, and Mary Morgan.

Team 3, captained by Wanda Hoover, has Joyce Dicke, Beverly Weedleman, Georgiana Smith, Rosemary Waldon, Bobs Brosier, Joyce Bricker, Margaret Ehrhardt, Ida May Rhodes, Margaret Heupenbecker, Alleda Stultz, Charlene Colicho, Marilyn Brackmann, Mary Mallers, LaVonne Taylor, Isabelle Johnson, Theodore Kantaris, and Gloria Handendorf as its members.

Jean Clark is captain of squad 4. Those on her team are Anna Lee Bearinger, Alice Dolin, Anna Marie Roth, Mary Ellen Clark, Nina Beam, Rosemary Burt, Maxine Posse, Doris Birt, Ruby Clausen, Phyllis Grime, Joan Schuller, Gloria Miller, Eileen Gebhard, Margie Rohyans, Helen Plumber, and Muriel McKean.

Phyllis Jackson is captain of group 5. The members of her team are Nancy Griffith, Maxine Asmus, Helen Marschand, Ethelyn Helsebeck, Ilo Hirschman, Norma Russell, Phyllis Waterman, Alice Fisher, Patty Hocker, Doris Pape, Martha Dirmeyer, Jessica Jones, Phyllis Bumke, Patricia McMahon, Phyllis Crabill, LaVern Hammond, Ginger Runge, and Barbara Crist.

Team six is captained by Bernadine Pressler. On this team are Lee Kinsler, Rosemary Spore, Elaine Boeger, Kathryn Zaegele, Midge Pressler, Babs Pressler, Jean Schlager, Agnes Raples, Jewel Buschman, Virginia Wood, Joyce Lochner, Betty Lutter, Bernadine Pressler, Bery Ahmoyer, Helen Whitte, Alice Snyder, and Donna Voges.

Tumblers Meet Monday

The beginners tumblers who met on Tuesday are divided up into three teams. Maxine Volz is captain of team 1. Those on her squad are Marilyn Bullerman, Janice Fruth, Margaret Grossman, Lois Ann Heuer, Martha Harader, Margaret Stolp, Maxine Posse, Betty Half, Dorothy Strunk, and Sirlene Smith.

Team 2, captained by Helen Anderson, has the following members on her team: Donna Peel, Eileen Reinking, Carolyn Fisher, Virginia Simmons, Betty Brubaker, Ida May Hege, Bonnie Heller, Mary Evelyn Mock, Martha Cash, and Peggy Greany.

Carolyn Stalter is captain of team 3. Those on her team are: Katie Browning, Connie Abbott, Mariam Abbott, Mary Parker, Clarabelle Squires, Betty Wyss, Betty Baker, Pat Ehle, Kate Neith, Dorothy Krohne, and Arleen Goudy.

System Of Education In Indiana Is Result Of Courageous Start

Students of education who know something of early schools in Indiana and of the spirit that made them possible know how to explain our present splendid school spirit and educational progress. They have come up out of the past, and were born of the faith that in education lay our salvation.

In the first half of the nineteenth century in nearly every part of the state, some pioneer lighted the torch of learning and, out of sheer love of it, kept it burning during his generation, to be passed on to his children and to his children's children. It is no accident that Indiana has a good system of education, but it is the result of those forces in the early days. Therefore, it is interesting to note when and how the first few schools of Indiana originated.

Probably the first school organized in the present borders of Indiana was a French school. As early as 1723 M. Rivet, a French missionary, exiled to this country during the French Revolution, taught at Vincennes. There is little known of this school except that "Rivet is mentioned as a man with sterling character, sound scholarship and fine ability as a teacher."

In the spring of 1798, sixteen families living in Ohio moved across the Big Miami River and became the first settlers in Dearborn County, Indiana. What these families did to provide a school for their children after moving to Dearborn County, we are unable to say. Yet we must conclude that their efforts marked the coming of the first school in southern Indiana, and it may be that Isaac Polk came as the first teacher.

A school of considerable efficiency was established at Charleston in Clark County as early as 1803. In addition to the schools already mentioned, there were here and there a few primary schools in the older settlement along the Ohio River and in the eastern part of Wayne County.

Tourney Tickets Sent To Schools

South Side Gets 866 On Basis Of 44 Per Cent Of Its Enrollment; Central Receives Most

Tickets for the sectional tournament have been distributed to the sixteen schools which are to play at North Side.

The same method of distribution of tickets has been used this year as the one used last year. That is, the number of students in the schools are added together to see how the total compares with the seating capacity of the North Side gym. After this comparison was made, the people in charge of the sale of tickets took 44 per cent of the enrollment of each school and gave them that number of tickets.

Below are listed the sixteen schools which are to play at North Side and the number of tickets each received: Arcola, 45; Coopers, 35; Central, 107; Columbia City, 154; Elmhurst, 166; Harlan, 54; Hoagland, 59; Huntertown, 125; Jefferson Center, 38; Lafayette Center, 38; Leo, 74; Monroeville, 69; North Haven, 175; North Side, 744; South Side, 866, and Woodburn, 56.

UP AND DOWN OUR INCLINES

Arvilla Rediger has finished her outside reading for this semester in Miss Delaney's English 3 class. Margaret Hahn has reported on two books.

In Home Room 6 the safety committee for this semester consists of Sam Johnson, Noel Kline, Norman Karbaugh, Bob Hall, Keith Blauvelt, and Robert Kneller.

Ruth Dauner and Mary Bowlby, English 8 students of Miss McCloskey, made the highest grades on a test over "L'Allegro".

Neal Betts has charge of the roll call in Mr. Plasket's Industrial Arts 4, period 2 class. Ralph George and Jack Smith have charge of the mill; Jack Meyer and David Pomeroy, lockers. Thomas Wilson is tool foreman; and Paul Zarman, clamp foreman.

The social science classes of Miss Crowe, Mr. Wilson and Mr. Murphy saw the motion picture on the Monroe Doctrine.

Mr. Null's senior special English class is going to write an 800-to-1,000 word theme on national defense and the supervision of weights and measures for an essay contest.

On a recent test given by Mr. Furst to his Bookkeeping 2 classes, the students making a grade of 95 or over in period 1 were Miriam Abbott, Mary Jane Bear, Dick Forbush, Colleen McCarty, Donald Perry, Dorothy Perry, and Everette Trulock.

Mrs. Elma Carson is going to read to Miss Demaree's English 1 class, "The Highwayman," and "Barrel-Organ" by Alfred Noyes.

Orman Coats, Stephen Klinger, and David Lowe, Industrial Arts 1, period 4 students of Mr. Plasket, made A on their clothes line reels.

Colleen McCarty, Sally Ogden, and Opal Springer received the highest grades on a test given by Mr. Heine to his Biology 2, period 4 class. Students receiving the highest grades in his Biology 2, period 7 class are Virginia Coil, Martha Davenport, Marguerite Ann Meyers, Martha Schaffer, and Walter Turner.

Arleen Loudy was the first student in Miss Peck's English 2, period 4 class to make a book report.

Virginia McCormick, Joan Schultz, and Eula Teel made A on both letters of application which they wrote in Miss Pocock's English 4 class.

Students receiving 90 or above on a recent test given by Mr. Heine to his Biology 2, period 3 class, are Carol Overman, Bob Sheldon, and Harriet Swager. Pupils in his Biology 2, period 6 class receiving 90 or above on the same test are Joan Dodge, Pat Jackson, and Gay Mason.

Freshman students of Miss Rehobst are making summer dresses of cotton.

English 4 classes of Miss Pocock are writing letters of application.

Eleanor Alvather, Carolyn Slater, and Elaine Wiebke, students of Miss Peck's English 8, period 3 class, have completed at least four installments of a theme project which will probably last for ten weeks.

Betty Funk, an English 2 student of Miss Pocock, made A on both the letters of order which she wrote.

Each student leader in the girls' gym classes is teaching a different

In a test given by Mr. Peirce to his sociology students the following received high grades: Gladys Hanke, Jo Ann Revett, Shirley Watts, Robert Kite, Robert Hachmeyer, Richard Hamilton, Lois Holzworth, LaVerne Michelfelder, Jean Sheets, and Marjorie Sheldon.

Anita Eller and Martha Moon, students of Miss Peck's English 4, period 7 class, have made A grades on the daily "Julius Caesar" quizzes given.

Mr. Whelan's Physical Geography 2 classes are studying glaciers, their effects, and results in the United States.

In a test on the first act of "Julius Caesar" given by Miss Kiefer to her English 4 class, Kenneth Breimeier and Laurel Bacon made perfect scores. Jean Boyce, Victor Kaufman, Dorothy McPherson, Marjorie Meyer, Robert Miller, Martha Moellering, Betty Schweickhart, Betty McKay, Jeanne Seidel, Jo Ann Spore, and Mae Ann Stark made above 90.

Mr. Whelan's Physical Geography 2 classes saw a film on Underground Water.

Marilyn Dennis, student of Miss Demaree's English 6 class, read "The Perfect Tribute" by Mary Shipman Andrews on Lincoln's birthday.

Students who made a grade of 95 or above on a recent test in Mr. Furst's Bookkeeping 2, period 3 class are Virginia Callison, Eleanor Christ, Fred Collins, Donald Kiester, Marjorie Meyer, Marjorie Pressler, Kendrick Roth, Jo Ann Spore, Beverly Sprunger, Max Stobaugh, and Ellen Wehr.

Shirley White and Martha Thomas have arranged a series of safety programs on How To Drive for Miss Dean's Home Room 98.

Harvey Cocks is a new pupil in Miss Pocock's English 4 class. He came from Syracuse, New York.

Leland Bradley has charge of the roll call in Mr. Plasket's Industrial Arts 4, period 1 class. Richard Cadorette and Richard Nichter have charge of the bench; James Kooks, locker; Donald Koonce and Gene McClain, clamp; Norbert Rehm, tool; Richard Schmeding and Harry Seiber, mill.

John Gumpfer, student of Mr. Makey, has all his outside reading reported on.

English 7 students of Miss Pocock have finished the short story section and have started the novelette section.

In a recent test given by Mr. Furst to his Bookkeeping 2, period 4 class the following made a grade of 95 or over: Gretchen Greiner, Lettie Julian, Bonnie Junk, Dorothy Lisius, Virginia Sapp, Harriet Swager, Rosemarie Swain, Thomas Wilson, and Lucille Zion.

Lois Gumpfer and Dick Fishering were first among Miss Kiefer's pupils to make book reports in the new semester.

Home Room 38 recently discussed an article on how to become an air stewardess.

In a recent test given by Miss Osborne to her English 8, period 2 class over Essays, the following received above 95 per cent: Clifford Gunn, Norma Haley, Betty Medsker, Phyllis Mueller, Maxine Sterling, Ellen Calhoun, and Bud Haberstrook.

Miss Kiefer's English 11 class made comparative charts of John Milton's companion poems "L'Allegro" and "Il Penseroso".

Torch Club Holds Election Of Officers

Group To Hold Meeting Tonight In Room 174; Freshmen And Sophomores Asked To Attend

Election of officers is scheduled for a meeting in the near future of the Torch Club. This group meets every Thursday in Room 174 at 3:30 o'clock. Last semester's officers were Franklin Neff, president; Russell Siples, secretary; Kenneth Iba, treasurer; and Walter Timme, sergeant-at-arms. The program committee consists of Bob Childers, George Waldschmidt, and Frank Neff.

Freshman and sophomore boys are invited to join the club at the meeting today in Room 174. The club is very active. Its present program consists of sponsoring an after-dance, doing the checking at all the dances, having interesting lectures, and going to the YMCA every fourth Thursday to swim and play ping-pong and other games.

There are no dues required; however, an initiation fee of 25 cents is asked to pay for the use of the YMCA facilities. It is the high school organization of the Friendly Indians and Gray-Y Clubs in the grade schools. Hi-Y is the senior organization.

Teams Organized In New XYZ Club

Phil Lichtenberg, Marge Kuntz Chosen To Head Two Groups In Mathematics Organization

Phil Lichtenberg and Margaret Kuntz were chosen captains of the teams at the XYZ organization meeting last Friday in Room 188. On Margaret's team are Carolyn Fackler, Marilyn Damer, Albert Kranz, Gerald Lahrmann, Frederick Smith, and Donna Mouglin. Members of Phil's team are Tom Yates, Eugene Gittel, Dale Koonce, Jack Ruhl, Kenneth Lauer, and Charles Hoke.

The club is organized at the beginning of the second semester each year by Miss Adelaide Fiedler, head of the mathematics department at South Side. The meetings will be held every Friday at 3:30 o'clock in Miss Fiedler's room, 188.

"Young April" Is N. S. Senior Play

"Young April", North Side's senior play, will be presented Saturday, February 22 at North Side at 8:30 o'clock. It will be under the direction of Miss Margery Suter and is a sequel to the senior play presented last year, "Growing Pains".

Those in the cast are Harold Martin, Patricia Malone, Charles Collins, Barbara Schneider, Patricia Van Horn, Joy Ellen Stahn, Deanne Knechtbaum, Margaret Ann Fello, Robert Wiebe, James Benninghoff, Robert Juff, Richard Brudi, Virginia Groth, Jeanne Ringle, Gloria Burbank, and Joan Closs.

Tickets for 25 and 40 cents may be obtained at the door or from members of the senior class.

To Run Check Room

Members of Hi-Y in charge of the check-room during the tournament will be Bill Goodwin, assisted by John Heffelfinger, Bob Holzwarth, Jim Holzwarth, Les Baumgartner, and Howard Blood.

Accepts Position With Medical Protective Co.

Miss Virginia Sprunger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Sprunger, of Fort Wayne, has accepted a position in the offices of the Medical Protective Company, in Fort Wayne.

Miss Sprunger graduated from South Side High School. She continued her education and graduated from the Private Secretarial Department of INTERNATIONAL COLLEGE, in Fort Wayne.

Are You Active In Clubs, Or Do You Belong To "Joiners"?

By Karl Eberly
Here are some more clubs which should be of interest to every person who has not, as yet, chosen a club to which he would like to belong. Even if you already belong to a club, but have an interest which would warrant joining another, don't hesitate to join unless your grades do not permit being long to another organization, for it is quite possible to be an active member in more than one. However, do not become one of those "joiners" who belong to ten different school organizations so that he can have an impressive record after his name. Usually that type is not active in any club and hence is not an asset to any one club.

Wo-Ho-Ma Is Given
The first club this week is Wo-Ho-Ma. The name of the club is derived from using the first two letters of each word in the phrase, Worthy Home Makers. Its purpose is to train the girls to be leaders in home, school, and community life; and, through the school meetings, it furnishes opportunity for social life and the development of more interest in home economics. Any girl taking home economics or one that has completed one year's work is eligible to be a member. Meetings are held every two weeks. The advisers are Miss Lucy Mellen, Miss Mott, and Miss Rehobst. This would be an excellent club for you girls who are taking home economics.

Then we have one of the largest, finest, and most enterprising clubs at South Side. The organization is known as the Booster Club. All the activities staged at South Side are boosted by them. They are the ones who are responsible for the decorations in the stadium and gymnasium and the all-school banquets. They are the ones who sell you the candy and pop at those games. Besides that, the club sponsors tea dances, and prepares decorations for major banquets.

The Booster Club was organized to promote scholarship and school spirit. It is divided into the following groups, members in each group being appointed to membership by the faculty adviser of that group: Miss Opnell, tea dances; Miss Covall and Miss Pocock, candy sales; Miss Hutto, decorations; and Mr. Heine, yells and stunts. Miss Harvey is general chairman and treasurer of the club.

Booster Money Buys Necessities
The money earned by the Booster Club pays for necessary things about the school. Some of the latest purchases include part of the portable stage in the gymnasium, song books for the Glee Club and Vooches Rooms, athletic plaques, and yell leaders outfits. If you wish to serve your school to the best advantage, then become a member of this very splendid organization.

For those brawny athletes who have earned their letter sweaters by accumulating 200 points in football, basketball, track, golf, or tennis, there is the Lettermen's Club. The officers include a president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer. These officers are elected annually. The club was organized to promote better school spirit and a general good feeling among members of the athletic teams. Mr. A. V. Flint is the adviser. Potlucks, tree-plantings, showing of Central-South Side football game pictures, pre-Central game pep sessions, and dances are the projects sponsored by the Lettermen's Club.

Hi-Y Club is one of two clubs sponsored by the YMCA. Hi-Y meets every Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the YMCA. It is open to all junior and senior boys. The establishment of Christian living throughout the school and community is its purpose. It has as its adviser Mr. Clyde Peirce, and Mr. C. G. Leonard of the YMCA. If you are interested in indoor sports, including swimming, games, potlucks, and weiner bakes, this is the club for you.

Congress Elects Semester Prexy

Rudolph Wuttke Chosen President, Other Officers Named; New Members Of Club Listed

Rudolph Wuttke was elected president of Inter-Club Congress for this semester at the meeting Monday in Room 58. Others elected are Emalyn Remmel, vice president, and Maurine Sterling, secretary. Norman Fortness was re-elected treasurer.

New members of the Congress this semester are Richard Hamilton, Christian Club; Tom Goodwin, Industrial Arts; Ellen Briggs, Junior Math; Audrey Longworth and Jack McNeal, English; Helen Long, Wo-Ho-Ma; Jean Fisher, Meterites; Opal Springer, USA; John Gumpfer, Hi-Y; and Romayne Rediger, So-Si-Y. All the other clubs had the same members appointed as last semester.

A constitution committee was appointed. On this committee are Romayne Rediger, Betty Koehler, and Frank DuWaldt. They, together with the new officers, will draft a new constitution for the club.

Redskins Hope To Add Another Net Title To Trophies

North Siders Have Record Of 16 Victories

Northerners Have Aggregate Total Of 690 Points Against 501 For Opponents

Bob Nulf Coaches Team Of Veterans

Cowan Paces Squad, Garners 181 Markers During Season

Probably packing as much potential power as any team in the state, North Side's Redskins will enter this year's tourney with high hopes of taking away that most-prized scalp, the sectional crown.

Roaring through a tough twenty-game schedule, which included a holiday tourney at South Bend, the Indians donned the war paint to take sixteen scalps, while losing but four encounters. This in itself, and the fact that the losses incurred were at the hands of some of the strongest teams in the state, is reason enough to keep an eye on the Red aggregation in the sectional tourney.

An added bit of prestige is the fact that North Side is this year's city champions. The Red Warriors took down decisions over Central, South Side, and Central Catholic, in the order named; and clinched the title with a 42-to-41 decision over Central before suffering their first and only city series loss at the hands of South Side.

That North Side's enviable record was not attained by wins over weak teams is best evidenced by the 40-to-24 lacing the Redskins gave to the Hammond Wildcats on the Hammond home floor. North Side had a bit more trouble with another Hammond aggregation, however, when they lost a 35-to-31 thriller to the defending state champions, Hammond Tech, at the home gym.

Coached by Bob Nulf, best known for his state championship grid team, as well as his consistently fine basketball teams, the Redskins intend to cause plenty of trouble in tourney circles.

North Side probably has one of the best teams of all-around athletes in the state. All of North Side's tourney squad were members of the state championship football team that team rolled many a foe last fall, and the tourney roster also reveals some of the state's leading track stars.

Paced by Bob Cowan, one of the greatest all-around athletes the brick wigan has ever produced, the Redskins scored 690 points, as against 509 for their opponents. Bob accounted for 181 of this total, and was crowding Russ Wilkin of Central for top city scoring honors when this was written. Equally outstanding is the fine defensive work of Bob Young, the sniping ability of Jim Harrison, Cornie Ervin's fast breaks, and Big Jim Hinga's mastery of the backboard.

Somewhat of an in-and-out aggregation, the Redskins definitely intend to be "in" for the tournament, and are expected to come through in earnest when the chips are down.

Two Nulf Brothers Coach North Side

Successful In Both Football And Basketball Seasons Each Year

Bob and George Nulf, coaches of both the basketball and football squads, have really done much to aid the Redskins on their way to a state championship in football and city championship in basketball.

Bob Nulf has been coaching for seven years here at North Side and he has had some mighty fine records. He has several city championships in both football and basketball and he has had some mighty fine teams.

He carried the entire burden alone until his brother joined the forces and the combination has had remarkable success so far this year. They are always looking ahead and are planning for next season.

George Nulf, new assistant coach, just came here last fall from Forest Park Grade School where he had charge of their basketball squad. He has coached basketball for the last ten years. He was graduated from South Side High School and later from Butler University.

He started his coaching career at Elmhurst High School where he possessed a fine record for his four years. In 1935, he came to Fort Wayne and coached at Harrison Hill. He then came to Forest Park and was advanced to North Side.

Why is that kangaroo crying?
Her little son ran away and left her holding the bag!

What kind of circus is this?

Northern Netters Hope To Break Jinx

North Side's Redskins have been dogged by a sectional jinx for the past eight seasons. But this year the Nulfmen are conceded to be the stronger among the tournament entrants, and the northern cagers are hopeful of winning the meet.

Redskin Boosters Think Possibilities Of Victory Are Exceptionally Good

North Side's Redskins at times have played heads-up ball and are highly capable of taking the tournament. Things have been going along pretty well and the Red and White have been hitting recently. If they continue to hit and play ball, they are capable of taking the meet. The following are the opinions of Redskin students as to how their team will come out:

Luana Halter: Just about average but better than all other city teams.

Fahma North: We're going to take it.

Virginia Vandenberg: There's no doubt in my mind but that we are going to win.

Gordon Miller: I think that we're as good as in.

Suzanne Buckner: I think we're going to win. I hope.

Bertha Couderet: If they play, they are bound to come out on top.

Bob Thornhill: They are going to win.

Ann Martin: They are going to lose. Jim Burgoon: I know they will win, but Central's pretty good.

Fred Knuth: They will probably win.

Ralph Bracht: They will probably win. They'd better.

Eugene Kilty: I think we have a good chance to get at least to the finals.

Louis Kraft: I think they have a good chance if they play heads up ball.

Arney Ley: I think they ought to come out on top.

Herman Moyer: In a walk-away.

North Siders Have Impressive Record In Gridiron Season

North Side's football team came through the season with a record of eight straight victories over the strong teams of the state. The mythical state championship title was bestowed upon the team and three members, Bob Cowan, Byron Popp, and Pat Barley, made the all-state team.

The Redskin squad was composed of Bob Young, Bob Cowan, Kay Short, Mike Bojino, Jim Harrison, Cornie Ervin, Pat Barley, Virgil Lombard, Byron Popp, Clarence Anspach and Harry Roebuck, who were so ably coached by Bob and George Nulf.

Only eighteen points were scored against the Redskins in their eight game schedule while they scored a total of 265. They opened the season by a wild 50-to-0 victory over Central Catholic.

Central went down next by a score of 13 to 7. Sitko scored for the Tigers in the first quarter, and then Cowan made two touchdowns. The undefeated Whiting eleven clashed with North Side next and went home with a 25-to-6 defeat.

At the Butler Bowl against Cathedral of Indianapolis the Red and White played on a slippery field but won this clash 18 to 0. Cowan, Young, and Bojino scored touchdowns in the South Side game, which the Redskins took 19 to 6 and that gave them the city crown.

Decatur and Kokomo were the next two victims of the Northerners and they fell by scores of 43 to 0, and 51 to 0, respectively. In the final game against the highly-rated Riley of South Bend team, Bob Cowan ran wild to score 36 points of the 46-to-6 victory. Bob Cowan was the high scorer in the state with 155 points.

There are quite a few players lost by graduation but the prospects for next year's teams are promising.

Dick Rossington: With any luck at all we should win.

Jack Leindecker: They're going to take 'em.

Margaret Phillely: It's highly in doubt, but we will come out on top.

Bob Herber: I think they'll win if they play like they did at the first of the season.

Jim Mensch: It's going to be a tough battle but I think we'll come through.

Charles Lord: They will win the Sectionals and take State.

Robert Seitz: They will win. I hope.

Gust Motz: If they play as good as they did at first, they will win.

Louanna Gallmeier: I think they are sure to win.

Maxine Carmer: They had better win.

Bob Cowan: We're going to win even if we have to play Woodburn, South Side, and Central.

Jane Evans: I know they will do it.

Redskin Harriers Have Good Year

North Siders Place Second In Northern Indiana Conference Meet

The North Side Redskin cross country team finished one of its most successful seasons by winning four meets and placing second in the tough Northern Indiana Conference meet. The harriers, coached by Rolla Chambers, now have a record of having won 28 consecutive dual meets.

The Reds came in second to Roosevelt of East Chicago by seven points in the NIC meet. Two key members of the Redskin squad, Bob Herber and Bill Heller, were out of form in this meet due to sickness. The other members of the team are Dave Saylor, Harry Hill, Don Swager, Jack Gibson, Flanders, and Dave Bourke.

Members of the runner-up Red team were H. Kwatnez, F. Staley, W. Staley, J. Swank, I. Schechter, C. Moring, Westenhouser, and Trebina.

A consolation tournament was held for those teams defeated in the first round of play. In this tourney the Archers emerged victorious after being defeated by the Reds in their first game. Members of the Archer squad were B. Whitley, coach; S. Wass, D. Wolf, B. Neiter, M. Keefer, B. Grizem, and P. Harper.

There were three leagues organized by Mr. Dave Hartley in the next intramural basketball meet. In the Midget and All-Star Leagues, each team played five games, while in the Senior League each team played four games. Ohio came out on top in the Senior League with four victories while California won in the Midget League. Sandys and Hammond Tech finished in a tie for first place and at this writing a series of playoff games have been planned to determine the ultimate champion.

Fine Athletes Make Up Redskin Team That Will Show Wares In Sectional

The following short article should help you to see why our team is made up of championship calibre. The following sketches about each boy show just what activities they go through during the school year.

Bob Cowan: The best all around athlete North Side has seen in a long time is probably the least you can say about the star forward on our basketball squad. Bob also excels in track, football, and, last but not least, baseball. He is high point man of the team so far this season and should do much in order to bring the sectional championship to our school. Bob also set a new state scoring record in football as he pushed over a grand total of 155 points for the 1941 season. Bob is looking forward to college and continuing in athletics.

Bob Young: Another senior lad who will undoubtedly have much to say as to who will be the winner in the tournament. He is the starting forward on the squad and he has a fine total of points so far this season, being just a few behind Cowan. Bob also plays football and he is on the track team. He is a very good ball player and, undoubtedly, he will be one of the high scorers in the approaching tournament. He plays a fine defensive game and probably will stop many opponents' plays.

Jim Hinga: The center of the team is capably occupied by this lad as he has done much to get the ball for the Red and White in the pinches as he uses his height to great advantage. He is credited with many tip-in shots from under the basket, and this has built up his total points for the year. He plays as end on the football team, and he scored many touchdowns throughout the year. Jim is a junior and will be back next year.

Cornie Ervin: Cornie holds down the guard position to such an extent that the opponents have a tough time getting in under the basket. He has played on the varsity squad for the last three years and he has hopes of helping to win the tourney in his final year. He plays as end on the football team and runs on the track team.

Jimmy Harrison: Jim is truly a great player and he can always be counted on to turn in a good performance. Jim is a guard on the team and he, along with Young, has done much to break up opponents' plays. Jim has played on the team for the last two years and he has always turned in good performances. He plays on the football team and he is always found in the track room.

Herm Moyer: Herm is a senior this year and he has played on the team for the last two years. This year he has put several games on ice for the Redskins because of his long shots, and he usually comes through at the right time. Herm also played on the football team and he scored many needed points for the Red and White. He is a quiet boy but this does not keep him from playing good ball.

Al Gunkler: Al is playing his first year on the varsity squad but he really has shown improvement since the beginning of the season. He has played on the reserve squad for the last several seasons and he really has turned in some fine reports. Al takes after his brother who was a former Redskin star. He also plays football and he should be on the first string next year.

Kay Short: Kay is the big 212-pound blocking back that this state heard so much about last year. This fact does not prevent him from playing good ball and he really has turned in some fine plays. He is an all around athlete and with his height, should aid the Redskin cause.

Bill Ranly: Small but mighty member of the Redskin tourney squad is this lad. In spite of his size handicap, Bill has earned two letters on football and was an important cog in this year's state championship grid machine as a triple threat halfback, playing second fiddle only to Cowan and Young. Bill is playing his first and last year on the first string basketball squad and he's seen a lot of action the past season.

Byron Popp: The next player on our list is the second string center for the Redskins. Byron has seen a lot of action this year as understudy to Hinga and is really an able backboard artist. His football play slightly over-shadows his basketball feats, however. Byron was a first string tackle on the grid team for two years and in this, his senior year, was named for all-state honors.

Ronnie Reese: Reese is another North Side athlete who is a football and basketball star. Ron has two letters for his work on the football team on which he was second string quarterback. He is also the field general on the basketball floor, where he sets up most of the plays. His long shot ability has proved of real value to the team in a number of games.

Norm Oetting: Lanky Norm, a senior, plays forward on the basketball team and was a second string end for two seasons on the North football team. He has seen a lot of action this year and his consistent good play has been a valuable asset to the team.

You're a sap!
What?

Yes—Monkeys like you.

How?

Columbia City Has Established Good Season's Record

Loss Of Five Men Hampers Squad Slightly

Mid Season Slump Is Responsible For Four Recent Defeats

Coach Devol Has 15-Year Record

Mentor Claims Team Is As Good As Former Eagle Squads

The Columbia City Eagles may produce some real trouble in the tourney as shown by their record this season. Having won nine of their sixteen games thus far this year against some strong foes, the Eagles have hopes of making a good showing in the tournament.

By graduation last year they lost five veterans but did not have such a hard time to find material for this year's squad. Coach Abe Devol has two good scoring guards in Nate Roberts and Delbert Ballard, who can be counted on a good percentage of the time to pull the team out of tight spots. Jack Walter fills the center position while the forward posts are taken care of by Dick Pence and Rolet Watson.

The Eagles can consider themselves lucky to have such a fine and well-liked coach as Abe Devol, who has been with them for fifteen years. Coach Devol says he has the best bunch of boys at the present time as compared with those of past years.

After starting the season with wins over South Whitley and Churubusco, the Maroon and Gold slipped back to lose four straight before they got back into the winning column. Bluffton, Garrett, North Manchester, and Central of Fort Wayne defeated the Eagles before they could get back into form again. They won seven of the remaining ten games and these from such foes as Hartford City, Kendallville, and New Haven. The squads that gave them defeats were Pierce-ton, Central Catholic, and Huntington.

The results of the games this season are given below:

- Columbia City 27, South Whitley 24.
- Columbia City 34, Churubusco 32.
- Columbia City 39, Bluffton 43.
- Columbia City 20, Garrett 23.
- Columbia City 28, N. Manchester 40.
- Columbia City 33, Central (FW) 39.
- Columbia City 37, Hartford City 33.
- Columbia City 38, Albion 29.
- Columbia City 38, Pierceton 42.
- Columbia City 27, Kendallville 23.
- Columbia City 39, New Haven 25.
- Columbia City 30, Central Cath. 35.
- Columbia City 59, Decatur 36.
- Columbia City 45, Berne 37.
- Columbia City 33, Ligonier 23.
- Columbia City 37, Huntington 48.

Reserves Have Won Ten And Lost Six

Two Of Defeats Suffered At The Hands Of Fort Wayne Teams

The Columbia City reserve basketball team, under the leadership of Coach Newell Rice, has garnered quite an enviable record this season of ten wins and six losses. At this writing, they have games remaining to play with Auburn and Goshen.

Of the six teams defeating them, two, Central and Central Catholic, were from Fort Wayne. The other losses were to Garrett, New Haven, Ligonier, and Berne.

The members of the squad are Vernon Jackson, Don Ward, Dude Redman, Bob McHibain, Vernon Trier, Harley Nelson, Herb Ressler, George Roberts, Bill Mong, and Olin Dailey.

The following are the results of all games played this season to date: Columbia C. 37, South Whitley 12. Columbia C. 31, Churubusco 10. Columbia C. 23, Bluffton 21 (over-time).

- Columbia C. 17, Garrett 24.
- Columbia C. 20, N. Manchester 12.
- Columbia C. 19, Central (FW) 24.
- Columbia C. 24, Hartford City 19.
- Columbia C. 20, Albion 10.
- Columbia C. 24, Pierceton 19.
- Columbia C. 19, Kendallville 14.
- Columbia C. 19, New Haven 21.
- Columbia C. 14, C. C. (FW) 25.
- Columbia C. 31, Decatur 29.
- Columbia C. 29, Berne 19.
- Columbia C. 19, Ligonier 22.
- Columbia C. 19, Huntington 20.

Columbia City Gridmen Win Three Out Of Five

The football season for the Eagles was a good one after they finally got into action which was held back on account of infantile paralysis. Games with North Side, Huntington, and Auburn had to be cancelled on account of this.

Three of their five scheduled games were won by fairly good margins, Garrett, Bluffton, and Plymouth met defeat at the hands of the Columbia City eleven.

Some of the outstanding players were Nate Roberts, Verlin Jackson, Ben Grant, "Peely" Nelson, Joe Redman, Harry Bennett, Dick Pence, Paul Redman, and Gene Shepherd. A few of these players are freshmen so look out for the Eagles in years to come.

Football results are as follows: Columbia City 26, Garrett 13. Columbia City 14, Bluffton 7. Columbia City 19, Plymouth 7. Columbia City 0, Decatur 26. Columbia City 24, Central 33.

The six ages of women are: safety pins, hair pins, fraternity pins, diamond pins, clothes pins, 'n' then rolling pins.

Columbia City Students Think Eagles Will Come Out On Top In Tourney

"Columbia City's squad should be on top when the tournament ends," according to the student poll taken by our roving reporter. The opinion seems to be that if the Eagles are lucky in the draw, they might be able to go places throughout the entire tourney. The Eagles have a fine record to date and with a break in the draw, might sweep the tourney. North Side and Central are given the most chance to defeat the strong Columbia City squad.

The prospects for next year's squads are bright and, if they are eliminated early in the tournament, the students an dream are anxiously awaiting next year.

The following are opinions of students as to how their team will come out during the sectional:

Fern Romsy: I think we have a good chance of winning if the boys hit. Dick Wass: I hope they do all possible and, if they lose, they surely will be good sports.

Larry Bruesbeck: I think we have a great chance of winning if we can get past North Side.

Dale Gillespi: I doubt if we win, but, if we play a good game, we can really give them a battle. We lost the first time, but a few breaks and we may come out all right.

Max Reed: We have better than half chance to win, and we may take South Side or Central. The real threat is North Side.

Bill Malone: I hope we win. If we play as we did against Decatur, we possibly will win.

Harley Lemmon: I hope they come out all right.

Bill Bordman: If we ever get to the finals, we sure will take the Fort Wayne team in a big hurry. North is my choice.

Lloyd Downing: I don't know, but I have hopes. I think we'll win at least two games.

Dale Keiser: Well, we have a fine team and I think the only teams to watch are North Side and Central. We have a fine chance.

Jean Cullus: I hope we win, and we have a great team.

Clara Belle Pullin: I think we have a great chance, and should win several games unless the competition is too tough.

Phyllis Brumbaugh: We might be able to win several games, and, who knows, maybe the finals.

Kathleen Houtzer: I think we should stand a chance, and I hope we go to the finals.

Bob Jellison: Being a small school, we will have plenty of competition, but I am sure we will show a lot of fighting spirit.

Harold Flox: We have a pretty good chance to advance in the tourney if we don't run into North Side first.

Yvonne Henshaw: We will come in third behind North Side and Central.

Vernon Trier: We have a little better chance than last time, and will put up a good fight against anyone there.

Max Bennett: If we get a good draw, we have a pretty good chance.

Have Driving Course

One of the two driving courses in Indiana is held at the Columbia City High School. Students are taught to drive in a dual control car furnished by the National Automobile Association through the Pontiac Motor Company. The automobile is a 1941 Pontiac.

Driving fields are set off on the old state road 30, west of Columbia City. The field is on Jefferson Street between Madison and Wayne Streets.

Your sky here is so much clearer than in London, remarked the visiting Englishman to the New York taxi driver. Why sure, said the cabbie, we have skyscrapers here.

Eagles' Wings Bear Them To Many Duties

All Members Of Columbia City Basketball Team Manage To Keep Busy

While inquiring about the private lives of the Columbia City basketball team, it was found that they spend their time, when not on the basketball court, pursuing many and varied activities.

Jack Walter, known as Walt to his many friends, is co-captain of the basketball team and holds down the position of center. He is a member of the Booster Club, Hi-Y, writes a sports column and serves as business manager on the annual board. When asked what he thought his team's chances were, he replied without a moment's hesitation, "Well win!" Jack works in the local Chevrolet garage. With a little assistance from his teammates, it was found that his best girl friend is Katie Houtzer.

Verlin Jackson has as his nickname, Verly. In track, he tosses the shot and competes in the high jump. This junior has a letter as a guard in football and is playing his first year on the varsity basketball team. According to him, he is a confirmed bachelor. When not taking part in athletics, he may be found attending Booster Club meetings or working as a filling station attendant. Verlin believes the Eagles will come in third behind Central and North Side.

Nate Roberts is the other co-captain of the team. Nate is very outstanding in outside activities, being president of the Booster Club, vice-president of Hi-Y, and vice-president of the senior class. Nate was captain of the football team last year and has earned three letters in football. He also has earned three letters in basketball and three in track. At first, this lad claimed to be a confirmed bachelor, but broke down under cross-examination and admitted his one and only was Martine Kasal.

Delbert Ballard is called Frankie, for no apparent reason, and Delb. Delb, the biggest man on the team, is playing his third year on the varsity and is only a junior. Because of an accident to his head, our hero is unable to play football. Delb, also a three-sport man, throws the shot put in track. His girl friend is Frankie Hartman. (Maybe that's why he is called Frankie). In passing, we might as well put in a plug. His father is sheriff of Whitley County.

Bob Watson is, appropriately enough, nicknamed Wapps. In track, he competes in the pole vault, high jump, and 220-yard dash. He also claimed to be a confirmed bachelor, but it was later informed that his heart throb was Ann Overder. Bob is also a member of Hi-Y.

Richard Gage is known better as Dick around school. This is his first year playing varsity basketball for the Eagles. He says his favorite subject is ancient history and his best girl

Outside Activities Are Numerous At Columbia City High

Various extra-curricular activities are provided at the Columbia City High School. They include publications, dramatics, speech, music, and Hi-Y.

Future Farmers of America offers training in agriculture. The club broadcasts over WOWO every six weeks. The broadcast is held each Tuesday afternoon and schools of Allen and Whitley Counties participate.

Dramatics classes are held each week. Members of each class give a three-act play once a semester. The Senior Play is sponsored by members of the organization.

Pep sessions are held under the auspices of the Booster Club. The organization also sells candy at games and backs other clubs financially.

The Press Club is a honorary journalistic society made up of members taken in by unanimous vote.

Speech activities include debate, extemporaneous speaking, dramatic reading, humorous, original oration, and oratorical declamation. Contests which the students participate in are the McLellan and Archer oratorical contests. The 1941 Archer contest was won by Bill Erdman with the oration, "The Debt We Owe Our Parents." Second place was won by Bob Jellison.

friend is none other than Jean Rawley.

Harry Bennett is a good basketball player and has acquired the nickname of "Hot Shot." He has many other outside activities such as being a member of Hi-Y, plays a French horn in the school band and has won two letters in track, basketball, and football. His other spare time is spent between working at the Wright Cafe and with Ruth Brown.

Gene Shepherd's nickname is "Shep." Gene, besides being on the basketball team, is a member of the football team of which he has won two letters, and is on the track squad. He is quoted as saying, "Columbia City has a fairly good chance this year over last year's tourney." "Shep" is sports editor of the Eagle, the school paper, and is a member of the Hi-Y. His one and only is none other than Martha Covey.

Dick Pence is better known as "Rickey." This is his second year on the varsity basketball team and he has won a letter in football. He plays a cornet in the school band and likes to play good hot music. Saturday one can find him as butcher at the B&W Market. No woman has entered into his life as yet.

Kenneth "Kenny" Judd is president of the Future Farmers of America organization at school and likes agriculture best in school. The farm keeps him busy in the summer and in his other spare time he can be found with Jean Rawley.

Eagle Gymnasium Does Double Duty

Games Are Played On Stage Which Is Also Used For Dramatic Presentations

Columbia City practices on their stage because it has been transformed into a basketball court and the coach holds his practice back there. The gym is up on the stage and the seats are down on the floor below. They have a balcony and a main section for seating and they also have seats arranged next to the playing floor for the more ardent members of the team.

This gym is also used to present some of the bigger plays of the year. It has a very large seating capacity and there is plenty of standing room in case there is a full house.

Practice is started at 5 P. M. instead of right after school in order to give the boys some needed rest after a hard day at school. The coach has had them practicing hard for the last several weeks and they have had definite training rules which each boy has voluntarily agreed to stand by until they are eliminated in the tournament. This has proved highly successful and this may be the deciding factor in case the Eagles come home with the sectional crown.

Issue Paper, Annual

"The Eagle", a weekly newspaper, is published by Columbia City High School students under the direction of Mr. Galen Wenger, journalism instructor. Bob Jellison is the editor of the publication. The mimeographed copy is issued each Friday. Work on the paper is done by journalism students. A yearbook, "The Columbian", is published annually.

A Welcome To All--

The tournament officials have tried to make arrangements which would make your participation happy and beneficial. Everyone connected with the management hopes each visitor will enjoy the contests, and will want to return next year.

Real School Spirit Is Something That We All Could Use

Probably at no other time during the school year does so much excitement run through the schools of Indiana than at tournament time. Undoubtedly pupils then take more pride in and are more willing to defend their respective schools. At this time school spirit reaches its peak in every high school, regardless of whether that school is given even a ghost of a chance to win.

School spirit is a thing very comparable to fire. It's a fine servant but a destructive master. If you control it, it makes for a finer, more sportsmanlike tournament. But, if it controls you, the situation is reversed. There are very few people who deliberately and thinkingly boo the opposing team or the referee. Usually the cause of it all is that spectators are so likely to become carried away by the game that they do things which, if they really thought it over, would seem disgusting to themselves.

The problem is, therefore, to be a real-for-sure supporter of the team and at the same time a generous, broad-minded spectator. One of the easiest ways to do this is to follow your cheer leaders. They know what to cheer and when to cheer. Have you ever seen a cheer leader booing? Of course not! Another thing to keep in mind is that the other fellow wants his team to win just as much as you do yours. He came, just like you, to see his team play and maybe win, not to hear you insult it.

Then there is the other extreme of poor sportsmanship. This is the running down of ONE'S OWN TEAM. This lack of consideration is usually displayed by the fellow who wants to display his superior knowledge of the game. Perhaps the boys on the floor do make mistakes, but they are pick of the schools and are doing their best to bring home the laurels.

You may often have seen the following quotation on season tickets and schedules, but it certainly wouldn't hurt you to read it again and keep it in mind as you watch the tournament:

When the One Great Scorer comes
To write against our name,
He writes not that we won or lost,
But how we played the game.

This Tournament Offers Us Many Important Advantages

To be a genuine all-around roofer, one must take an interest in the basketball activities of his alma mater. The tournament will undoubtedly create that interest which we crave and help to set a pace for true sportsmanship. Both the students and the players receive certain advantages from a sports event such as this tournament. The players will have the opportunity to build themselves up physically. The special rules and regulations concerning diet and social activities will naturally strengthen their physical beings more than if they had no set routine to abide by. We should also take into consideration that playing with so many teams and experiencing so many games at one time will test and perhaps boost the sportsmanship of the players.

The tournament also benefits us, the spectators. About this time of the year we are tired of our studies and tend to lose interest in them. A sports feat appears to be an excellent letup from Latin and algebra, and certainly gives us the excitement and mental enjoyment we all need at least once in our lives. We are also able to make new acquaintances with students of other schools and fans from other towns. Being present in a large gathering of people cannot help but stimulate our appreciation of good manners and good ethics.

We're For The New Sectional Winner—No Matter Who It Is!

"Ice cream! Pop corn! Hooray, here comes our team!" are a few of the familiar exclamations heard each year at the peak of athletic endeavor, the sectional tournament. So vitally interested are we in our own sixteen-team battle, that we scarcely realize that sectionals are going on in sixty-three other parts of Indiana. There's truly a spirit about a basketball tournament, an increased pulsation, a certain throbbing tenseness. Interested business men, students, and parents alike join in the excited cheering, each straining muscles and vocal chords in an attempt to boost their team to victory.

True, not all the enthusiastic fans will leave in the same elated spirit, but we sincerely hope that each may consider his time well-spent when he attends the 1941 Sectional Basketball Tournament. In extending our heartiest welcome to all visitors, we should, at the same time, like to thank all those who cooperated in the publishing and distributing of this, the latest issue of The Tournament News.

Harlan, Hoagland, Woodburn, Monroeville, Central, Lafayette Central, Elmhurst, Columbia City, Jefferson Center, Coesee, South Side, Arcola, Leo, Huntertown, New Haven, North Side—who will be the victor? Time will tell. However, the team showing the best all-round ability, teamwork, and sportsmanship will undoubtedly step to the front waving its school colors to signify an undisputed championship. But no matter who wins the all-important battle Saturday night, we're sure all the rest of us will be solidly behind the representative from the Fort Wayne sectionals who will go on to the regionals.

It goes without saying that we, the students of South Side High School, are more than glad to offer any service within our means to the visitors of the 1941 Basketball Tournament.

Let's see if we can't remedy some of last year's tourney evils—yes, we mean the cluttering up of the gym with candy and ice cream wrappers.

Verses of Victory!

MAZIE MALNUTRITION

Mazie Malnutrition had never seen a basketball game in all her life, But she decided to attend the sectionals to see the grand sight. Oh this was such a happy occasion for this clever little miss, As to catching on to basketball, she couldn't get the jist. Someone remarked to her that a foul had been called on a player; "Ah yes", said she. "Springers are extremely heavy weighers". Of course the poor girl didn't understand correctly, For at the game she only looked abjectly.

The man behind her was the cutest guy, And so to him she winked her innocent eye. It was all just fine until Romeo's spouse caught on; Soon after, when Mazie turned around, her dear Romeo had gone.

Well there was a game going on, she did remember, And besides, on Puckerhuddle's team she had seen a cute member.

At this time the gun went off for the quarter, And she thought the gun had shot her ideal to mortar.

Ah! Such a cruel game she had never seen in her life, For shooting fouls was great strife. On this, never again would her money be spent; Although, because of the cute men, her escapade she didn't relent.

THE SPECTATORS

Popcorn, peanuts, crackerjack are sold all around; To see the people eat you'd think their hunger profound. But these confectionaries keep them from chewing their nails to the bone, For when their team is behind they all will groan.

Now there are a variety of spectators at the game; We all have heard of the one who comes to see the star with acquired fame. She thinks by sitting in the very first aisle, That to her eventually she will get him to smile.

Another type spectator whom I'm sure you all know Is the one whom I title "Stand-up Joe". For each time a tense moment occurs in the play, He, poor fellow, in his seat can't stay.

And then there is the one who likes to keep all the scores. He always says the scoreboard has many errors. From the way he talks about the game, You'd think his ability would put all teams to shame.

The last but far from least type is Miss Prissy Phimp. I don't believe that to the game she gives a glimpse, She is always adding make-up and looking in a mirror, And to her the ones who watch the game are a terrific bore.

THE TOURNEY TEAMS

Perhaps you have wondered as I often have, The teams which participate in the sectional confab. The teams in a certain area gather each year To play enough games to select a "win-ner".

Last year, as you all remember, South Side won some tilts; But was defeated at State, which was a hard jilt.

This year however, no prediction can be made, For we won't know the victor until all games are played.

Arcola has a squad that's ready, willing, and able; The grand Elmhurst quintet is certainly no fable. Leo gave an excellent showing last time, And Harlan thinks victory is no crime.

Woodburn's boys are strong competition. And the team who defeats them will need much ambition.

Monroeville's players I've seen in action on various occasions; They certainly are perfect basketball creations.

You all remember perky Columbia City's team, And some of those fellows are short of being dreams. Coesee is another entrant in the meet; It, as well as Jefferson Center, will be hard to defeat.

New Haven isn't located far from Fort Wayne, And its basketball team can really raise cane. So can Huntertown boys, who have eaten Wheaties; And to defeat them will be hard "bizneez".

Hoagland is a strong, strong threat; And, when those boys have the ball, it is hard to get. Lafayette Central is another outstanding five, And from them a great deal of learning one can derive.

FORT WAYNE TEAMS

South Side, Central, and North Side are Fort Wayne's strong hopes;

And the grand teams they all have are certainly no hoax. Mr. Mendenhall has worked hard with all of his boys, And the good ol' Redskins are Mr. Nulf's joy.

Mr. Friddle has coached a swell team this year; I certainly believe all three men deserve a loud cheer. So when you go to these exceptional games to root, Don't be like the stubborn owl who doesn't give a hoot.

Tourni - Talks

Dear Editor:

I believe that a great deal of the booing at the tournament is due not to the students but to the adults. It seems to me that the outsiders who come to the games are responsible for the greatest part of the unsportsmanlike conduct. Some appeal to them must be made if we intend to make this tournament better than we have ever had before.

BOB ZIMMER, 11B.

Dear Editor:

It's too bad that North Side's gym is the only one large enough to accommodate the tournament crowds. It isn't fair for the other teams to have to play at North Side all the time. We should have a municipal field house to remedy this evil. This way the games could always be played on a neutral floor.

BOB CHILDERS, 10A.

Dear Editor:

In my opinion the tournament is condensed into too short a time. It's too hard on the players to have to play three or four games in one week-end, and perhaps two games in one day. By stretching the tournament over a period of about a week, we could give the players more of a chance for rest between games.

JACK MacMILLAN, 11B.

Read About All The Kids Who'll Be At All The Games

Tournament time is here again! While reading this bit of a contribution to the Tournament News, you are probably waiting for your favorite team to make its showing on the floor. At every basketball game, tournament, or otherwise, you always find a variety of persons who compose the audience.

One of these spectators is the big show-off. He is always doing something to catch the attention of those around him. He is the one who always starts booing when a referee calls a foul on his team. Games would be much better if there were fewer of these people.

Another type of individual always found at basketball games is the excitable type. He is the person who is always tapping and slapping the person who is sitting in front of him on the head or on the back, or nudging the person who sits beside him. Usually there is a vacancy around this person when the game is not quite half over.

Most games are blessed (?) with a row of girls who are perpetually giggling, talking and whispering. When the game starts, these girls are not aware of it. They are too busy talking about their new clothes, the cute boy down the row, or the date that they had last night. When the final gun goes off, they are asking others who won. Ohh! These women!

The boisterous fan is found at every game. She is the type who yells at the girl sitting down in the row below. She usually carries on a conversation while the game is in progress, getting so enthralled with the conversation that the game becomes of little importance to her.

A Few Recollections Of The Tourney Fan

By Betty Stump

I was one of those smart people who invested money in a sectional ticket. Yes, it was smart, but what a time we had getting there! Father promised me the car, but not the "foo juice" to run it with. So there we sat in the middle of Calhoun street, out of gas, and running on a high temper. We couldn't just ask anyone for a push, so we waited for a nice uniform. The uniform finally turned out to be a policeman who said, "Get the darn thing out of the way." At the filling station we said sweetly to the attendant, "Fifteen cents worth of regular and check the oil, wipe the windows, and fill the tires."

By the time we arrived at the gym, the only seats available were the ones in the last row at the top. One by one we spotted our friends through the field glasses. And, as we were spotted in return by the same method, one of them yelled, "If I can get hold of an oxygen tent, I'll be up to see you." This cheerful remark put us in a fine frame of mind and clearly explained our positions.

The game began, the cheering started, and the popcorn boy came around. Did it matter that we didn't know who was playing? (Not at all). An interruption occurred when a sweet, innocent young thing just could not understand why a player left the game. She was positive that the other players talked about him when he left; and, that if she were playing, she wouldn't give them a chance to gossip. On the whole she thought the game was silly. This gal then went on to explain just what she wanted of the coaches who wouldn't let players have dates or girls.

Back to the present, would someone please explain to us why the grade school kiddies come to the tournament? They slide up and down the ramps, trample on the coats that have to be put on the floor, and scream for dripping ice cream bars, salty popcorn, and luke-warm cokes to be passed up. They'll cheer in your ear for five minutes, tell the referees how to call them, and tell the players just what to do.

And then there is the North Side gym! Not that I don't like this pretty gym, but I just can't find my way around. I go out at the half for a drink (and end up with a glass of milk), and even if my life depends upon it, can't find my way back again. Perhaps I'm the only one who has this trouble, but it doesn't help my pride to inquire of everyone if they saw me coming this way a few minutes ago. It was fun—every bit of it, even trying to unpark the puddle jumper (car). Yes, I was one of the smart people who invested in a sectional ticket.

Which Gymnasium Do You Like Best For Tourney Play?

There are gyms of all sizes and shapes. Some of the high school gyms remind us of overgrown cracker boxes, while others resemble football stadiums. Following are opinions on favorite gymnasiums expressed by South Side students:

Roy Geiser: I like South Side's because I can see better.

Dorothy Lemert: I like South Side's because I feel more at home.

Miriam Hesch: I like North Side's for reasons I don't like to state.

Dale Koonce: South Side's, because the floor is regulation size.

Ken Lauer: South Side has the better floor, but North Side's has the better seating facilities.

Nancy Geake: North Side's, because it seems bigger.

Phyllis Crabbitt: South Side's, because it seems the biggest to me.

Nancy Brudi: South Side's; it seems the bleachers are bigger.

Marilyn Smith: I like North Side's better than South Side's.

Mary Pearson: North Side's is the best.

Forest Meyers: I like the gym at Indianapolis.

Mary Mallers: Naturally, I like South Side's gym.

Paul Benedict: I don't like any of them very well.

Shirley Garrett: I guess they're all O. K.

Tourney Tips . . . .

Have you ever been to a basketball tournament? Well, if you haven't, here are some tips to keep you from doing something embarrassing.

If you take your knitting, be careful and don't get the sleeve of the person next to you in with the other stitches. You might lose some stitches getting it out.

Don't put your gum on the seat when you get through with it; someone is liable to get stuck.

Put all you've got into your yells, but be sure you follow the cheer leaders; they don't yell at every cutie that passes by.

A warning to the boys! Be careful of these out of town girls; they may be dangerous—especially the blondes. Keep your eyes on the game, not some handsome boy or beautiful girl. It would be too bad if you should miss a nice pass. (or would it?) Stay in your seat during the game. People will not like it if you abuse their toes and beads.

If you have a date keep your arms to the front. Others don't have time to watch you and the game, too.

If your team should lose (which it won't, we hope) keep a stiff upper lip. Never let it be said that a tournament spectator was caught with his mouth open.

Don't get angry at the officials; they've got a gun and might use it for other purposes!

If a boy on the team makes a good pass, cheer him on; but, if he makes a bad one, don't say anything like, "He is just out of practice!"

Well, we hope these tips will be helpful to you. If you follow them, we are sure you will be looked up to as the model basketball fan. But you don't have to be breezy to be a good fan. Ha! Ha!

Basketball Tourney Increases Interest In Current Clothing

Basketball tournaments will never stop the ever-changing fashions. As a matter of fact, they will increase the interest in clothes and promote the variety of style at public gatherings.

Sectionals—On what section of your anatomy do you center the most interest? Perhaps it is your head, arms, or neck. In any case, you most likely adorn yourself with ultra-modern jewelry. For that afternoon game at North Side, why not wear an extremely sporty pin on your lapel? A clever basketball player will turn the heads of your neighbors.

One can't be too loyal to his or her school. As a suggestion along this line, why not be original and wear a green and white bracelet and a necklace to match? In such clever shapes as basketballs, bowling pins, and badminton birds, they are quite the style.

No matter where we go, we can't forget the hat. If one went without a hat when grandmother was a lady, it was scandalous. Now girls go without hats without a thought about it. Of course, we can't forget to mention the latest head scarfs. But why are they all alike? Doesn't it seem that a scarf with all different colors would be new and different?

Regionals—Going south for the winter? It seems as if the Southern region is again calling the Northern polar bears. Regardless however of the fact that you are fortunate enough to enjoy the warm sun on a Florida beach, you may still enjoy the soft pastel prints of the clothes worn by the vacationists. Winter has never had any effect on the high school styles.

Super-Regionals—The newest super-style is a small print chiffon blouse. It can be worn either with a dark or pastel skirt. Bright and gay colors always please the admiring eyes of the opposite sex. As a matter of evening wear, one can't be any more attractive if wearing the latest silk jersey print dress. Grandmother's dresses will not seem so ancient in the next few months. Full skirts and tight bodies are constantly being shown at the New York style shows.

Finals—Finally we come to hats, purses, and belts (more commonly known as accessories). Saddle-leather is making its debut all over the country with a tremendous bang. Purses, unfortunately, are growing larger. Bright, red patent-leather swamps the purse counters throughout the U. S.

Coach With Boys For Three Years

Junior Hewes, Robert McWhirter Assist Coach Gerald Faudree

Jefferson Center Tigers were hampered by lack of height and size this season and only won three of the regular scheduled games. These were won from the Alumni, 40 to 37, and the other two were from Arcila, 25 to 19 and 27 to 15.

The tallest man on the Tigers team is Maurice Byall, who plays the center post and he is just 6 feet tall but is a good ball handler and also a good shot. James Taylor and John Hine fill the guard positions for the Tigers while Morris Sheets and Kenneth Emerick take care of the forward positions.

Gerald Faudree coaches the Blue and Red and has filled that place for three years. The school is a small one and there is not a great number of students from which to pick a team. He is assisted by Junior Hewes and Robert McWhirter, the student managers.

Their record for the season is given below.

- Jefferson C. 21, Roanoke 67.
- Jefferson C. 22, Washington C. 35.
- Jefferson C. 24, Elmhurst 47.
- Jefferson C. 25, Arcola 19.

Jefferson Band Judged Second

Plans To Allot Musical Group In Sectional Contest In April

Musical organizations at Jefferson Center High School are a band, and a boys' and girls' chorus, all of which are directed by Miss Josephine Wyckoff.

The band participated in a state contest last year and carried off second honors. This year it is planning on entering the sectional band contest sometime in April. The uniforms worn by the members consist of white slacks having red stripes, white shirts, and blue ties.

This year's operetta, "Top of the World", was presented in the school auditorium on February 12. The action took place in a western setting, and told the story of a college graduate, who was supposedly an orphan, but who found his family when he was vacationing in the West.

Cooperate—remember the banana—every time it leaves the bunch it gets skinned.

Teacher: What is resonance?
Student: Resonance is the place you live in.

Mr. Blank: "I heard your kid bawling last night."
Mr. Period: "Yes, after four bawls he got his base warmed."

"The only difference between you and a horse is that a horse wears a collar."
"Well I wear a collar, too."
"Then I was wrong, there isn't any difference at all!"

First freshman in a math exam:
"How far are you from the answer?"
Second freshman in a math exam:
"Two seats".

"If you wash your face I'll give you a piece of chocolate", said grandmother. "And if you wash behind the ears I'll give you two pieces."
"Grandma", replied little Johnny, "maybe I'd better have a bath".

Film director: "So you think you can stand the severe duties of a film actor? You know, in our business we may find it necessary to throw you down a flight of stairs into a barrel of water!"

Applicant: "Oh, I can stand that. I was collector for an installment furniture house for three years".

Slippery ice, very thin;
Pretty girl tumbled in;
Saw a boy on the bank;
Gave a shriek; then she sank;

Now he's hers—very nice,
But she had to break the ice.

Jefferson Center Netters Possess Hardwood Skill

With 12 losses in 14 games, the Tigers of Jefferson Center appear to have a tough row to hoe in the coming sectional meet. The Tigers, first row, left to right, John Smith, Eugene Kiser, Robert Taylor, and John Hines. Second row, Morris Sheets, George Powell, Marvin Zorger, Bob McCoy, and James Taylor. Third row, Principal Paul Kendall, Manager Junior Hewes, Kenneth Hosler, Maurice Byall, Kenneth Emerick, and Coach Gerald Faudree.

Jefferson Center Coach Played In High School In '26

Upon looking up the coach of Jefferson Center, Mr. G. E. Foudree, the reporter asked him to give some of the highlights of his life. Being a modest and unassuming fellow, he would not say much about himself. However, he did consent to tell a little about his association with basketball.

"In 1926, I was a sophomore in Laketon High School playing on the team," he said. "In this year, the Marion Giants took the state title. It took Marion to defeat Laketon in the Regionals."

"I coached four years at Leidville, 1933 to 1937. I was fairly successful, winning thirty-seven games out of forty-eight played. The last year, the team lost only four games and won fifteen straight."

"Since coming to Jefferson Center, the teams have been so irregular that not many games have been won. Our chances are not so good in the sectionals this year, but we may win a couple of games."

"This year's second team won eleven out of fifteen games, making prospects for the future look pretty good."

Monthly School Paper Headed By Mr. Berry

Jeff-O-Gram, the school paper of Jefferson Center High School, is published monthly by student journalists under the direction of Mr. Russell Berry. The editor, Alice Shaw, is assisted by a staff of fourteen members. The mimeographed paper ranges in size from four to six pages.

Seniors Planning Many Activities

Home Economics Girls Make Noon-Day Lunches For Students

Besides the regular class room duties at Jefferson Center High School, there are many activities in which the students participate.

Following the last basketball game of the season which was with Coesse on February 14, a party was given for the team. Refreshments included hamburgers, ice cream, and cake.

The senior class play will be presented on April 4 and 5. The members of the senior class are also planning to visit the state legislature before it closes.

New modern cupboards have been installed in the home economics room, and a new electric stove, gas stove, and refrigerator were also purchased. At noons the girls of the home economics classes serve hot lunch costing 10 cents.

Three Yell Leaders Back Tiger Team To Many Victories

Three girls lead the students of Jefferson Central High School as they cheer their team on to victory. These girls are Mary Jane Baikel, Hilda Kiser, and Betty Hively.

Red waists with blue letters on the back, and blue corduroy skirts identify these girls as the Tiger cheer leaders.

Many Activities Open To Sports-Minded Girls

Girls' athletic activities at Jefferson Center High School include basketball, volleyball, softball, ping pong, and shuffleboard. Miss Mildred Knoll is the director of their activities.

The girls have several teams and play intramural tournament games once a week at noon.

Jefferson Center Boosters Optimistic As To Outcome Of Sectional Tourney

"Jefferson Center Proclaimed Champs of Sectional", according to the opinion of many of the school's foremost scholars. This makes the second time that Jefferson Center will appear here to compete in the sectional tourney and they are eager to make their second showing a gallant affair.

Both the team and scholars are confident of a better showing if they are lucky in the draw and hit several of the county teams before the final round. Their record for the season is fair and they are anxious to improve their percentage mark for the present season. The last few games have been warm-up affairs and should offer good practice for the squad before tourney time.

The following are some of the opinions as to how their team will come out in sectional play:

Principal J. Paul: We haven't won many games but if we don't draw North Side, we may have a little chance.

Melvin Grace: We all hope that they will win and bring home the banner.

Lavera Harrison: I don't know who is going to win, but I hope the best team wins and that's us.

Kenneth Hosler: We're sure we can take South Side and that means victory.

George Lautzenheiser: I think we have a grand chance and improvement is noted as the season continues.

Virginia Harrison: We ought to come out all right.

Kenneth Emerick: I think we ought to come out all right if we don't get a tough game in the opening round.

Norman Zorger: The team is small but mighty. We are looking for them to go places in the tournament.

Geraldine Meyer: I think we have as good a chance as the other teams.

Helen Byoll: I wish the team the best of luck, and, I am sure they will win.

Marjorie Putnam: I think that we should come out all right.

Ruby Grace: Keep up your spirits, boys; the best team always wins.

Inez Lautzenheiser: I hope we win.

Fred Taylor: I wish the boys luck and I hope they play their best.

Ann Kauffman: Hoping for the best.

Barbara Wilson: There is no question as to the outcome.

Betty Hively: We're going to win.

Getraldine Brown: We have hopes of winning.

Jack Hostetter: They're plenty fast, plenty good, and are good shots, but the track team is better.

Helen Kelsey: I think that we will win.

John Oliver Smith: We'll give 'em a good fight. Hope we'll draw Monroeville.

Mary Jane Bokle: We have hopes of winning.

Lauretta Kline: We want a little team, so we can beat North Side.

Miss Wykoff: I have hopes, but no ideas.

Paul Kendall: I think we have a fair chance providing we miss North Side in the opening round.

Dee Ann Gillies: I hope for the best of luck.

Junior Hewes: Hope and pray we get Arcola.

Morris Byall: We'll try hard.

Marge Pratt: They will do their best and I am sure they will come out on top.

"That's the guy I'm laying for", said the hen as the farmer passes the barnyard.

"Speaking of baseball, I've got a baseball dog."

"What makes you call him a baseball dog?"

"Because he wears a muzzel, catches flies, chases fowls, and beats it for home when he sees the catcher coming."

Says one tire to the next: "Psst!"

Coach Dan Perry Has Built Hoagland Into Clever Five

Wildcats Use Set Play Type Of Basketball

Despite Handicaps, Quintet Has Beaten Tough County Teams During Season Play

Several Players Are Experienced

Squad, Showing Improvement In Last Contests, Wins Nine, Loses Seven Of Sixteen

Hoagland's tourney squad has a certain amount of handicap this year, inasmuch as they are the smallest quintet in the county. Coach Dan Perry, who recently succeeded Coach Gerald Irwin, has built his team into one of the most clever ball clubs in this section.

Suffering from the loss of their ganging center, Kaiser, and Marvin Schroeder, prominent guard, the Wildcats will be back this year with a new brand of ball. Coach Perry has developed his squad into a set-play team; and, if pressed, they may switch to a fast-break style of play.

Although they have not shown a very impressive season's record, the Wildcats have beaten some of the toughest county prep fives. Besting Ossian by a score of 37 to 31 was one of the toughest tilts the Wildcats faced this year. Ossian then turned around and defeated the Wells County champs, Bluffton, 37 to 21.

Facing the Allen County champs, the Woodburn Warriors, twice during their regular season play, the Hoagland netters lost both times. They had a won-and-lost record of nine and seven on February 12 with two more scheduled games to be played, one with Elmhurst and one with New Haven. In a blind tourney held at the halfway mark of the regular season, Hoagland's hardwood performers downed the New Haven Bulldogs, 26 to 21, in the first bracket of the tourney.

In the second section of play the Wildcats tripped Lafayette Central by the wayside, 32 to 26. They were beaten, however, in the semi-final game. In this county tournament they were defeated in their first encounter with Harlan, 33 to 29. Two impressive scores registered by the quintet this season were 55 to 21 over Arcola and 51 to 23 over Monroeville.

Several of the Wildcats are back from last season's tourney team and are finding it somewhat difficult to learn a new style of play after playing for two years under ex-coach Getruld Irwin's tutelage. The Perry men have shown a certain amount of improvement during the last part of their season's schedule and are not to be counted out of the picture by a long shot. They have the courage, spirit, and determination that goes to make up a good hardwood team and are going to be a sizable threat to any team they may meet in the sectionals.

The team's season scheduled games, won and lost, are as follows:
Hoagland 36, Elmhurst 33.
Hoagland 24, Woodburn 33.
Hoagland 51, Monroeville 23.
Hoagland 45, Lafayette Central 31.
Hoagland 37, Ossian 31.
Hoagland 30, Decatur 28.
Hoagland 46, Monmouth 30.
Hoagland 30, Harlan 36.
Hoagland 36, Leo 40.
Hoagland 36, Huntertown 26.
Hoagland 55, Arcola 21.
Hoagland 38, Monmouth 29.
Hoagland 41, Woodburn 49.
Hoagland 22, New Haven 37.
Hoagland 36, Monroeville 23.
Hoagland 28, Harlan 31.

Wildcat Basketball Five Uses Set Plays Against Opponents

Fellows on the basketball team have a lot of good times playing together. They have picked out some flowery nicknames for each of the players. They are Cockey Hisner, Dow Counterman, Raley Poley Hisner, Redhorse Ruhl, Flash Ruhl, Wahoo Cagnet, Piggy Franke, Ham Guenin, Sleepy Tucker, Skeeter Kraft, Minnie Scherer, Saltie Saalfrank, and their student manager, Charlie Weilbaker.

The boy that is probably the all-around athlete from Hoagland is Gerald Hisner, who participated in the two sports sponsored by the school, football and basketball. He is the high-point man on their basketball team with points from the scheduled games that total 192, an enviable record for one season.

Last year the basketball team played a not exact style. It was somewhat racehorse basketball. But this year the team uses some set plays which improves the grade of basketball it turns out.

When the Hoagland team goes on the floor to play they do not know immediately what position they will play. Coach Perry tries to match his boys with the opponents in height and speed.

The Hoagland Wildcats wear their school colors, blue and white, on the hardwood when they play basketball. Their trunks are blue and their shirts white.

Three of the basketball players have received letter-sweaters. They are: Gerald Hisner, Mervin Ruhl, and Oris Cagnet, all of whom are seniors.

In the sectionals last year the Hoagland Wildcats defeated Huntertown in their first game, 33 to 31. They were in turn defeated by Leo, 24 to 44.

There is more than one short-sighted person with a far-away look in his eye.

Hoagland Wildcats Can Still Bite

Coach Dan Perry's Wildcats showed plenty of offensive spark this season, and the Hoagland basketballers are now favored to cause plenty of grief in the sectional at North Side. The Perry men above are, first row, left to right: Don Counterman, Bob Counterman, Bob Scherer, and Lambert Kraft. Second row: Norman Saalfrank, Melvin Ruhl, Herb Uffelman, Ralph Franke, and Herman Guenin. Back row: Weilbaker, student manager; Ben Ruhl, Gerald Hisner, Oris Cagnet, and Coach Dan Perry.

Next Year May Be Tough On Wildcats

Stiff Games Are Scheduled Despite Loss Of Three Seniors

Next year's schedule for regular season games should prove to be tough for the Hoagland Wildcats, as they will lose three seniors from the varsity five. Coach Perry has announced the 1941-42 season games as follows:

Hoagland will encounter Elmhurst, Monroeville, Harlan, and New Haven twice during their regular season's play. The Wildcats are down on paper to meet Lafayette Central, Ossian, Decatur, Leo, Huntertown, and Arcola once during the 1941-42 hardwood campaign. The Wildcats' schedule at the present time has five open dates yet to be filled.

The county and blind tourneys are not counted in the tentative layouts for next year's games. The blind tourney date has not been decided. The county tournament has been set for January 22, 23, and 24, at the New Haven Bulldogs' gym.

The tentative schedule is as follows:
November 1—Elmhurst.
November 7—Monroeville.

Wildcat Coach, Daniel Perry, Is Industrious Mentor At Hoagland

Starting his initial season with the Wildcats, Coach Daniel (Pops) Perry has made quite a hit with the fans and the boys on the team. Succeeding Gerald Erwin as athletic mentor, Mr. Perry has a lot on his hands as he is the athletic manager for the school, coach of the basketball team, chief mentor for the baseball eleven, physical education director, and teacher of industrial arts and social science.

Mr. Perry attended the Warsaw High School and, while there, played varsity basketball for three years. His position on the net quintet was that of forward. He also played football and was a member of the cinder pounders (track team, to you). He played on the gridiron for three years and was on the track squad for the same number of year.

After being graduated from high school he studied at Ball State Teachers College at Muncie, Indiana, for four years. As in high school, he played basketball and football. Football took up three years of his stay at Ball State and basketball only one. He was what is known as a triple-threat menace during his high school career. There was a three-year intermission between the time he was graduated from Warsaw High School and when he entered Ball State. This time was spent in playing independent basketball with a independent league.

Dan Perry's coaching experience began with the Milford High School's basketball five. For two years he spent his time forwarding his knowledge of basketball to Milford's ardent netters. The first year at Milford his team went to the finals of the county tourney and drove to the finals of the sectional in which they were defeated by Warsaw, Coach Perry's alma mater, and Mentone. In his second year as coach, his team bested the Kosciusko County champs, Syracuse, in the sectionals but were defeated later on in the play.

Mr. Perry has done no refereeing at all. He has been with the Hoagland Wildcats since August of 1940 and this will be his first sectional team to be advanced in Northeastern Indiana Conference play. Coach Perry has installed a new style of play for the Wildcat team which had, heretofore, played plain basketball. A set play offense and somewhat fast break style is being combined with a shifting man-to-man and zone defense to form a tight defense and an efficient offense essential to a good ball club.

Coach Perry has made the statement that "These are the finest bunch of boys I have ever had to work with" and "They really try hard to do what I want them to."

Wildcat Fans Boost Hoagland Cage Five With Soaring Hopes

"High hopes for Hoagland!" seemed to be the opinions of the majority of the student body and faculty as your roving reporter interviewed different people about the school.

Following are several of their statements:

Merrit J. Algier, principal: You can count on them being in there fighting at the time of the tournament. They'll play a good game whether they win or lose.

Coach Perry: The boys reached their peak about the Ossian game, and since that time they have been going slightly downhill. We have no high hopes of winning it, but we can give anyone we play a good game.

Robert Hegerfeld, sophomore: They have just as good a chance as anybody in the county.

Leslie Voirol, sophomore: Well, I

Hoagland Pupils Edit Newspaper

Hurricane Is Printed Every Three Weeks; Seniors Publish Yearbook

The Hoagland Hurricane, the Wildcats' school paper, is published each three weeks during the school year. The staff is made up chiefly from seniors and juniors, with reporters from each class and from each home room. The paper is from six to eight pages in length.

Features included in the paper are school news, sports, class activities, school and group activities, alumni news, feature stories, and personals, cartoons, and editorials. The 1941 editor is Willis Flora, a senior, and Herbert Uffelman is the assistant editor.

A school annual is also edited by the students at Hoagland. The annual is called The Ship's Log. It is published each year by the seniors in the school. The editor for the current year is Kathleen Sorg. The book is about sixty pages in length and contains snaps of the classes and editorials on each class and its classmates.

Howard Hawkins: I think we have as good a chance as anybody.

Dow Counterman, basketball player: We've got a good enough team, if they work together.

Clarence Bobilya, junior high teacher: They've got a good chance if they get down and play ball.

Cubs Enter Sectionals With Little Hope Of Taking Title

Monroeville Experiences Poor Season

Squad Wins Only Two Games Out Of Fifteen That Are Scheduled

Coach Martin Is Drilling His Quint

Martinmen Are Working Hard In Order To Make Good Showing At Sectionals

Monroeville's Cubs enter the sectional tourney with little hopes of a title, but the charges of Dolorus Martin do intend to make their tournament play cause the bigger, more experienced ball clubs plenty of trouble. This is Mr. Martin's first season at Monroeville, and his initial effort has been none too successful. However, with the meager material greeting the new mentor upon his arrival at the Cubs' den, he is to be lauded for producing a reputable quintet.

So far this year the Martinmen have won two games in fifteen played in regular season competition. The Cubs lost their only county tourney game to the hapless Arcola Aces.

Team Wins Twice

Monroeville's only two wins have been recorded over Arcola and Lafayette Central. The Cubs whipped the Aces, 29 to 20. Coach Everett Cass's Pirate crew from Lafayette Central bowed to the Monroeville unit in a thrilling 32 to 31 overtime fray.

In the county tournament the Arcola Aces eked out a 28 to 27 victory over the Cubs. The Aces and Cubs had previously stood alone as victorious quintets in regular season play. Since the county meet, the cagers of Dolorus Martin have had much more success on the hardwood. The Cubs lost two games in the meet which the New Haven five held in early December. Lafayette Central downed the Martinmen in an afternoon clash of the blind meet by a 23-to-22 score, and they lost in the consolation battle to New Haven, 41 to 14.

Among the important games which the Cubs dropped this season were the tussles with Woodburn, Pleasant Mills, Decatur Catholic, and Monroe. Of this quartet, both the County Champs and the Decatur Catholic Commodores hold two wins over the black and white clad basketballers. Monroeville trounced Monroeville by a 53 to 33 tally, and Pleasant Mills beat the Allen County representatives, 42 to 24. Woodburn's two wins came by scores of 47 to 22 and 41 to 24, while the Commies dumped the Baby Bears twice by counts of 37 to 27 and 42 to 26.

While the Cubs have admittedly had a tough time, they hope for a break in the draw and a possible tourney victory. Coach Martin has been drilling his quintet in hard workouts during the past few weeks in preparation for the meet. Both the coach, players, and fans are hopeful that the community of Monroeville may make a good showing at North Side.

List Season's Results

Below are listed the results of the games played by the Cubs during the season of 1940-1941.

Monroeville 8, Lafayette Cent. 23.
Monroeville 23, Hoagland 51.
Monroeville 25, New Haven 36.
Monroeville 27, Decatur Catholic 37.
Monroeville 34, Harlan 31.
Monroeville 28, Elmhurst 29.
Monroeville 22, Woodburn 47.
Monroeville 24, Pleasant Mills 40.
Monroeville 26, Decatur Catholic 42.
Monroeville 20, Huntertown 32.
Monroeville 29, Arcola 20.
Monroeville 11, Leo 42.
Monroeville 21, Hoagland 35.
Monroeville 33, Monroe 53.
Monroeville 16, Harlan 35.
Monroeville 32, Lafayette Central 31 (overtime).

Black, White Suits Signify Flashy Five, Monroeville Cubs

On the floor comes a flashy team in black and white suits—the Monroeville Cubs! Although they haven't had such an impressive record this season, the Cub fans expect much of them in the tourney.

The team has completed the current basketball season with only a few minor injuries, such as strained ligaments and sprained ankles. The team's only low peak was during the county tournament, when most of the players had the flu. The team has been a very good drawing card as can be seen by the fact that an average of $25 was taken in at every game. To see the Cubs play costs 25 cents admission at the gate. A student season ticket costs $1.35, while an adult season ticket costs $1.75. The enthusiasm that the crowd has for this fine team has been justified; for although they have not won all the games played, they have always given the opponents a stiff battle.

Girls, Pool, Work, Besides Basketball, Take Up Time Of Monroeville Cubs

After looking up the team record of the Monroeville Cubs an inquest was made into the individual lives of the players. Following are the results:

Eugene Murchland—Eugene, a junior, has had two years' experience as center on the team and played in last year's sectional. Eugene takes part in no other school activities; but because he is the bashful, blushing type, he doesn't have a girl-friend. He says that he's a great pool player.

Jim Bowers—Jim, because of his running exercises around the gym, is known as one of the globe trotters. A prominent senior, Jim has a brilliant basketball record of three years, playing guard for the Cubs. He is tied with another member of the team for scoring the greatest number of points. Jim played in last year's sectional, is an all-around athlete, and has a leading role in the coming senior play. He is the lady killer, and the best pool player on the team.

Paul Adams—Paul is a senior and has an attractive basketball record of three years. Paul played in the sectionals last year. In his spare time he works at a Standard Filling Station and visits a girl in Huntertown.

Don Powelson—Don, junior, has played a forward position with the Cubs for the last two years. He plays softball besides basketball and was in the sectionals last year. Don says (but I don't think he meant it), that he has no use for any woman; but he thinks that he is a great pool shark.

Jack Shuhan—Jack is another of the six juniors on the first twelve of the Cubs. He has had two years of basketball experience. He didn't play in last year's sectional, but he is another one of the better athletes at Monroeville High School. Jack very frankly says that basketball is his favorite pastime and that Dorothy Bucher is his favorite girl-friend.

Joe Painter—Joe, a senior and the oldest member of the team, has an exceptionally fine basketball record of four years. He is tied with Jim Bowers for the largest number of points scored this season. He played in last year's sectional tournament and will no doubt see action again in this year's tourney. Joe engages in no other school activities, but he likes swimming as a he-man's sport and comes to Fort Wayne for his girl-friends.

Harold Blauvelt—Harold, junior forward, has been a member of the team for two years. He played in last year's sectional and lists softball as the only other school activity besides basketball.

In Harold's opinion, is the most interesting sport, and Carolyn Bauchot of Central Catholic in Fort Wayne is a most interesting girl-friend.

Dick Grabner—Dick, a senior, is an all-around athlete with only one year of basketball experience. He did not play at last year's tourney team. Dick likes basketball and Donna Bucher.

Howard Gfell—Howard, a senior, and a team member with three years of valuable experience on an excellent record, played in last year's sectional and is an all-around athlete of his school. Howard doesn't participate in any other school activities; he says that basketball takes enough of his time. Other than this, the prominent guard for the Cubs made no other comments.

Bob Johnson—Bob, an up-and-coming basketball player, has had one year of experience playing for the Monroeville team. He is a big junior center with no previous tourney experience. He participates in no other school activities, since basketball takes all his time.

Daniel Dawson—Dan, a junior, playing a guard position, has had one year of experience on the team. This year he hopes to prove his merit as a valuable player to any team.

Rodger Klinker—Rodger, a sophomore and the youngest member of the squad, has a good chance to develop into a brilliant ball player because of the fact that he has yet two years in which to add to his present experience and knowledge.

Cub 1941-'42 Net Schedule Is Given

Monroeville Cards Eighteen Tilts; Expect Much Improved Squad

Although the Monroeville squad this season has not done as well as they had hoped, they expect to give a much better showing next year. The schedule for next year is as follows:

Nov. 7—Hoagland, here.
Nov. 12—New Haven, there.
Nov. 18—Decatur Catholic, there.
Nov. 28—Harlan, there.
Dec. 3—Elmhurst, there.
Dec. 5—Lafayette Central, here.
Dec. 10—Woodburn, here.
Dec. 12—Monmouth, there.
Dec. 19—Decatur Catholic, here.

Monroeville Coach, Delorus Martin, Is Hoping For Victory

When Monroeville meets its opponents, the most excited person will probably be their coach, Delorus Martin. This is Mr. Martin's first year of coaching at Monroeville, or anywhere for that matter; and he has high hopes for his veteran team.

Coach Martin went to high school at Parker, Indiana; and upon graduation, he went to Ball State Teachers College, where he was graduated with honors. Besides teaching physical education and coaching the team, he is also an instructor in mathematics, safety, health, and physics. Although he is an excellent teacher of all these subjects, his favorite subject outside of physical education, is geometry.

So when the Black and White is battling with their opponent, "Del" will be down there on the bench cheering his team through to victory.

Monroeville School Description

The Monroeville High School is a three-story brick building which holds the students of both grade and high school age. The grade school uses the first two floors of the building and two rooms on the third floor, and the remainder of the third floor is for high school age who may take either a commercial or academic course. Literature seems to be the favorite subject and the favorite teacher is the coach, Mr. Martin.

Drum Majorettes, Band, Yell Leaders Inspire The Cubs

Throughout the season Monroeville's Fighting Cubs have been inspired by a small, excellent band to play for the spectators between periods and also two very fine cheerleaders, who inspire the crowd to root for its home team. The Monroeville band, which consists of thirty-two members, plays at all the home games.

This year they played in the Tri-State Band Contest, which brings together some of the bands from all over the state, and succeeded in coming away with several fine honors. The band is led and inspired by a drum major and five majorettes. Marvin Casselman, the drum major, leads the band when on parade, with five very attractive and high-stepping majorettes: Martha Ann Hively, Patsy Ertle, Ruth Tarnsworth, Joan Pillers, and Barbara Speith.

One of the favorite routines of the band is to march in formation on the floor of a darkened gym so that only the same electric light atop each of the members caps show up. The result is truly wonderful to watch.

As additional inspiration, we have the cheerleaders, Lois and Dick Foster, who pep up the crowd when things seem to be going bad for the team and lead them in victory songs when the team is giving the opponents a trouncing.

Monroeville Gym Seats About 400

Cubs Expect Approximately Seventy-Five Fans At Sectional Tourney At North Side

Monroeville's gymnasium was built and financed in 1926 through the aid of township bond issues. Although the gymnasium is almost fifteen years old, it still retains the appearance of any modern gym and has good facilities.

At one end of the gymnasium is a stage and seats for plays, assemblies, and other similar activities; while at the opposite end is a modern, well-operated electric scoreboard.

Seats are on one side only, but the seating capacity is approximately 400. It has a good heating and lighting system and the usual glass backboards.

The playing floor is about 66 x 40 feet. A crowd of approximately seventy-five is expected to root for the Monroeville Cubs at the sectional

Dick Barkley Is Cub Senior Prexy

Upperclass Sponsors Dance; Is To Present Plays, Publish Yearbook

One of the most active groups in Monroeville High School is the senior class. Exactly twenty-five members constitute the class with Dick Barkley as class president and Mr. Robert Justice as faculty adviser.

Each year the class sponsors a dance. This year it was held on New Year's night after a basketball game with Huntertown. The Huntertown team was invited to the dance as guests of the senior class.

The next activity, on which they are working, is the giving of three plays. "A Scream in the Dark" is a two-act mystery with the leading roles taken by Donna Bucher and Jim Bowler. Beulah Johns has the leading role in "The Dummy", a one-act comedy. "Not Tonight" is another one-act comedy featuring Pat Leonard and Dick Barkley.

This year the class is undertaking the task of publishing a year book called "The Cub." Vivian Maddox is the student editor with Mr. Robert Justice as faculty adviser. This book has been previously published only two times.

The book will contain a picture of every student besides the group pictures of all the grades. All the basketball players will be featured by special individual pictures. Besides the pictures, stories will depict the events of the year. The book will be found in a very attractive black and white leather cover.

Trojan Season Record Shows Nine Wins And Seven Losses

Inconsistency Is Chief foe Of Elmhurst

Squad Is Hot, Then Cold In Performance; First Game Is Victory

513 Is Point Total For Sixteen Tilts

Team Loses First Match In County Tourney; Year Record Is Given

Elmhurst has not been very consistent in their basketball this season. At some performances the squad has looked rather impressive, but at other times they couldn't hit a thing, having won nine and lost seven tilts.

They started the season out with a two-point victory over Hoagland by a score of 38 to 36, but then fell the following meets to the Leo Lions, 24 to 28. The Trojans then bounced back to trounce Jefferson Center 47 to 23, and Hartford Township, 41 to 14. The Snydermen then lost two straight to Woodburn and New Haven, before they were able to squeeze Lafayette Central out 30 to 28.

The Red and Gray's next victim was Monroeville, who almost sprang an upset, but fell short by one point, 29 to 28. Huntertown defeated Elmhurst, 36 to 28, but the Trojans then got their revenge by nosing out Leo 21 to 20. The Red and Gray then went into a slump, winning only one out of their next five games. They defeated Arcola 58 to 27 but lost to Decatur Catholic, Central Catholic of Fort Wayne, Ossian, Roanoke, and Woodburn.

The Trojans had hoped for a good draw in the county tourney but were disappointed when they found that Huntertown was their first opponent. The Red and Gray fell before Huntertown by a score of 21 to 17.

The Trojans' opponents have outscored them by seven points, in a total of sixteen games, 520 to 513. The scores of the games are as follows:

- Elmhurst 38, Hoagland 36.
- Elmhurst 24, Leo 28.
- Elmhurst 47, Jefferson Center 23.
- Elmhurst 41, Hartford Township 14.
- Elmhurst 26, Woodburn 32.
- Elmhurst 27, New Haven 29.
- Elmhurst 28, Monroeville 28.
- Elmhurst 28, Huntertown 36.
- Elmhurst 21, Leo 20.
- Elmhurst 30, Lafayette Central 28.
- Elmhurst 27, Roanoke 38.
- Elmhurst 38, Decatur Catholic 44.
- Elmhurst 58, Arcola 27.
- Elmhurst 27, Central Catholic 45.
- Elmhurst 18, Ossian 28.
- Elmhurst 34, Woodburn 64.

Elmhurst GAA Is Outstanding Club

Sixty Girls Belong To Popular Organization Led By Miss Jane Adamson

At Elmhurst, the girls come in for their share of glory in athletics by belonging to GAA. It is one of their most outstanding organizations. The adviser, Miss Jane Adamson, is a capable leader for the sixty girls who belong. The only requirement to be a GAA'er is to be enthusiastically interested in all sports.

The sports are divided into two groups, organized and unorganized. Under the first group come baseball, basketball, volleyball, tumbling, and dancing. The second group, unorganized sports, is made up of skating, hiking, and tennis.

Their point system is worked out on the same basis as ours. A total of 250 points are required before a girl can receive her letters. She is then eligible for Lettermen's Club, which is composed of both boys and girls. The money for these letters is raised through skating parties given by the club. A state plaque, awarded by the state president, is presented to the girl earning 350 points and passing eighteen achievements. Each girl receives ten points every six weeks for organized activities, and points for unorganized according to the hours put in on each. The president is a vivacious blond—Pauline Beck is her name.

Elmhurst Coach Graduated From South Side High

Mr. Waveland Snyder, athletic coach of Elmhurst, was graduated from South Side High School, where he played varsity athletics under Mr. Jake McClure for two years.

Manchester furnished his college training; there he played four years on the basketball team, three years of varsity football, and two years of baseball.

He spent one year coaching in Churubusco, and then went to Elmhurst.

The tall, muscular, dark-haired coach had some tough luck during his first season in that capacity, but took his team to the county finals last year. He teaches U. S. History besides doing his regular coaching.

Elmhurst Golf Squad Holds Envious Record

An enviable record has been chalked up by Elmhurst's outstanding golf team; it placed second in the state tournament two years ago, and was among the ten top teams last year.

Ranking far up on the list of Trojan champions is Fred Link, well-known for his city amateur championship. Besides Fred, the golf team is made up of Bob Coleman, Orville Hapner, Jack Belschner, and Hank Yovan.

Golf is carried on as one of the regular athletic activities, and the season will start about the last of April, announced Mr. Waveland Snyder, coach.

Majorettes To Twirl

Juanita Foltz, Ruth Mary Beck, Sylvia Gillett, Joan Carriger, Barbara Miller, and Connie Kummer compose the Trojan majorettes, who perform during halves of the Elmhurst basketball tilts. Perkily clad in short white outfits trimmed in red, the girls will be very much in evidence during the tournament.

Announce Elmhurst Prom

This year's Prom will be held Saturday, April 19. The 1941 prom queen is Frieda Schoenman. Her attendants have been announced as Ireta Grush, Barbara Miller, Pat McCoy, Connie Kummer, Betty Tarr, and Gloria Belle May.

Do You Remember?

Do you remember? Elmhurst's first game in the sectionals was with Woodburn. Incidentally, the Trojans pulled down a victory by piling up a score of 45 to 32. In the second game, they were forced to bow to Lafayette Central, the final score being 66 to 39.

Trojan Yell Leaders Have Lots Of Fun In Leading Cheers

Vivacious is the word to describe the energetic, petite Trojan cheerleaders, Miriam Pond and Barbara Miller. Attractively clad in red and gray tights and blouses, they are truly capable of their important positions.

They have led cheers for Elmhurst for two years and have thoroughly enjoyed it. "It's loads of fun when the kids yell," Miriam said.

An election is held every two years to select two junior girls for this vital position. Miriam and Barbara graduate this year, so there'll have to be another election soon.

Elmhurst Fashions Listed

Knee-length socks are a prevalent fad with Elmhurst girls, while twin sweater sets and hats completely covered with pins and trophies are popular with the boys.

"Dear Diary" Is 1941 Trojan Yearbook Idea

"Dear Diary" is the theme of the 1941 Anlibrum, Elmhurst's yearbook. "This idea will be carried out in peppy, colorful layouts", stated Joyce Monce and Joyce Sonner, co-editors. Miss Letha Falls is the adviser.

May 11 has been announced as the date of distribution of the publication. Approximately two-thirds of the 365 students have subscribed for this year's publication at $2 a person. They may have their names embossed on the covers for a small sum.

The book is composed of club features, class pictures (individual senior pictures), and sports features. The staff is trying to include as many photographs as possible.

Trojans Award Athletic Honors

Varsity Boys Receive Basketball, Softball, Golf Letters; Fred Link Has Highest Award

In order to make varsity sports worth playing besides just for mere enjoyment, Elmhurst High School gives letters and bars to their players. After a player has earned 250 points in varsity competition, he is entitled to a letter and one bar.

Since Elmhurst has only three sports for varsity competition, basketball, softball, and golf, letters must be earned from these three. A boy playing varsity in all three sports is eligible for a letter, four bars and one gold bar, while a boy competing in two of the sports receives a letter and three bars, and a boy who excels in only one sport has a chance for a letter and one or two bars.

The lone player, who has received the highest award, is Fred Link. This boy has earned through varsity competition a letter, four bars, and one gold bar. Fred excels in basketball, softball, and his specialty, golf. Incidentally, Fred was city champion year before last. Another boy who excels in basketball and softball is Don Griender. He has a letter and three bars and is a senior at Elmhurst. Other boys who have a letter and one or two bars are Howie, Coleman, Baker, Deuter, and Rowan.

There are other ways of earning a letter at Elmhurst besides competing in varsity sports. A boy can earn a letter by joining the Rifle Club and participating in matches. After a boy has compiled a certain amount of points, he receives a letter with a target and rifle on it. If one is musical, he can join the band, which is a very fine organization. After two years of musical experience, he receives a letter with a lyre on it. The last way to earn a letter is by intramural competition. When a boy has piled up 125 points, through intramural play (teams within school), he receives a letter with "IM" on it.

Senior Play Given

Students, Teachers From Elmhurst Give Opinions On Team

Opinions varied among the faculty and students as to the chances for the Trojans in the sectional tourney. To the question, "How do you think the team will rate in the sectionals?", most of them seemed to be rather pessimistic but hopes ran high. Here are some of their comments:

Paul Haller, Elmhurst's principal: Perhaps we haven't as strong a team as usual, but it's due to their inexperience.

Waveland Snyder, coach: They aren't hitting regularly. Of course, we have only one player back from last year. If they can hit, they might go pretty far.

Miss Adamson: I don't know much about the team. I hope we win.

Miss Steiber: There's a good chance to win.

Mr. Logan: We may not win according to score, but according to sportsmanship we'll rank high.

Fred Link, basketball and golf star: I hope we meet Yoder in the first game.

Miriam Pond, cheer leader: When they're hot, they're all right.

Dick Miller: I hope we go some place, but I'm afraid not.

Pauline Beck, GAA president: I think Elmhurst has a very good chance. The team has the fighting spirit.

Joyce Monce: I hope we win.

Paul Oyer, sports editor for The Elmhurst Advance: If we get a break in the draw, we might win a few games.

Joyce Sonner: All I can do is hope. Dave Coil, public speaker: Oh, it's a good team.

Publish Elmhurst Advance

Once each month, the Elmhurst Advance is published for approximately 200 subscribers. Barbara Alden is serving as publisher this year and Miss Dorothy McComb and Mr. Mardy Logan are advisers.

The paper is 20 inches long and has six columns. Within its four pages appear up-to-the-minute stories, pictures, and cartoons drawn by students. The editorial page is very popular with students for registering complaints and giving suggestions for the betterment of the school.

Elmhurst Trojans Have Fair Chance

Team Lacks Experience; Coach Waveland Snyder Is Former Green Archer

The seating capacity of the Elmhurst gym is not very large. Four hundred persons completely fill the place and it is almost always filled to capacity at all basketball games. The school was built by a group of business men and then rented to the township.

The only way the school has of raising money for the sports department is by the money taken in on admission to the basketball games. There are no season tickets, and the students pay 15 or 25 cents apiece, per game.

The Trojans will suffer a severe setback next year with the loss of Fred Link, but Coach Waveland Snyder is hoping for a fair season. If the Red and Gray gets a good draw and if they are hitting, Elmhurst might get through the first couple of rounds, but the team's main difficulty is that it lacks experience.

This is Coach Snyder's third year at Elmhurst. He is a former product of South Side, and from there he attended Manchester College, where he played on the varsity basketball team for three years. He coached at Churubusco before coming to Elmhurst, where he had a very good season. Coach Snyder also has charge of the boys' gym classes and the intramural activities.

Elmhurst is known for its fine band, which played at the state legislature several weeks ago.

The man gets the last word nowadays, but it's always "Yes, my dear".

Cook Electrically

ELECTRICITY has removed the preparation of food for human consumption from an uncertain art to an exact science. It has transformed the kitchen from a place which was at best the scene of laborious work to a dietetic laboratory. You get all the rich, full-flavored goodness of foods cooked in their own natural juices—meals that are more nourishing, more tasty. Besides, an electric range never heats up your kitchen, even in hottest summer weather—and, above all, is economical to own and operate.

Coesse Has Had Successful Net Season With Seven Wins

Two Seniors, Three Juniors On Main Team

Practically All Of Fairly Rangy Team Has Had Previous Experience

Coach Day With Squad Two Years

Average Height Is Slightly Under Six Feet; All Are Veterans

Coesse's fighting Indians have had a very successful season. The Indians are coached by Charles E. Day, who was recently obtained from Markle, where he had a very enviable record. So far this season they have won seven games and they still had three more to play when this was written. Altogether they have amassed a grand total of 609 points to their opposition's 589.

In the annual county tournament, they defeated Jefferson Center and Churubusco, but then they were defeated by Wolf Lake in a very tough battle. Stephen Rehm and Donald Culbertson are the only two seniors on the Coesse roster. The first starting lineup is composed of two seniors and three juniors. The average height of the starting five is just a little bit under six feet. Cook and Robert Auer are the most consistent scorers on the team. From last year's squad they lost but two players; and, since all of the players are veterans, they should offer competition to any school that gets in their way.

Their gym is small but it gives them ample place to practice, and each and every member of the team has at last found the range of the basket. The reserve squad has just completed a tough schedule, and they emerged victorious continuously throughout the season. Girls' basketball teams have not practiced at all this past year but last year they had a prize team.

Their results so far this season are as follows:

	Opp.	Coesse
Arcola	24	35
Harlan	31	27
Larwill	49	33
Alumni	40	33
Churubusco	32	19
Jefferson Center	31	52

Coesse Contingent Sees Tourney Comeback

—Courtesy of The Journal-Gazette

Coesse hopes to win at least one game in the coming meet, and the Indians' season record of eight wins and 10 losses indicates that the Indians may find their hopes answered next week. First row, left to right: Richard Gipe, Wayne Butler, Herbert Wood, and Paul Wood. Second row, Donald Culbertson, Lyle Mowery, Stephen Rehm, Glenn DePoy, and Gerald Crawford. Third row, Manager Burton Boermert, Coach Charles E. Day, Paul Wheery, Eugene Cook, Robert Auer, and Principal Thomas D. Boardman.

Coesse Forms GAA

To encourage the participation of girls in athletics, a local Girls' Athletic Association has been organized at Coesse High School. Intramural sports which the girls participate in include basketball, softball, and track. Miss Burdena Voigt has charge of girls' athletics.

Classmates Of Coesse Players Not Downhearted About Team's Chances

As we entered Coesse, the general opinion we received was, "Coesse Brings Home the Bacon." The town of Coesse is very small; but, with several veterans back from last year's squad, they are in to cause plenty of trouble in this year's tournament. The students have high hopes for the team and they are sure they can improve the record they had in last year's tournament. Coesse's Indians have been practicing hard lately and have high hopes to upset other favorites.

Below are some of the opinions of classmates as to how Coesse will come out:

Alta Culbertson: It is all according to the team they draw. If they are lucky they may win their first game at least.

Frances Scott: Pretty good. Depends on who they draw.

Fern DeFretes: I guess they have a pretty good chance.

Jack Harper: I don't know. I believe they have a pretty fair chance, but I hope we win.

Gerry Lincoln: I think the team has a good chance. We have a good clean team.

Thomas D. Boardman, principal: It is just according to whom we draw.

Herbert Wood: No matter which one they draw, I think we have a team that will put up a good fight.

Ed Lotz: I don't expect the team to win but they will give them a run for their money.

Phyllis Stickler: I think they have a pretty good chance because they are good sports about everything.

Evelyn Schrader: They have a swell chance to win.

Faye Hodson: He can who thinks he can, and our boys have the spirit.

Marjorie Auer: I think we have a pretty good team but we also will have some stiff competition.

William Growcock: I imagine if they draw one of the county teams they will win.

Jean Larimore: I think if they play as hard as they did in the county tournament they will get pretty far.

Jean Miller: We have done pretty well so far and I hope our luck continues.

Beatrice Trimmer: I think if they fight hard enough, they'll win.

Wilma Kerch: I think they will win. Katherine Briggs: We may and we may not have a chance.

Gerald Crawford: We have a good coach and we will fight through to the finish.

Glenn DePoi: If we draw one of the Allen county teams, we will give them a good fight. If we draw North Side, we will give them some good competition.

Burk Berwert: We are as good as the ones in our class. We can beat any school in our class and give the larger schools some keen competition.

Bob Auer: It depends on whom we draw. We will give them a good fight—that's all I know.

Dan Culbertson: We have a pretty good chance. We should win at least a game or two.

Paul Wherry: Well, we have a good team and if we get in there and fight we may go a long ways.

Lyle Noray: I don't know what to say. Just so we don't get a Fort Wayne team, especially North Side. We had them last year.

Steve Rehm: We'll be there and top them all the way around. We will do the best we can regardless of whom we get.

Red Blouses, Skirts Will Identify Yell Leaders Of Eagles

"We've got a swell team, a grand Boosters Club and a cheering section that has a lot of pep," stated Ileen Arnold and Lenadee Wilson, cheerleaders of Coesse High School.

Ilene, who is a brunette, and Lenadee, a blonde, wear red long sleeved blouses and red skirts when leading yells.

Pep sessions are usually held every week and the girls attend every game. More than eighteen yells contribute to Coesse's school spirit.

Smithmen Win County Crown For First Time

Squad Loses Three Out of Nine-teen Tilts In Thrilling Campaign

Warriors Capture First Nine Games

Coach Smith's Crew Is Well Supported By Students, Outsiders

Woodburn's Warriors are definitely stamped as one of the four teams to whip for the sectional crown. It has been a long time since any rural contingent has sealed the winning ladder in sectional play, but a very impressive season record and a county title give the Warriors of Scott Smith the confidence to accomplish such a feat.

The Woodburn basketballers have dropped but three games of nineteen played. Of the trio of losses, only one was lost to an out-of-county foe. Coach Scott Smith started the season with a squad of seventeen boys, and Woodburn fans were more than jubilant when their hardwood heroes brought home the first title to the community. With such a fine record, the fans and players remain hopeful of an upset title win.

The Blue and White started the campaign in a blaze of glory, winning nine straight tilts. Feature wins in the early streak included decisions over Hoagland, New Haven, and Elmhurst. Coach Smith's crew downed the Wildcats of Hoagland by a 32-to-19 count, holding the high scoring Hisner brothers well in check.

Woodburn later travelled to New Haven and thumped the host quintet, 41 to 28. The Bulldogs had boasted a record of six wins in seven frays before this loss to the Warriors. The county titlists impressively knocked off an unpredictable Elmhurst aggregation by a 32 to 26 score. Other wins in the nine game streak were recorded over St. Joe, Harlan, Arcola, Spencerville, and Monroeville.

Harlan's Hawks were responsible for ending the victory string. Coach Estel Cook's basketballers upset the high riding champions by a 28 to 19 margin.

In their second game of 1941, the Blue and White machine bowed to Huntington, 29 to 28. Coach George Fryback's Wildcats rallied in this tussle to upset the county pace setters, and the Warriors dropped the decision in the final 10 seconds of play.

One more decisive victory followed before the Smithmen fell before the maroon and white cagemen of Concordia High School. The local cadets eked out a 28 to 26 overtime win in this battle.

After the loss to Concordia, the Woodburn team set out to capture its first county title. And the Warriors accomplished their goal, winning four straight games and the county trophy for cage supremacy. In the first round of the meet, the champs halted the defending titlists from Leo by a 32 to 28 score. Next the Warriors downed Harlan, 22 to 13.

In the semi-final round Arcola's hapless Aces bowed to the blue and white, by 38 to 31. Overcoming Huntington's puzzling zone defense with an impressive fast break style of play, the Warriors copped the county laurels from the Wildcats by a 37 to 22 tally.

Following the tourney the Woodburn netters captured hardwood frays from Elmhurst, Monroeville, Lafayette Central, and St. Joe.

The Warriors piled up 754 markers during the season, while their opponents managed but 451 scores. These figures give the Warriors an average win margin of 15 points. The season record follows:

Woodburn 32, Hoagland 19
Woodburn 29, St. Joe 29
Woodburn 29, Harlan 25
Woodburn 61, Arcola 13
Woodburn 32, Elmhurst 26
Woodburn 43, Jefferson Center 22
Woodburn 48, Spencerville 19
Woodburn 47, Monroeville 22
Woodburn 44, New Haven 28
Woodburn 19, Harlan 28
Woodburn 47, Arcola 11

Fans Regard Warriors As Title Contenders

—Courtesy of The News-Sentinel

Meet The Warriors—

Walter Hostettler — Better known around Woodburn as "Hossy". He has had three brothers who were varsity basketballers at his alma mater. As for the girls, Hossy years for Rosie Blackerwall in New Haven.

Art Kroemer — Just call him "Art". He is the tallest member of the team, towering six feet and one inch in height. Tosses the one-handers with his left hand. New Haven's Jean Federspiel draws the affections of this tall Warrior.

Vergil Hoepfner—His friends call him "Bergie". He is the leading scorer of his team. Two years ago he was singled out as the "midget" of the Fort Wayne sectional meet. A certain Hildegarde Kearnert keeps Vergil toeing the mark.

Eugene Poisel—"Gene" or "Red". He is the hardest worker on the squad. Does not care for the women. Studies hard.

Bob Stauffer—Called "Mike". Coach Smith names Stauffer as the clown of the team. Bob likes all the girls.

Harry Meyer—One of the leading scorers in the county. He is the drug store clerk of the team. Harry goes for Delores Shink, a really good-looking girl.

Junior Baker—Call Junior by the name of just plain "Bake". He has been on the team only during his senior year. Bake's love life seems to center about sophomore Betty Field.

Wyburn Baker—His teammates call him "Wybe". He is the pepper-pot of the team. Smallest on squad. It seems that Wyburn will only reveal that his love centers around a blonde junior.

Melvin Gerbers—known as "Mel". He possesses the biggest hands on the squad. Cousin of Jim Gerbers. He goes for Rosie, a sophomore beauty.

James Gerbers—Call him "Jim" for short. He has two distinguishing characteristics which separate him from the rest of the team: he is the lankiest member of the squad, and he has the biggest feet. Jim, as cousin Mel, yearns for a sophomore doll.

A kiss is: a noun, but it is generally used as a conjunction. It is never declined and is more common than proper. It is not very singular, in that it is usually used in the plural—anyway, it agrees with men.

Woodburn Coach, Scott Smith, Gains Fame By Capturing County Net Title

Winning a county championship has not only brought fame to the community of Woodburn, but the titular honors have also elevated Coach Scott Smith to the pinnacle of coaching fame. Scott was born and raised in Huntington county, claiming schools in and about Huntington for his primary education.

After graduating from high school, the tutor of the rural titlists entered nearby Huntington College. While enrolled for two years at this school, he participated in the major sports offered to all students. Not finding the college at Huntington suitable to equip him with the necessities for a coaching career, Scott enrolled and was graduated from Manchester College.

As he was ineligible because of the transfer between the schools, the present Warrior mentor was confined to limiting his actions to the gym classes and to the intramural sports program.

Unlike most coaches, Mr. Smith does not go in for refereeing as a sideline to his coaching career.

Last year Coach Smith enjoyed a fairly good season at Woodburn, building a rangy five which won ten tilts while losing eight. The Warriors did not win a game in tourney play under Smith in 1940; but in 1941, the situation was decidedly reversed as the Woodburn basketballers annexed four easy victories and the county crown.

As to the chances of the Warriors in the approaching tournament games, Mr. Smith said, "We'll do our best to win, taking each game as it comes." This phrase should be very well carried out, as Scott Smith has already demonstrated his right to be called Allen County's "Canny Scott" by building a title five from but seventeen raw recruits.

Warrior Fans Are Confident Of Victory In Sectional Games

If the advance enthusiasm of the Woodburn students may be taken as any criterion to the outcome of the sectional, the tourney officials should concede the meet to the Warriors of Scott Smith. One title in thirty-five years is the record of the Woodburn teams, but seemingly this one titular campaign is ready to blossom into further awards. Here are the opinions of the students concerning the chances of the Warriors in the sectional tournament:

Walter Stevensen: The Warriors are on the war path, seeking Fort Wayne scalps.

Glen Fuelling: They're sure to win! Margaret Rodenbeck: We have Warriors, not papooses!

Janet Sweet: They will prove to be real champions. Dolly Fuelling: I hope for the championship.

Ferne Stucky: Sure, we'll win. Clara Knehnert: On to State!!! Erner Roemer: They're headed for the sectional crown.

Betty Carpenter: I have great faith in the ability of the Warriors to win the tourney.

Mary Applegate: We have as much of a chance as the other county teams. Glenn Longardner: Even if they don't win, they will go a long way.

Donald Witte: The boys are good. They are great players and may come out on top.

Walter Bruns: The players won't let us down.

Emerald Gerig: I believe that the boys may win if they try hard enough.

On Willie's return from his first dancing lesson, his Aunt Amelia inquired, "Well, Willie, how do you like your dancing lesson?"

"Oh," he replied, "It's easy. All you have to do is turn around and keep wiping your feet".

Woodburn Boasts Of Modern Gym

Warriors Have Best Equipped Hardwood In County; Fans Enthusiastic About Team

Woodburn High School is equipped with one of the best gymnasiums in the county. The Warrior hardwood, although measuring a bit below the normal measurements of 60-by-45 feet, is very well lined and conditioned for basketball and other sports.

The hardwood is located directly in the center of the Woodburn schoolhouse, and the gym is surrounded by the various school departments. Boys' and girls' lockers are provided for the use of those participating in the gym activities. About 300 fans have been thronging into the court of the county champs this year. It is estimated that the gym has been filled more to capacity during this year than any preceding year since its erection in 1926.

As in true of most of the modern gyms, the Warrior hardwood is equipped with an electric scoreboard, glass backboards, and rows of sturdy seats for the onlookers.

Warriors Given Letter Sweaters

Having Won County Crown, Ten Squad Members Receive Special Awards

All of the ten members of the Woodburn squad which captured the county crown have been awarded letter sweaters. Unlike most schools, Woodburn does not ordinarily give both the sweater and the letter. In former years the school purchased the letter and the athlete furnished the sweater or jacket.

But this year, with the annexing of the county cage trophy, the Warriors deserved more than mere letters for their hard work. Coach Scott Smith and Principal G. C. Henderson consented to present each of the ten members of the title squad with a letter sweater as a permanent remembrance of the title of 1941. Those boys who have received the coveted awards are Walter Hostettler, Eugene Poisel, Bob Stauffer, Art Groemer, Vergil Hoepfner, Harry Meyer, Junior Baker, Wyburn Baker, Melvin Gerbers, and Jim Gerbers.

Huntertown Wildcats Can Boast Passably Good Season

Wildcats Come In Second In County Match

Victorious In Majority Of Games Played Against Teams In Allen County

Defeated Champs During Season

Eked Out 29-to-28 Victory Over Woodburn Warriors; Also Dropped New Haven

Coach George Fryback's Wildcats of Huntertown enter the Summit City sectional with the hope of forwarding their fine tournament record. For the Wildcats held the runner-up position in the county tournament.

In regular season play the Wildcats won nine games and dropped eleven battles. With sister fives from Allen county, the Hunters enjoyed a record of seven wins and six defeats. In tussles with out-of-county quintets, the Wildcats lost seven games and won but two.

The charges of George Fryback have recorded good victories over such highly regarded teams as Butler, Garrett, Avilla, and Churubusco. Avilla's Cubs dropped the Wildcats twice by three-point margins, 27 to 24 and 31 to 28. Butler took the wind out of the Cats by a 29-to-13 count. In early February both Garrett and Churubusco swamped the Hunters by wide margins. Garrett trounced the Allen County runner-ups by a 41-to-27 tally, and Churubusco drubbed the same club by a score of 51 to 31.

On the other side of the ledger, the Wildcats boast of two outstanding victories. The Frybackmen defeated the county champions, the Woodburn Warriors, by a 29-to-28 count. The Hunters took the measure of New Haven, 32 to 25. Season summary:

Huntertown 13, Butler 29

Huntertown Team Favors Blue, North Even In Tourney

Huntertown's Wildcats have this to say about the tournament:

Wayne Johnson, Guard: Central will win the tournament. Huntertown will win over the county teams.

Joe Warner, Forward: North Side will win the county tournament. If the breaks are all right Huntertown will go on through the tournament beyond the county tourney.

Louis Smith, Guard: Central will win the tourney. Huntertown will beat all but Woodburn.

Virgil Herdman: North Side will win the tournament. Huntertown will win two games regardless of the draw.

Floyd Herdman: North Side will win the tournament this year. Huntertown will win at least two games.

Paul Fletcher: Huntertown will go quite a ways in the tournament if the breaks are on their side. If Huntertown plays a city team they will lose the first game.

Lee Hixon: North Side will win the tournament. Huntertown is the best of any of the county teams.

Jim McComb: Huntertown has the best team.

Dick Byerley: Huntertown will win the sectional tourney, because it is the best town in Perry township.

Mart Johnson: Central will win the tourney. Huntertown will get as far as the semi-finals.

John Rigan: Central will win the tournament but it will be a close decision, between North Side and Central. Huntertown will be in the latter part of the tournament and will play a good brand of ball.

Jack Gideon: Central will win. Huntertown will give them a good run for the tournament.

Bill Leininger: Central will win. Huntertown will go as far as the semi-finals.

Huntertowners Win Five Games

Fall Before The Out-Of-County Teams In Most Of Cases

Huntertown's Wildcats started out the season in a rather unfashionable style by falling before Butler 29-11. Arcola's Aces, next in line, fell before the Gold 38-16. The Leo Lions then came along to win over the Wildcats 28-19. For the next game St. Joe Valley Pickles conquered them 33-32 in a close game. Avilla proved too tough for the Huntertown boys and the Wildcats fell before them 27-24. Harlan Hawks were not quite tough enough and Huntertown come out on top after a hard battle 19-15.

With a medium record the Wildcats defeated the Elmhurst Trojans 36-28. Wolf Lake then lost to them 36-27. For the second time this year the Leo Lions conquered them 29-22. The Hoagland Wildcats then lost a close one to the Huntertown boys 27-26. The Monroeville Cubs then came along to turn the tables on the Huntertown Wildcats and took them into camp 30-29.

County Champs Win

The county champs, the Woodburn Warriors, took the Huntertowners 28-22. New Haven then absorbed a 30-28 setback and Rome City lost to them 30-12.

Wildcats Play Softball

The Huntertown Wildcats play softball in place of football. In other words while the Fort Wayne high schools are playing football, the county schools play softball. Softball also takes the place of track.

Huntertown's softball record is as follows:

Huntertown 6—Monroeville 7
Huntertown 9—Woodburn 10
Huntertown 12—Hoagland 17
Huntertown 2—New Haven 3

Lillian: What is the difference between a nickel and a dime?

Charlotte: I don't know, but I guess it must be the size.

Lillian: You're wrong there. The difference between them is that the dime has more 'sense' than the nickel.

Howard Smith Is Coach Of Huntertown Wildcats

The Huntertown Wildcat coach, Howard Smith, has been coaching basketball, track, and baseball for ten years and four years were spent coaching at Huntertown.

Smith attended high school at Atwood, Indiana. While attending high school, he played on their basketball team. This team won the county championship and sectionals in 1927. Howard Smith went to Manchester College and while there participated in football and basketball. He was a member of the college football team which won the Indiana Secondary Football Championship.

Health, safety, and history are the other subjects which he teaches at Huntertown.

"I think I have a good ball club and a nice bunch of boys", stated Smith.

Three Seniors, Four Juniors And Three Sophs Compose Gold's Basketball Team

It would often be interesting to know a few facts about those stars that play in those tourney games. One hears many details about the players but not those characteristics which one gets when he talks to the boys themselves. We found a number of interesting anecdotes which we're sure you will enjoy. Here are some facts about the varsity players for the Huntertown Wildcats.

Jim McComb—A 17-year-old senior, he is playing his second year on the squad. Besides playing softball, his hobby is making model airplanes. His favorite subject is chemistry and his girl friend is Lois Houser.

Avon Perry—A junior, 18 years of age, is playing his second year on the varsity. His only other sport is softball. His friends tell us that his favorite subject is assembly and that he just loves his sleep. His nickname is "Baby Avon" which probably pleases his girl friend, Barbara Gorman.

Marlow Gump—Also a junior who is 16 and playing his first year on the team. Softball is his extra sport while he likes history the best of his subjects. "Pete" is the nickname while the "gal of his eye" is Vivian Balliet. His teammates declare that he delights in eating cream puffs.

Dick Byerley—This boy is a sophomore only 15 years old who is playing his first year on the tournament squad. He plays softball and likes English the best of his studies.

Mart Johnson—An 18-year-old senior playing his second year for Huntertown's Wildcat varsity. He also plays softball and enjoys English very much. The boys and girls call him "High."

Jack Gideon — A sophomore, 16 years old, is playing his first year for the sectional. Softball is his extra sport and he really likes public speaking. The name "Hans" seems to fit him very well. He "kinda" goes for Barbara Botts and in his spare mo-

Central, Leo, North Side Are Listed In Lead, Although Others Fight Hard

When Huntertown's squad goes on to the hardwood in sectional competition, they will have a lot of loyal rooters behind them even though most of the Huntertown fans believe that one of the city teams will take the honors. But in most of them, there is a hope which might prove valuable to the spirit of the team.

Here is what some Wildcat rooters have to say about the sectionals and their probable outcome:

Thelma Opliger: I think that Central has just as good a chance as any other team.

Easter Freeman: I think Central will take the sectionals, and, if they do, they'll go pretty far to state.

ments between seeing Barbara and playing basketball, he likes reading.

Bill Fitch — A 17-year-old senior who is playing on the Huntertown varsity for the second time at sectionals is also a softball player. He likes math and Kate Dunten, is called "Big Bill", and lives for eating and sleeping.

John Ryan—"Johnny" as he is called, is a 16-year-old junior playing his first year. He also plays softball and likes "Latin a lot." "Johnny" says he has a fine girl by the name of Rita Fough.

Bill Leininger—A junior, 16 years of age, is playing for the Gold for the first year. On the side he plays softball and really enjoys his geometry. "Leno" doesn't have any particular girl, but says he "loves 'em all." He really likes his sleep also.

Gene Wakeland—"Cozy," as he is nicknamed, is only a sophomore and is 15 years old. He is playing his first year on the varsity along with a little softball. He loves history, "all the girls," and eats all the time.

Marguerite Pratt: I think that Central will win with North Side coming in at second place.

Audrey Reeder: Woodburn will win after taking out North Side.

Virginia Christlub: Leo will win out over Huntertown in the finals by a score of 13 to 3.

Melvin Arnold: I think North Side has as good a chance as any with Central running a close second.

Paul Johnson: I think Huntertown will win over the county teams but the finals will be between North Side and Central.

Kenneth Repine: I haven't the least idea of who will win the sectional as I haven't been paying much attention to it. But I will be cheering for Huntertown although I don't believe they have much chance.

Walter Hatch: Huntertown's team has got it in them and can put it over with the help of the yells of the Huntertown cheering section.

Scientific fact—cars must be wonderful magnets. This fact is based on the known fact that they attract not only friends but also every stray girl in the school.

Joe: Do you know how to make anti-freeze?

Harry: No.

Joe: Hide her red flannels.

Waiter: Sir, when you eat here you needn't dust off the plate.

Customer: Beg pardon, force of habit, I'm an umpire.

Tourney Issues Go To 5,000 Fans

Tigers, Archers, Redskins Assist In Publishing Annual Twenty-Page Paper

Presses were roaring as a twenty-page tournament issue went to press for the benefit of approximately 5,000 basketball fans under the direction of a combined staff of North Side, Central, and South Side students. The major staff members are Bob Robinson, Bob Young, Jane Evans, Bob Thornhill, and Wilbur Philo.

This year the procedure for putting out this annual paper was as follows: Reporters were sent to each of the sixteen schools participating in the net meet, with instructions to interview the players, coaches, and fans of that school.

The Times staff sent Louis Hallenstein, Sam Bacon, John Bonis, Franklin Neff, Karl Eberly, Joel Salom, Wayne Bechtel, Don Parkinson, Bill McNulty, Rebecca Abbott, Betty Stump, Alene Loeser, Pat Sanford, Jean Weil, Margaret Kuntz, Barbara Cross, Marjorie Sheldon, Wanda Elter, Mary Ellen Barrett, Virginia Gray, Laura Nahrwald, Pat Davidson, Katherine Bultemeier, Martha Moelering, and Opal Springer to collect information from Elmhurst, Woodburn, Monroeville, New Haven, and Hoagland.

From the Northerner staff went Stan Prince, Bernie Frankenstein, Virginia Vandenberg, Arlene Baltzi, Gordon Miller. Central sent John Trier, Paul Prill, Jack Sturm, Gale Wisner, Moses Selby, Clifford Simon, Suzanne Collias, Frank Krider, Maxine Schultz, Eileen Bohde, Phyllis Bachman, Marcella Bultemeier, Lavin Rohde, Lucia Reinhold, and Mary Alice Carey.

Along with the reporters went the advertising solicitors to get ads from the various stores and filling stations in these towns wanting to wish their respective teams good luck. South Side's business staff consisted of Tompkins Hall, Delores Reiter, Martha Jane Krauskopf, Rose Etha Brazy, Katherine Scholer, Marilyn McGuire, Joan Cox, Bob Brooks, Joan Dutterer, Peggy Greaney, Mimi Dunbar, Martha Cash.

The Northerner's business staff consisted of Robert Thornhill, Jane Evans, Bob Bayer, Gayle Scott, Laurie Eberbach, and Fahma North. Central sent out the following solicitors: Wilbur Philo, Harry Meads, Arthur Day, Bill Watterson, James Pritchard, Bill Becker, Stanley Love, Russell Meads, Ansel Hirsch, Beatrice Aldred, Ann Bailey, and Delores Gebhard and Deloris Glick.

After all the material was collected it went through the hands of the copy staff after which it went to the presses. Following the printing came the gigantic task of folding and inserting these same 5,000 papers. Regular subscribers of the high schools receive these issues free. Others must pay 10 cents for them. They are being sold at each session of the tourney.

Oh What We Go Through To Get In Shape For Tourney

Having hopes of winning the boys' division crown of the E. J. Hamilton Ping Pong tourney (I haven't seen the other contestants yet, but I am sure $2 apiece will make them agree with me), I decided to brush up on the game. I ventured downstairs to our ping pong table which was covered with dust and other things, only to find that all of the balls were broken. Not being in a position financially to replace them, I accepted Fate's dictates and practiced with a cracked ball.

I used the one good paddle, letting my opponents have the wooden or sandpaper ones. The game went along very smoothly, and after ten minutes of play, the score was one to nothing. No, it wasn't in my favor.

The low score was not due to the fact that we were losing the game, but that we were forever losing the ball. After much smooth (?) playing, I ran into a misfortune, the table to be exact. One of us had to come out different, and it happened that the table got the worst end of the bargain. The leg broke and our game ended abruptly.

I decided not to let this little accident spoil my plans, so the next Saturday, I went down to the Community Center to resume my playing. I was alone and so I asked one of the boys who was down there to play with me. (I didn't think he was very good.) He suggested that the loser pay for the games. This didn't sound very good to me because I was a very poor player.

We finally began our game. Right away he jumped into a five to nothing lead. Still I was not discouraged. Slowly and surely I crept up on him. But he still kept a slight lead on me. When it looked like all hope was gone, I staged a brilliant rally, but it was not brilliant enough.

I was determined to win the next game and staged rally after rally and finally emerged the victor. (Was I surprised? He must have had pity on me!) Well, anyway, I felt I had improved. I told my opponent that I would play just one more game with him. He played his hardest and so did I. His hardest, however, was harder than my hardest.

To redeem myself, I played him again, and this time I resolved to play cool, consistent, cunning ping pong. My plan worked and I had little trouble in beating him. After that night I was a much smarter player. And finally, after many such nights at the game, I improved considerably.

Although I feel myself capable of entering the tourney, I still go down to the Community Center once a week to brush up on my game. This is the trouble I have to go through to even enter the tournament. What will I have to do to win it???

than happy to find someone for you to fight. The day then ended, at least for me. Casualty: one black eye.

Saturday, March 1
I spent the morning holding an ice pack on my eye. I felt better at noon, so I staggered over to North Side in the afternoon. I found the gang and was doing fine until one of the boys decided that he wanted a coke; and, of course, about six of the other fellows decided they wanted one, too. About five minutes later he came stumbling up the stairs with ice cream bars sticking out of every pocket and two cokes in each hand.

"Oops! I slipped!" screamed the carrier. The first thing I knew, coke was streaming down my back like Niagara Falls, and there was an ice cream bar floating with it.

"Yip!" I hollered, "I'm freezing to death." After jumping around like a dog with the fleas, I finally rescued the bar, emptied the coke out of my pockets, and sat down to enjoy the rest of the games. Casualty: one bad cold.

This tournament came to an end, and I am now waiting for the regionals.

Warrior Yell Leaders Increase Game Spirit

Two familiar figures have been noticeable at all of the Woodburn battles this year. This duo represents the cheering staff of Darlene Eby and John Korte. Both Darlene and John have directed the Warrior fans in the regular season routines and in the tournament yells. The yell leaders are clad in attractive suits of blue and white. A blue jacket of one of the players is worn above a pair of white slacks to form the suit.

Cheering and pep have been two of the major factors which have given the Woodburn boys a great season. Both of the cheerleaders have hopes of increasing this enthusiasm in the sectional; for they have realized the value of good, coordinated cheering.

"Magazine Princess" Is Hoagland Operetta

"Magazine Princess", an operetta, was presented by the Glee Club of Hoagland High School in the gym on February 12. The two most important characters were portrayed by Mary Louise Yousse and Leuman Wittern. The art classes made all the scenery.

Later on this semester all eight grades will put on an operetta, and a junior play is also scheduled.

Donald Meyer Conducts Twenty-Three Piece Band

The Coesse High School band, which is in its first year, is made up of twenty-three members. The band, under the direction of Mr. Donald Meyer, has played at several of the games, at three Parent-Teacher Association programs, and at all yell practices.

Three Boys Lead North Siders In Their Yells

Leading the Redskin fans in their yells is the duty of Johnny Walker, Bob Jackson, and Norm Krieger, North Side cheer leaders. Harold Towsley performs acrobatic stunts to accompany the yells.

The boys wear red and white suits with the exception of Towsley, who wears a white uniform.

Tickets Allotted For Sectionals

Schools Receive Tickets For 44 Per Cent Of Student Enrollment

Tickets for the sectional tournament were distributed in the same way as last year. The number of students in the sixteen schools which are to play at North Side's gym were added together, and that total was compared with the seating capacity of the North Side gym.

Those in charge of the distribution of tickets took 44 per cent of the enrollment of each school and gave them that number of tickets.

Following are listed the 16 schools and the number of tickets each received: Arcola, 45; Coesse, 35; Central, 1017; Columbia City, 154; Elmhurst, 166; Harlan, 54; Hoagland, 69; Huntertown, 125; Jefferson Center, 39; Lafayette Central, 38; Leo, 74; Monroeville, 59; New Haven, 175; North Side, 744; South Side, 866; and Woodburn, 56.

Garnes, Gates Are Recent Additions As Sports Announcers

All of the fifteen sectional tournament games to be played at North Side will be broadcast over station WGL by radio-casters Hiliard Gates and Clarence Garnes. Last year John Hackett and Neal Seales covered the battles, but the local Westinghouse stations have had a change in staff during the past cage campaign.

Searles left for an eastern station, and John Hackett moved to a new set-up in Dayton, Ohio. Hiliard Gates moved here last summer from Muskegon, Michigan. Gates has become very popular with those who receive their basketball via the wires, for the new head of WGL sports staff has introduced a new and different style of broadcasting to the Fort Wayne sports public.

Hiliard Gates airs the "Sports Of All Stars" show heard at 5:45 o'clock each evening.

Clarence Garnes came to the Summit City only one month ago and has some big shoes to fill, for he is carrying on where John Hackett departed. Clarence formerly worked for a station in Kansas City, where one of his greatest pleasures came from broadcasting the Big Six Conference play-offs last year.

Mr. Garnes conducts the "Sports Nightcap" radio program heard at 10:10 o'clock each evening. Both of the newcomers like Indiana basketball, and especially the game as it is played in Fort Wayne. The local radio-casters will also carry play-by-play accounts of the regional, semi-final, and final meets.

Polish Remover Is Very Good Substitute For Turpentine, Staff

Paint, paint, EVERYWHERE, and not a drop of turpentine. Oh well, who said that fingernail polish remover couldn't be used in a dozen different ways? Or was it a hairpin? Anyway, as a painter of amateur standing, I can certainly sympathize with any of youse guys and gals who so erringly think that painting anything but the broad side of a barn is small potatoes. I know. I helped to paint the garage once, but when I then tackled a measly little stand, well—!&!!—

It all started out on a balmy, wintry day. I decided to go down to the basement, so as to take advantage of the good, fresh, clean air, and TRY my hand at painting. After knocking over a dozen and one cans of paint until I found the right one, and then groping for a paint brush, I was ready to start. Maybe I did end up with a brush that sheds like an angora sweater. So what? (Boy, I sure found out "what" later.)

The paint was supposed to be ivory color, but it turned out to be a sickly, ghastly brownish-black, after I started putting it on. (Hm-m-m, must have been the small brother's influence on two different colored cans of paint.) Well, the top wasn't bad, as bad goes, and I was sailing along right smooth when "plopp" the paint brush went smack on the floor. But did that dismay me? NO! I promptly proceeded on, but the brush had apparently acquired a coat of dirt. (All right, so the floor ain't clean.)

Well, I thought that everything was just fine, but—when I looked at it a little later I found that all the dents and scratches, which my brother had lovingly put in it, didn't cover up so well. So-o-o-o naturally I went over it again, but then it looked all streaked. The sides were next in line and that was easy, but after it had all dried, there were wavy little lines all along the top where the paint had run. I almost forgot to mention, too, this is where I found all the hairs from the brush plastered all over in beautiful patterns. But I hadn't seen anything yet. Did you ever try to paint legs that were half round and half square, especially when the light isn't very good? The old coat of paint shows through and then you can't see clear around it, and then your drooping hair alights in the freshly painted top. I think that "I'll Never Smile Again" will be my theme song from now on. And me with a date too! My reverie was broken by a gentle call from mama, saying that lunch was ready. That's where the polish remover comes in. I had to be a little presentable, so that I wouldn't scare grandma to death, being as this is her first visit with us for ages. I discovered that the remover would work until I could get some turpentine.

I finally choked down my lunch and got the last two legs done, and was I tired. I gracefully (ha, ha) tripped, and I do mean tripped, cause I was so tired, upstairs and flopped into bed. Oh, oh! What was that? Just a gentle prod in the ribs to remind me that I didn't close up the paint can or put the brush in some turpentine. There I was, no turpentine, no polish remover, no nothing! Oh well, here is where darling little brother comes in handy, cause I ended up by bribing him to go to the store for some—turpentine? Nope, fingernail polish remover. After all I could use that for more than one purpose.

Sixteen Schools Get Net Ducats

Forty-Four Per Cent Of School Enrollment Is Basis For Ticket Distribution

Tickets for the sectional tournament have been distributed to the sixteen schools which are to play at North Side.

The same method of distribution of tickets has been used this year as the one used last year. That is, the number of students in the schools are added together to see how the total compares with the seating capacity of the North Side gym. After this comparison was made, the people in charge of the sale of tickets took forty-four per cent of the enrollment of each school and gave them that number of tickets.

Below are listed the sixteen schools which are to play at North Side and the number of tickets each received: Arcola, 45; Coesse, 35; Central, 1017; Columbia City, 154; Elmhurst, 166; Harlan, 54; Hoagland, 69; Huntertown, 125; Jefferson Center, 38; Lafayette Central, 38; Leo, 74; Monroeville, 59; New Haven, 175; North Side, 744; South Side, 866; and Woodburn, 56.

Basketball Profit Distribution Stated

Expenses Are Paid, Participating Schools Share Profits; IHSAA Given Report

With 777 Indiana basketball teams participating in the 1941 net tourney, expenses will be high and are to come from the sale of tickets. In the thirty-seventh annual handbook of the Indiana High School Athletic Association, several explanations of how the profits of the tourney are distributed.

All legitimate expenses, such as meals, officials, except for transportation and lodging, are to be paid from the gross receipts if sufficient. If gross receipts are not sufficient, legitimate expenses shall be considered an obligation of the Center Principal.

The Center High School will receive $100. The transportation and lodging will be paid. The IHSAA will receive one per cent of the fifth balance. One-half of the sixth balance shall be divided pro-rata among the participating schools, with the Center School sharing. One-half of the sixth balance shall be divided on the basis of season ticket sales in the local communities on or before 5 o'clock, Thursday, February 29. Season tickets sold after this hour and date can not be counted in finding the share of any one school. Keep the two lists separate at all times.

The Board of Control shall pass on all reports by the Center High School and all reports by the participating schools. The Center School will furnish a complete financial report to the IHSAA and to each participating school.

South Side Archers Are Rated As Potent Tourney Team

Four Straight Tourney Titles Is Archers' Aim

Up-and-down Record Of Kelly Klads Does Not Discourage Hopes Of Fans

12 Losses, 6 Wins Record This Year

Impressive Showing Revealed In Games Against Strongest Teams In State

"All good things come in bunches of threes," so goes an ancient adage. But Coach Burl Friddle's Archers are not giving any heed to this idea, for the South Siders are hoping to annex their fourth successive sectional crown.

The Kelly Klads have been up and down this year, never looking especially impressive on two successive evenings. This is the first meet since 1938 in which the Archers have not been accorded the favorites role. Boasting a season card of 12 losses and 6 wins, the Friddlemen enter the tourney with no record at stake and another possible title in the offing.

At the start of the year, fans and experts alike hailed the charges of Burl Friddle as green, yet potent. The Archers have looked green and inexperienced, but they have shown plenty of spark and drive. South Side opened the campaign at Kendallville, whipping the host Comets by a 35-to-32 count.

Bluffton, Auburn, Crawfordsville, and Muncie Burris turned back the Kellys in their next four games. Burris' Owls turned in the most impressive showing of the quartet, drubbing the Green and White by a 49-to-30 score on the big Ball State hardwood at Muncie.

After dropping these four tussles, the Archers defeated Gary Horace Mann, 31 to 24. Two city fives dropped the Green in their next two battles. Coach John Levick's Irishmen from Central Catholic thumped the Archers, 33 to 29, and the Redskins of North Side downed the defending champs by a 39-to-32 tally. Following the loss at North Side, the host Friddlemen bowed to a tough southern five from Huntington by a 42-to-34 score.

At this writing, the Archers had chalked up four wins and five losses during the second half of their seasonal play. The Green whipped Elwood, Connersville, Hartford City, and North Side. Froebel, Kokomo, Huntington took the measure of the Archers in single frays; Central dropped the Archers twice during the second half of the campaign.

In competition with city five, the South Siders lost four tilts and won but a single battle over North Side. Foreign aggregations have dropped the Friddlemen six times, while the Kelly Klads hold seven wins over outside foes. Here is the season record of the Green and White:

- S. S. 35, Kendallville 32
- S. S. 28, Bluffton 32
- S. S. 17, Auburn 28
- S. S. 31, Crawfordsville 37
- S. S. 30, Muncie Burris 49
- S. S. 31, Horace Mann 24
- S. S. 29, Central Catholic 33
- S. S. 32, North Side 39
- S. S. 34, Huntington 42
- S. S. 26, Hartford City 23

In the short paragraphs following, I have attempted to give some interesting facts about each of the members who will probably form the South Side tourney squad. Here goes:

Bob Hines—When a ball player can continually stand out in all competition, he is regarded as a "one in a million" performer. Such is Captain Bob Hines. All experts and fans alike agree that Bob has been responsible for guiding a comparatively green team into a well-working cage machine. How many of you remember Ralph Hamilton's 22-point spurge during the blackout at Muncie last year? Well, it was the present Kelly captain who was responsible for calling those plays and feeding the ball to Ralph. Bob has had trouble hitting consistently this year, but I imagine that the Archer floor leader will really start sniping in the sectional. Being an outstanding student in addition to being a star performer on the court, Bob is regarded by all local fans as the ideal athlete.

Gus Feistkorn—Formerly known as Charles or Chuck Feistkorn, it seems that chum Chuck Close has renamed Feistkorn with the moniker of Gus. In grade school, Gus played with the Harrison Hill five which won the city title. As a freshman and sophomore along with the lanky southern forward, I was firmly given the impression by Gus himself that he was going to make the varsity cage team. Last year Feistkorn was a reserve on the team which fell before Mitchell. But this season, Gus has been carrying the scoring burden for the first five. On two evenings this year, Feistkorn has had high scoring sprees, hitting fourteen markers against both Muncie Burris and Elwood. Wearing specially made basketball glasses, Gus is not handicapped in any way on the court. As far as to the Archers' chances in the coming tournament, Gus said, "We'll do our best to win that sectional, and with a break in the draw I think we have a good chance."

Ralph Shimer—Better known as "Chick", this popular junior has won for himself the plaudits of all local rooters as one of the state's finest defensive cagers. No ball of fire on the offense, Chick more than makes up for this lack of scoring punch by his great guarding. Shimer has not scored more than seven points in any one game this season, but he has counted in seventeen of the first eighteen games. I doubt if any griddier in the state can kick a football as well as Chick, indicating powers on the gridiron as well as on the hardwood. Chick is the muscle man of the Kelly team, bearing an impressive frame under his 175 pounds and his 6 feet in height. Muff Davis, leading scorer in the South-Central Conference, and Bob Cowan of North Side have both felt the meaning of the phrase, "Shimer at guard". For Chick held Davis to but two fielders in twenty-five attempts, and he checked Cowan with but three field goals in twenty-two attempts. As to the tourney, Ralph says, "We have a good chance, with Central and North Side as our real worries."

Dallas Zuber—Most of you know this fine performer as Dal. An excellent foul shot, Dal has been responsible for many Archer markers this year. The score book shows that Zuber hit six straight foul goals against Froebel, and four successive grafs tossed against both Auburn and Crawfordsville. I can remember Dallas from his fine intramural basketball play, for it was in Louis Briner's cage leagues that our star was a standout performer with the Five Old Pals quintet. Tom Brower paired with Dal during the freshman and sophomore years of this duo to mark the pair as "smooth cookies" when performing together. Zuber and Brower, both measuring 5 feet 8 inches in height, are the two midgets among the Friddlemen. Dal has been one of the only two Archers to appear in all eighteen tussles, and he has so far chalked up 84 points.

Chuck Close—Baptized Charles Walker Close, the husky Green forward has risen to become a regular member of the Kelly five. I saw Chuck play during his grade school days. If you think his is a bit too over-aggressive or rough in his play, I refer you to Mr. Collyer for the tale of his grade school play. In seventeen games, Close has tallied thirty-six points. Chuck is the heaviest member of the South Side team, taxing the scales with 190 pounds. At the start of the season Coach Friddle did not employ Chuck in a starting role, but as the campaign progressed, the Archer mentor soon realized that Close was possessed with many hidden possibilities and plenty of fight. "We'll try our best to win the tournament," says Chuck concerning the meet this week.

Bill Knoll—"Whitey", as he is better known, is recognized as the long range artist of the locals. Bill has played in twelve games this season, and the popular junior forward has scored thirty-two points. Knoll went especially wild at Bluffton, where he counted six long fielders for twelve markers. Not very fast but possessing plenty of fight and drive, Whitey is a valuable reserve for any one of the first line cagers. When the Archers took the measure of the Redskins on January 31, it was Bill Knoll who hit two long shots from the center line to keep the South Siders in the lead during the hectic last half. Concerning the meet at North Side, Bill says, "If we get going and start hitting some fielders, I think that we can win. But it's going to be tough."

Tom Brower—All of us know Mr. Brower as the sparkplug of the team, as he has proved on several occasions. If the Archers have trouble hitting in the tourney games, I imagine that Coach Friddle will freely employ Tom as the reserve spark. Brower has played in every tilt except the battles with Auburn and Huntington. He has hit ten field goals and six free throws for a total of twenty-six points. If I should try to select the southern basketball player with the most confidence in his ability to hit, my selection would doubtless be Tom Brower. Tom looked especially good in the last game with Central, hitting three fielders and three fouls to keep the Green near the leading Tigers. "If we can hit and work our plays right, we'll beat 'em all," said Tom about the approaching sectional meet.

Harry Hines—The third of the famous Hines brothers has some great athletic feats to duplicate. But Harry has the possibilities of matching any accomplishments of John or Bob. Throughout the season, Harry, or "Squib" as he was named by Brother Bob, has played both varsity and reserve ball. Young Hines has seen action in eleven varsity tilts, garnering a few seconds for Captain Hines. But Jim needs little experience to play on a par with the best of cagers. "South Side has a swell chance of winning the sectional, and with a few breaks we'll come through," so says Jim about the tourney.

Doyle Shirk—One of the lesser known of the South Side cagemen, Doyle should prove a valuable reserve for the Archers in the sectional. He has played in ten of the eighteen battles, scoring eight points. Doyle stands just above the six-foot mark in height and tips the scales at 180 pounds. This is Shirk's last season at South Side, and he has high hopes of seeing plenty of action in the tourney. When quizzed about the meet this week, Doyle said, "North Side and Central are the favorites, but we can be just as tough. And we are going to be!"

Don Babbitt—The most promising prospect who has come up from the reserve ranks in the past weeks, Bob may have a chance to figure heavily in the meet this week. When the first line of defense needs a rest, Babbitt will be more than ready to lend his aid. Bob is only a junior, and he has one more good year ahead of him. He stands three inches below 6 feet in height and weighs 160 pounds. Bob is especially effective on one-handed hook shots. Although Babbitt is built for the football field, he is very fast and has plenty of ability on the court. Bob has been in five varsity games this year, scoring twelve points. As to the sectional, Babbitt says, "It's going to be a tough tourney. But if we can get going against the city teams, we'll win."

Eugene Reichart—Better known as Gene, this dark-haired South Sider is also following in the athletic steps of a member of his family. Don Reichart, Gene's elder brother, is now the star center and leading scorer of the Franklin College quintet. Gene has played mostly reserve ball this year, but he has seen action in four of the feature games. As a junior, Reichart cops the prize for the tallest member of the team. He towers 6 feet 3 inches in height and weighs 160 pounds. Gene is optimistic about winning a fourth straight sectional crown, saying, "All of the city teams and Woodburn have a good chance to win. We will be working hard in the tourney and I think the fellows will win."

James Strawbridge—Known as "Big Jim" or "Alice" to his many classmates, Strawbridge stands as an outstanding prospect for next year's team. Jim stands one inch over six feet in height and weighs 175 pounds. Like the Hines boys and Gene Reichart, this Archer basketballer also has an athletic brother to follow. Jim's brother was an outstanding performer at Indiana University. Strawbridge has been in only one main game this year, and in that one appearance he substituted for only a few seconds for Captain Hines. But Jim needs little experience to play on a par with the best of cagers. "South Side has a swell chance of winning the sectional, and with a few breaks we'll come through," so says Jim about the tourney.

And now here's special attention directed to the actors behind the scenes. First of all, I add another tribute to Burl Friddle for giving us another quintet of which we are justifiably proud. Five other fellows have made life easier for Coach Friddle and company. These hard workers are the student managers. I think the work of Archers Tom Hall, Lee Harter, John Ensley, Paul Kutsch, and Bill Grunewald is deserving of much praise and general commendation from all South Side rooters. Without the managers who so capably handle the boys, it is doubtful if the South Side athletes could so capably perform.

So, in conclusion, I want to offer a final pre-tournament wish that Coach Friddle, his players, and the helpers behind the scenes will find the just rewards for their efforts at North Side this week end. In other words, fellows, WIN THAT TOURNAMENT!

Five Managers Aid Play Of Archers

Physical Condition, Equipment, Scoring Looked After By Student Helpers

Coach Friddle and his basketballers owe much of their success to the contributions of the five student managers, Lee Harter, senior, team along with John Ensley, Tom Hall, and Paul Kutsch, juniors, and Bill Grunewald, sophomore, to give the cage workers a bit more ease and efficiency of performance.

The managers have many duties, which include all types of activities from giving rube-downs and bandaging sprained members to inflating balls and keeping scoring charts.

Lee Harter and John Ensley are usually employed as the score keepers and equipment handlers, while Tom Hall has charge of seeing that the boys are provided with towels and rosin during the games.

All of the basketball managers are also employed as caretakers of the football and track equipment. Junior Paul Kutsch and sophomore Bill Grunewald will move into the varsity-managing position next year.

As to the coming meet the managers feel that the Archers have a good chance of finishing with their fourth successive sectional championship. Here are the opinions of the managing quintet concerning the meet this week-end:

Lee Harter: The fellows have worked hard this year, and if they start to hit in the tourney—Watch out!

Tom Hall: North Side and Central are good, but South Side is better and should prove itself the best team in the coming tourney.

John Ensley: South Side has a good chance, but the other city teams also have good teams. It should be a close tourney, but I think the Archers have enough drive to win.

Paul Kutsch: I'm for the Archers because I feel that they are the best team in the city.

Bill Grunewald: Sure, I'm for South Side. The tourney will be close. If the Archers are "hitting," we'll win.

Archers' Reserves Split Fifty-Fifty

Lose One Game To Allen County Foes And Two To Teams Out Of District

South Side's reserves enjoyed a fair season's rest, breaking even in games with outside foes. The Archer seconds met three rural varsity quintets, losing one game, and dropping two from the foreign clubs.

In early December, the South Side seconds bowed to the Harlan Hawks by a 29-to-24 count. The Archer reserves led the Allen County outfit throughout the first three periods, but the more experienced visitors rallied in the fourth quarter to dump the Green prelim cagers.

A highly touted band of Wolves from Wolf Lake High pinned back the Green subs by a 12-point margin, and the Southerners came back on the following evening to drub a mediocre Monroe quintet from Adams County by a 32-to-25 tally.

Pirates Of Lafayette Central End Year With Fair Record

Pirates Have Played Strong Section Teams

Have Had Better Luck With Out-of-county Quintets Than With Allen Fives

Score Five Wins In 18 Contests

Off-and-on Record Marked Up By Lafayette Central; Some Scores Topheavy

With a season record of five wins in 18 ball games, the Pirates of Lafayette Central enter the sectional tournament with nothing to lose and a possible title to gain.

The Pirates have been more fortunate in battles against outside foes than with their Allen County loop mates. For in tussles with out-of-county quintets the basketballers of Everett Cass have won four games and lost seven, while in competition with county units the Pirates captured but one of six tilts. Throughout the year the Centralites have not lacked any too impressive on two successive evenings of play.

By virtue of a 35-to-33 win over the highly rated Hometown club in their season finale, the Centralites enter the meet with high hopes of continuing their upward swing.

Among the quintets to turn back the Cassmen were good cage machines from Rock Creek of Wells County, Lancaster, West Union, East Union, and Woodburn. The Rock Creek netters thwarted the Pirates by a 31-to-27 tally in one of the feature games of the campaign.

In the Allen County net tournament held at New Haven in January, the Centralites bowed to the host Bulldogs in their first round tilt by a five-point margin.

Below are listed the results of the regular season frays in which the Pirates engaged.

"Pirates" Is Nickname Of Lafayette Central

Perhaps many of you have wondered how Lafayette Central received the nickname Pirates. Well, back in 1923 while they were playing another team, Lafayette Central stole the ball from the opposing team so often that the men in the enemy camp called them the "pirates". From that day on, the nickname Pirates has stuck with them.

In 1921 the first class at Lafayette Central voted on the color they wanted for their school. The vote was won by a wide margin by the colors of red and black, second in this vote being gold and black.

The school emblem of Lafayette Central is the picture of a pirates' head. The pirate head is in black on red on the opposite background of one of these colors.

The Pirate is not a symbol of a school which is always unfair and cheating, but rather a symbol of fairness and doing their best for the betterment of education and general good feeling.

Principal E. E. Prible Is Net Enthusiast

The principal of Lafayette Central, Mr. Edwin E. Prible, has for a long time been an athletic enthusiast.

Mr. Prible is serving his third year as head of the faculty of the Red and Black school. Previous to this position at Lafayette Central he was head coach at Liberty Center High. He also was in charge of the basketball enthusiasts at Lancaster High of Wells County. Mr. Prible is an alumnus of Manchester College and also of Indiana. At Lafayette Central he does not coaching but takes a great deal of interest in athletics.

Coach Ed Cass Hopes To Lead Lafayette To Victory

Coach Edward Cass will lead the Lafayette Central Pirates towards victory in the sectional this year. The record of the Pirates has not been so good, but the Pirates will be in there fighting for their place in the finals of the sectional tournament.

Cass attended Union Center High School, where he was active in basketball and baseball. After graduating from high school, Cass attended Huntington College where he was popular and Ball State College where he took a large part in basketball, football, and baseball.

Before coming to Lafayette Central to coach the Pirates, Cass coached at Metz, which is located in Steuben County.

Along with coaching the Lafayette Central Pirates in sports, Cass teaches social studies and health and plays independent ball with the Zanesville Conservation. Although he just came to Lafayette Central last September and the records for the Pirates is not so good, Cass claims he has a good bunch of boys and Lafayette Central is a good school to work in.

"One of the city teams is going to win the sectional and according to how the games are going now, Central will be the one," stated Cass, when asked his opinion as to who would take the sectional tournament. He also stated that according to the way the county tournament turned out, this year's sectional ought to be a good one.

Lafayette Central Gym Considered Handicap

The gymnasium of Lafayette Central is known throughout the school as the "cigar box." It is rightfully known by this name because the gym is only about 30 feet wide and 50 feet long, which is much smaller than a regular-sized gym. Not only is the gym small but there is only about two feet space surrounding the playing floor.

The gym is used mainly by the grade school children's gym classes and for practice by the Lafayette Central netters. The games are played in a much larger gym in Roanoke, which holds a capacity crowd of 500 people.

Lafayette Central has had many good teams, but due to the handicap of their gym, have found it difficult to play on a larger court and thus have suffered many defeats which most likely could have been averted if they had a larger gymnasium.

Do you come from New York?
Certainly not! I'm talking this way because I cut my lip shaving.

Is this a free translation?
No, sir. The book will cost you two dollars.

Lafayette Central Has Varied School Curricula

Lafayette Central School, built in 1922, is really quite a modern school in regard to its construction and to its curriculum. Some of the subjects taught are agriculture, manual training, journalism, farm, shops, typing, bookkeeping, shorthand, French, and art.

Lafayette Central has an enrollment of about 300 students. This contains twelve grades. Students from both Allen and Wells Counties attend this school.

Lafayette Central's Boys Display Much Speed, Personality

Varied personalities make up the roster of the Lafayette Central Pirates. Here are some short notes about each player so that the reader will know something about the boys who will wear the Red and Black for the Pirates in the sectional.

Paul Reddin—Paul is the smallest and fastest man on the team this year and will be missed very much in the years to come. He was also the high scorer of the team for the year.

Richard Crull—White as he is called by the boys has three years varsity experience to his credit upon graduation this year. His ability to handle himself on the floor and his speed has helped him to success.

Oswald Marcher—Oswald is the tallest man on the team and the heaviest in weight of all. His ability to play the backboards has helped him to success.

Wendell Nierman—Wendell seems to be the only name for the big handsome boy on the varsity squad this year. His position at guard will be very hard to fill after his graduation this year.

Frank Maitlen—Frank has only one year varsity experience to his credit due to injury but he did well for himself this year.

Ronald VanHoozen—Ronnie, as he is called by his classmates, will graduate this year with one year of varsity experience and two years of reserve playing. Everyone can recognize him by his red hair.

Wilbert Seibold—Wilbert has been on the team only one year, but he has proven to be a very able substitute in case he is needed in a ball game.

Wayne Taylor—"Red" Taylor, as the boys all call him because of his red hair, is but a junior this year but he has been on the varsity two years. We hope to see much of him in the future.

Roscoe Justus—Roscoe is a junior this year and during the year he has showed possibilities of being a good player for next year.

Walter Facks—Walter is the most improved player of the year. He started out as a reserve player and is now on the varsity. Walter is only a sophomore this year and by his senior year, he should be one of the best.

Central Pirates' Season Is Fair Unimpressive Term Does Not Bar Great Spirit Of Lafayette Central

Although Lafayette Central has a none too impressive seasons record, the Pirates will be playing and trying their best.

The Pirates past season record is as follows:

Lafayette C. 23, Monroeville 8
Lafayette C. 42, Arcola 6

Lafayette Central's Tourney Forecast Given By Students

Many Lafayette Central people are optimistic about their teams but the majority of the students believe that another team will go through the finals. Along with their choice of the winner came the assurance that Lafayette Central will give a good account of themselves. They expressed their opinions in the following manner.

Wilma Adams: I think Central will win the sectional tourney.

Phyllis Genth: I think that Central will win the sectional title.

Walter Facks: North Side is my choice.

James Ambroile: South Side.

Marion Commer: North Side.

Beertha Hess: I believe that North Side will win the sectional tourney.

Phyllis Kolback: North Side.

Emma Jane Platt: North Side.

Monnabel Ruby: North Side.

Frederick Hoepner: The Woodburn Warriors will win the sectional.

From these statements, we find that the majority of the Lafayette Central fans favor North Side as champs. But these people will have a real team of their own in a few years as can be witnessed by the grade school team which the school has now.

Experienced Harlan Quintet Has Had Satisfactory Year

Harlan Team Members Are Very Versatile

Whole Squad Has Interesting Facts Listed About Them In Story

Average Height Of Team Is 5 Ft., 11 In.

Players Have Wide Variety Of Interests; Girls Among Others

The sectionals this year are sporting many fine teams and many fine players from all the high schools represented but not far from the top comes the Harlan Hawks from a small but yet mighty school.

The team which will represent the Harlan school will be an aggressive one with plenty of talent. Allow the Tournament News to present these players to you.

"Stan" Lake, the Hawk's six foot two center and high point man, has much to be feared, for he has three year's experience behind him. Stan would especially like to beat Woodburn and Columbia City but he wouldn't be too particular. As a side line, he likes softball and a girl named Blanche Hariden.

Russell (Pete) Beerbower, a senior who likes public speaking 'cause he just talks, stands five foot ten and with two year's experience of being forward behind him and one Nellie Kees to cheer him will be a wonder on the hardwood.

Junior (Becky) Applegate who believes that Harlan will win if they get some lucky breaks, was the next one on the pan. He admitted that he was a five foot eight inch guard, a senior with two years playing on the Hawks, a fond admirer of Lois Phillips, and a pretty good typist.

Howard Amstutz doesn't like to study hard so he is taking typing along with taking Lena Rose Pearson out occasionally for a "date." "Dutch" is a junior forward on the team with one year of experience behind him and five foot eleven of "him" under his hat.

Another Hawk sharpshooter who rates Mitzi Horn, cheerleader, is Lee Swaidner. A junior, "Shorty" played guard for two years. "Shorty" also draped his five foot eight inch frame before a microphone to croon over WOWO a short time ago. He also plays in the band.

A senior, Gerald Miller has played with the Harlan team for three years already, holding down with his five foot nine the place of guard. Dona Mae Waestler and typing take his particular liking.

The next player is a junior forward who has played two years with the Hawks. His name is George DeLong, commonly known as "Tub" to his teammates. Tub is interested in typing and in regard to girls, he says, "I'm like Jesus, I love them all."

Dale Widdfield hopes to play Woodburn in the tournament. Dizzle is five foot eleven inches tall, a guard for two years, a senior, and an admirer of Helen Hariden. He likes public speaking because he can say what he wants to and that's plenty.

Robert (Bob) Boterf is another of the Hawks' junior players with one year in competition. Bob's favorite subject is geometry; best girl is Betty Snider, and favorite sport besides basketball is softball. Boterf is five foot eleven inches tall.

Gerald Rediger who is only a sophomore with one year of playing behind him will be a menace in the sectionals. He stands five foot eleven inches tall with a decided preference for geometry and Dorothy Eager. He also plays softball.

Homer McMaken, called Mick for short, is a five foot nine junior forward on the Hawks with about two years of hardwood experience. Mick likes English as his favorite subject is this. What time that he doesn't spend in school and on other things, he usually passes with Helen Kurtz.

Cook Coaches Harlan Team For First Year

Mr. Cook, capable coach of the Harlan Hawks, takes over the direction of athletics for his first year at Harlan. He attended Cloverdale High School and furthered his education at Indiana University.

Mr. Cook has been active in athletics both in high school and in college. He played four years on the softball and basketball teams, while in high school and one year on the basketball team at college.

He predicts that one of the Fort Wayne High Schools will take the Sectional title.

Harlan Students Get New Facilities

Much Waiting Rewards High School With Entirely New Addition

After many years of hope and want the faculty and student body of Harlan High School are blessed with a new addition to their school. The new addition had been in progress for about a half a year before it was finally completed and occupied just before Christmas in 1940. The old as well as the young people are very proud of their building and are enjoying many fine new improvements.

The new edition has provided a fine cafeteria in which the students enjoy good food and music and dancing with their meals. It has a newspaper room in which the school paper "Loud Speaker" is organized. In the improvement section are three new classrooms and a fine large assembly room with 130 seats. Harlan has a progressive library which is on its way toward enlargement. The young people enjoy a large recreation room with a ping-pong table and other facilities. In the office is a great American flag which covers half a wall. New baking ovens have been installed in the yard to provide for school parties. These new improvements have made Harlan a very prominent school.

Each year the school gives a number of awards and scholarships to its outstanding graduates. Some of those are: Two scholarships, two athletic awards, one music award, one all-around student, one journalism award, one leadership award, and one commercial award.

Lake, Harlan, Proves Can Really Do Feats

To prove that basketball players are good for more than just athletics, Stanley Lake of Harlan has achieved an outstanding feat. Lake, who is the Hawk's star center, is the fastest typist in the school. Fellow-students declared that Stan types 70 words a minute on regular work and 123 words a minute on a 1-minute speed test. There, girls, is an envious record! Now do you think that basketball players are good for more than athletics?

Football Coach: Remember, team, football develops leadership. It develops initiative. Above all, it develops individuality. Now get out on the field and do as I tell you!

Teacher: This talking has got to stop. It seem sthat every time I open my mouth an idiot starts talking.

Harlan Band Is Pride Of The Harlan School

The Harlan Hawks are proud of their band which marches at all the games.

The band displays its ability at the games by maneuvering on the floor, then they form the letters of their opponents team and their own team. Helen Hariden is the majorette of the Harlan band.

The school is also proud of their twirlers. The twirlers are as follows: Janet Thompson, Joanne Kinsey, Betty Amstutz, and Catherine Blosser.

The band played at the county festival. Having won the Tri-State contest last year, Harlan will enter its band again this year.

The Harlan band will be listed as one of the contenders in the state contest which is held at Elmhurst. Mrs. Janet Woods stated that Harlan is going to enter solos at Butler on March 29. This will be a state contest.

Mr. Blank: "I heard your kid bawling last night."

Mr. Period: "Yes, after four bawls he got his base warmed."

The results of interviewing several of Harlan Hawk's players on who will win the tournament seem to favor North Side.

They are as follows:
George DeLong believes North Side will win.

Robert Baterrf chooses North Side. Gerald Redgre picks North Side as the winner.

Lee Swaidner also says the title will

Harlan Hawks Lose Only Five

Team Composed Primarily Of Upperclass Juniors, Seniors

With a team composed primarily of upperclass juniors and seniors most all of whom sport about two years of experience, the Harlan Hawks blazed out a very impressive season record, trampling seventeen foes in the hardwood dust as compared with five losses.

The Hawks repeated wins over Spencerville, Hoagland, and Arcola, together with the boast of a win over the Allen County Champs—Woodburn. Besides the county tourney the only other game outside of the regular schedule was a hard-fought battle in which Harlan dropped a close decision to South Side's "B" team.

The very attractive and envious season record is as follows:

Harlan 25, Spencerville 21
Harlan 37, Coesse 27
Harlan 25, Woodburn 29
Harlan 38, Leo 28

School Paper Names Co-Editors Of Harlan

Jean Bartholomew and Bill Schlatter are co-editors of the Harlan monthly school paper. The paper is a member of the National Quill and Scroll organization and is rated high by that organization. Each issue usually contains eight pages.

The sports editors are Dale Widdfield and Kenny Henry, while feature editors are Mitzi Horn and Mary Amstutz. Copy editors of the Harlan monthly are Jack Weicker, Della Battenberg, and Betty Hill.

The faculty adviser of the journal issue at Harlan is Mr. Foote. Mr. Jack Bollier, Kate Lantz and Dutch Amstutz are in charge of the circulation.

Howard Armstrong would like to see Harlan get the title.

Russell Beerbower also picks Harlan. Junior Applegate believes Central will win.

The shades of night were falling fast When fo ra kiss he asked her, The answer must have been yes, For the shades came down much faster.

Harlan High Pupils Split Their Opinions On Sectional Wins

The high school students of Harlan have split opinions as to who's going to win the sectional tournament, but they all agree that it is going to be a good tourney.

Harlan's students' opinions are as follows:

Neal Goldsmith: The most evenly matched tourney for a long time. Harlan's chances are in the bag.

James Reese: I know Harlan will win a good and evenly matched sectional.

Walter Stopher: We have a good team and without a doubt should win.

Dexter Horn: If Harlan gets any kind of a break we ought to go far, but North Side will win the tournament.

Dave Murphy, the Hawks student manager says: Harlan can if they will. The Hawks will be in there fighting. Carroll Dix: Harlan's chances depend a lot upon the draw. Either Central or North Side will win.

Kate Lantz: Whether Harlan will win or not, I will be there yelling.

Joseph Gorrell: Depends on the draw. We will be there fighting whether we win or lose. North Side will win.

Maxine Reeb: Harlan has a good chance of winning the tournament. I think South Side will win.

Jean Bartholomew: If Harlan doesn't draw city teams, North Side will win.

A little Arab boy, pointing to a sharp rise on the horizon: Bagdad? Father: No, son, that's your mother.

Did you ever stop to think that if you took all the Artie Shaw records sold in Los Angeles in 1940, and laid them side by side on Highway 66 to New York, that you'd look awfully silly?

He was seated in the parlor, And he said unto the light "Either you or I, old fellow, Will be turned down tonight."

Two Girls Make Up Harlan Yell-Leaders

Two very pretty girls make up the yell-leading squad who will help the Harlan Hawks surge forth to victory at the sectional tournament.

Mitzi Horn, an extremely popular and most attractive senior, will be out there cheering the Blue and Gold, and sharing her popularity with anyone in favor or against the Hawks. Mitzi claims her favorite pastime is typing, but we hear it is boys.

Mary Kay Amstutz is the other cheerleader and she takes part in just about all activities in the school, which includes sports. She has the important position of feature editor on the Loud Speaker which is the Harlan paper. Mary also plays in the Harlan High School Band and likes to bowl and skate.

The girls wear blue satin dresses trimmed in gold during their yell-leading and are soon to have new sweaters.

Helen Hariden is the drum major for the Harlan Hawks and wears a shako-hat in order to show her high position with the band. There are four drum majorettes, among which is Betty Amstutz, sister of Mary Kay. The other majorettes are Joan Kinsey, Katherine Blosser, and Janet Thompson.

When asked their opinion as to how Harlan would come out in the tourney, the cheer leaders stated that the Hawks would win over the county schools, at least.

New Haven Has High Hopes For Sectional Tournament

Bulldogs Win Eleven Tilts During Year

Gold, Purple Are Victors In Five Of Seven County Engagements

Harold Smith Is Coach Of Quintet

J. Wright, H. Peopples, B. Bolyard, C. Mehrling, Hemsoth Brothers Compose Team

Coach Harold Smith's rapidly improving New Haven Bulldogs enter the North Side sectional with high hopes of at least throwing a scare into the favored aggregations. The Bulldogs have a season record of eleven wins and six losses.

Against county outfits the Smithmen have won five games and lost two, while in competition with foreign units the Bulldogs have captured six tilts of ten played. New Haven claims some merit via a 38-to-31 win over the highly-touted Irish of Central Catholic.

Lose To C. C.

Early in the season the New Haven quintet built up a winning string which reached six straight games. Central Catholic, having a hot night on its home court, knocked the undefeated Canines into submission with a 44-to-19 win. Included in the early win streak were wins over Leo, Decatur Catholic, Monroeville, Decatur, Berne, and Ossian.

After the Irish defeat, the Bulldogs dropped three successive games, bowing to Woodburn, Roanoke, and Columbia City. The Allen County champs whipped the Smith machine, 44 to 28, while the Stonewalls from Huntington County knocked off the Bulldogs by a 22-to-20 tally. Columbia City thumped the Havens, 40 to 25.

Other good fives to drop the Bulldogs have been Huntertown and Ossian. The Wildcats of George Fryback downed the New Haven five, 32 to 25, and the Ossian Bears severely drubbed the same club by a 38-to-23 tally.

Name Outstanding Players

During the season Coach Smith has placed most of his confidence in Bulldogs Joe Wright, Harold Peopples, Bill Bolyard, Clinton Mehrling, and the Hemsoth brothers, Art and Melvin. Other outstanding performers have been Don Miller, Burgette, Hanefeldt, Stellhorn, and Lantz.

Both the New Haven players and their mentor are none-too-optimistic about the coming sectional. The Bulldogs, nevertheless, have an excellent opportunity to knock off several of the better teams.

Next year the prospects at New Haven appear a little brighter, and Coach Smith is hoping to give some of his first line underclassmen some valuable tourney experience in the meet next week end.

New Haven's season record is as follows:

- New Haven 28, Leo 25.
- New Haven 39, Decatur Catholic 36.
- New Haven 36, Monroeville 25.
- New Haven 32, Decatur 24.
- New Haven 33, Berne 31.
- New Haven 28, Elmhurst 27.
- New Haven 19, Central Catholic 44.
- New Haven 28, Woodburn 44.
- New Haven 20, Roanoke 22.
- New Haven 25, Columbia City 40.
- New Haven 25, Huntertown 32.
- New Haven 30, Berne 26.
- New Haven 37, Hoagland 23.
- New Haven 38, Ossian 38.
- New Haven 38, Decatur 36.
- New Haven 36, Lafayette Cent. 31.
- New Haven 38, Central Catholic 31.

New Haven Bulldogs Receive Sport Awards

In return for their athletic services, the Bulldog team members are given awards. The underclassmen who see a lot of action receive letters.

In order to earn a sweater, an athlete must play in at least five varsity games and be on the tournament squad. This year eleven letters were given by Coach Smith.

Coach Harold Smith Closes Second Year As Bulldog Mentor

Harold Smith, New Haven's handsome basketball coach, is now celebrating his second year as mentor of the Bulldog net squad. Coach Smith came to New Haven from Union Center where his teams had won two previous sectionals.

Although modesty is Mr. Smith's strongest trait, we managed to extract some interesting facts about his life history. Indiana Central and Indiana University were the Alma Maters of the Bulldogs' coach where he won major letters in football, basketball, and track. When one looks at the marvelous physical build of Smith, they can readily see why he would be an asset to any athletic team. Besides coaching both the basketball team and softball team, Harold Smith teaches physical education and health. He also capably manages intramural sports at New Haven High School.

When asked what he thought of the Bulldogs' chances in the sectionals, Mentor Smith said, "We have a rather inexperienced team this season but next year we plan to give plenty of competition."

Coach Smith keeps himself occupied with golf, tennis, and fishing, which are his main hobbies. He is married, too, but he considers marriage "more of a business than a hobby."

Mildred Vonderau Is Cub Yearbook Editor

New Haven High School's yearbook, The Mirage, is published annually as a school project of a group of high school students. Miss Kathleen Megenity and Miss Mildred Vonderau are serving as faculty adviser and editor, respectively, of the 1941 publication.

"Youth in a Democracy" is the theme which is being carried out this year, and it will include snapshots and write-ups. Red and blue trimming will be the color combination used on this year's book. Students of the high school may purchase this book for $1.25.

"Do we have to wait very much longer for mummy, Daddy?" "No, not now. They've just taken the last pair of shoes out of the show window."

New Haven Presents "All American Family"

"All American Family", the New Haven Senior Class play, was presented last Thursday night in the school auditorium. It was a hilarious comedy and was a success.

The cast which helped to make it such a success is as follows:

Roger Butler, the father, Argyl Bacon; Carrie Butler, the wife, Dorothy Hazelett; Bobby Butler, the youngest son, Walter Peinking; Bill Butler, the oldest son, Charles Forsyth; and Caroline Butler, the daughter, Eileen Potts.

Completing the list of characters are Grandma Butler, Nila Shierling; Bruce Ford, Caroline's fiance, Herbert Bechtol; Lucy Middleford, Carrie's sister, Mary Glass; Avis Middleford, her daughter, Evelyn Andres; Mrs. Smith, the widow next door, Mildred Vonderau; and Peter Smith, Bill's pal, Paul Fruechtenicht.

Pauline Hartman Prexy Of GAA

Bulldog Girls' Athletic Group Participates In Tumbling, Bowling, Folk Dancing

New Haven High School has a Girls' Athletic Association comprised of sixty girls. Many activities are included in the program of the GAA. Athletics scheduled for this year are as follows: Basketball, volleyball, softball, tumbling, folk dancing, tennis, archery, skating, and bowling. At the present, volleyball is being played. During the first two weeks of February, a basketball tournament was held and the sophomore GAA girls captured the title from the seniors in the final round. Evelyn Meyers served as basketball manager for this year's season.

New Haven's GAA issues various awards to outstanding girls in GAA work. When a girl manages to attain 150 points through athletic participation, she receives a winged foot in purple and gold to wear on her sweater. After she has earned 250 points, she will receive a letter. A gold plaque or locket is awarded to those who achieve 350 points.

Every year the GAA elects officers in September. Officers are at present: President, Pauline Hartman; vice-president, Vera Linker; secretary, Donabelle Kitchen; and treasurer, Marian Lampe.

Prospects Are Bright

Prospects for next year's New Haven Bulldog team after just a mediocre season this year are very bright, as only four out of the twelve players on the first string will be lost by graduation. Out of the first seven only two will graduate.

New Haven Boasts Very Outstanding Music Department

New Haven High School is very modern as to musical education. Its musical department includes a concert band, marching band, A cappella choir, and chorus.

The marching band is especially good as to maneuvers on the basketball floor at halftime. Recently in accordance with the patriotic spirit the band has formed various figures while the lights are out. The luminous paint on the uniforms makes a very spectacular sight. In addition, six majorettes have batons with lights on the end.

The concert band has fifty members and is growing rapidly. During the summer it presents a weekly concert. On April 12, it will be host to a music festival to which all the Allen County school bands are invited. This is not a contest. Each band will play two or three concert numbers and demonstrate marches in the afternoon and night. A well-known music critic will come to give advice and make criticisms. The band is planning to buy new uniforms in the near future.

An A cappella choir of twelve or fourteen members is formed each second semester. As yet, the choir has not been formed, but it will be soon.

New Haven IM Is Active Group

125 Boys, 80 Girls Take Part In Activities During Noon Hour

New Haven High School has a very advanced intramural sports program. The activities take place during the noon hour because the school busses leave as soon as school is out in the afternoon. At present 125 boys and seventy or eighty girls take part in the activities.

Basketball, volleyball, and ping pong are the main sports. At present, a basketball tournament is being held. This net tourney has two leagues: the Senior and Junior leagues. There are sixteen teams in each league. The teams play two rounds and then a tourney is held, the winner receiving some kind of award.

Last week a ping pong tourney was started. There are six tables now, but underneath the gym floor a recreational room is being built. There will probably be more tables there.

The intramural program offers all kinds of games for the students to enjoy during their lunch hours. Some of these are shuffle board, checkers, Chinese checkers, and almost any other game.

Central Tigers Are Optimistic About Sectional Victory

Fighting Tigers Win 14 Games During Season

Are Best Team Since The "Light Brigade," Losing Only Five Tilts

Blue Defeat Green 2 Times, CC Once

Lose Only To North Side Redskins In City Series Playing

Chalking up a total of fourteen wins and five losses, Central's Fighting Tigers romped through a good season to come up to the tourney well trained and tempered by many tough games. Beginning with a win, the Blue and White travelled to New Castle to defeat the Trojans there by a score of 42-34 even though terrific resistance was put up.

But then as the season wore on, three losses dotted the schedule as Central of South Bend, Muncie Central and North Side trimmed the Bengals. Playing their first home game, the Tigers were downed by seven points as the final tally read 33-26 in favor of the South Bend Central Bears in a rough game.

Muncie Central also handed the Tigers a shellacking after the Blue had travelled there to take on the Burris. Finally as the last game in their losing streak, Central took on North Side only to fall before the Redskins onslaught by a score of 30-25.

But then, the chances seemed to brighten for the hardworking quintet for they started on a nine game winning streak climaxed by the second game with the Redskins, the nemesis of the Tigers.

The first victim on this rush of victories was Columbia City who fell in their own gym by a score of 39-33 on December 13. Central Catholic, notional Catholic champions for two years, suffered next as the Tigers defeated them by a final count of 31-28 by virtue of the smooth-working of the team.

Decatur Central fell before the fast-breaking quintet which Central put on the floor. Hartford City and Auburn suffered the same fate as the Tiger five kept pounding at the basket in each game.

The next two tough teams, the Decatur Yellow Jackets and a tall rangy Whiting team, were humbled by impressive scores. The Yellow Jackets were taken out by the tally of 57-16 as the Mendymen continued their winning streak. Whiting felt the spirit of Central as they were defeated 39-28.

Two old rivals, Central and South Side mixed it up on January 17, as the Archers fell by a score of 32-31, the winning point being scored in the final minute with four seconds left to play. The last foe conquered by the Blue in their winning streak was the Huntington Vikings in a well-played game with a count of 52-33.

As the old saying goes, Napoleon had his Waterloo, Central had a game with North Side who pinched the Tiger's tail to the tune of 41-40. Hammond High fell to the Blue but the Washington Hatchets came in to hand the Bengals their worst beating when the score read 59-422.

The rest of the season ended well with Central beating Elkhart, South Side, and Kendallville.

Central Cagers Confident Of Ousting Archers

Central Players Prove To Be Great Assets

Well-Trained Athletes Will Aid Central To Win Sectional Tournament

Varying personalities are included on the roster of the Central Tigers. In order that you may become better acquainted with the boys whom we hope will win the tournament, we have compiled these facts about our Battling Bengals:

Russ Wilkin—A senior this year, Russ is playing his second year on the varsity. He again, like last year, is the leading scorer of the team. At present he is also leading the city in scoring. Russ is noted for his bullet-like passes. Wilkin's favorite subject is machine shop. During his time at Central he has become one of the "swellest" cage personalities.

Bill Washington—Another sophomore, a colored lad, has proved to be one of the stars of the team this year. This is the only sport in which Bill participates. He is very fast, and a great rebound man. He also has a "wicked" left-handed hook shot with which he seldom misses. "Skeezix," as he is called, has won his way into the hearts of Central fans, as a clean, sportsman-like player. He is also counted on greatly for the next two seasons.

Tom Barfell—A husky, curly-headed ed junior is Tom Barfell, varsity guard on this year's Tiger cage team. Barfell was also a varsity football player. Tom is 5 feet 11 inches tall and packs a great deal of muscle in his big frame. His favorite shot is a high left-handed shot and he is quite a "lady killer."

Bob VanRyn—Bob broke into varsity competition midway in the season. He is a dead long shot and this fact has kept him on the varsity. Bob comes from Hoagland and is now a junior. He is six feet tall and should be a great help next year.

Fred Shaw—This short and stocky senior is playing his third year on the varsity team. "Shadow," his most common name, is a real fighter when in the game and also manages to make his share of points. He hit his peak this year against North Side when he scored 17 points in 2½ quarters. Whenever Fred is in the game you can always count on him to be battling all the time. Central will miss Shaw greatly next year.

Duane Koch—A dark haired senior who is always playing his hardest, best describes this Tiger man. Duane is quite a speed king on the floor and won a letter last year in track. He came to Central from Adams. He is a rather quiet but a well-liked boy.

Don Rice—Quarterback on the football team, Don has also turned his attention to the cage game. Being only a junior he will be a great deal of help next year. Rice is a big, rough player, who always plays his best and can be counted on to do his share for Central in the sectional.

Dick Tackett—"Big Dick," as he is most commonly called, is a big, hard-working center, who is playing his second year on the varsity. Tackett was named all-state center on the state football team and is a senior this year. He has developed into quite a "guys" that you can't help but like.

Monk Sitko—Playing his first year as a varsity player, Monk, now a junior, excels in one-handed shots. He is quite a clever ball handler and very fast and tricky. He is also a star football player. He is a cousin of Steve Sitko, Central and Notre Dame's famous quarterback. Sitko leans a little to the bashful side, but is well liked by everyone. His nickname is "Rhet" or "Red."

Chuck Stanski—Brother of a famous member of Central's immortal Light Brigade, Chuck has proved to be a standout for Central all year. Being only a sophomore, he has two more years in which to lead Central's teams. Stanski also played football and was a letterman in this sport. Chuck is a crack long shot artist as well as high one-handed push shots. Stanski's athletic career at Central has a bright outlook.

Jim Miller—The tallest man on the team is this junior reserve center. Jim is 6 foot three. His height comes in very handy under the basket. Miller is also a football man. Jim's favorite shot is a two-handed pivot. He will be counted on greatly in the Tiger's quest for tournament honors.

"Red" Jamieson—This flashy and tricky ball player is playing his first year on the Blue and White's varsity. Red is a senior and came from Huntington High School two years ago. Jamieson is a good guard and also has some scoring power.

Mendenhall Coaches 17 Years At Central

Murray Mendenhall is well known as the coach for Central High School. He is credited with 17 years at Central and has well earned it. He has trained our teams to success many times.

He was enrolled in West Newton High School where he played varsity basketball in his sophomore year. He played for three years. From there he went to Butler University and stayed one year. He also starred in basketball at DePauw.

"Mendy" as he is called started coaching at New Castle, Indiana, and stayed two years. Then he came to Central and gave us fame. He has coached such stars as Steve Sitko, Curly Armstrong, Herman Shaefer, and Red Braden. He conducts the physical education classes along with the help of Bob Dornte.

Bob Dornte is Central's assistant coach. He graduated from Central eleven years ago. He then starred in football, basketball, baseball, and track and is a great help to "Mendy."

Pupils, Teachers Give Opinions Of Central's Chances

Summarizing the opinions of the students and teachers of Central, the Tigers have a good chance of being the victor of the Fort Wayne Sectionals.

Elmo Borne: If North Side and South Side are in the same bracket, Central will win.

Dick Wagner: Central's chances are good because with Dick Tackett, Russ Wilkin and all the rest of the team hitting, how can we lose?

Mrs. Monroe: Of course Central will take Sectionals. I am positive of that. Grace Bixby: If Tackett and Wilkin are in there fighting and Sitko on fast break with VanRyn hitting like he did at Kendallville, we should win.

Fred Myers: Whether Central will win or not will depend on the school spirit which I think we have.

Miss Vera Pence: Because Central did so well against city competition and is improving steadily, I think they will win.

Charles Richter: Central is better than any team in the city and should take the sectionals.

Mr. Yager: Central's chances depend on the draw and on the play of the team during the tournament. Central should take any team in the sectionals.

Albert Martin: Central has the best chance of any team in the city to win the sectionals.

George Marks: The Central Tigers have as good a chance as any other team in the tournament.

Mr. Whittier: I think Central has a good chance to win. I feel that it will be mostly between North Side and Central.

George Venis: Central is going to win easily.

Joan Rumbaugh: Central's chances are very good. It depends on the draw. Bill McMullen: I don't see why Central shouldn't win the tourney.

Mr. Veatch: Considering our coach and our team we will win. The Tigers will be fighting every minute of the game. Don't let previous records enter in.

Leroy Steger: Central should win because they have the best team in the city.

Richard Wedler: The Tigers are going to outplay and outscore all of their opponents.

Ralph Pappert: Central will win the sectionals, because they will be the best team playing.

Allen Shaffer: Central has a good chance but the teams that will give Central the most opposition will be North Side and South Side.

Ralph Noll: Central has a good team and will go places.

Varsity Cheer Leaders Pep Up Centralites

Bob Cottingham, Glenn Lewton, Bill Michell, and George Rathert are the varsity cheerleaders at Central. They have done a good job rustling up the old school spirit at the football and basketball games. They also take charge of the pep sessions.

These boys had to work to get on the varsity team. They practice once a week, going through their routines and practicing the school yells. Before they can get on varsity, they have to yell at the preliminary games.

Below are the varsity cheerleaders comments on cheering at games:

Bill Michell: "My opinion is that a large group of students should sponsor a club so that they can go to the

Central Reserve Team Has Good Season In '40-41

North Side Downed By Central Seconds By 20 To 15

Score

Central's reserve power has had an extra fine season this year by winning 17 games and losing only two to date. The reserves have played South Side five times this year and won three of these preliminary games.

North Side went under the Tiger reserves to the score of 20 to 15 in the first city clash, and in the second city series game the South Side reserves beat the Central reserves by three points, the score being 19 to 16.

Their reserve team was threatened in its second North Side reserve game which turned out to be an overtime in favor of Central. The game ended with the Central reserves having a two-point lead, the score being 20 to 18. The Tiger reserves lost another game to the Archer reserves and therefore they lost two games and won seventeen.

Big 5 foot 11½ inch James Blanks is the center for the reserves. Blanks states that Central will win the sectional tourney this year.

"Central will win the tourney this year," is the opinion of Bob Lew who serves as a guard on the Tigers reserve team.

Dick Gater, 5 foot 8 inches tall, says Central has the best ball handlers and therefore they will win the tournament.

"Central will win because Russ Wilkin is such a sharp shooter," stated Paul Gran, one of the forwards for the reserves.

Five foot 8½ inch "Tom" Shopoff, a junior, says Central will win the sectional tournament this year because the best team always wins and because Central has Wilkin.

Glenn Lewton: "Our cheering section doesn't seem to come up to the equal of the rest of the school. We cheerleaders would appreciate any suggestions on what we can do to better this cause."

Bob Cottingham: "Get there early and sit together to form a solid cheering section. This would get some real results."

George Rathert: "I think if the students would sit together at the games and would yell when they should, much could be done to improve the cheering section."

Leo Lions Have Won Majority Of Its Games This Year

Leo Lions Get 15 Victories, Losses Of 5

Lose First Game, Play Thrilling Overtime With Hometown Hawks

Melchi, Arnold Are Top Scorers

Monroeville Loses To Leo By 42 To 11 Score; Woodburn Defeats Leo

The Leo Lions so far have had fifteen wins against five losses. Winning over Hometown with a thrilling overtime with the score of 29 to 27.

Their first game with New Haven was lost by three points, but the next two games of the season were won from Elmhurst and Hometown. They lost three consecutive games to Avilla, Harlan, and Auburn. Monroeville lost heavily against Leo by 31 points, scoring only 11 to 42. The Leo Lions lost their first game in the county tournament to Woodburn 32 to 28.

R. Melchi is the best scoring man on the team and C. Arnold takes second place. G. Widner is the third highest.

The season's schedule and scores are as follows:

- Leo 25, New Haven 28.
- Leo 27, Elmhurst 24.

- Leo 42, Spencerville 23.
- Leo 40, St. Joe 27.
- Leo 31, Harlan 24.
- Leo 42, Monroeville 11.
- County Tourney
- Leo 28, Woodburn 32.

Travis Disler Is Leo High Student Manager

The Lions of Leo have, as almost every basketball team has, a student manager whose name is Travis Disler. "Travis", as the boys on the team call him, has been student manager for three years. He is a senior now. The fellows all like him. Incidentally, he is a very good looking chap.

Disler is not only student manager, but is a member of the Glee Club, editor of the year book called "Lions Talk", and is on the school paper called "Leo Highlights." He was the business manager of Leo's school paper.

While the writer was interviewing Disler, he noticed the unusualness of the Lions dressing room. The room was about 12 feet square. On the south wall were posted stars about six inches in diameter. On each star was written the names of each player. Along the west wall is a book file and on the top of the book file is a radio. On this wall is a large pennant with the names of the players on the "38" county championship team.

Darby Davis Coaches At Leo For Eight Years

The Leo Lions have as their coach, Darby Davis, who has been coaching the Lions for the past eight years. Davis has coached two years at Gas City, three years at Central Madison, and eight years at Leo. This makes a total of thirteen years of coaching.

Franklin was the high school which he attended. Darby Davis was a member of Franklin basketball team that won the state championship in 1921-22. He received a gold watch from the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce.

He attended Hanover College where he got his A.B. degree. He also attended Ohio State, Indiana State Teachers, where he received the Master Degree, and Indiana University. "It depends on the draw. We have a better team than I expected," stated Darby Davis.

Leo Lions Raise Roar Of Victory

Leo Lions Try For Champion Sectional Crown

Last Year Proved Lucky At County; Championship Wish To Add Sectional

Last year the Leo Lions took the county championship under their wing. This year, these Lions are going to try to annex the sectional title to go with these other honors. But anyway, regardless of who wins, these are the Leo boys who will be in there fighting.

With a number 89 on his shirt, Kenny Maxfield, junior forward, will be in there throwing his 5 feet 5 inches of human flesh around. Kenny weighs 120 pounds, likes physics, and plays softball in the position of catcher.

Gaylord Widner, 5 feet 11 inch junior guard, is another of the Lion hopefuls. Weighing 160 pounds and with a number 67 somewhere on his suit, Butch hopes to do well in the tournament. His heart throb is Maxine Halter. Physics is his favorite subject. He also plays first base on the Lions softball team.

Dick Lantz plays guard for the Leo team. He's a sophomore who has held his place for one year. He is 5 feet 8 1/2 inches tall, a player weighing 138 pounds, and an admirer of Willodene Gerig. Punk also plays left short on the softball team.

John Kasimer, called Kassie, is a 6 feet 2 inch, 155 pound, good natured senior center on the Leo team. Kassie wears number 87 on his shirt and is hopeful for two things: (1) that Leo can take the sectional, and (2) that he can find a girl.

The traveler of the Lions is Jay Conrad, who often goes to Hometown to see Lois Witner. Number 98, Jay is a sophomore, standing 5 feet 11 inches tall and weighing 145 pounds. He has played one year as guard on the Lions.

Tall Darrell White is another senior sharpshooter. Standing 6 feet 1 inch, "Witless" saw action for one year on the squad as a center or guard, under the number 86. He goes out for majorettes, his present flame.

Leo High Roster

R. Melchi	5-11	150	Jr.
H. Springer	5-8	150	Sr.
B. Sauder	5-7	130	Fr.

being Eileen Edwards.

Clair Arnold, number 63, is only a sophomore, but nevertheless, he still has secured a berth on the Lions for the past year. He is 5 feet 11 inches tall, weighs 145 pounds, plays forward, and kind of likes Joan Kinzie. He especially likes mechanical drawing although he doesn't know what his occupation will be.

The high point man on the Leo team this year is Richard Melchi. Dick, who is a junior this year, stands 5 feet 11 inches tall and wears number 68. He is so sure of one Helen Parker that they introduce themselves as Mr. and Mrs. Richard Melchi.

An experienced man is Harold Springer who has tournament experience in his two years of play. His number is 36 and Spike plays forward on the Lions. Spike stands 5 feet 8 inches, weighs 150 pounds, and goes for Lila Slaughter.

Bob Sauder, who is only a freshman, promises to do big things as a first class forward. He is 5 feet 7 inches tall and weighs 130 pounds, and he wears number 76. His girl is Betty Amstutz.

Little Mary Jane awoke about 3 o'clock one morning. She asked her mother to tell her a story. Her mother said, "If you wait a little longer, your father will be home and tell us both a story."

Last Year's County Champs, Leo Lions, Offer Views On Sectionals

Last year's county champs, Leo Lions, have their own opinions of this year's sectional winner. Here they are:

Florence Smead: South Side will win the tourney. Leo hasn't a very good chance on account of the showing they made in the county tourney.

Arthur Swartz: Leo will lick South Side if they are hitting, but North Side will win the tourney.

Howard Kryder: North Side will take the sectional tourney. Leo will go quite a ways if they are hitting.

Edward Souder, sophomore class president: Central or North Side will win the sectional this year.

Eileen Edwards, senior: There is small chance of Leo winning the tourney. Maybe Central will win.

Helen Parker: North Side will win the tourney. Leo has very little chance of winning.

Richard Melchi: Central will win the tourney. It depends upon the draw whether Leo will have a chance in the sectional.

Alberta Steiner: North Side will win the sectional. There is small chance for Leo.

Olen Yoder: North Side will win the sectional. Leo has a pretty good chance. Their chances are at least as good as last year's.

Betty Jean Freimuth: Leo has as good a chance as anybody else, but I think North Side will win the sectional.

Harold Reddiger: The chances for Leo are not so good. Central will win the sectional.

Betty Hohenstein: Leo will win the tourney.

Jerry Speidell: Central will win the tourney. Leo's chances are as good to win as any county team. They will go further in the sectional than any other team.

Roy Stucky: North Side will win the tournament. Leo's chances depend upon the draw.

Ed Wolfe: Leo has a pretty good chance, but North Side will win the sectional.

Velma Norr: Leo will go pretty far with a decent draw but South Side will win the tournament.

Warren Sites: North Side will win. The chances for Leo are pretty small. Winston Witmer: If Leo don't win, I wish North Side all the luck in the world.

Mrs. Mumma, librarian: I have no preference as to the teams in the sectional. The best one will win. Leo has a pretty good little team, but they are not strong enough to compete with teams in their own class.

Travis Disler: Student Manager: Leo has a good chance. Depends upon the breaks.

Leo Cheer Leaders Are Big Attraction

Leo High School is very proud of its attractive cheer leaders, Helen Klopfenstein and Geraldine Bucher. You will recognize these girls by their white pleated skirts, white satin blouses, and purple ties.

Helen has been a cheer leader for three years while Geraldine has been leading only two years. There are many activities in which the girls can participate. There is a Girls' Glee Club, band, junior play, senior play, the school paper "Leo Highlights", and the yearbook, "The Lions Talk." Each class has a girls' team and each year, a school champion is crowned.

The girls are a little pessimistic about Leo's chance in the sectional but have something to say.

Helen Klopfenstein (Kloppy): We're not county champs but I still think we had the best team in the county.

"Gerry" Bucher: I know it's going to be between the three city schools. I think Central will win.

Look for these girls; they're really very nice.

He who laughs first probably heard the story before.

Arcola Aces Hope To Hit Peak At Tournament Time

Arcola Has Bad Luck During '40 Playing Season

Six Varsity Players Ill During Regular Playing Season Due To Flu

Arcola Defeats Monroeville 29-27

Fighting Spirit Gains Strong Name For Aces; Season Schedule Announced

The Aces have had a rather disappointing season with only one win. Considering the fact that their coach is just new this year, they have had a tough job getting started.

Team Has Hard Luck
A flu epidemic takes six varsity players and the coach from participating in several of the latter games. But since Arcola is such a plucky school, they went on with their schedule doing the best they could.

Although the score-sheets show that the Aces have been defeated a good many times, they have been in there plugging along and losing a good many heart-breakers. For in the most of the tilts Arcola played a pretty close battle up to the half-way mark, but somehow were squeezed out in the second half.

Unexpected Turn
Arcola gives the County, Tourney contestants a big surprise by nosing out Monroeville 29-27. They were beaten by Woodburn 39-22.

The schedule is as follows:
Arcola 25, Coesse 24
Arcola 6, Lafayette Central 42
Arcola 16, Huntstown 38
Arcola 19, Jefferson Center 25
Arcola 13, Woodburn 61
Arcola 16, Washington Center 33
Arcola 20, South Whitley 33
Arcola 16, Lafayette Central 39
Arcola 13, Harlan 23

Arcola Acers Yell At Tourney Time

Green And White Trio Will Boost Squad Through Games

When the Arcola Acers take the floor for their initial tilt of the sectional tourney, they will be preceded by a flashing trio dressed in green and white.

These three cheerleaders have been the loyal supporters of the Ace squad for the past two years, boosting them in either a win or lose. The trio is comprised of Joan Moss, Dick Coleman, and Clyde Leininger.

The novice of the group is little Joan Moss who is only 11 years old and in the sixth grade. She wears a green and white costume and entertains with cartwheels and hand springs at the games. Little Miss Moss' one ambition is to become a cheerleader when she goes to high school.

Dick Coleman, a second member of the squad is a prominent senior only 16 years old. He is outstanding in extra curricular activity, holding the position of feature editor on the school paper and being a member of the rifle club. He is in his second year as cheerleader and enjoys his work very much.

Clyde Leininger, the third member, is also a prominent student. He is a sophomore, 15 years old, and completing his second year at the cheering job. He is also the circulation manager of the school paper. Both boys wear green and white uniforms.

When you next see the Arcola Acers look for the three cheerleaders. They are swell "kids".

Bennie Decker Serves As New Arcola Coach

This season, the Arcola Acers have a new coach, Bennie Decker, who started last September.

Decker attended Hume High School which is located in Hume, Illinois. He is a graduate of the Central Normal College.

While in high school he participated in basketball and track. Decker was a member of his college's basketball team, which was undefeated for two years. This team was in the Olympic finals held in Chicago.

Decker has coached for two and a half years; two years at Leters Fort, Indiana and half a year at Arcola.

Commerce and health are the other subjects which are taught by Bennie Decker, beside his regular gym classes.

Arcolans' Beliefs Favor North Side; Central Next Best

Here are what several Arcola students say about the chance in the sectional tourney:

Helen Marie Routh, Senior: I think North Side will win. Arcola hasn't a chance unless the impossible happens.

Helen Zimmer: Arcola hasn't a chance; North Side will win.

Ruth Hagar: Arcola has a chance, but that's all. I think South Side will win.

Martha Hallopeter: Arcola may win their first game if they play the right team, but I think North Side will take the sectional.

Dora Mae Dennis: I think North Side will win the sectional. I don't think Arcola has much of a chance.

Mary Alice Lamle: North Side will win. We'll fight but we won't have a chance.

Bob Yeater: I think Central has a very good chance to win the sectional and so has Arcola.

Ruth Bieher: I think North Side has the best chance. Arcola doesn't have much chance with a city school.

James Butts: Central will win the sectional over North Side by about five points. Arcola has a chance of winning at least one game.

Norma Bujrah: I think Arcola has a chance of winning two games but Central will win the tourney over North Side.

Ruthanna Butterbaugh: I hope North Side takes the sectional. We won in the county tourney so why not the sectional?

Mae Foor: South Side will win the sectional. As for Arcola, who knows?
Esther Arnold: North Side will win sectional. Arcola hasn't got much of a chance.

Henry Sinnigen: Central will win the tourney. They will beat North Side by two or three points. Arcola has a chance to win one game.

Bob Johnson: North Side will win the sectional. We haven't much chance.

Arcola Aces Predicted Tourney Runner-Uppers

Although they haven't won too many of their games, the Arcola Aces will still be some competition for the title of the best team in this neighborhood. Their team doesn't have very many upperclassmen on it but they are mighty.

Cloise Shively, known as Cleck, is a junior who is five foot eleven inches tall and who weighs 155 pounds. He plays guard with his number being 33. His current flame is Iva Nahrwald.

Romeo is what the Aces call Bob Keiler who is a junior and an admirer of one Theo Harrison. A junior, Romeo is a flat six feet and weighs 150 pounds. He plays center under the number of 88.

Red Strombeck is going to leave the Aces soon. Said one of his buddies, "We hate to lose Red because he makes most of the points, at least Carol Wagner thinks so." He is now a junior, number 45. His height is six foot two and he weighs 165 pounds.

Others among the Aces are: Jim Butts, a senior guard number. Paul Trahn, nicknamed Snazzy, a sophomore forward.

but where there's smoke there's fire.

Marguerite Bieber: I think North Side will win the sectional and I hope they do. Arcola won a game in the county tourney and I think we can do it in the sectional.

BASKETBALL DOPING CONTEST

Will Soon Be Here!

JUST HOW MUCH do you know about the strength of Indiana's high school basketball teams, generally acknowledged the best in the land? The News-Sentinel, in its annual Basketball Doping Contest, gives you an opportunity to test your skill as a dopestier and to vie for the various cash awards that go to the 20 more-expert prognosticators.

Following the same procedure as in the past years, the object of this year's competition is to predict the outcome of the four semi-final tournaments at Muncie, Indianapolis, Vincennes and Hammond on March 15, as well as the state finals at the Butler field house on March 22. In addition, you will predict scores of only the three final games at Indianapolis.

THAT'S ALL to it, folks. No box tops or labels to mail in, no slogans to write. The rules are simple, and it costs nothing to enter this contest. Entry blanks will be printed in The News-Sentinel for four days starting Monday, March 10. You may use one of these blanks or a good facsimile. But be sure to get your entry to the Basketball Doping Contest Editor at The News-Sentinel before 6 p.m. on Friday, March 14. Entries received after the deadline will not be considered in the grading.

In the meantime, turn to the sports pages of The News-Sentinel daily for helpful basketball comment and further news of this popular contest.

IU Musicians Plan Concert At South Side

Jack Wainwright To Direct Band In "National Defense March" Wednesday

R. Nelson Snider Arranges Assembly

Program For Archers Is One Of Seventeen To Be Given By Sixty I. U. Musicians

Mr. Jack Wainwright, head of the music department, has been invited to direct the Indiana University Band in "National Defense March" by Prosperi, at the concert they will give for South Side next Wednesday.

The concert will be held at 10:30 o'clock next Wednesday morning in the gymnasium. Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal, is in charge of it. Students' parents and friends are invited to attend.

This marching band is made up of sixty musicians selected individually from the 110-piece Indiana band. David Slattery and Robert Shmel, '39, and Paul Pressler, also from Fort Wayne, are members of the Indiana University Band.

Lieutenant Frederick E. Green, director of Indiana University Band, will conduct the band in "The Star Spangled Banner".

Lieutenant Colonel E. E. Tabcott, commander of the band, will be with the band when it comes to Fort Wayne.

The South Side concert is one of the seventeen concerts the Indiana University Band will play during their tour from March 10-14.

Among the cities besides Fort Wayne included in the band's tour are Franklin, Newcastle, Cambridge City, Liberty, Winchester, Muncie, Hartford City, Bluffton, Columbia City, Albion, Angola, Goshen, South Bend, Peru, Mentone, and Kokomo.

This year the band played in Chicago for the football game between the College All-Stars and the Chicago Bears, professional team, and also was chosen to play at the Willie notification ceremony.

Four Agents Earn Perfect Per Cent

R. Werkman, J. Kaser, R. Brazy, L. Likins Chalk Up 100 Per Cent Home Rooms For Times

Since the last issue of The Times, four agents have gotten 100 per cent in their home rooms. These rooms, agents, and teachers are Room 8, Ruth Werkman, Mr. Collyer; Room 30, Julia Gaser, Miss Pocock; Room 32, Rose-Etha Brazy, Miss Edith Crowe; and Room 82, Lois Likins, Mr. Peirce. Betty Stump, in Room 138, who now has 90 per cent, expects to reach the one hundred per cent mark soon.

At a room agents' meeting which was held last week, the agents were asked to start working on their payments. The amount owed by each book has been compiled and is as follows: Book I, $44.50; Book II, $34.65; Book III, $33.25; Book IV, $50.20; Book V, $41.90; and Book VI, $35.10. This is a total of $239.60.

Last year's spring record has been broken by 17 subscriptions. A total of 1,215 subscriptions has been brought in. In the order of their books they are Book I, 212; Book II, 195; Book III, 191; Book IV, 198; Book V, 196; Book VI, 187.

Band Entertains Rotary Members

Mr. Jack Wainwright Leads Concert At Chamber Of Commerce For Weekly Luncheon Meeting

South Side's band played for the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club last Monday at the Chamber of Commerce. The band was under the direction of Mr. Jack Wainwright.

THE BAND PLAYED "BLACK HORSE TROOP" AS THE MEN CAME IN. "BANDANA SKETCHES" AND THE "EURANTHYE OVERTURE" WERE HEAVY NUMBERS PLAYED BY THE BAND.

Several pieces were played to accompany the singing of the club members. One of the features of the program was the playing of old-time pieces to accompany tap dances and other dancing. The program ended by the playing of "God Bless America".

Red Cross Makes Check-Up On Safety Of Archer Students

Not only in the war-torn battlefields of Europe does the Red Cross stand out as an organization to help the needy, but here in the United States it is just as active. Fire, famine, and flood are some of its greatest objects, but this organization cares for individuals at all times. The Red Cross not only comes to aid after accidents but plays an important part in the prevention of such happenings.

Recently every student was given a check-up list furnished by the Red Cross. This was made by our local Red Cross chapter which will keep it for further reference concerning accident prevention.

Some questions asked about prevention of burns and scalds were as follows: Are matches kept from little children? Is a screen used at the fireplace? Are chimneys cleaned regularly? Is rubbish disposed of promptly? Are gas burners adjusted for proper combustion? Are garage doors always open when starting automobile engines? Is bedding secure against possible smothering of a baby? These were a few of the questions listed concerning asphyxiation and suffocation.

Questions concerning electric shock were as follows: Are electric appliances in good condition? Are worn and broken cords promptly discarded? Are installations and repairs made by competent persons?

More current accidents resulting in cuts and infections were also discussed. Some of these were are toys with sharp points and edges discarded? Are sharp edged tools kept away from small children? Is skillful use of knives and other tools learned?

Then, finally, we come to the questions concerning some of the more deadly accidents caused by poisons. Are all poisons separately stored? Are poison containers clearly identified? Are unused medicines promptly destroyed?

We are all familiar with the hazardous accidents caused by guns. Are firearms about premises unloaded? Are all firearms out of reach of younger children? Are they always handled as if loaded?

The Red Cross urges us to correct any habits we might have that might have serious or even fatal results. Act now and avoid disaster.

P-TA To See Plays, Elect Officers Monday

The meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association next Monday in the Greeley Room at 7:30 o'clock will feature the regular election of officers. The nominating committee for affair is Mrs. George Fisher, chairman; Mrs. J. C. Carman, and Mrs. Harold Smith. Mr. Maurice Cook, vice-president, will have general charge of the meeting.

Miss Margery Suter will present two one-act plays, "One Egg" and "The Bad Penny."

Meterites Hold Meeting

Get-acquainted games were played at the meeting of the Meterite Club on March 4. June DeWood sang "Sierra Sue", accompanied by Evangeline Witmer. Miss Susan Peck, adviser, led the club in choral reading.

25,000 Sales At Tourney Booster Club Sets Record For Sales

Behind the gay smiles, the tempting food, and the charged atmosphere at the Sectional Tourney held at North Side last week-end, there were tired feet, weary bones, and hectic moments for the Booster Club members.

Besides the excitement of rooting, the members had to man the stands between the halves and between the games. The rush was terrifying and the traffic jam was worse than the loaded street cars carrying fans to the games.

Arriving at 5:30 Thursday afternoon, the members began to heat the butter, start the popcorn machine, and pop the popcorn. The candy and drink sellers arrived at 6:15 to get their displays ready. Doors opened, and the fans rushed in, and the seige, which was not to lessen 'till the doors were closed Saturday evening, began. This was only Thursday evening.

FRIDAY, WORKERS CAME AT 7 AND STAYED TILL 11; SATURDAY, THEY CAME AT 11 AND WORKED TILL 10:30. SANDWICHES WERE SERVED TO THE WORKERS WHO STAYED TO HELP ALL THROUGH MEALTIME.

Philo Banquet Is Irish Feast

March 17 Is Date; Committees For Hall, Program, Decorations Are Listed

Committees were announced for the Saint Patrick's Banquet to be held March 17, at the Philo meeting Monday.

Miss Elizabeth Demaree, sponsor of the club, is the chairman of the program committee. Assisting her are Ruth Cyr, Carol Whittier, Mary Ellen Barrett, Mary Lybrook, June Flaig, Ellen Harry, and Ruth Dauner.

Maurine Leas, Gloria Kramer, and Marilyn Loomis are in charge of the hall. The invitation committee consists of Joan Cartwright, Iona Jean Tracht, Thompsie Hall, and Romayne Rediger.

The decorations committee consists of Marg Dyer, chairman; Rozella Foutz, Mary Bowly, Bettlu Stein, Kay Kuntz, Jean Weil, Laura Grazier, Jean Foreman, Marge McMahon, Charlotte DuWan, and Kathryn Guild.

Wilma Lageman, Joan Cartwright, Pat Haruff, and Helen Savage comprise a committee to decide on a point system for the club.

Lois Gumpner, vice-president, and Faye Gumpner, sergeant-at-arms, were in charge of the serious and fun initiation.

The custom of presenting the gold and white ribbons to the initiates was used, and the traditional song was sung by the new members. In the fun initiation a song was sung, a portrait of Mr. R. Nelson Snider was made, a playlet entitled "Winning Ways" was presented, dramatic declamation was given, and the Gettysburg Address was recited.

Names of the new members are as follows:

Graduating Seniors Propose To Attend Colleges, Get Work

What are you going to do after you graduate from high school? You don't know? Well, some of the present seniors and post grads do; but then some of them don't, too. Nevertheless, here are some of their answers to this question.

Bob Allen: I hope to go to a music college and further my studies of the French horn.

Ed Bauer: Well, I think maybe I want to be a politician.

Joyce Cleaver: Curtis Institute or bust! says I.

Mary Ann Gaskins: I'd like to go to college and then become a teacher.

Virginia Hill: I'm going to Extension for a couple of years and take up chemistry and home ec.

Jim Gerig: Be a bum! But seriously, I think I'll be working at Harvey Brothers for a while.

Elaine Ferguson: I'm going to work.

Dorothy Cooper: I want to work for a couple of years, and then go to college to become a doctor.

Bob Hockemeyer: I'm to work for Pop and attend Indiana Extension in the evenings for a year or two, unless I get a scholarship.

Bob Hines: Guess I'll go to college; probably Purdue.

Maurine Leas: I suppose I'll go to college, too; Ferry Hall preferred.

Mary Bowly: I hope to get a scholarship to a college so I can study modern language.

Mary Ellen Anderson: I'm going to get a job.

Harold Layman: I'm going to clerk in a Kroger Store and attend I. U. Extension.

Betty Baumgartner: I'd like to attend International Business College.

Bernadine Bender: I'm going to take nurses training at Chicago.

Charlene McAtee: I'm going to Miami College, Oxford, Ohio.

Dolores Daniels: I'm going to work for a year, and then I'll probably go to I. U.

"Pan Americana" Is Gay GAA Fiesta

Swamp-fire, Military, Argentine, Jitterbug, Toreador Dances Will Be Outstanding Acts

"Pan Americana," theme of the Girls' Athletic Association's annual exhibition, will be a gay, peppy fiesta staged at South Side's gymnasium March 21. The girls taking part will be gay messengers of goodwill to help President Roosevelt in his "Good Neighbor Policy."

Goodwill will be heightened by a commentary over a national hook-up between the acts.

A swamp-fire dance, a military number, an Argentine dance, a jitterbug dance, and toreadors fighting bulls are some of the outstanding numbers. A grand finale danced to the tune of Frenesi will conclude the program.

Tickets at twenty-five cents per person will be sold by GAA girls, dance club members, gym classes, and the gymnasium office girls.

Leads I. U. Band

Frederick E. Green is the director of the Indiana University Band which will play at South Side next Wednesday.

Seventh Period Monday Is Time; Study Hall Is Setting; Price Is Ten Cents

SPC Is Sponsor Of Annual Plays

Five Girls, Two Boys Act In Funny, Serious Presentations Of Class Of 1942

"One Egg" and "The Bad Penny" are plays to be presented Monday during the seventh period in the study hall by senior members of the Student Players' Club under the direction of Miss Margery Suter, adviser.

The admission price is 10 cents a person. Students attending plays will be excused from their seventh period classes.

Tickets will be on sale Monday morning in the home rooms and during the fifth period at a booth stationed in the front hall.

There is an all-girl cast for "The Bad Penny," consisting of Lois Bloemker as Kate Penny, Betty Hargan as Mrs. Margaret Downing, Pat Sanford as Mrs. Lillian Simpson, and Mary Ellen Barrett as Peggy Downing.

The cast for "The One Egg," includes the girl, Eileen Eldner; the boy, Bud Lampton; and the waiter, Bill Bone.

DOROTHY SNAVELEY IS THE PROMPTER FOR "BAD PENNY", WHILE CLARA MAKEY SERVES AS PROMPTER FOR "ONE EGG".

"Bad Penny" leans toward the serious side of life while "One Egg" is definitely humorous.

Arrangements for the plays have been made by Safford McMyler, president of Student Players' Club. Bob Brooks, Ed Meyer, Paul Keil, Jim Brooks, Dick Thye, Don Meyer, Everette Truelock, Dick Bailhe, and Dick Holmes comprise the stage crew.

Hi-Y Club Names Assistant Adviser

Mr. Ralph C. Murray Appointed By Mr. Clyde Peirce; Pete Holzworth Heads Committee

Mr. Ralph C. Murray, bookkeeping teacher, was appointed assistant faculty adviser of Hi-Y under Mr. Clyde Peirce. Pete Holzworth, vice-president, was placed in charge of a committee consisting of Roger McVay, Joe Beckus, and Dick Brintzenhofe. Its duty being to plan Hi-Y's yearly program, Mr. C. G. Leonard, director of men's activities at YMCA, announced that Bill Goodwin had been appointed president of Section 2, District 4, of Hi-Y clubs, and also told the club of a meeting of Hi-Y clubs in District 4, March 10, at which Dr. Wormingham, associated with the American Youth Foundation, will speak.

MEMBERS OF HI-Y WERE INVITED TO ATTEND A YOUTH AND DEMOCRACY MEETING HELD FEBRUARY 25, IN CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL AT 8 O'CLOCK IN THE EVENING.

"Youth In the Present Crisis" was the subject, and it was discussed by twelve speakers representing youth organizations in the city. E. J. Wynn, chief investigator of the Indiana Federal Bureau of Investigation, was the principal speaker.

Members swam in the pool between 7 and 7:45 o'clock. Dave Azar and Howard Blood were placed in charge of checking at the P-TA Frolic, February 13. Bill Goodwin, Pete Holzworth, and Don Auer were placed in charge of checking up on Howard Blood and Bill Goodwin were placed in charge of the checking at the sectional. Hi-Y gave $2 to the World-wide Christian Youth Movement. Jim Holzworth gave a report on the pencil sale.

Torch Club Features Club Election Today

Because of postponement, Torch Club will hold its election today at 3:20 o'clock in Room 174 instead of last Thursday, it was announced by Mr. Ernest Walker, club adviser. Franklin Neff, president, will be in charge of the meeting.

Last semester's officers are Russell Siples, secretary; Kenneth Iba, treasurer; and Walter Timme, sergeant-at-arms. Bob Childers, George Waldschmidt, and Frank Neff composed the program committee.

Any freshman or sophomore boy who wishes to join Torch Club may do so at this meeting. There are no dues. A small initiation fee is asked for the use of the YMCA facilities every month.

Sports Experts Board Selects All-City Basketball Squad

Three Kellies Are Adopted For Net Team

C. Feistkorn, R. Hines, R. Shimer Are Named; Three Reds, Two Tigers Chosen

Sports experts constituting a seven-man board have again selected the South Side Times All-City Basketball squad. In boxing there is an adage that reads, "Good first rounds are a dime a dozen, but strong finishes are worth their weight in gold".

In basketball, however, good, consistent play must be displayed throughout the season for a player to be classed as a winner or as a star athlete. At least, so have the seven experts agreed in naming their team; for none of the eight members comprising the squad were able to cop a select place via spasmodic scoring sprees or strong finishes. All of the all-city basketballers played heads-up ball throughout the campaign.

The method of selection followed this plan: Each of the seven board members cast his selections for an eight-man team. The results of the seven ballots were tabulated, and the squad was chosen. All of the experts voted in practical unison, for only three other players were mentioned in addition to the eight men chosen.

THREE ARCHERS, THREE REDSKINS, AND TWO TIGERS MAKE UP THE SQUAD. THE TRIO OF FORWARDS SELECTED REPRESENT EACH OF THE CITY PUBLIC HIGH SCHOOLS.

Big Russell Wilkin of Central won the city scoring chase this year with 191 markers. Murray Mendenhall regards Russ as one of his outstanding cagers of all time, and Mendi has had some great stars in Herm Schaefer, Paul Armstrong, Tom Motter, and many others too numerous to mention.

Respected Charles "Gus" Feistkorn of South Side holds down another forward berth. Throughout the year, Gus has been a steady performer and a good scrapper. Feistkorn ranked fifth in the city scoring chase this year with 139 tallies. Gus has high hopes of becoming a freshman cage star at either Drake or Purdue University next year.

Bob Cowan, regarded by many as Indiana's perfect prep school athlete, was a unanimous choice for his post. Bob has made all-city in football for two years, and he has done just as well on the hardwood. Cowan's left-handed push shots are the true thorns in the defenses of most of the Redskins' foes.

Two outstanding athletes were elected to the center posts, Dick Tackett of Central, and Jim Hings of North Side. Tackett has been playing good basketball for the Tigers since his sophomore year.

Dick did a great job this year in his rebound work; and also in setting up the open shots for high-scorers Wilkin and Washington.

Jim Hings is one of the two junior members of the squad. Hings has displayed real ability on tip-ins and one-handed pivot efforts, chalking up 137 points by his fine offensive labor. Bob Nulf will count heavily upon Hings for next season, as the lanky junior will be required to carry the burden of an inexperienced outfit.

Bob Young, of the Nulmen, has been teaming with Cowan for the past three years on the court. Together the duo have become all-city performers. Young is a great defensive cager, and he can also count up the fielders with the best of the state's netters. Bob will in all probability accompany buddy Bob Cowan to Michigan University next fall.

Two South Siders were chosen to fill the other guard positions on the All-City unit. Captain Bob Hines and Chick Shimer were selected to hold down the other defensive posts; for both have played good, steady, sportsmanlike basketball throughout the year.

HINES HAD TROUBLE IN HITTING THE HOOP WITH ANY SEMBLANCE OF CONSISTENCY. BUT HE WAS RECOGNIZED AS THE REAL COG IN THE GREEN NET MACHINE. BOB HAS HOPES OF ENTERING NORTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY NEXT YEAR.

Chick Shimer, second junior member of the team, has been the real defensive workhorse of the Archers this year. Shimer had chances of holding down such offensive stars as Muff Davis of Elwood and Central, and Wilkin of North Side and Central. In each case, he did a great job in throttling the high-gear snipers.

Bill Washington of Central missed a forward berth by a single ballot. Bob Heiny and Dick Krouse of Central Catholic each received recognition as guard candidates.

The seven-man board of basketball experts who chose the outfit were Ben Tenny, Fred MacFeeley, Phil Olofson, Hilliard Gates, Stan Prince, and Bob Young.

Nice Going Team—Another sectional has come and gone. North Side's big Redskins are hailed as the titlists. But amidst all the celebration of the Northern win, I wish to offer my congratulations to the South Side Archers. Many teams, in fact some 712, fell in sectional play. None could have bowed more graciously or more courageously than our Archers. For CAPTAIN BOB HINES, GUS FEISTKORN, CHUCK CLOSE, and DOYLE SHIRK, the loss at the hands of the Tigers represented a final departure from the Green and White basketball scene. The other six members of the tourney team will be back next year, and I feel very confident to say that BILL KNOLL, EUGENE REICHERT, HARRY HINES, TOM BROWER, DALLAS ZUBER, and CHICK SHIMER will offer South Siders another fine brand of hardwood play.

Alternates JIM STRAWBRIDGE and BOB BABBITT should also again figure prominently in the Archer net drama come next fall.

So, in writing a finis to the basketball story of 1940-41, I am speaking as a representative of all Archerdom in saying, "Nice Going, Team. You never let us down, and we were all proud of your courageous play this year. We could not ask for more than was offered to us—for plaudits are not always awarded on baskets, but rather on the sportsmanship, good character, and high scholarship which each of you has retained."

So—Go out, you Redskins, and stay on the track. And those state title trophies do not lack! You've Cowan, and Young, and Hings, who's tough, And Ervin and Harrison who have plenty of stuff. Then there's Moyer, and Ranly, and Kay Short, too, And Reese and Popp to name the last two. Bob Nulf rates our praise as the "Coach of the Year", And the wily Red mentor sees title dreams near.

But enough for the team and their titular feat,

For I want to digress on the regional meet.

In the first game Avilla will face the Piercetion Cub,

And then the Auburn Devils will meet the northern club.

From looking at the crystal ball, I see two teams alone,

The Piercetion Cubs and the Nulmen vieing for the throne.

Piercetion is seeking to fell the Red-skin tepee,

But no such occurrence does our crystal ball see.

So, on Saturday night the Nulmen should be seen,

Looking forward to Muncie as one of "The Sweet Sixteen".

—Go, you Redskins, and capture the throne,

So that wide will spread your fame and renown.

All South Side's for you, now go out and come back,

And the championship trophies do not lack.

Central Edges Archers Out Of Sectionals

Final Score Of 54 To 46 Puts Kellies Out; Tom Brower Is High-Point Man Of Tilt

Big Russ Wilkin and Bill Washington had a "hot" evening last Thursday, and as a result the Archers of South Side were edged, 54 to 46, in a thrilling tournament game. Although diminutive Tom Brower tossed in seventeen points for the Green, the smooth-working forwards of Central had amassed too great a total of markers with which the Archer offensive might cope.

South Side's offensive was almost perfect, but the story of the defeat may be easily taken from the shooting figures, for the Tigers caged some 18 out of 52 field attempts, while the locals netted 17 of 57 tries.

For the first time in months of hardwood play, a team managed to better the Archers' foul sniping abilities. Central hit nineteen gratis throws while the locals hit only twelve.

GAA'ers Complete Volleyball Tourney

Jo Ann Spore Leads Sophomore 3's To Victory In Final Upperclass Game Of Season

In the last game of the GAA upperclassmen volleyball tourney, Jo Ann Spore's Sophomore 3's were the winning team. Geneva Martin's Senior 1's placed second, Delores Bodenhorn's Junior 1's and Betty Hargan's Junior 2's tied for rank of third-place winners. Winners for fourth place were Frances Nash's Senior 2's and Ilo Hirschman's Sophomore 2's. Fifth-place winners were Maxine Voltz's Sophomore 4's, and Julia Kaser's Sophomore 1's placed sixth.

The Sophomore 3's won first place by winning eleven of twelve games, defeating the Sophomore 1's and the Junior 1's last Friday. By winning eight of eleven games, the Senior 1's placed second. The Junior 1's and Junior 2's tied for the third place by winning seven of twelve games.

Umpires for these last games were Mary Dayton, Marilyn Brackman, Margaret Stolp, Evelyn Dert, and Alice Dolin. Scorekeepers were Anna Lee Bearinger, Wilma Kellogg, Marilyn Smith, Evelyn Dert, Jean Clark, Lois Bender, and Hedweg Koch.

Northerner Reds To Meet Auburn

Initial Tilt Of Regional To Be Between Avilla, Piercetion In Redskins' Gym Saturday

Auburn's Red Devils will furnish the North Side Redskins with their first competition in the local regional. The Redskin-Red Devil clash will be played at 2:30 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, with a tilt between Avilla and Piercetion preceding this feature game.

North Side downed the Auburn by a nine-point margin late in the regular season, 34 to 25. The charges of Bob Nulf should duplicate their previous win. Auburn, however, is paced by three outstanding artists in big Denny McDarby and the Muzzillo brothers, Ralph and Bob.

COACH NULF HAS BEEN SENDING THE INDIAN BASKETEERS THROUGH IMPORTANT DRILLS THIS WEEK, AND THE BIG RED RAIDERS SHOULD BE IN CONDITION TO MEET ANY THREAT OF THE VISITING CAGEMEN.

Piercetion's rampaging Cubs, having annexed the Warsaw meet via a 35-to-19 win over Atwood, will be heavy favorites to whip Avilla and meet the Summit City netters in the regional finale.

Avilla dumped Lagrange, 31 to 27, to capture the sectional at Kendallville. Avilla has a fair-sized squad which shows signs of causing plenty of grief among the better teams.

Despite any sudden show of offensive power or defensive strength by Avilla and Auburn, the Piercetion Cubs and the North Side Redskins are expected to meet in the finals. The locals should win only after a hard struggle, for the Piercetion Cubs are tall and dangerous to attack.

Northerners Capture Title

Redskins Overcome Eight-Year Jinx By Scalping Tigers 40 To 31 In Final

North Side's powerful Redskins overcame an eight-year jinx last Saturday night by winning the sectional crown from Central by a 40-to-31 count. While the Nulmen looked like true titlists from the very opening whistle, the Bengals looked disappointingly weak on both their offense and defense.

As usual, it was the stellar play of Bob Cowan which kept the Northerners ahead throughout the battle.

Against the locals on Thursday night, Tigers Wilkin and Washington contributed 37 markers. Failing to hit the net with any semblance of their old form, the two Blue stars pooled but 14 points in the Tiger-Redskin battle.

concessions. It was due to their excellent leadership that the stands ran smoothly. They supervised thirty-two workers and prepared schedules to relieve the workers as well as ordering supplies and seeing that the refreshments arrived safely and on time. Beyond this tremendous task, they were police over the money and the sellers.

So-Si-Y's Name Card Sale To Start Today

Seniors wanting name cards may place their orders with So-Si-Y girls today and tomorrow in Room 66.

Those who order one hundred will receive a book in which articles about their four years in South Side can be written. Smaller orders, of course, will be taken.

Regional Tickets May Be Purchased At N. S.

Regional tickets can be purchased at North Side High School. They will be on sale until the supply is exhausted for the price of 75 cents.

Archers Write Articles

Herman Davis, 12A, and Barbara Brower, 12A, wrote articles which appeared in The News-Sentinel on the Youths' Passing Show page recently. Barbara's story was about various signs which reveal that spring is not far off. Herman told about two individuals, one who knows he's right all of the time and one who doesn't know if he is right, but as a rule he is.

IM Basketball List Tourney Conquerors

Champions have been crowned in the Boys' Intramural Basketball Tourney which has been going on for the past few weeks. These winners will have their pictures in the 1941 Totem.

The Flatfeet took the heavyweight title, overwhelming a fighting S.O.P. team 39 to 20 in a heated battle. Constant sniping by Turley, who made fourteen points, put the Flatfeet on top. Previously the Flatfeet had nosed out a capable Supermen quintet 12 to 10.

In the middleweight department, the Cats ousted the Blackbolts in two exciting duels, with Hirshey and Schurenberg being the scoring threats in both battles.

The scores of the lightweight class have not yet been revealed.

Water Is Found Everywhere, But None To Drink At Filtration Plant

"Water, water everywhere and not a drop to drink". This old quotation truly described the condition of a reporter who visited the Three Rivers Filtration Plant.

When the water is first pumped into the plant, it takes six hours to analyze the condition of the water so that the chemist can determine how much of each chemical is to be added to it. First added to the water are quicklime and soda ash. The lime is to soften the water, and alum is added to remove the color. Soda ash is put into the water to counteract the hardening agent in the alum. When the water enters the building, these chemicals are all added together, along with powdered charcoal, which sweetens and removes the odor in the water.

After the chemicals are put into the water, the water flows to a primary mixing tank where the chemicals are thoroughly mixed with the water. Then it goes to coagulating basins where the dirt forms flocks on top of the water. When these are very heavy with dirt, they sink to the bottom of the tank.

From the coagulating tanks the water flows to settling basins where more of the dirt settles on the bottom of the tank. To prevent the tank from filling with dirt, sludge pumps are constantly scraping the tank. Next the water goes into the clarifier from which the water flows into deep tanks which have carbon dioxide coming through holes in the floor to recarbonate the water.

Assemblies Scheduled For Spring Semester

Five assemblies have been scheduled for this semester. First on the list is the Indiana University band concert, which will take place on March 12 at 10:30 o'clock. On April 4, the semi-annual tag day assembly for National Honor Society will be held.

Service Club will have a recognition assembly on April 15. May 16 is the date of the operetta. Annual Recognition Day will be June 6.

Archers Contribute Articles

Jean Boyce, 10A; Wilbur Scholle, 12A, and Martha Smith, 12A, made contributions to Youths' Passing Show Page in The News-Sentinel recently. Jean's article was about the wormy apple which was eaten because of a refusal on her part to listen to the advice of her nephew, Barry Lee. "Glories of Hill and Stream" and "Baby" were the poems written by Wilbur and Martha.

Professor To Speak Here At Assembly

Dr. Osbert W. Warmingham,
Boston University Representative, Is Lecturer

Guest Will Talk To Various Clubs

Time Set For Speech, 8:20 O'clock Tomorrow; Subject Is Today's Youth

Dr. Osbert W. Warmingham, professor at Boston University, will speak at an assembly tomorrow at 8:20 o'clock on
"Leading Youth Into More Successful
Living, Passing Problems and Living
Loyalties, Education for Self-Liberation, and the Need for Mutuality".

After the assembly, he will speak in Room 66 the first and second periods; he will be in Room 102 for special conferences the third period, in the Greeley Room for the Christian
Club, and for USA, So-Hi-Y and Girl
Reserves the fourth and sixth periods, and for conferences again the seventh period.

This evening Fort Wayne teachers will be host at North Side High School auditorium for Dr. Warming-ham, where he will lecture on the subject of "Pygmalion — or The Ethics of Creativity and Conflict".
Tickets for the lecture may be obtained from Mr. Earl Sterner in Room 28.

Dr. Warmingham has been professor of biblical history and literature at Boston University for more than fifteen years. He received his education from English schools, including Oxford, and from the Universities of Ohio Wesleyan, Wisconsin, and Boston after coming to the United States about twenty-five years ago. The honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred upon him by Carroll College in 1936.

He spoke at the Plymouth Congregational Church to the members and at a Youth Rally last Sunday, to the Ministerial Association, Central High School, and fourteen Hi-Y clubs on Monday, to the Kiwanis members and the parents and campers of the local
Y camp at the YMCA, Tuesday, and Indiana University Extension students on Wednesday. He will speak to North Side High School students and the Teachers Association today, and he will conclude at South Side tomorrow.

Thomas Wilson Is Torch President

Franklin Neff, Bob Childers,
Dick Morton, Kenneth Iba
Are Other Officers Elected

Tom Wilson is the newly elected president of Torch Club. He replaces Franklin Neff. Dick Morton was elected vice-president. Ken Iba, secretary, and Frank Neff, treasurer.
Bob Childers is the new sergeant-at-arms. The election took place last Thursday in Room 174 at the club's weekly meeting.

Jack McMillan is in charge of making arrangements for a trip to Pokagon this spring. Torch Club will camp two days there, it was decided at the business meeting which preceded the election.

Ex-Archer Teacher Makes School Visit

Miss Eleanor Smeltzly, world traveler and former world history teacher in South Side, was a visitor Monday.
While in the building, she spent a few minutes in the Times office; and she is very enthusiastic about The Times.
In her opinion, the great success of The Times is due to the fine co-operation of the staff, the careful censorship of Mr. R. Nelson Snider, and the efficient adviser, Miss Rowena Harvey. Miss Smeltzly has had the opportunity to compare our school publication with the school publications all over the world. She still thinks that we have the best school paper in the United States.

Vesey Representative To Visit Wo-Ho-Ma

Vesey's Flower Shop will send a representative to give a talk on "Floral Display" to Wo-Ho-Ma Club today at 3:30 o'clock in the Greeley Room. The committee in charge of this meeting is Lettie Mae Julian, chairman, Ester Kiermeier, and Dorothy Jean Lemert.
Refreshments will be served.

Current Events Is Topic

Social Science Club will discuss current events tomorrow night in the Greeley Room at 7:15. Bob Wylie and Bob Brooks will speak. Jim Brooks will lead the general discussion. All members are asked to pay their dues as soon as possible to Ruth Dauner.

Halls Are Deserted After A Noisy Day Of Frantic Hurry

Crash! Bang! Bing! Boom!
Smash! Those are just some noises that are audible during the periods between classes and after school in the halls of dear old South Side. But there is a decided change at 4:30 or 5 o'clock, when there are very few people in the building. There is an occasional slam of a locker owned by a late stayer, a few voices cut off by the slam of a door, and maybe the voice of a teacher or two.

AT CERTAIN TIMES DUR-ING THE DAY, THE HALLS ARE CROWDED AND JAMMED WITH HURRYING
STUDENTS AND TEACH-ERS; AFTER SCHOOL THE HALLS CLEAR QUICKLY, AND SOON MR. HALL IS COMPLETELY DESERTED.
SAVE FOR A FEW STRAY-ERS.

During the noon hour, people meet their friends in the halls and talk, having a gay of time; but, later in the day, the halls are deserted. No one is to be seen, and there is an atmosphere that makes one think he'd lost or misplaced something.

At the times when students and teachers are in the halls, the bells are scarcely audible; but in the evening not only the bells are heard plainly, but even the click, as the hands of the clock change,
is heard.

The walls and the floors of the corridor really take a beating when two thousand or more people run and kick at for approximately one hour and fifty-five minutes each day of the week; but, after school hours, only the results show, the black marks of shoes, dents of heels, and pencil marks.

Junior Class Officers Discuss Prom Plans

Junior class officers met recently in Room 12 to discuss plans for the 1941
Junior Prom. The prom will be given in the school gymnasium on Friday, May 2. Ralph Shimer is in charge of securing an orchestra. The theme has not been definitely decided upon. Miss Hazel Miller and Mr. Lloyd Whelan are class advisers. Officers are Ralph Shimer, president; Roger McVay, vice president; Marilyn Loomis, secretary-treasurer; social council, Mary Ellen Barrett, Joan Cox, and Sam Johnson.

Philalethians Will Present Irish Banquet

Saint Patrick's Day Is Date Set For Philo's Annual Event; List Committees

"The Irish Potato Talks" will be the theme of Philo's eighteenth annual Saint Patrick's Day banquet to be held Monday,
March 17, in the cafeteria at 6:30 o'clock. The price will be fifty cents.

clude Mr. R. Nelson Snider, Mr.
Merle J. Abbott, Mr. Benjamin
Null, Miss Martha Pittenger, Maurine Leas, Mary Ellen Barrett, and Wilma Lagemann.

Ruth Dauner, Lois Craig, Helen Savage, and Emalyn Rummel, accompanied by Mildred Hanke at the piano, will sing several Irish selections. The Instrumental Trio, composed of Hilda Schubert and Lois and Faye Gumper, will present a few numbers. Ellen Harry, Carol Whit-tern, and Mary Lybrook will present stunts during the evening.

ALL MEMBERS OF THE CLUB WILL RECEIVE IN-VITATIONS. THE MESSAGE WILL BE WRITTEN WITH GREEN INK ON WHITE
CARDS WITH GREEN EDGING.

Miss Elizabeth Demaree, sponsor of the club, is the chairman of the program committee. Assisting her are Ruth Cyr, Carol Whittern, Mary Ellen Barrett, Mary Lybrook, June
Flaig, Ellen Harry, and Ruth Dauner.

Maurine Leas, Gloria Kramer, and Marilyn Loomis are in charge of the hall. The initiation committee consists of Joan Car-wright, Iona Jean Tracht, Tom-

Guld.

Miss Lucy Mellen is in charge of the serving. Girls from her home economics classes will assist her.

Members of the club wishing to attend the banquet should sign up in Miss Demaree's room, 68, by Friday after school. All dues must be paid by Monday after school or the dues will be raised to fifty cents.

Music Instructor Leads I. U. Band

Mr. Jack Wainwright Directs
One Selection; Mr. R. N. Snider Has Charge Of Concert

Mr. Jack Wainwright, head of the music department, led the Indiana University band in "National Defense March" by Prosperi at the concert given in the South Side gymnasium
Wednesday morning.

Mr. R. Nelson Snider was in charge of the concert. Parents, students, and friends were invited to attend.

The marching band, made up of sixty musicians selected individually from the 110-piece band, includes David Slattery and Robert Shimmel, '39, and Paul Pressler, also from Fort Wayne.

Lieut. Frederick E. Green, director, conducted the band in "The Star Spangled Banner."

Lieut. Col. E. E. Tabscott, commander of the band, was with the band when it came to Fort Wayne.

The South Side concert was one of the seventeen concerts the band will present during their tour from March 10-14.

Coach Friddle Under Knife

★ ★ ★

Coach Burl Friddle's condition has been reported as "fairly good" by attaches of the Methodist Hospital. The Archer cage mentor was stricken with appendicitis last Thursday, and he has since been operated on at the downtown hospital.

All Archerdom is hopeful that Mr. Friddle will enjoy a rapid recovery, and that he will soon be walking the halls of South Side again.

Math-Sci To See 'House Of Magic'

General Electric Exhibit To Be Given Tomorrow; Mr.
Howard Miller Is Sponsor

The General Electric Company "House of Magic" will be exhibited at the Math-Science Club meeting March 14 at 7:45 o'clock in Room 114.

This special program is to be presented under the direction of Mr.
Howard Miller, engineer of the Fort Wayne Works Laboratory, assisted by Mr. Claude M. Summers and Mr.
Emerson G. Downie, also of the Works laboratory personnel.

The "House of Magic" show is a presentation by the Fort Wayne works of the General Electric Company. However, it is similar to the demonstration shown at both World Fairs last year sponsored by the General Electric office in Schenectady, New York.

This show will take about one hour for its presentation and will be made up of a demonstration of a variety of scientific apparatus, much of which is used in the every-day work of the men in the Research and Works Laboratories. They will be many unusual phenomena demonstrated, such as the seeing of sound and the hearing of light.
Also, there will be shown a color change disk and a demonstration of black light.

OTHER DEMONSTRATIONS ARE INVISIBLE LIGHT, FLAM-ING LIGHT BULBS, DISCON-
TINUOUS LIGHT, AND VISI-BLE HEART BEATS.

This meeting is open for parents, teachers, friends, and those students who would be interested in seeing such a demonstration.

26 Pupils Play In Tournament Of Ping Pong

Max Stobaugh Is Leader In Table Tennis Fracas Winning Thirty-Two Contests

Max Stobaugh is leading in the table tennis tournament which has been in progress since February 24. He has won thirty-two games and lost one. Twenty-seven boys are participating in the games.

The tournament is held during the fifth period and after school each day in Room 170. Mr. Ralph E. Murray is faculty adviser for the group.

Participants in the tourney are
Camille Applegate, Bill Brower,
Wayne Brown, Dick Bussing,
Raymond Commers, John Craig,
Norman Fortress, Ovar Gilbreath,
Charles Gramlich, Edwin Habis,
Kenneth Hibler, Harold Tassen,
Arthur Longworth.

Others are Russet May, Wendell
Muller, Harold Pittenger, Paul Post,
Bud Puff, Charles Rodey, Max Stobaugh,
Everette Trulock, Al Verweire,
Raymond Vonderau, Bill Wilson, Gerard Wulliman, John Heffelfinger, and Bob Stock. Max Chandler is in charge of the records.

ANY REGULARLY ENROLLED
SOUTH SIDE STUDENT WAS ELI-GIBLE TO ENTER THE TOUR-NAMENT UPON THE PAYMENT OF THE 10-CENT FEE.

Only two postponements of games is allowed each player and these must be made by 11 o'clock of the scheduled date in Room 182. The official rules of table tennis, as on file in Room 182, follow. Each participant furnishes his own paddle and ball; tables and nets are furnished by the school.

Prizes will be bought from the money collected for fees. The percentage of games will be declared winner.

The high six in the tourney will constitute the varsity team; the second highest six, the substitutes. Any others will form the second team.

The purposes of the tournament are to determine the school champion, to select a team to represent the school, and to let everybody have a good time playing table tennis.

Ides Of March Is Latin Club Theme

Group Is To Convene Today In Greeley Room At 4; Five Pupils Are To Present Play

"Please come dressed as a Roman —modern costumes are taboo. 'When in Rome', the proverb tells us, 'we must do as the Romans do'." This reads the invitation for the Latin Club party which will be held in the Greeley Room today at 4 o'clock.

Cave Idus Martias (Beware of the Ides of March) is the theme for the party. The Ides of March fall on the fifteenth, but since this date is on Saturday the party will be held today, the regular meeting time for the club.

Mary Whittern as Calpurnia, John
Olcott as Caesar, Keith Lakey as Brutus, Bob Zimmer as a soothsayer, and Harry Kelsey as Mark Antony will present "Julius Caesar in Song".

Joan Cox and Carol Trenary are making favors for the party. Violet
Reiter, Connie Krauss, John Johnson,
Joan Strahlem, and the club officers,
Dorothy Gildea, Ellen Harry, and Lois Craig, are planning the entertainment.

Will Present GE House Of Magic

Do You Need More Glamour? If You Do Try This Easy Way

Are you frequently compared to an animated scarecrow? Do you lack that certain amount of poundage to give you glamour? If you closely resemble the nearest telephone pole, you need a change in diet. Every skinny school girl will be delighted with this new routine in diet guaranteed to increase your weight at least two pounds a day.

You do not need any specified
"Ironized Yeast" or "Ovaline" to produce more poundage if you will just follow this diet. For breakfast, a light meal of stewed prunes, oatmeal drowned in two quarts of milk, three eggs, a pound of bacon, six slices of toast with generous helpings of butter, and a large flask of Postum is a wonderful suggestion to start the day off with.

Of course, after a strenuous morning of mental slavery in the schoolroom, which may involve the loss of a few pounds, a hearty lunch would be the only healthy thing to do. Perhaps a menu of six hamburgers, three cokes, two hot fudge sundaes, a bowl of chili, and a Bromo-Selzer would do the trick.

But, by dinner time, you are still more fatigued, and in order not to lose an ounce of your well earned weight, you must indulge in a generous evening meal. As an appetizer, nothing is better than stewed prunes. They help to grow big, brawny brains, you know, girls.

After your appetite has reached the capacity of a lion, then is the time to dig in. The next course consists of five or more pork chops, mashed potatoes, french fried onions (yum, yum), boiled cabbage with corn beef,
stewed parsnips, and corn fritters.
Following this comes several pieces of Boston cream pie to top off a wonderful meal at the end of a wonderful day. If you follow suggestions similar to this diet for the day, you are bound to either gain weight or die in the attempt.

Camenean Group Arranges Potluck

Betty Peppler Is Chairman Of Initiation Committee; Helen Dicke, Betty Medsker Assist

Initiation of all new members will be held at the next meeting of Ca-menean Club Tuesday, in the form of a potluck. Betty Peppler, chairman of the initiation committee, has charge. Those assisting her are Betty Medsker and Helen Dicke. All members who wish to attend the potluck are asked to sign in Room 32.

ALL MEMBERS OF CA-
MENEAN CLUB AND THEIR PARENTS HAVE BEEN IN-VITED BY THE SOCIAL SCIENCE CLUB TO VISIT
THE GENERAL ELECTRIC
"HOUSE OF MAGIC" HERE
AT SOUTH SIDE MARCH 14,
AT 8:00 P.M.

At the meeting held Tuesday, records were played in coherence with the theme of the club this semester, which is "Hobbies." The first group of records consisted of classical songs. Dorothy Allen gave a brief review of the life of Verdi, who wrote songs. The opera song "Ides", written by him, was played on a victrola brought by Reba Coppock. Dorothy also reported on Peter Tschakovsky, after which, part of overture to "Romeo and Juliet" was played; Rossini, part of William Tell overture; and Schubert, after which reports the members listened to "The Unfinished Symphony".

Elaine Hirschy has charge of the semi-classical group. She reviewed the life of Victor Herbert, a romantic composer, and then played the record of his "Ah!
Sweet Mystery of Life" sung by Nelson Eddy. Elaine also gave a short report on the life of Johann Strauss, after which she played the best known of his waltzes,
"The Blue Danube Waltz".

Adita Prange, chairman of the committee, played some popular song records. Some of them were: "The Breeze and I", by Jimmy Dorsey and his orchestra; "Where Was I", by Tony Martin; and "Frenesi", by Al
Donahue and his orchestra. All records were brought by members of the club, and were played on Reba Coppock's victrola. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Three E's Members Plan Slang Discussion

Reports will be given on slang expressions which have developed in various occupations and which sometimes have become legitimate words in the language and on words developed from proper names at the Three E's Club meeting Saturday. A contest in detecting errors in common speech and exercises for the improvement of vocabulary will be conducted.
The meeting will be held at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Wilma Lagemann, 4034 Indiana Avenue. Assisting hostesses are Bettie Stein, Hilda
Schubert, and Gertrude Merkel.

P-TA Elects Officers For Coming Year

Mrs. Charles A. Grunewald
Is Chosen President; Succeeds Mrs. Arthur Rummel

Plans Are Made For Senior Funfest

Other Leaders Are Mrs. Ed
Auer, Mrs. Fred Wilson,
Mrs. J. Carmen, Mr. Cook

Mrs. Charles A. Grunewald was elected president of the South Side Parent-Teachers Association at their meeting Monday evening. Mrs. Arthur Rummel is the retiring president. Other officers are first vice-president, Mrs. J. C.
Carmen; second vice-president, Mr.
Cook; secretary, Mrs. Fred Wilson, and treasurer, Mrs. Ed Auer.

MRS. GEORGE FISHERING SERVED AS CHAIRMAN OF THE NOMINATING COMMIT-TEE.

The next activity scheduled for the Parent-Teacher Association is the Senior Funfest to be held on March 28. The program Monday evening consisted of several selections by the band and three numbers by the chorus. Jim McClure gave his original oration, "Of Human Progress".
Miss Margery Suter's drama students presented two one-act plays the "One Egg" and the "Bad Penny".

Fifty Cents Is Paper Price

New Rate Starts Wednesday
For Remainder Of Semester; $227.75 Must Be Paid

Starting next Wednesday, room agents will sell Times subscriptions for the rest of the semester for fifty cents. There are now only four 100 per cent home rooms, and this 50-cent campaign will enable more agents to gain a perfect per cent in their home rooms.

With only three more weeks to go,
the circulation staff still has to collect $227.75 in this final period of the campaign. All of the room agents have been working to get their home rooms paid, and each individual student has been asked to co-operate by bringing his money in as soon as possible. In Book I, under Tom Yates, there is still $39.10 out, $34.40 in Franklin Neff's Book II, $30 in Pat
Sanford's Book III, $45.55 in Laura Jean Grazier's Book IV, $42.15 in Betty Stump's Book V, and $36.55 in Peg Harrod's Book VI.

The following is a list of the rooms, agents, and amounts owed in each
home room:

Book I
Room	Agent	Amount
4	Jane Chenoweth,
	Nancy Cherry	$ 3.50
6	Lois Bloemker	3.70
8	Ruth Werkman	5.30
10	Sirlene Smith	2.35
12	Mary Condrey	3.00
14	Shirley Dyer	2.25
24	Joe Barbieri, Lois Bailey	2.95
26	Ruth Gold, Jean Fackler	4.90
28	Margaret Kuntz, Bar- bara Leas	2.00
30	Julia Kaser	5.15
Book II
	Assistant: Franklin Neff
32	Rose-Etha Brazy	$ 4.00
34	Billie Miller	1.75
36	Marjorie Roberts, Emalyn Rummel	4.15
38	Franklin Neff	2.25
44	Eileen Kiessling	4.00
46	Joan Carman	4.50
50	Mary Lou Feller	2.00

Don't Live Your Life 'Round The Corner; Square Matters Up!

Spring is just around the corner; according to the weatherman's calendar, it's only eight days away. In fact, there are a number of things just around the corner—spring vacation, Easter, mid-semester grades, and so forth. But to a great many students there is entirely too much just around the corner! To them there are always those things which never quite get done. In other words, there are too many persons who are going to "do it tomorrow."

This fault appears to be common to most all of us. A person who always gets things done as soon as possible is indeed a rarity, especially among high school students. But just stop and think about the matter for a moment. Isn't it a lot easier to write leisurely a theme over the week end than to do the work under forced draught in the study hall before English period on Monday morning? Isn't it a lot simpler to read tomorrow's history chapter during a study period today than it is to attempt to read it in the time between classes before your "eleventh hour" tomorrow?

A job always seems more disagreeable if it is one that has been neglected time and time again. Everyone knows this from experience, but it seems that we never learn. We always put pleasure before business. Reason it out for yourself, if you don't believe this. The "eat, drink, and be merry" stuff isn't so good. It takes a little foresight to get along in this world today.

"Hodie, non cras," is the way you learned it in Latin class. There's really no necessity in us telling you that the quickest way to get things done is to pitch right in and do them. You've known that all your life, or have you? What you DO need to be reminded of is that you should apply this principle every day to your school work. It may work both for the good of your own character and for the good of your grades.

This Isn't A Dictionary But It Gives A Definition Of "Archer"

As students of South Side, just exactly what is expected of us? What type of citizens are we supposed to be? How many outside activities should we have an interest in? In other words, what is the definition of a South Side student?

First of all, what is generally expected of us? Naturally we are expected to attend school daily (unless we are ill), to have our lessons prepared daily, and to hand in all extra work on time. Of course every teacher is broad-minded enough to realize that once in a while a student is bound to have a "bad" day, but they also realize that those days should be few and far between. What type of citizens are we supposed to be? We should be honest, trustworthy, dependable, and courteous. We have always had a reputation for being good sports, and all Archers should do their part in maintaining that record.

How many outside activities should we be interested in? That, of course, is up to the individual. The number of clubs a person belongs to should be determined by the amount of time he has to spend on outside activities. Almost everyone should belong to at least one club, even if only to prove that he is interested in the things that go on in his own school.

All summed up, a South Side student should be dependable, courteous, interested in school, and a pretty regular individual.

Correct this sentence: We realize that lawns are most easily ruined in the spring, so we are very careful not to trample on the soft, wet grounds about school.

Example of perpetual motion: The guy sitting in front of you in the study hall who is continually squirming and jiggling while you are trying to write.

A good example of spontaneous combustion is what happens when Mrs. Scott leaves the study hall for a few minutes.

In spring a young man's fancy turns to—trying to make both ends meet for the coming dances.

Shure, and for other reasons then bein' a South Sider, will ye be wearin' the green next Monday?

Social tact is making your company feel at home, even if you wish they were.

Why do we always speak of a doctor as "practicing?"

Spring fever is no excuse yet; spring is still over a week off.

Burns Burns; Contemporaries Show Contempt For Take Offs

Editor's Note: The following verses are modern versions of poems by Robert Burns and his contemporaries. Our student poet and The Times offer all due apologies to the original masters.

Teacher's Prayer (Apologies to "Jeannie")
 "I dream of a student who obeys each rule,
 Who always has his lessons and never skips school,
 Who always tries to make each theme his best;
 In fact—to make each better than the last.

"Who never yet desired to pen a note,
 Or tried renowned Shakespeare, to misquote;
 Whose studious brain would never be distraught,
 By a social web in which he may be caught.

"Who never thinks of girls, or dates, or shows;
 Who seldom thinks of basketball and clothes.
 Ah, true, it's nice to dream such lovely dreams;
 But, guess I wouldn't want 'im after all," she beams.

Stone Walls
 Stone walls do not a prison make,
 Most South Side students agree;
 In spring a school that form doth take—
 From it we're seldom free!

Auld Lang Syne
 Should all our studies be forgot,
 And they undone should be;
 A certain little card would show
 A C or e'en a D!

My Heart's In The Highlands

My heart is a-roaming, my heart is not here;
 My heart is a-roaming, out a window so near.
 Tripping down Calhoun and up to a store,
 Around the displays and up to fourth floor.
 A dream of a formal, a bundle of froth;
 A high-waisted job, done in mauve and blue cloth.
 Is awaiting me there and begs me to buy;
 Abruptly I'm called on; "Shakespeare," I sigh!

My Heart Leaps Up

My heart leaps up when I recall,
 Vacation days draw nigh!
 There're only two more weeks to wait
 Until we each put down the slate;
 Until we leave each room and hall
 With happy cry!
 And looking forward to each date,
 To concentrate we really try;
 But Spring Vacation holds each eye!

Shades of Spring

Perhaps it was the encouragement of the ground hog that made everyone suddenly become interested in the new spring colors, because this seems to be the popular trend. Big pastel prints are extremely new and exciting. One of the most popular dresses is a silk-jersey print in the favorite and patriotic colors of red, white, and blue. This stunning outfit is made more sparkling by a huge red purse and a high-crowned hat.

Of course not everyone has the desire to go so decidedly "springish." A heavy gabardine material cleverly made into a suit is quite the thing. Again we find the patriotic reds, whites, and blues in different hues. With a background of a very light blue or beige, these colors set off any suit.

It seems as if plaids just don't wear out their welcome. Again plaids are hitting the peak with a new record. This year they show themselves in huge squares of blending pastels. With this skirt, however, one will not see the ordinary "sloppy joe" sweater, for sweaters are again slowly shrinking back to normal. It won't be long until the neat colorful sweaters will be back in style.

Corduroy finger-tip coats are stepping out in the pages of fashion as being highly stylish as well as practical. This time they will not be as sloppy as they were previously. You needn't feel that, on Easter Sunday, a corduroy coat will be too sporty, for you are dressy enough if the corduroy is of a very fine cord. Sparkling reds and even light blues will be shown in this style.

Flash! The latest in anklets! Lightweight plaid wools just like big brother's socks! Can we wear without silk hose! Come in all colors and are the very latest in style!

Maybe The Rock Of Ages Is A Cornerstone Of Our School

I entered South Side when school began, and from then on spent over one-third of my time within the portals. I walked through the halls hundreds of times, went from classroom to classroom, and didn't even know half the things that were actually included in the school building. At first I didn't care. But gradually, I began to realize that what I didn't know about South Side would fill a book—well, at least a column. The question that my friend had asked me, "Do you know all that is in this building?" haunted me until finally I couldn't endure another minute of the torture.

At last I set out to study the facts about South Side's building and grounds. The information I found did fill a column, and I'm going to pass it on to you so YOU won't spend YOUR life in the same kind of blind ignorance that I just emerged from.

Before our addition was built, South Side was recognized as one of the largest one-story high schools in the United States.

South Side covers an area of 390,440 square feet, not including the stadium or south field.

There are in the main building eight means of escape, (exits), and the industrial building has four doors.

There really IS an elevator but it is used for freight.

The main building was erected in 1921. South Side had its "face lifted" in 1939; it now towers two stories above the street. Its basement has an area of 1200 square feet; its first floor, 102,500 square feet. The floor of its first story is of concrete; and, when you trudge around upstairs, you're walking on concrete on unprotected steel. The floor openings number nine in all: three stairways, from basement to first floor; two more from first floor to second; and four ramps, from first to second.

And what keeps our toes from freezing on frosty winter days? Why it's the heat from the industrial building! Oh yes—the industrial building. You have a vague recollection of having heard that term before. But what's in the industrial building? It consists of one story. Its basement has an area of 10,500 square feet. The first floor paced out would measure somewhere around 19,800 square feet. The walls are made of tile and are eight inches thick and contain nothing but air inside. They are faced with four-inch brick and twelve-inch brick.

There are sixty-nine class rooms in our Alma Mater—fifty-one downstairs in the main building, more upstairs, and eight in the industrial building (besides three study halls). When South Side first sprouted, it added ten classrooms and two new study halls. One of these is used as a recreation room at present.

We also boast a gym, two shower rooms, two locker rooms, and a handball court. A new printing press was installed in 1939.

Did You Ever Hear A South Sider Sing, "I Love U's Truly?"

Attention, all you students who received U's on your last cards! Take a hint from this article, prepared for The Times by your reporter from a very interesting interview with Miss Mary Pocock.

Miss Pocock advises all members of "The U Club" not to wait till the last day of the grade period to check themes, make book reports, and hand in back work. "Teachers", says Miss Pocock, "cannot be expected to stay up all night to correct a theme that has been due for several weeks."

"When you are writing a theme to hand in", she continued, "check it for punctuation, spelling, and grammar. This not only helps the teacher check it, but improves your grade if you have very few mistakes. Go over all your classroom work which is to be handed in and check it for unnecessary mistakes."

Another bit of information which Miss Pocock believes the seniors should pay special attention to is that one should never wait till the last day or the last week of the semester to make up back work. If you are one of those perennial absentees who thinks that he can do all his missed work in one week, don't expect to get credit for a semester's work.

"In order to get your work in", concluded Miss Pocock, "be sure to get your assignments and follow them out to the letter. Don't present an alibi to the teacher. Don't perpetually claim that you have lost your assignment or understood it to mean something else, because we teachers are not as dumb as you think. In fact, some of us are quite the opposite."

We sincerely hope that this final bit of information from the faculty will bring better results when the next grade cards come out and during the rest of the school year.

DePauw University Is In Hoosier State

The path leading to the colleges of America are directed this week to DePauw University, Greencastle, Indiana. This leading university is located approximately forty miles from Indianapolis. For students of South Side interested in an Indiana school, it is most convenient.

At present the university consists of the College of Liberal Arts and School of Music, which have the services of ninety-one professors and instructors. The physical equipment of the university consists of twenty-five buildings on a campus of sixty acres, and an endowment of approximately $6,000,000.

Although DePauw University was founded by the Methodist Episcopal Church of Indiana and has received the support of that denomination, the school is not considered sectarian.

The university provides and operates six halls of residence. There are also twenty social fraternities. All students, except local residents and commuters, must live in one of the halls of residence or in a fraternity house.

There are several national organizations and honorary fraternities to which students may be elected at DePauw. There are twenty-three in all. A few of these are: Alpha Delta Sigma, advertising; Alpha Lambda Delta, freshmen women's scholarship; Phi Beta Kappa, senior classmen's scholarship; and Phi Mu Alpha, music.

There are also many activities at DePauw. The publications department edits three papers, the DePauw tri-weekly newspaper, The Boulder, and The Mirage.

Archer Pedagogues Express Impressions Of Tournament

Tournament basketball, one of the most super-colossal bugs that ever hit South Side, second only to the ever-popular love bug, has the teachers, as well as the students in a dither. It's in the air, around every corner, in every nook and cranny of South Side and a thousand other places in the state of Indiana.

The students have it, the parents have it, and the teachers have it. It's the one time of the year that the teachers stop thinking of the students and the students stop thinking of themselves.

And then—swish! South Side is out! And what do we think? Well, you know what we, the students, think, but that's just silly old kid stuff. So we're going to give you the opinions of some really sane thinkers—the pedagogical masters of South Side. Take it, teachers:

Mr. E. Paul Schnepel: I would like to have seen South Side win, but I wish North Side all the luck they rightly deserve.

Mr. Jake McClure: It's too bad we didn't win, but it's nice North Side did since most of the boys have been on the team two or three years and are graduating this year.

Mr. Francis Fay: I, like most other South Siders, am sorry that we didn't win.

Miss Gertrude Oppelt: This year is past, but there's always a chance in the future.

Miss Emma Kiefer: I would've been happy to see South Side win, but evidently it wasn't our time. I'll be rooting for North Side on through state.

Mr. Ward Gilbert: I think it was the right outcome Saturday night.

Mr. Maurice Cook: North Side looks good enough to be the state champs. I hope they win it.

Mrs. Grace Welty: It is too bad for the boys on the team; especially the seniors.

Miss Edith Crowe: It's too bad that we couldn't go any farther, but our boys did a good job as far as we went. Miss Susan Peck: It was a disappointment not to win the sectionals, but our boys did well. We should be very proud of them.

Miss Pauline VanGorder: If we couldn't win it, I'm glad a Fort Wayne team has a chance to go to State.

Miss Elizabeth Demaree: I was very much disappointed.

UP AND DOWN OUR INCLINES

Virginia Russ, a student of Miss Rehorst's Sewing 3 class, is making a suit for spring.

Mr. Walker's marketing classes are now studying Private Consumer Protective Associations.

Home Room 38 recently discussed an article from a magazine entitled "Gum Chewing".

Richard Baney of Mr. Plasket's Industrial Arts 1, period 3 class is roll chairman. Donald Ensley is the locker foreman; Wendell Elliot, shop foreman; Kenneth Golden, clamp foreman; James Uebelhoefer and Norman Shidler, mill foremen; and Dick Paul, tool foreman.

English 7 students of Miss Pocock who made the best grades on a test over "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," are Bill Bond, John Craig, and Franklin Thompson.

Alice Meyers from Scott High School, Toledo, who was a guest of June Fargill recently, visited Miss Oppelt's Vergil class.

Boys in Mr. Smuts' wood turning class who are doing the best work are Norman Baker, Eugene Meeks, Victor Zoller, Donald Moore, Jim Michel, and Neal Schueler.

Marilyn Wolf is making a yellow and tan skirt in a Sewing 3 class of Miss Rehorst's.

Miriam Baumgartner and Bill Brandt, students of Mr. Cook's English 4, period 8 class, have already completed two book reports.

Mr. Gift's 9B English class, which Mr. Null has now taken over, is beginning composition work by writing a theme on "Student Manners in South Side High School".

On all of the daily quizzes given on "Julius Caesar", the following students of Miss Peck's English 4, period 2 class made A grades: Barbara Cross, Mary Current, and Jack Welbourne.

Students of Mr. Furst's Book-keeping 2, period 4 class making a grade of 95 or above on a recent test were Lois Bonebrake, Joan Didier, Gloria Hearn, Betty Kite, Elsie Korte, Myla Landis, Wayne Meyers, Marcella Schwartz, and Donald Yant.

Eric Baade, Alvin Haley, and Jean Ellen Mings, students of Miss Peck's English 1, period 1 class, have made A grades on all quizzes given to date on "The Odyssey".

On a test given by Mr. Heine to his Biology 2, period 2 class the following pupils made 90 or above: Phyllis Amstutz, Margaret Kuntz, Phil Lichtenberg, Mary Louise McNabb, Mary Peterson, and Carl Schurenberg.

Arthur Shimach, Tom Goodman, Eugene Weigman, Ralph Wehrly, Philip Chammes, and Norbert Rehm are mill foremen in the industrial arts workshop under Mr. Plasket.

Miss Hemmer's English 8 classes are writing original essays. While doing this, the classes study a number of essays from their English book.

Miss Magley's English 4, period 3 class has begun to read "The Covered Wagon".

Mr. Null's English 2 class is making a study of "Student Behavior" stressing both mannerly and unmannerly actions of the students. This work is being done for a rather long time. The pupils are writing brief parts at least two times a week. They will continue in this manner until time for the final writing.

On a recent test given by Mr. Heine to his Biology 2, period 3 class, those pupils receiving 95 or above are the following: Evelyn Arnold, Bill Brut-ton, Earl Cheever, Mary Duemling, Bill Fishering, Arnold Kohlbocker, Carol Overman, Janet Rea, Ann Roth, Robert Sheldon, Jane Schaffer, Stanley Trier, and Lois Yannee.

John Hitzeman and Richard Moreo received the highest grades on a test given by Mr. Heine to his Biology 2, period 1 class. Jack Drummond, Dick Englebrecht, Margaret Kuntz, Harry Kast, Mary Peterson, Phil Lichtenberg, Carl Schurenberg, Lanor Wittmer, and Lucille Zion received the highest grades on the same test in his second period class.

On a test given by Mr. Heine to his Biology 2, period 4 class, the following pupils received 100: Marilyn Bullerman, Alice Martz, Colleen McCarty, Marjorie Pressler, Doris Pape, Opal Springer, and Don Perry.

Students receiving the highest grades on a test given by Mr. Heine to his Biology 2, period 6 class are: Miriam Abbott, Virginia Coil, Martha Davenport, Eugene Meeks, Marjorie Ann Meyers, Rosemary Plummer, and Walter Turner. In his seventh period class those receiving 100 on the same test are: Martha Harry, Joan Pope, Mary Alice Williams, and Joan Didier.

Billie Jean Miller and Jerry Miller have been elected chairman and assistant chairman, respectively, of home room 34.

Those making 95 or above on a 9B Latin test given by Mrs. Welty are: Rosemary Baldus, Eric Baade, Ilo Hirschman, Alice Johnson, Bud Lennin, Jerry Miller, Marjorie Miller, Alvin Baby, Thomas Jones, and Jean Stewart.

In a trigonometry test in Miss Fiedler's class the following students made perfect scores: Marcelle Driftmeyer, Martin Gernand, Robert Hines, Robert Holzworth, Safford McMyler, Charles Miller, Gloria Werkman, Richard Gallmeyer, Sarah Jane Makey, Ralph Sebold, James Straley, Richard Sebold, and Arthur Wedler.

The two students in Miss Fiedler's algebra 2 class who showed the greatest speed and accuracy during the past week were Jane Schaffer and Albert Kranz.

Miss Demaree's English 2 classes are now studying "The Gold Bug." Harry Kaut brought a specimen of a gold bug and also drew one on the board.

On a recent test given by Mr. Wilson to his Government 2 classes the following made the highest grades: Paul Kiel, 90; Ralph Sebold, 90; Eileen Kieseling, 90; and Maxine Case, 93.

On a 73-word vocabulary test given to Mrs. Welty's freshman Latin classes the following received 100: Bernice Shipley, Barbara Spiegel, Kieth Lockner, Billie Jean Miller, Quintin Rupp, and Jean Stuart.

Mr. McClure's Government 2 classes are beginning the study of the legislative branch of the United States Government. They had their pre-test last Friday.

Jerry Miller made the highest grade on a test in Mr. Yoder's Biology 1, period 6 class. Other high grades were made by Beverly Miller, Bernice Shipley, and Robert Pugh.

These students in Miss Covalt's Typing 2 classes qualified for awards this semester with the following number of words and percent of accuracy: Marie Boehm, 51 words with 96 percent accuracy; Norman Fortress, 42 with 91; Mildred Holmes, 49 with 94; Delores Selby, 40 with 93; Phyllis Ann Stein, 40 with 92; Thelma Draper, 46 with 95; Harriet Greer, 43 with 93; Lois Hoff, 41 with 93; Gwendolyn Kelly, 40 with 93; Katherine Craig, 44 with 95; Elaine Hirschy, 54 with 94; and Joan Squires, 42 with 95.

Miss Mellen's home nursing classes have been practicing bed making. Those finishing in the shortest time with an A grade are Mildred Druhot, Eva Volgmont, and Clara Long.

On a test given by Mr. Pierce to his General History 1 classes, the following made grades above 90: Avilla Rediger, Evangeline Wittmer, Wanda Baney, Eugene Gettel, Robert Gildea, Margaret Hoham, Sally O'Rourke, Frederick Smith, Kenneth Spiker, Jack Stark, and Mary Whittier.

Raymond Vonderau, LaVerne Greiner, Fritz Kahl, and Sam Bacon, German 4 students of Mr. Schnepel, received 90 or above on a German test.

Best lists at Ashby were made by Barbara Carter, Austin Gardner, Jerry Mason, Donald Wiberus, Helen Welbaum, Mary Charles, Carolyn Fackler, Phil Jackson, Phyllis Jackson, Gene Murphy, and Tom Rehner, students of Miss Pocock's English 2 class.

Marjorie Voltz and Gloria Wiebke post-graduates, have left Home Room 98 to accept positions.

Mr. Smuts' metal classes have changed from the first to the second section. There are four divisions of work, so Mr. Smuts has divided the class into four groups which rotate.

Elinor Muntzinger, Martha Moon, Richard Morton, Richard Nichter, and Ann Pontius comprise the Home Room 38 committee for this week.

Calvin Figley, a former student of Miss Perkins, has left South Side to work.

Mr. MacKay's two English 6 classes have completed the study of the newspaper.

In Mr. Plasket's period 6, Industrial Arts 4 class, James Birkenbuel, Ross Houser, Victor Moeller, Byron Plumlee, Richard Tiel, Donald Weher, and Richard Winter are doing service work.

Election of officers for this semester was held in Miss Mary Crowe's home room. Paul Grieser was elected chairman and LaVerne Hammond secretary.

Betty MacKay and Dorothy McPherson, students of Miss Kiefer, made the highest grades on a test on acts 2 and 3 of "Julius Caesar".

The following students in Miss Covalt's Typing 4 classes, have qualified for awards this semester: Lois Ringenberg, 63 words per minute with 95 per cent accuracy; Marian Seemeyer, 60 with 93; Betty Lapp, 60 with 92; Dorothy Allen, 50 with 94; Ruth Furman, 49 with 92; Marjorie Gerding, 50 with 100; Betty Peppeler, 50 with 96; Bernadine Pressler, 61 with 96; Leah Schwartz, 52 with 94; and Helen Squires, 51 with 98.

Laura Nahrwald, Hilda Schubert, and Doris Biorde made a grade of A—over a recent weekly test in Miss Mellen's home nursing classes.

Leslie Baumgartner, Lois Bloemker, Dorothy Heslip, Rosa Lee Hall, Bertha Murphy, Clara Makey, Katherine Nicat, Ilene Franke, Rosemary Spore, and William Thompson made 95 or above in a test in Miss Miller's U. S. History 2 class over the War Between the States.

Alma Smith, Patty Schnurr, and Calvin Seals were in charge of the Safety program in Home Room 58 last Friday.

Mr. Whelan's Physical Geography 1 classes are studying the solar system. Each pupil was given a map of the March sky to learn the constellations.

On a test given by Mr. Schnepel to his German 2 students the following received above 90 on a test: Theda Tyndall, Ruth Hageman, Ruth Gumpfer, Lucy Smith, Phyllis Puff, Dan Auer, Keith Coverdale, and Margaret Hopenecker.

Mr. McClure's General History 2 classes have just started the study of the Congress of Vienna.

Dorothy Houtz, from Columbia City, has joined Miss Mary Crowe's home room.

A or A—was made on a grammar test given by Miss Pocock to her English 2 classes by Ann Pontius, Betty Valentine, Lois Voght, Charles Anderson, Betty Chamberlain, Elinor Pell, Keith Proise, Pat Racht, George Ruhl, Vivian Klopfenstein made A+.

Eric Baade and Barbara Martin made the highest grades on a test in Mr. Yoder's Biology 1, period 3, class.

Girls' dancing classes are teaching a modern dance to the gym classes.

On an idiom test given over the first seven chapters by Miss Perkins to her French 4, period 7 class the following scored above 90: Harriet Greer, Mary Bowlby, Eleanor Christ, Delores Daniels, Clarence Freeman, Alice Hall, Connie Harrison, Katherine Kuntz, Myla Landis, Charlene McAttee, Marjorie McMahon, Laverne Michelfelder, Martha Jean Smith, and Beverly Sprunger.

Harry Hines, Mary Jane Hale, and Philip Chammes, Physical Geography 1, period 1 students of Mr. Yoder, made the highest grades on a test.

Gym Class Is Real Pleasure Rather Than Necessary Evil

By Wayne Bechtol

"Okay, today Team 4 will play Team 2 in the heavyweight division as the starting game. Shirts take the north basket, and skins take the south basket. After your game, take five laps before your shower. The other games will follow as scheduled". These are the familiar orders given to all boys taking gym.

Physical education is required in all high schools in Indiana by law; and by working out a program of contests in which all boys can participate in various sports, Mr. Louis Briner, head of intramural activities, makes each one of his gym classes an event that is a pleasure rather than a necessary evil to his students.

Some of the sports in action in the program of Mr. Briner are handball, basketball, volleyball, softball, horseshoe, wrestling, boxing, and tag football.

These sports are held as nearly as possible in their traditional seasons. With the beginning of the new semester in September, tag football starts and is later followed by handball and basketball. At the present time, volleyball is in full swing. After volleyball, wrestling, and boxing other indoor events will occur; and later in the spring, as the weather permits, softball and horseshoe will head the list as the main events in which all boys of all weights in the classes will participate.

After having quizzed Mr. Briner further on the activities of his gym classes, I was rewarded with the results of the basketball, handball, doubles and singles, contests in all three divisions, heavy, middle, and lightweight.

The names of the captains of the teams were given as the champions of the basketball tournaments in each weight division of each class. The names of leaders of the winning teams in the heavyweight and middleweight divisions of the first period class were Gilbert and Van Curen; Geise, Majorki, and Cheever were victors in the second period class activities.

In the third-hour groups, Steele represented the heavyweight champs, Hagerfeld represented the middleweight winners, and Morton's team captured the lightweight crown. Werling's and Bolyard's middleweight teams were the conquerors of the tournament in the fourth period class. Igney, Lichtenberg, and Klopfenstein were the captains in the heavy, middle, and lightweight contests in the sixth period. The seventh period champions in the three divisions were Yant, Bredemeyer, and Zoellinger.

The handball doubles champions in the heavyweight and lightweight divisions were Holmes-Hayes, Lotz-Shriner in the first period; Elliot-Fish and Harlan-Wissler and Stone-Blair in the second period; Igney-Savage, Harter-Warner, and Rolape-Morton in the third period; Birkenbuel-Burns, Muckley-Wilson, and Rollins-Geise in the fourth period; Meyers-Greer, Englebrecht-Rehrer, and Meeks-Hart in the sixth period; and Koonz-Yates, and Muller-Scheiman as the champs of the seventh-period class.

The handball singles tournament closely followed the finish of the doubles tournament. The winners in the heavy, middle, and lightweight divisions were Holmes and Rehm of the first period class.

Fish and Miller were winners in the second period class. Garrison, Folk, and Morton were the victors of the third period class. The fourth-period winners were Smith, Wilson, and Rollins. Champions of the sixth-period groups were Skole, Kensill, and Runge; and in the seventh period, winners were Kern and McNeal.

In several instances only two winners were named for a class, and in this case the heavyweight winner was named first, and the middleweight champion was listed second. Any other exceptions were listed.

Mushy, Educational Notes Are Passed Through Study Hall

Are you a study hall note-sender? Have you ever at any time felt the urge to send some kind of a note either to your pal or beloved? If not, then you are an exceptional South Side student. It seems that there arises a need at some time or another for everybody to send a note in the study hall.

Now of course there are various attitudes with which a note might be sent. For instance, there is the trembling little freshman who is in dire need of finding out an assignment from a friend. Furtively, he writes his little sentence and slyly slips it to the person beside him, with all sorts of fears and misgivings racing through his brain. Until his answer returns, this person lives in constant terror of detection and consequently being assigned a dozen or so eighth periods for so major a misdemeanor.

Although there is the moony couple who spend their whole study periods writing mushy little love notes. (About the consistency of custard). Usually, as do most lovers, they work in utter disregard of being caught. Mercilessly they pester those sitting between them with a barrage of letters. In most cases however they are cured of this habit when Mrs. Scott intercepts one of the notes and gruffly reads the dripping lines.

Last but not least, for there are more of these than any other kind, are the playful little fellows who write fake love notes to the girls merely to get them all excited. Most often written anonymously or with an alias, these little notes are calculated to set any girl's heart on fire. Sometimes it happens that the poor, innocent, deceived girl thinks she knows the author and writes a luscious little return. And, as you would suppose, nine times out of ten, she has guessed the wrong person as author. So, he, too, is dragged into the entangling web.

Big North Siders Play Good Basketball To Win

★ Against Auburn

In the second game of the first round of the local regional, the Redskins of North Side turned back a poor Auburn quintet, 40 to 16.

Cosch Keith Showalter's Red Devils displayed no semblance of a good offense or defense. Only Junior Billy Scott fanned the Auburn hopes by his consistently fine play.

Bob Cowan paced the Red Raiders with 12 markers, while Scott and Denny McDarby added five points apiece to lead the visitors. McDarby, big center of the Auburn quintet, was forced to the sidelines early in the second quarter due to three personal fouls.

Returning for action late in the third stanza, the Red Devil pivot man soon fouled out of play. North Side did not lose a player via the personal foul route. A shot-by-shot cover of the Redskins-Red Devil clash follows: N.S. A.

- 0-2 McComb cuts under to score.
- 1-2 McComb fouls Cowan. Bob connects for one marker.
- 3-2 Cowan dribbles entire floor for lay-up shot.
- 5-2 Hinga nets a one-handed pivot effort.
- 7-2 Hinga scores again on a tip-in.
- 9-2 Bob Young counts on a wide open lay-up shot.
- 11-2 Byron Popp tallies on a set-up.
- 11-3 Hinga fouls Feltz. One more score for Auburn.
- 13-3 Young breaks under to give Reds a 10-point lead.
- (Second quarter)
- 13-4 Harrison fouls McDarby. Denny converts one.
- 14-4 Scott fouls Harrison, who makes good on his one attempt.
- 15-4 McDarby fouls Popp. Byron counts one.
- 15-6 Bill Scott hits a one-hander from back court.
- 16-6 Casebeer fouls Young. Bob connects.
- 18-6 Cowan cages a follow-up effort.
- 20-6 Jim Harrison scores on a fast cut play set-up by Hinga.
- 20-7 Ervin fouls Scott, who scores one marker.
- (Third quarter)
- 22-7 Corny Ervin hits a long set shot.
- 22-9 Scott cages a long one-handed push shot.
- 24-9 Ervin counts again on a set-shot from the side.
- 26-9 Cowan scores another fielder from near center.
- 28-9 Hinga retrieves loose ball, dribbles floor, for open lay-up.
- 28-11 McDarby cages a tip-in goal.
- (Fourth quarter)
- 29-11 Eckhart fouls Moyer. One more for the Redskins.
- 30-11 Scott pushes Cowan, who scores.
- 30-12 Cowan fouls Bill McComb. He also connects.
- 32-12 Cowan hits a leftie under the loop.
- 32-14 McDarby counts on a pivot goal.
- 34-14 Herm Moyer scores on an easy follow-in shot.
- 34-16 McComb follows-in for an Auburn score.
- 36-16 Bob Cowan hits another left-hander.
- 38-16 Kay Short delivers a one-handed toss.
- 40-16 Ronnie Reese ends scoring with a pivot effort.

★ Against Pierceton

North Side's big Redskins captured their second regional title in the history of the northern institution by winning by a 30-to-23 count over a good Pierceton outfit.

Pierceton had previously annexed a thrilling 28-to-26 win over a persistent band of Panthers from Avilla.

The Nulfmnen played steady basketball for the first three quarters. But the Cubs were doing just as well, until the Northerners came to life in the final stanza to clinch the verdict.

Bob Nul's Redskins have met several of the state's toughest clubs this year in tourney and regular season play. None of these outstanding aggregations gave the Redskins a better exhibition of flawless basketball than did the Cubs of Pierceton.

Bob Cowan and Byron Popp were the chief guns in the winners' play, while little Gene Ringenberg and elongated Eugene Werstler played heads-up ball for the Cubs. Here is the shot-by-shot account of the Redskins' regional win:

- N.S. P.
- 0-1 Young fouls Roger, who counts one foul.
- 0-3 Plew counts on a follow-in shot.
- 0-5 Ringenberg tallies on a set shot.
- 2-5 Young breaks Northern ice with long two-hander.
- 2-7 Roger scores on an easy set-up play.
- 2-9 Werstler follows in Ringenberg's push shot.
- (Second quarter)
- 3-9 Roger fouls Popp. Byron hits one foul.
- 5-9 Popp counts on a set-up.
- 5-11 Werstler duplicates Popp's goal.
- 7-11 Hinga hits a set-shot from the side.
- 9-11 Cowan tallies on a set-up shot.
- 11-11 Cowan dribbles floor for a lay-up shot.
- 13-11 Hinga scores on a cut play.
- 13-13 Roger hits an arching one-hander.
- 13-14 Young fouls Werstler. He converts.
- (Third quarter)
- 15-14 Cowan dribbles floor for lay-in shot.
- 17-14 Hinga hoists total with a one-hander.
- 17-15 Hinga fouls Roger. Roger scores one foul.
- 17-17 Roger cages a set shot from the side.
- 18-17 Bixler fouls Harrison. Jim counts one foul.
- 18-19 Werstler scores on a wide open shot.
- 19-19 Plew fouls Hinga, who connects.
- 20-19 Roger fouls Ervin. Corny sinks his try.
- 20-21 Ringenberg sinks a long set goal.
- 22-21 Hinga tallies on a follow-in.
- 23-21 Werstler pushes Ervin. One more point.
- (Fourth quarter)
- 24-21 Werstler fouls Popp. Byron hits.
- 26-21 Byron Popp hits on a set-up.
- 28-21 Popp sinks Cubs with another fine push shot.
- 28-23 Bixler breaks under to tally.
- 30-23 Cowan counts on a long set effort.

S-O-S Shorts On Sports

Boys' Intramural Basketball Tournament has finally been recorded as past history with the victors of the heavyweight, middleweight, and lightweight divisions having been announced. The volleyball tournament has been progressing very rapidly and is now well in the second round.

The Flatfeet, in a hard-fought match, captured the victor's crown from the mighty SOP's for the 1940-41 championship title of the Boys' Intramural Basketball Tournament in the heavyweight division. This result was predicted in this column last week, and the final score was 39 to 20. Two games were played to decide the champions of the middleweight divisions due to the fact that the tournament was of the double-elimination type and that the last two teams, the Cats and the Blackbolts, were unquenched. In the first match the Cats overrode the Blackbolts with a score of 8 to 19, and in the second and final game the Blackbolts were forced to concede the 1940-41 middleweight championship to the Cats after being easily conquered with the final score reading 7 to 25.

In the lightweight division the Badgers nosed the Wildcats out of the contest to win the lightweight championship crown by a margin of only two points, the final score being 10 to 8.

With twenty-eight games having been played during this past week, the volleyball tournament has passed from the first into the second round. At the present rate, averaging twenty-five to twenty-eight games a week the volleyball tournament will soon be listed as past history, even though the number of entries totaled approximately forty-five.

Thus far no announcements concerning ping pong or handball tournaments have been made, but as soon as details are available, they will be found in this column. According to Mr. Louis Briner, head of boys' intramural activities, handball and ping pong entry dates will be announced by the first of next week.

Girls' Sportsettes

Congratulations go to all of the tumbling captains in GAA. They are Kathleen Sanders, Wanda Hover, Bernadine Pressler, Mary Morgan, Phyllis Jackson, Mary Clark, Helen Anderson, Carolyn Stalter, and Maxine Volz.

Attention, girls! You can make the GAA annual Spring Show a wonderful success if each girl does her part and cooperates with Miss Dean and Miss Smith in all ways possible.

Compliments go to the advanced tumblers. They are Betty Brown, Margie Dale, Joan Hottman, Evelyn Knapp, Dorothy Krohne, Ariene Goudy, Ladonna Russell, Dorothy Snaveley, Jeanne Smith, Betty Hargan, Marjorie Williams, Ruthanne Firse, and Marilyn Wolf.

What's wrong with the GAA spirit? Come on, you GAA'ers, and fill up that mail box.

WHY ARE SO MANY GIRLS OUT FOR TUMBLING THIS YEAR? DO THEY REALLY ENJOY IT, OR ARE THEY JUST OUT FOR THE POINTS?

Sophomore 3's, captained by Ducky Spore, are the upperclass volleyball champs. Members of her team are Fuzzy Amstutz, Kate Sanders, Ida May Hoge, Carolyn Fisher, Phyllis Graue, Betty MacKay, Colleen McCarty, Barbara Renz, Nelda Runge, Harriet Swager, and Marion Faux.

Come on, student leaders, get in your rules for the games. If you don't, remember you will not be eligible for the coming sports party.

There's something about a photographer that gets 'em. That's true in connection with the letter-girls. They turned out almost 100 per cent for their Tatem picture. And, startling as it may seem, they wore their letter sweaters.

When the games that the student leaders have taught in the gym classes are completed, the Conga will be started for the spring show.

Congratulations go to all the dance classes for doing a fine job of mastering their dances for the GAA show. The girls in the gym classes are learning the Conga for the show. If they will cooperate with Miss Dean and Miss Smith it will help a lot in learning the dance.

Attention! Don't forget to watch the bulletin boards to see when the Totem pictures for GAA are to be taken. We want a big turnout for the pictures.

Congratulations go to Sally Ogden for bowling 112 and Norma Russell for bowling 135. (Nice work, girls. Keep up the good work.)

Why don't more of you GAA'ers play ping pong? You did when the table was new. Why don't you continue?

Upperclass volleyball has ended and tumbling has started. The next major sport is baseball and it starts in about three weeks.

After Next Vacation Softball Will Begin For Intramuralers

As the basketball season comes to a close in South Side, we again start to think of sports that we play outside.

It won't be long before spring vacation arrives, and you manly sportsmen better start sharpening your eyes for a softball and take that dusty mit out of the closet. The intramural softball season starts immediately after spring vacation if the weather permits.

At about the same time, we will probably see people going through antics like those of the cheer leaders from North Side at the sectionals. In other words, the intramural tumbling starts the same time as softball.

Soon after these activities are well underway, our club-swinging Kellies will be given a chance to match their skill against the best in South Side. The golf tournament is scheduled to begin about the first of May if the weather is good enough to allow it.

Tennis, the only remaining intra-activity, is to be started about the middle of May and will probably extend to graduation.

Last week's gym classes started on the so-called carnival. There will be many events in this activity starting in the gym classes and the finals extending into intramural after school.

As the carnival, softball, tumbling, golf, and tennis are the only remaining intramural events, you point-getters better get busy.

Service Club Stages Membership Potluck

Service Club's annual potluck was held Tuesday, March 4 in the cafeteria. The general arrangements for the potluck were under the direction of Hilda Schubert, who became ill and was substituted for by Helen Savage, mistress of ceremony.

After the potluck, a sketch was presented by Safford McMyler and Wilma Lagemann under the direction of Evelyn Erickson. Bernita Eggers played several popular numbers, and Elaine Hirschy played two classical numbers. A tap-dance was presented by Marjorie Williams.

Grad Presents Program

Carolyn Carwright, '40, was one of the students from Albion College who presented a program of music and drama before the Albion Entre Nous Club. She read "The Third Ingredient" by O. Henry.

Indiana's Basketball Is New To Two Radio Sportscasters

During the past few weeks of seasonal and tournament play in and about Fort Wayne, two men have been especially busy. This duo includes Hilliard Gates and Clarence Barnes. Neither of these two sportscasters for Westinghouse WOWO-WGL were in Indiana last year, which fact probably accounts for their bewilderment and excitement at viewing this annual Indiana hysteria.

Hilliard Gates is now embarking upon his fourth year in radio broadcasting circles. Two years after Gates was graduated, he was fortunate in securing a sports announcing job with WKYZ in Muskegon, Michigan. While holding his first position at this small Michigan station, Hilliard built up a sports department that became the best revenue producing department in the organization.

In 1935, Gates was a member of the state championship high school basketball team of Michigan. He was also a member of an outstanding amateur quintet which captured the Michigan AAU title in the following year. Hilliard also played football in high school, and for two years he held the tennis championship of Muskegon High School. Mr. Gates' introduction to Indiana net competition will long remain with him as one of his outstanding sports thrills.

Frankly admitting that Michigan hardwood play and enthusiasm falls short of the Indiana brand, Hilliard is radio-casting the annual IHSAA semifinals this week and the finals on next Saturday with the expectation of having his first big thrills in Indiana radio sports work. Mr. Gates was married last month in his home town of Muskegon to Miss Rae Lois Patterson of that city.

Hilliard particularly wishes to extend to all of the Fort Wayne sporting enthusiasts his appreciation for the friendly attitude which has been proffered him, and also for the kind efforts which have made his initial season in Fort Wayne a happy one.

Garnes, new assistant to Gates, joined the local Westinghouse organization in late January, coming from station KANS of Wichita, Kansas. Mr. Garnes was formerly connected with the radio business. But during the depression years, which were synonymous with the early '30's, Clarence switched to radio singing. His initial vocalizing work was aired over station KGJF in Little Rock, Arkansas.

After spending several months in singing over the airwaves, Garnes decided to switch to the advertising and announcing departments of the Arkansas outfit. It was in these latter fields that the assistant sportscaster received his first opportunities of covering high school and collegiate athletic events.

From this meager start in a part-time station, Clarence has served on stations in many states, including Oklahoma, Kansas, and Texas. At times he held important executive positions, but on each occasion of his promotion he forsook the advantages offered to get back to his favorite job of airing outstanding sports attractions and special events.

Garnes was amazed when he first caught sight of Indiana basketball and the hotly contested tilts which he has already witnessed. Clarence stated, "I have seen what I regarded as the zenith in enthusiasm and competition

Helen Marschand Rates GAA At Top Of Her Hit Parade

One of GAA's most enthusiastic members is Helen Marschand, 11B. Helen, who has already earned 1,343 points, hopes to receive her letter in June.

Helen was born in good old Fort Wayne on October 4, 1924. She received her education at the Louis C. Ward and James H. Smart Schools before coming to South Side.

Her favorite foods are french-fried potatoes and pork chops. According to Helen, no movie couple could surpass the acting of Olivia De Havilland and Errol Flynn. You will always find her at home beside the radio on Wednesday night because Kay Kyser is her favorite radio program.

She rates "Gone With The Wind" as the best movie she has ever seen, and "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" is her favorite book. The popular song "I Hear A Rhapsody" is tops to her. Her favorite color is red, and commercial law rates the number one place on her list of subjects. Her favorite teachers are Mr. W. C. Wilson and Mr. Ralph Murray.

Proving that she is no Popeye fan, she detests spinach. Her pet peeve is "people who call me someone else by mistake" as she puts it. Her school heroine is Geneva Martin, and, in her estimation, the basketball team would not survive if Bob Hines and Chuck Close were not on the team.

Helen is taking the commercial course, and she hopes to be an air-hostess someday. Besides being a very active member of GAA, she belongs to the Service Club, So-Si-Y, and Girls' Rifle Club.

Helen also thinks that the North Side boys are all right, especially a certain Johnny Corley.

Hold Marionette Tryouts

Tryouts to portray the characters in the Marionette Club play, "Aladdin and His Wonderful Lamp", took place at the club's last meeting, March 7. The parts have not been given out, but the players have been decided on.

In western states, but these Hoosier teams and the folks who go 'all-out' for their favorites take the prize."

Good Games Forecasted

North-Burris In Feature And Vikings Meet Kokomo

All of the four semi-final meets of the Indiana eliminations to be held Saturday should produce at least one good scrap. Outstanding tilts will bring together Rushville and Anderson, Muncie Burris and Fort Wayne North, Bedford and Bloomington, and Kokomo and Huntington's Vikings. The complete semi-final pairings for Saturday are as follows:

At Hammond
Logansport vs. Gary Froebel.
South Bend Central vs. Lafayette.
At Indianapolis
Rushville vs. Anderson.
Crawfordsville vs. Madison.
At Muncie
Huntington vs. Kokomo.
Fort Wayne North Side vs. Muncie Burris.
At Vincennes

Coach Gift Issues First Call For Spring Football Practice

Initial Session Is Scheduled For April 14

Underclassmen Interested In Grid Play Are To Sign Up In Mr. Ora Davis' Office

Coach Wayne Gift has issued his first call for spring football practice. The likable ex-Boiler-maker, who offered South Side a very fine eleven in his initial effort, has announced that spring football practice will begin on April 14. Mr. Gift expects all of his candidates from last season's squad to report along with the new freshmen aspirants.

Any Archer boy, with the exception of those graduating in June, is eligible to report for the spring training period.

Here are the directions for reporting for spring grid play: Report to Mr. Ora Davis' office on any evening after school and register with one of his assistants. Naturally, equipment cannot be issued to all who report. The first Archers to sign up will receive the first choice of equipment.

DON'T FORGET! SIGN UP BEFORE APRIL 14 IN THE ATHLETIC OFFICE.

Among the outstanding performers returning from last year's squad are, guards, Walter Gilbert, Bob Birkenbuel, Chuck Underwood, Bill Bond, Curtis Kyvick, and Kenneth Giese; ends, Ward Gilbert, Bob Ruckel, Jim Worman, and Glen Dager; tackles, Gene Auer, Max Neff, Harold Saalfrank, and Russell Dixon; centers, Vic Moeller and Don Merchant; backs, George Winkler, Leon Lahrman, Bob Babbitt, Chick Shimer, Gene McClain, Ed Tieman, Tom Elliott, Trendell Terry, Bob Gildea, Joe Barberi, Bob Druhot.

Mural Markers

By Kent Lentz

Now that the basketball season has closed, we would like to name some of the outstanding players in the intramural basketball tournament.

In the game between the Flatfeet and Count Basie's Boys, which was won by the Flatfeet with a 10-to-12 score, Warner was high-point man for Count Basie's Boys with four points. Rea, Brudi, and Welborn had two each. The high-point man for the Flatfeet was Kocks, who tallied six points; while his teammates, Stroebel, Turley, and Steinbauer dumped in one field goal each.

Count Basie's Boys recovered from their defeat by downing the Zippers, 16 to 3. Scorers for the Count's Boys were Warner, 6; Miller, 4; Lowe, 2; Brudi, 2; and Rea, 2. The boys who tallied for the Zippers were McNeal, 2, and Bishop, 1.

In the game between the Sons of Havibach and the Zippers, the latter were victorious 12 to 9. The Zippers were led by Reynolds, with seven points and McNeal, with four. Bolyard got one point. The Sons of Havibach were led by Wuttke, with four points, Brenztschhoff, with four, and Siebold with one.

The Hot Stuffs downed the Musketeers, 13-to-6. The winners were paced by Rehm, with five points, Steel, four points, and Vonderau with four points. The losers were led by Thompson, with three points, and Harter, two.

THE MUSKETEERS MADE IT TWO IN A ROW BY THROUNCING THE RED DEVILS, 23 to 7.

Trott led the Musketeers with four fielders, Harter, three fielders, and Shelby, two fielders. The Red Devils' tallies were made by Schemhorn, two; Demetre, two; and Turner, three.

There were two overtimes and one double overtime. The overtimes were played by SOP and the ExLaxers, won by the ExLaxers, 15 to 13; the other was between the Count Basie's and the Musketeers; the Counts won 7-to-6. The feature was a double overtime between the Count Basie's and the Supermen. The latter won, 15 to 14. The winners were paced by Druhot and Lichtenburg, both tallying five points; others were Giese, Gilbert, and Merchant, all with two points. The losers were led by Miller, with six; Warner, four; and Brudi, three.

I have picked two all-star teams from the intramural teams. They are as follows:

First Team	Second Team
Warner, f	Elliott, f
Kocks, f	Halt, f
Saalfrank, c	Vonderau, c
McNeal, g	Bell, g
Giese, g	Reynolds, g

YMCA Holds Swim Contest

Nineteenth National Water Meet Scheduled April 18-19; E. Vogel To Take Part

Officials of the Fort Wayne YMCA have announced that the nineteenth annual swim meet is to be held in Fort Wayne Friday and Saturday, April 18 and 19.

At least one representative will perform for every one of the 102 associations in the United States. Managers have arranged an attractive admission charge for Summit City aquatic fans, and it is highly probable that many South Siders will follow the meet.

Ernest Vogel, South Side's outstanding water performer, is expected to figure prominently in the meet. Vogel has set several new records during the past season. Many local swim enthusiasts expect the aquatic Kelly to bring home a title or a place in at least one event.

Special arrangements have been made with North Side High School athletic officials so that the Redskin pool may be used for the diving events. The northern jumping facilities will provide more height of ceiling for the national diving title aspirants.

All of the first four place winners in the individual events will be awarded places in the final heats. In each trial event, the fifth place swimmer will be used as an alternate if one of the winners cannot compete in the finals.

Matt Mann, the aquatic coach at the University of Michigan, will be referee and starter for the final round. Several other leading Amateur Athletic Union coaches and officials will be present to officiate. A special banquet for all competitors will be held at the local Y on Friday evening, April 18.

Radio station WOWO will carry the story of the championship rounds on both Friday and Saturday. Any inquiries for tickets for any of the sessions should be addressed to Rev. Howard Brown, 910 Forest, City.

Junior Dramatists Stage Two Plays

P. Sanford, L. Bloemker, M. E. Barrett, E. Eidner, B. Lamp-ton, B. Bone, B. Hargan Act

Members of the Junior Class presented two plays, "The Bad Penny" and "One Egg" Monday the seventh period in the Study Hall.

In the first play, Pat Sanford played the part of the bad penny or Lil, who really turned out to be a good penny. Other members of this cast included Lois Bloemker as Kate Penny, Lil's old maid sister; Betty Hargan as Margaret Downs, the widowed sister; and Mary Ellen Barrett as Peggy Downs, the young, innocent daughter of Margaret. The play took place in the typical American village of Elmwood.

"One Egg", a comedy, took place in a small, cheap restaurant. Members of this cast included Bud Lamp-ton as an apparently unsuccessful playwright who is out of a job, Eileen Eidner, who planned to help the boy, took the part of the daughter of a rich producer, and Bill Bone as the freckled waiter.

Dorothy Snively was the announcer and prompter for "The Bad Penny", and Clara Makey was the announcer and prompter for "One Egg". Bob and Jim Brooks, Ed and Don Meyer, Paul Keil, Dick Theye, Everette Trulock, and Dick Baile composed the stage crew.

Miss Margery Suter, adviser of SPC, was the director of the play; and arrangements for the play were made by Safford McMyler, president of SPC.

Do You Know What This Is? Remember, It's In South Side

Staff Photo

Have you ever wondered where the janitors fix the broken chairs and other articles which have been injured? The following points will give you some clues:

1. It is located in the northeastern section of the building.
2. It is across from Room 24.
3. It is equipped with the implements which the custodians use to repair broken articles.
4. There is also a mangling machine which brushes suits, etc.

Answer: Janitor's Work Room.

Red Cross Group Completes Projects

South Side P-TA Finishes 576 Garments Under Direct Supervision Of Mrs. S. Parkinson

South Side's Parent-Teacher Association has completed 576 garments for the American Red Cross, under the direction of Mrs. S. Parkinson. Three hundred and forty-four of these were pajamas, dresses, and skirts, and 232 were blankets. Sweaters, which were knitted by workers, number seventy-seven. Eleven shawls were also made by the women.

For variety, the sewing group alternates its work each week. One week, baby and girls' clothes and men's convalescent robes are made while the following week navy blue trousers are made for small boys. Dresses for girls and women are also completed so that no member of a family is overlooked. The sizes of the girls' dresses are usually 8 or 10, while the standard woman's size is 40.

USA Club Holds Membership Party

Theme Is Ships; Anna Lee Bearinger, Phyllis Buckmaster Are Co-Chairmen For Affair

USA's membership party was held last Thursday at 3:30 o'clock in the Greeley Room. The theme of the party was ships. Name cards were in the form of ships, and passports were filled out by each member. These were used in a game later. Several other games were played at this meeting.

Anna Lee Bearinger and Phyllis Buckmaster were co-chairmen for the party. Committees for the party were entertainment, Anna Lee Bearinger, Lois Lenz, Nancy Griffith, and Jean Clark; favors, Jean Fackler, Grace Rendleman, and Louise Webster; and refreshments, Phyllis Buckmaster, Rosemary Bird, and Phyllis Crabill.

So-Si-Y Features Service Program

Marguerite Calkins Leads Responsive Number Titled "That We May Understand Service"

Marguerite Calkins led in a Responsive Service titled "That We May Understand Service", last Tuesday, March 11 in the Greeley room. Marguerite wrote the service for the meeting. At the close of the reading, a prayer, "God of All Nations", was read by the leader.

To complete the idea of service, Ilo Hirschman talked on "World Service." Bernita Eggers, club pianist, played hymns softly during the talk. Members then completed their work on the cuddle toys which will be taken to Pixley Relief Home for the children.

The chairman, Marguerite Calkins and her committee consisting of Ilo Hirschman, Marjorie Gerding, Elizabeth Kelso, and Betty Porter had charge of the meeting.

French Society Hears Reports On Provinces

Ionejean Tracht, Delores Daniels, and Marjorie McMahon gave interesting reports on Provence, Brittany, and the people of France at the meeting of the Cercle Francais last week. The heads of the committees for the club's dance held February 21 gave a report on the dance.

French Club meetings are held every two weeks in Room 138 at 3:40 o'clock.

Draft Discussed At Social-Sci Club

"How Conscription Has Affected United States" Is Subject; Bob Brooks, Bob Wylie Speak

Bob Brooks and Bob Wylie spoke on "How Conscription Has Affected the United States" at Social Science meeting Friday. James Brooks was the discussion leader.

Dick Theye, president, appointed Ralph Herb as club parliamentarian. Plans were discussed for attending the Indiana Student Council meeting to be held at Muncie on April 25. Bob Wylie announced that he would take orders for the Indiana Student Council pins.

The next meeting will be held on March 21. The topic for discussion will be "How Can We Retain Peaceful Relationships with Victorious Axis Powers". Keith Lahey and Dorothy Gildea will discuss the topic and Dan Knorr will lead the discussion.

Dues should be paid as soon as possible to Ruth Dauner, secretary.

Archers Are In Cast Of Church Program

Several South Side students took part in the Chi Mu play given at Simpson M. E. Church recently. A play is given annually under the sponsorship of this young people's society. The name of the play this year was "The Red-Headed Step-Child". Miss Blanche Hutto, art instructor at South Side, is directing the play. The cast includes the following South Side students: Marilyn Byerly, John Ensley, Peggy Greaney, Betty Koehler, Marlene Liddy, Arthur Longworth, Kathleen Neith, Marjorie Sullivan, Martha Thomas, Everette Trulock, and Norma Whitesel.

Archers Write Articles
Richard Gallmeyer, 12A, and Gertrude Merkel, 12A, wrote poems which appeared in The News-Sentinel on the Youths' Passing Show Page recently. Gertrude's poem was entitled "If I Were Blind"; and Richard's bore the title, "Friendship".

Clubs, Clubs, Everywhere! Have You Joined One Yet?

Associations, societies, organizations, and still more clubs! So it seems when one looks over the number of extra-curricular activities which are sponsored at South Side. But with almost two thousand students, there must be enough clubs to interest the pupils.

The fact that there are so many thriving clubs goes to show that the Archer students are not in the smallest way backward. Most students realize that by joining a club or clubs, they are gaining knowledge by the informal method of learning.

For those students who haven't a varsity letter but are interested in sports, there is an Intramural Lettermen's Club. One hundred points earned in intramural athletic competition form the bulk of the qualifications for membership in this club.

Each member is entitled to a letter inscribed with a small I-M, standing for "Intramural". The club's aim is to bring together the school's outstanding intramural athletes into a single group, to stimulate interest in inner-school athletics, and to give the non-varsity athletes a goal for which to strive.

The club meets every other Tuesday in the student leaders' room in the gym. Monthly parties compose the larger part of the club's social activities.

There are three foreign language clubs at South Side. The first that we shall take up is the French Club. Its French name is Le Cercle Francais. The qualifications for membership in this club include at least one semester's work in French and a grade of B or above preceding the end of the grading period.

THE CLUB'S PURPOSE IS TO INCREASE THE STUDENTS' SKILL IN THE USE OF THE FRENCH LANGUAGE THROUGH PARLIAMENTARY FORMS, GAMES, SONGS, ETC.

The faculty adviser is Miss Olive B. Perkins. For those of you who are a member of a French class, have the necessary grades to qualify, and who are interested in France, this would be a very enjoyable club to belong to.

The Societas Romana or Latin Club is another very profitable club to join. Membership in the club is open to anyone who is a 10B or above, and who is doing at least B—

Wranglers Hear Guest Speakers

Tigers, Harry Feaser, Sam Stuart; Redskins, Pat Malone, Joan Closs Give Declarations

Sam Stuart and Harry Feaser from Central, and Pat Malone and Joan Closs from North Side, were guest speakers at Wranglers meeting Monday night in the Greeley Room. Sam Stuart and Harry Feaser gave original orations. Pat Malone presented a dramatic declamation, while Joan Closs gave a humorous declamation.

Plans are now being made for the radio announcing contest to be held Monday, March 31.

Moving Pictures Are Hi-Y Meeting Feature

Comical movies were shown by Eugene Meier at the last meeting of Hi-Y, March 6, at 7:30 at the YMCA. Pete Holzworth, vice-president, was in charge.

He announced the program for several months: March 13, aviation speaker; March 20, law speaker; March 27, open; April 3, potluck; and April 10, swim. Bill Goodwin reported on checking at the sectionals.

Inter-Club Congress Discuss Projects

Members Plan Courtesy, Clean-Up Week, Ivy Day For Semester; Form New Constitution

Three new projects will be discussed in Inter-Club Congress at the next meeting, March 17. They are as follows: Courtesy Week, first week of April, Clean-Up Week, April 28 to May 2, and Ivy Day, May 16. Committees will be appointed for these projects.

A NEW CONSTITUTION WILL BE SUBMITTED TO THE CLUB FOR APPROVAL

Members working on the constitution are Romyne Rediger, Betty Koehler, and Frank DuWaldt. The newly-elected officers will be in charge of this meeting.

Inter-Club Congress still has a supply of paper cups and napkins which clubs may buy at cost.

Camenean Club Is To Have Potluck

Annual Fete To Be Next Tuesday In Room 132; Initiation Of New Members Is On Program

Tuesday, March 18, marks the date for an annual potluck of Camenean Club to be held in Room 138 at 3:40 o'clock. All members planning to attend are asked to sign in Room 32 by tomorrow. Each member is requested to bring her own plate, sandwiches, and fork.

An invitation of all new members will also be held at this meeting. Get-acquainted games will be played.

The committee in charge of the program is Betty Peppier, chairman; Betty Medsker, and Helen Dicke.

Week Event For Conduct Is March 24

Courtesy Campaign Will Be Under Management Of Club Congress Members

Students To Give Short Skits Daily

Archers Will Be Watched,
Good Deed Dotties Will Have Their Names Posted

Courtesy Week, an annual event at South Side, is to start Monday, March 24. This week is planned and put on entirely by the members of Inter-Club Congress.

Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday mornings, members of the club will present skits over the public address system dealing with some particular phase of courtesy.

In addition to the skits, honorable mention will be given to one student each day for some exceptional act of courtesy performed the day before.
The club members will constantly be on the look-out for courteous deeds.

Furthermore, a chart will be posted in the east hall, having on it the names of especially courteous students, telling their particular good deeds performed at some time during the week.

The week will be started in an effective way, as Miss Martha Pittenger will speak to the students over the public address system during the home room period Monday morning.

Tuesday morning a skit dealing with courtesy at the table will be given by Keith Lakey, Louisa Haugk, and Laverne Michelfelder. This is to acquaint students with the proper rules for behavior at the table and will also be a help to the patronizers of our own cafeteria.

Dick Theye, Martha Jean Smith, and Jean Cairns make up the cast for the skit on Wednesday. This skit takes up the all-important subject of courtesy in the halls.

On Thursday Ed Bauer, Betty Koehler, and Eva Jean Wylie will present the play. Thursday's skit will be based on courtesy at dances. This one will be especially important since there is hardly a student in the school who does not attend dances without making a few slips as to courtesy.

Forty-six Entered In Radio Contest

Wranglers Sponsor Broadcasting
Meet For Tomorrow, Monday;
Participants' Rules Are Given

Forty-six people will participate in Wranglers' Radio Broadcasting Contest to be held tomorrow and Monday.
The finals will be held at WOWO and WGL radio stations Monday at 7:30 o'clock. All Wranglers are invited to the studio. The contestants will be provided with a news script and an advertising script ten minutes before he will talk. Each one will be less than a minute in length. He will also be given a subject on which to ad lib for one minute. Then he will have two minutes to present any kind of talk—drama, poetry, oratory, or any other. This does not have to be memorized.

THERE WILL BE SIX PRE-LIMINARY CONTESTS TOMOR-ROW. THREE WILL BE SELEC-TED FROM EACH GROUP TO COMPETE IN THE SEMI-FINALS.

On Monday, there will be three semi-final contests. Two will be selected from each to compete in the finals. For the first two contests, the participants will talk on the South Side public address system turned on in Room 190.

Don Meyer is general chairman for the contest. Helping him are Bill Siebold and Delores Daniels.

Following is a list of those who will participate: Sam Bacon, Dick Baible, Mary Ellen Barrett, Betty
Birely, Lois Bloemker, Bill Bone,
John Bonsib, Rose-Etha Brazzy, Jim
Bumke, Maxine Case, Fred Collins,

Read What Happened When This Archer Got Out His Bike

By Alex Swoose
There comes a time in the course of the events of every young man when he finds it necessary to ride a bicycle to school. To a great many of the Archer boys this is a daily occurrence; but to others, it is only a rare occasion, which is to be dreaded as death itself. RECENTLY I HAD THE ILL-LUCK TO FIND MYSELF IN THE RANKS OF THE LATTER CLASS.

To begin with, I had forgotten to wind the alarm clock the night before; therefore, I didn't get up until ten minutes until eight in the morning. That wasn't so bad in itself. A fellow can wash in about thirty seconds, forget to comb his hair, spend five minutes eating, and then get to school four minutes after eight. IF he can bum a ride. But if he cannot bum a ride, then the situation is difficult indeed.

Well, to make a long story short, on that, of all days, I couldn't bum a ride. The only alternative—dreadful thought—was to haul out the old bike, dust it off, and attempt to recall the skill of riding that I had once known. After an adventurous trip to school, in which I lost a portion of the knees of my trousers in an argument with the pavement, I arrived at school, trembling at the thought of the terrible ordeal yet before me.

Totem Officials To Start Drive For Freshmen

Second Circulation Campaign On; Two Dollars To Be Paid Before April 4

Totem officials have announced a second circulation campaign for the benefit of the freshman
B classes. During this campaign any freshman B subscribing will have his name embossed upon the cover of his yearbook. The subscription price of two dollars remains the same for these late subscribers, but one must subscribe and have the entire price paid before spring vacation which begins April 4, or a fine of 25 cents will be levied.

Lois Likins and Lois Gumpfer, co-circulation managers, are again in charge of the campaign for more yearbook orders. They stated that at present 1,078 Totems have been sold, and that this number breaks all previous records in sales. "This campaign will give us a chance to break the records still further," they concluded.

In the coming campaign the same agents will be working as in the past campaign in the upperclass home rooms. In the freshman rooms those agents that took underclass picture orders will be in charge of the subscriptions.

All persons who wish their names on their Totems must have the $2.00 subscription price paid in full by Friday, April 4. If not paid by then, these persons also will be charged a 25 cent fine.

The editor, John Bonsib, stated that the book is in the final stages of production, with almost all of the club stories and pictures being finished.
Also much of the snapshot taking is through, and engravings are in the making at the engraving company.

He said that the book promises to be one of the biggest ever produced because of the grand co-operation from all the students, faculty members, and the persons working on the book. "This co-operation has enabled us to break all previous marks in underclass pictures and senior pictures, as well as the subscription sales," he stated.

Four Archers Win In Music Contest

Elaine Hirschy, Alice Light,
Janice Sprunger, Marilyn Sondles Are Named Victors

Elaine Hirschy, Marilyn Sondles,
Janice Sprunger, pianists and Alice Light, violinist, were the four victorious Archers in the Northeastern Indiana music contest. This was the thirteenth annual music contest of high school students of this district and was held Saturday morning at Indiana University's Fort Wayne Extension Center.

Six other participants of fifty-five entrants were South Siders. They were: voice, Charlotte DuWan and Enalyn Remmel; piano, Dorothy Koomjohn, Berdine Lochner, Mary
Whittem, and Lavan Wittner.

Jack Wehrenberg, of North Side, was the only other winning contestant from Fort Wayne.

Those who emerged winners will be eligible for competition in the state finals to be staged April 19 at Bloomington, Indiana. The other district contest winners to meet at Bloomington at this time have their extension centers at Indianapolis, Evansville, East Chicago, and Bloomington districts.

Stealing myself with the words,
"Faint, heart ne'er won fair lady", I boldly pedaled up to the entrance of the bike stalls. It seems that a seedy-looking individual had precisely the same idea. After a little eloquent persuasive oratory on his part, I let him have the honor of going through first—a deed for which he graciously thanked me by kicking out seven spokes as he rolled by.

"Oh well, no matter, spokes are cheap," I soothed my shattered nerves. At last I had gained the inside of the bike stalls. That was one great obstacle overcome.

The second stumbling block in my path was finding a spot for my vehicle in the stalls.

"Ah, there's a wonderful spot", I said, espousing a neat little nook, and rejoicing at such good luck at finding one so soon. I SHOULD HAVE KNOWN THAT IT WOULD BE TOO GOOD TO BE TRUE.

"How right you are", said my old friend, the seedy-looking individual,

Darwin Fry Finds Bill, Native Boy, Still Tends His Herd

"The last I heard of Bill he was living in the Mt. Kenya foothills, caring for his gardens and herds" is one of the quotations in the letter from Mrs. Carl Akeley, received by Miss Magley's English class. She is the author of the story "Bill", taken from the book, "The Open Road".
The class' interest became so intense in this native character that Darwin Fry, a student of Miss Magley's English 3 class, was chosen to write a letter to the author to find out what became of Bill, the native boy.

Their research resulted in the following explanation. "Bill" is a story of a native boy of East Africa. Mrs.
Akeley and her husband were exploring Africa at the time they met this boy.

EEE Club Gives Vocabulary Tests

Contests To Improve Word Use,
Reports On Slang, People,
Definitions Heard Saturday

Reports were given by Wilma
Lagemann, Gertrude Merkle, Hilda
Schubert, and Bettlu Stein at the Three E's Club meeting, which was held last Saturday at the home of Wilma Lagemann, 4034 Indiana Avenue. Reports given were on words derived from the names of famous people, definitions, and slang expressions.
Contests for improving vocabulary were conducted.

During a short musicale, Ionejean
Tracht played a piano selection, and Joyce Cleaver sang a vocal solo. Gertrude Merkle and Hilda Schubert then sang "Braum's Lullaby" in German.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mary Nell Spiegel, 924 West DeWald Street. Elinor Muntzinger and Theda Tyndall will be her assisting hostesses.

Five Green Archers Go "Noo Yawkish" For Five Thrill-Packed Days

By Marjorie Sheldon
Editor's Note: This article tells of the experiences of a group of Archers and North Siders when Miss Rowena Harvey, journalism instructor, took them to New York for a Columbia Scholastic Press Association Convention last week. Those who went from South Side are Jeanie Smith,
Mary Lybrook, Becky Abbott,
Marge Sheldon, and Bob Robinson.

"Good morning. The sun is shining," trilled a disgustingly happy voice through the instrument I realized vaguely I must be holding. "Thanks,"
I mumbled dryly as I fumbled to replace it on the carriage and promptly rolled over.

And then it dawned on me! This was our second morning in New York!
Why, of course. How could we forget that glorious entrance into the "melting pot of the world" just as the sun came up! Or the thrilling tour via bus through the Bowery (from the song of the same name) and the Battery near which the Normandie lay at dock.
(The government feared sabotage or something, so the Fort Wayne delegation turned their intense scrutiny to the fish markets—their scrutiny, not their noses!)

secutive year.

This convention is the largest gathering of student editors in the world and is under the direction of Mr.
Joseph Murphy, head of the CSPA.
The Times has won the "Medalist" award every year since the convention started fifteen years ago.

All papers from the beginning of the term in September up to Christmas were entered. The papers of the preceding semester were also examined to determine whether the paper has become better or worse with the change of staff. If the paper has become worse, the entry is dropped from the contest.

AN ISSUE OF THE TIMES WAS PLACED ON EXHIBIT. THE ISSUE
PLACED ON EXHIBIT WAS THE AMERICAN EDUCATION WEEK ISSUE.

During the convention Marjorie
Sheldon gave a speech on the "Ideal Newspaper". Robert Robinson wrote the lead article for the convention issue of the Columbia Spectator on the proceedings of the convention. The honor of writing the article is reserved for a staff member of a leading newspaper in the contest.

The CSPA convention at Columbia University was attended by five Archers and six North Side students. The Archers are Marjorie Sheldon, Mary Lybrook, Jeanie Smith, Rebecca Abbett, and Bob Robinson.

Archer Riflemen Lose Close Meet

City Championship Team Beats
South Side Junior Club By One Point; Scores Are High

Shooting the highest score this year,
South Side's Junior Rifle Club was defeated by the Fort Wayne Rifle and Revolver Club last Monday evening by a score of 498 to 497 in a match fired at the Army.

Individual scores of the Archer squad are as follows: Dick Hornberger, 100; John Myers, 100; Tom Broxon, 99; Dick Brintzenhofe, 99;
and Ed Bauer, 99.

Joe Bekius, who shot 99, Dick Theye, 96, and Paul Russell, who shot his first match scoring 94.

Archer Fans Favor Washington Hatchet In State Net Tourney

If the opinions of South Siders may be taken as any criterion, the Washington Hatchets will win the 1941 Indiana basketball crown. Some students favor Gary Froebel, and add to their confidence by exploiting the efforts of big Davage Minor. Kokomo's Kats, minus Carl Campbell, and the Madison basketweavers also have a few rooters among the Archers.

Here is a cross-section of opinions concerning the outcome of the state finals:

Dick Forbing: I'll take Froebel.
Minor is good enough to carry the whole team.

Lola Rodriguez: Washington will win!

Glen Dager: Froebel is good, but
Washington is better.

Bob Worman: I think Kokomo can win, but Campbell's loss may be too great.

Maxine Case: It looks like Froebel to me.

Trendell Terry: Washington; but
I can't say why.

Glen Cox: I've heard a lot about
Washington, so I'll pick the Hatchets.

Mary Sites: Madison is underrated. I think they'll pull an upset.

Roy Heavner: Washington or Froebel.

Elaine Ferguson: If Madison can beat Anderson, they can win state. I hope!

Janet Anderson: Kokomo is my pick; but I suppose Froebel will win.

Tom Shank: Washington should win, and easily at that.

Pete Kuttner: I'll take Gary Froebel. Minor is a great one-man team!

Civics Classes To Hear Talk On War Crisis

Dr. Francis Skillman Under-donk To Speak On America's Role In Foreign Wars

Dr. Francis Skillman Under-donk, architect, author, world traveler, educator, and famous lecturer on international affairs, will speak on "America's Role in the World Crisis" before the Government 2 classes in the Greeley Room tomorrow.

He will speak at 1:25 and 2:25 o'clock. Other students who have free periods may attend the lectures. The admission price will be 10 cents.

Dr. Underdonk, whose home is in Ann Arbor, Michigan, is on a lecture tour, one of the many he has undertaken since 1934 and during which he has covered 200,000 miles in his specially arranged motor equipment.

In his address in this city, Dr.
Underdonk will present his opinions concerning the significance of the present world crisis and outline the foreign policy which he believes the United States should adopt.

"Those who hear him may well count on an interesting experience, for he represents the rare combination of a very real American who had all his education in Europe as well as spending 20 years in that charming Central Europe which has now been turned into the desert, 'Moralinsania', it is said by persons who have heard Dr.
Underdonk speak elsewhere.

Annual GAA Show "Pan Americana" Will Be Tomorrow

Jim McClure
To Speak For Kiwanis Club

Other Contests, Subjects
Are Listed; Many Will Participate In Clashes

James McClure will represent
South Side in the Kiwanis Declamation Contest on March 25.
"The Tide Is Turning" by Winston Churchill is the title of Jim's declamation. Other schools competing will be Central Catholic,
North Side, Central, and Concordia. Last year the trophy was won by Bud Brudi from South Side.

Among other speech contests South Side students will attend as announced by Mrs. Dorothy Rieke, speech instructor, will be the Wabash Invitational meet on April 5. Students will compete in oratorical, extemporaneous speaking, original oratory, and dramatic declamation.

District contests of state discussion will be held sometime between March 21 and April 3.
Topic for discussion is "Interstate Trade Barriers." Bob Young and
Sam Bacon will represent South Side.

STATE DECLAMATION CON-TESTS WILL BE HELD AT INDIANA UNIVERSITY ON
APRIL 11.

Students competing in these contests gained this right by placing first and second in the school contest.
Bob Safer and Fred Collins will participate in the dramatic declamation.
James McClure is entered in oratorical declamation, and Mary Ellen Barrett and Betty Hargan will represent South Side in humorous declamation. Also on that day a contest in poetry reading and radio broadcasting will be held. Contestants for this will be decided later.

On April 12, Bob Young and Bob Robinson will represent South Side at DePauw University in state finals of extemp contest.

$185.55 Is Owed On Times Orders

Pat Sanford's Book Owes Least,
$23.25; Room 60 Is Paid Up;
Four Agents Have 100 Per Ct.

Since the beginning of the week,
Times agents have been selling Times subscriptions for fifty cents. A room agent's meetings was held last night to pep up the agents for the rest of the campaign.

Agents were also asked to work on their collections in order to get the $185.55 which is still owed paid up as soon as possible. Only one home room has been entirely paid up so far. This is Miss Susan Peck's Room 60, in which Ann
Weilborn is agent.

No more one hundred per cent home rooms have come in lately, but with the new campaign in progress, more are expected. These agents who have gained one hundred per cent are Ruth Werkman, Room 8; Julia Kaser, 30;
Rose-Etha Brazzy, 32; and Lois Likins, 82. A total of 1,218 subscriptions have been brought in so far this semester. This is 20 more subscriptions than have ever been brought in during the spring semester.

Payments have been coming in slowly, and all students are asked to cooperate with their agents. Pat Sanford's Book III owes the least, $23.25; Book II, headed by Franklin Neff is second with $27.95 still out. Tom Yates' Book I owes $30.70; Peg Harrod's Book VI, $31.50; Laura Jean Grazier's Book IV, $33.50; and Betty
Stump's Book V, $38.85.

Meterites Present "The Fatal Quest"

Members Of Club Give Play Directed By Program Chairman;
Fifty Girls Belong To Group

"The Fatal Quest" was the play presented to the members of the Meterite Club on March 18. Dorothy Meyer, the program chairman, directed the play.
Characters were as follows: the king,
Phyllis Bumke; the queen, Phyllis Crabill; the princess, Alice Johnson;
the cat, Mary Harry; the duke, Doris Pape; and the curtain, Paty Hocker.

There are now over fifty paid members in the club, and since the meeting was the fourth for this semester no more members will be taken in.

Bob Robinson Scores Another Speech Victory

Bob Robinson, senior A, placed second in the district Rotary contest on March 17 at Wabash, Indiana. Bob Balters from Delphi placed first. The three winners received gold cups. Bob qualified to enter this contest by placing first in the city and group Rotary contests. Contestants in the district meet were from Michigan City, South Bend, Butler, and Delphi, Indiana.

Is Good Sense One Of Thy Five Senses Or Thy Nuisances?

"Oh heavens! What will I do? I don't think that I've studied enough! Oh! I'm afraid that I will never pass this! Oh gosh! Chatter, chatter, chatter!" Is this a verbal picture of you just before a test? It seems to be the common practice of a great many students to lose all semblance of self-control whenever they have the least cause to become excited or nervous. They just appear to lose themselves in a whirlwind of chatter and sighs. It's obvious that they need a good lesson in self-control and in keeping their wits about them.

The "Classroom Flutterers" are probably the most glaring examples of the loss of wits, but there are others almost as bright. For instance, there is the student who, as soon as the bell rings, dashes out in the hall to meet someone. Tearing along with frantic haste, he leaves his wits in the classroom which he has just left. Without regard for life or property, he leaves a trail of destruction in his wake. Or perhaps you may know the person who always thinks that he is going to be late. He invariably rummages through his locker at break-neck speed and then finds out later that he has forgotten something and has to come back.

Come now, stop to think of it. Aren't the people who are always losing their heads the very picture of ridiculousness? If you haven't studied for a test, it won't do a particle of good to lose your wits and flutter around in a panic. In fact, you will probably set your mind in such a turmoil that you'll jumble in your head those facts which you already do know.

There's a saying that runs something like this: "Lose your head and you will lose your skin." Of course you aren't in much danger of losing your skin; but, nevertheless, you will profit infinitely by always keeping your wits collected and in smooth working order. The first thing to do is to prepare for the future. Then you won't be caught in a jam; but, if you are, remember to keep your wits!

The Deeds That Really Count Are Those Done Voluntarily

At home most of us voluntarily keep our belongings in order and respect those things which belong to the rest of the family. Can we truthfully say the same of our attitude at school? This pertinent question should be given attention at least once a semester by every student and then used as a guide for the rest of the period. True it is that we all are willingly or unwillingly reminded at intervals to clean out our lockers or to stop marking up the walls of the building. Clean-up Week is an excellent example of an outside attempt to reform the conduct of the school as a whole. By designating this project as an "outside" project, we simply mean that it is required of every student to clean up his locker during the week, but the sincerity or thoroughness of the attempts is left up to the pupils.

Our logical question is: Just how many Archers make a regular inside check-up of their personal conduct away from home? How many pupils are continually careful not to kick their feet against teachers' desks, to keep wet raincoats from splattering up white walls, or to stay off wet grounds? Perhaps the examples of courtesy just given seem a bit remote or strange to those of us who have been constantly trained to listen to sermons on the traditional themes of locker clean-ups or wall scratching. Nevertheless, they are just as important for each of us to give attention to as are the more talked about rules. In other words, students, let's concentrate a little more on the common decency practices which we observe at home, and then transfer these same habits to our lives at South Side High School.

Now really, which is more work—thinking up your own answers or rearranging your neighbor's so that the teacher will not see a similarity?

Fable: Once there was a student who never put a mark on the outside of his notebook.

The speaker who does not strike oil in five minutes should stop boring.

Heard in London: Tomorrow will be a nice day if it doesn't rain.

Simile: As inconsiderate as an alarm clock on Monday morning.

Sympathy is what one girl offers another in exchange for details.

Six Weeks After Ground Hogs Appear, The Road Hogs Come

By Rundell Bone

In the spring a young man's fancy turns to—driving. It is the dream of every young man to learn to drive a car. I remember the first time I got the desire to drive. It was a bright day in March when I asked my mother to teach me the fine art.

In learning to drive it must be remembered that there are four distinct steps; but right now, I am only interested in lesson number one, "the approach." One of the most important things to remember when driving a car is to know how to approach the thing. I had assured my mother that I knew how to back the car out of the garage, so I took the keys and dashed out of the house. I opened the car door and stepped in. I sat for a few minutes staring at the dashboard, and then I got a funny sickish feeling in the pit of my stomach.

I then tried the starter; but, finding that the car wouldn't start, I thought I would try turning on the ignition. It was at this point that I found it a lot easier to start a car if the ignition is turned on first. I pushed the clutch pedal in and shifted into reverse. "Let the clutch out slowly," I thought to myself. I let the clutch out, but the car didn't move and the engine stopped. I repeated the same performance several times, but the engine died each time.

The emergency brake was on; so I released it and tried again. There was a terrific crash and a sound of grinding wood. I had forgotten to open the garage doors! Oh well, that's about all there is to the approach. Just remember to open the door, turn on the ignition, and release the brake!

Now let's proceed to lesson number two, the start. Two weeks later I took my second lesson. After my mother backed out of the garage, I took over. There were several jumps, a few hops, and a kick of the exhaust; and we were started. That's about all there is to it. Just let the clutch out slowly and feed it a little gas.

The last lesson is the hardest. Beware of lesson number three, the process of stopping. There are several ways of executing this most difficult lesson. One of the simplest ways is to turn off the ignition and run into a tree, but this isn't advisable. The method I tried is the worst of all. I thought I was stopping a speedboat and tried to throw the gears in reverse. It didn't stop the car!

Here are those Flashes on Fashion

By Pat Sanford

As one quickly turns over the corners of the pages of fashion, he becomes aware of a predominating style flashing before his eyes. This new style is merely the revival of capes. Regardless of your height or age, you will look simply ravishing in a cape; and you will be entirely up-to-date. Perhaps the most general type of cape will be that which is a part of a three-piece suit. The first thought that is most likely running through your mind is that all capes look alike. On the contrary, one finds a good many styles in capes.

When the soles of the shoes you are now wearing begin to resemble a sieve, don't march downtown and buy saddle shoes or casuals. To look really stylish and comfortable, be original and buy a pair of Indian moccasins. These moccasins are not the ordinary type but have Indian signs and drawings on them. They come in blues, pinks, reds, yellows, and natural colors.

For heaven's sake, girls! Why doesn't someone start the fad of wearing corduroy slacks? After all we DO have to be comfortable, and there's nothing like a good soft pair of corduroy slacks to make one just that. At home, on picnics, or even on sport dates, slacks could be just the thing. Why don't we girls show the boys that we can be comfortable, practical, and alluring in their styles?

Spring almanacs announce THE new material is "tecca cloth". Blouses, dresses, and even slacks come in this amazing "tecca cloth".

It's never too soon to start thinking about those spring formals, and this year is no exception. In 1941 we find informal dresses are going to be popular. Short sleeves, three-quarter length sleeves, and even long sleeves are seen on the formals. Sailor boy styles are still as fashionable as ever.

March and April have their winds and showers, but the smart girl will protect herself from them by wearing a beautiful white polo trench coat fashioned after that of an ensign. This creation proves that clothes designed in America can and will be just as beautiful and alluring as those designed in Paris.

Editors For The "Dirt" Stoop; Reporters Like A Pert "Scoop"

Pictured above are members of the editorial and news staffs. They are, left to right: Bill McNulty, Mary Ellen Barrett, Roger McVay, and Elinor Muntzinger.

"Say, Bill! Look here! It says in The Times that May and Bob are going steady. Now just how did THEY know? And will you look at THIS! This article states that the after-game dance has been postponed 'til next week. Wonder how The Times gets all this information so quick!" So goes the general run of questions which pertain in some way to the functions of the editorial and news staffs.

In case you haven't as yet guessed, the answer to the inquiry about May and Bob would have to come directly from one of the Times' ten regular editorial writers. Yes, the notes from the students which go to make up the "dirt" column are referred directly to the editorial staff. Upon being received by the editorial editor, Louis Hallenstein, these notes are then assigned to a staff member, who authenticates and revises them. Thus the "dirt" column you read each week is usually accurate and interesting.

But preparing gossip columns is not the only part of the editorial staff's work. Each Friday assignments are issued covering many types of journalistic endeavor. Fashions, polls, critical editorials, cartoons, character sketches, informative features, and serious essays are examples of some of the material which is used on the editorial page.

All stories which are written for the page must be in the pressroom by the Thursday which precedes the printing of the issue for which they are intended. This means that between Monday night, the time that the first items are handed in, and Wednesday evening, the deadline for the last story, the editor must get his material in order.

Getting editorial material "in order" means getting it in shape for the composing room. This involves copyediting, writing heads for, and editing each story. In addition to these duties, the editor must make up the page so that the items appear on the final sheet in a correct and pleasing manner.

The question about the dance should have been addressed to Mary Ellen Barrett, news editor. Club news is only part of the news coverage of The Times. Speech news, assembly flashes, graduation "scoops", and all other "straight" news which you read in this paper are handled by Mary Ellen and her staff of about forty-five reporters.

The news desk is run in a manner similar to that of any large newspaper. Each reporter receives his or her assignment in the large book on the news desk. The assignment must be checked "out" and "in" in the same way that all other material is. This procedure is repeated every week throughout the school year.

Betty Doesn't Hate To Go To School; To Come Irks Her

By Betty Stump

Every few weeks there comes a day when nothing can go right and everything happens to me. This happens to everyone once in a very great while, but what happens to me shouldn't happen to a termite!

First, to give the proper contract to the last part of my tale of woe, I'll tell you how going to school should be accomplished. Let's see now—get up about 7 o'clock, eat, and dash to school five minutes before the bell rings. Sounds simple, doesn't it?

Well, on the next day you are sure that you set the alarm clock the night before. You're sure, because the mic knocked it over and broke the crystal, and you had just finished setting it all over again. The alarm doesn't go off; it's at least forty-five minutes before you realize that something hasn't happened that should. You gulp down burnt toast and cold coffee (I've got to stay away from coffee) and you are off to a swell start as your skirt or trousers catch on the door latch. Oh well, it's cold in school, so just keep your overcoat on.

It happens to be icy out this morn; so you don't make good progress. You just missed a trolley; so you stand up in one of the new buses. As it jerks, you are thrown into the lap of a portly old gentleman. Just as the bus pulls up at the school door, you are thrown bodily out of the hole marked "EXIT" and land on that banana peel you left there yesterday in hope of catching the math teacher.

Even if you aren't half mutilated in the fall, you are late and have to go to the office for a tardy slip. As you rush down the halls, a teacher steps out and says, "See me after school for running in the halls." By this time you are a nervous wreck and don't care if you live or die anyway.

"GAL" A FEATURES

Station L-O-V-E is now on the air, bringing to you the love lights of the week. Flash! Bill Knoll declares his heart still belongs to Jean Peterson; but, unless there is a definite hook-up soon, Ruth Hageman will easily take Jean's place.

Tri-State has definitely taken over two of our feminine Archers: "Peanuts" Ferguson has been dating Vic Tack, while Shirley Rubin is all "a-ditter" over Bob Burkhardt. The static between Wanda Eller and Russell Crumrine has all cleared up, and the love waves are running just as smoothly as before the storm.

Mary Carlo and Dick Bobilya are another new feature over this station, as are Marilyn Gregg and Bob Stock.

There is a steady hook-up between Colleen McCarty and Dallas Zuber. Dallas decided to follow his pal, Tom Brower, who is monopolizing all of Marilyn Loomis' time, and join the steady ranks. The Phipps-Jones duet has broken up after a trial of only one week. Perhaps this rift can be patched up with a little persuasion on the part of both factors in the case.

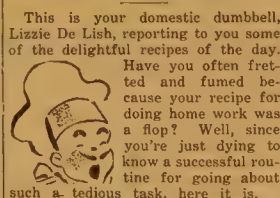

LaVerne Greiner seems to be on a national hook-up with such important companies as Mr. Gallmeyer from South Side; Mr. Bullerman, from Concordia; and Mr. Spencer, from Indiana University. . . . While waiting for an audition, Gene McClain and Jane Chenoweth started on their romantic escapade, and have been going together ever since.

Kenny Wollman and Barbara Jenneret are on a high-power station now; Virginia Gray and Dale Landis are on a low-power station (too much static). After the static clears up, we expect Virginia and Dale back on the high-power stations. . . . Alice Hall has signed a long term contract to broadcast over one station for the Moses Escort Bureau.

Among our guest artists for this week are Betty Hargan and Paul Kutch; John Wells and Ethelreda Behling; and Bob Guion and Bonnie Junk.

Station L-O-V-E is now signing off. For complete details concerning love lights of the week, read The South Side Times.

Upon The Receipt Of Lizzie's Recipe, A Mess You'll See

This is your domestic dumbbell, Lizzie De Lish, reporting to you some of the delightful recipes of the day. Have you often fretted and fumed because your recipe for doing home work was a flop? Well, since you're just dying to know a successful routine for going about such a tedious task, here it is.

First, dissolve yourself into the nearest easy chair and commence to mix your brains with the dry ingredients of homework. Then, stir Glenn Miller's program lightly into the mixture. This is bound to make the batter slightly solid. (Note: Any musical terms used herein are with the permission of ASCAP.)

Following this, you alternate a little literature with five or six telephone calls. A few grains of "Celery Stalks at Midnight" give the mixture an added flavor. Now put the batter on to cook until your mother comes in boiling. By this time the clock strikes 10 o'clock, which means, "Remove the mixture from the fire and call it a day!"

True Or -

Father Time is indeed a crafty man. Time spent at school passes more quickly than we realize. Many of you have undoubtedly listened to the experts on that very popular radio program, "Information Please." They can remember things which happened way back in their childhood days. Today, why don't you give your brains a work out and attempt to answer some of the following questions and statements? Just answer "true" or "false" before each statement; and, when you are through, add up your score.

1. South Side defeated North Side at Central's gymnasium.
2. It is a fact that Marjorie McNabb admires North Side's Bob Young.
3. The South Side Times is a large alarm clock?
4. Mary Ellen Barrett won Wranglers' Humorous Declamation Contest.
5. A picture of Marjorie McMahon and Bill Miller appeared in this paper recently.
6. French Club gave a fine dance commemorating George Washington.
7. Tenney White and Joan Cartwright are going steady.
8. Carolyn Snoke and Tom Shank are seen together often.
9. Becky Abbott is president of Philo.
10. Franklin Roosevelt will be president fifty more years.
11. Harold Carlwell Brudi is an outstanding European diplomat.
12. ASCAP is a place where ALL SCHOOL CHILDREN ARE PROBLEMS.
13. John Bonsib and Joel Salton are working on a yearbook which promises to be a very good one.
14. Because of infantile paralysis last year, school did not start until the latter part of September.

These "Biographies" Practically Murder The Men Of March

So you think that the only advertised products of March are winds, hares, and the income tax! So you think all that ever happened during this month were the events of the basketball tournament and the passage of the Lease-Lend Bill. Well, surprise! If it weren't for March, everything might be different. Caesar might still be living (though I have my doubts) and two great men might never have seen the light of day. (what little there is in this month). These men are Andrew Jackson and Johann Strauss.

Andrew Jackson was born at the age of zero. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jackson, who were very proud that their son was going to grow up to be President of the United States. They wanted him to be great; so they named him after the famous president, Andrew Jackson.

Andy grew up to be a fine backwoods boy, but he had many hard knocks—(Someone should have told him about Ethyl!) After selling one hundred subscriptions to "Look", he entered the University of Hard Knocks. Here he was a "wow" in spite of the fact that he was a "barb." Soon after his entrance into college, he won a convertible coupe by guessing the correct number of beans in a shop window.

Then Andrew decided to drive down to the nearest camp and join the army, where he could take his violent temper out on the British. And he did! He was still moving 'em down with the tommy gun after peace was declared in Europe; cause he had no way of finding that out. Electricity hadn't yet been invented. He must have stopped sometime, though, because a few years later he was in the White House, where he served (God bless him!) two terms.

Here is the tale of another March marvel: Johann Strauss was born in Vienna. He lived in Vienna. He died in Vienna. But wait—that's not all! He entertained Vienna. And how he entertained them! When he was a struggling young musician, "Shonny" played in the cafes of Vienna. He played his own tunes.

At first the people would not accept his rhythm because the LaConga was still hot. Finally people got sick and tired (mostly tired) of this torrid stuff and began to really appreciate the rhythm of this new thing called the "waltz." Vienna swayed to the gay three-quarter time melodies of "Shonny", whom they called the "Waltz King".

Coeds Are Treated As Earls, Not Hams, At Earlham College

This week the paths leading to the schools of higher education are directed toward Richmond, Indiana, where the beautiful college, Earlham, is located. This college is pleasantly located on a tract of land having an area of 180 acres and adjoining the western limits of Richmond. Earlham is a standard college, recognized by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching and by the General Board of Education.

Instruction at this institution is limited to the field of liberal arts and sciences, and the opportunity is offered to secure a foundation for general culture. The only degree offered is the Bachelor of Arts.

The program of studies is flexible in order to meet the needs of the individual student. Some courses are prescribed for the first two years only, so that a foundation in languages and science may be secured. The last two years are devoted chiefly to work in the field of concentration.

For students wishing vocational work, courses are provided which prepare for entrance to the best professional and vocational schools in the country. There are departments of medicine, law, business, theology, civil and electrical engineering, teaching, agriculture, library work, and journalism.

Why Down Dauner? Ruth Isn't Ruthless!

The studio is packed with people waiting for the light to flash on and tell them that a program is on the air. Yes, the quiz program is about to begin. Anxious whispers fill the air. The light is about to go on! There's the signal from the control room.

Tonight's contestants include the Messrs. Past, Present, and Future, who will answer questions concerning the intellectual department of South Side High School (actually pertaining to the life and death of Miss Ruth Dauner, one of the more unusual students in the senior class).

As question number one is fired at the contestants, "Where and when did the subject originate?", Past immediately raises his hand and states that Ruth was born in November, the eighth to be exact, in 1923. The event took place in Syracuse, Indiana.

The second question, "Where did she spend her early life?", is also answered correctly by Past. He informs the audience that she attended Kendallville and South Bend grade schools. During the time she was in the seventh and eighth grades, Ruth attended a high school, because South Bend Riley is both a grade and a high school. Right from the start she was a musician, playing in the high school orchestras and string quartets.

"What song title answers the next question in my mind?" asks the quiz master; and Yehudi answers, "Where do I go from here?"

And, as we progress to the third question, which asks where LID she go from there, Present raises his hand and intelligently replies that she entered South Side. Ruth is exceedingly active in the Archer music department and in other club activities. She entered the field of music in 1937, beginning with the orchestra. She is one of the members of our much-talked-about South Side Trio, vice-president of Travel Club, secretary-treasurer of Social Science Club, the music chairman of Philo, and a member of Latin Club, Library, and Service.

Education Movies Are Both A Letup, Letdown To Student

By "Bored Biff"

"Today we will go to the Greeley Room and see some movies. I will postpone the test for today," said the history teacher.

A sigh of relief and surprise came from the class. Immediately I saw visions of Don "Alexander Bell" Ameche, Spencer "Thomas Edison" Tracy, and Ann "Oomph" Sheridan. "Maybe they will have a Mickey Mouse or a Donald Duck cartoon," I thought. "I certainly am glad I bought those freshly wrapped candy bars. I'll be just like a regular movie!"

"Class, form a line and march double file quietly to the Greeley Room," directed our pedagogue.

"Ha! That's a laugh—our history class being quiet! Oh well, just so he doesn't catch me and my candy," thought I.

After a long march down the deserted halls of the building, we arrived at our destination. We were the only class to witness this spectacular cinema. My gang and I fought the way to the front row and succeeded in getting prize seats.

The lights were turned out, and we sat back in our seats prepared for an hour of enjoyment.

The machine was turned on by the operator but nothing happened. The lights were turned on again; and, after much fussing and fixing, it was discovered that the machine was not plugged in. This being remedied, the lights were again turned off and the movie began.

"Yipe, I've been cheated!" I exclaimed after reading the title which said, "Podunk University Presents: The Life of Van Buren." I almost fell down in my seat, too disgusted to eat the candy. Such a trick to play on a person! Well, the class was partly revived when it remembered that there might be a double feature or a cartoon between pictures. But alas, no cartoon; in fact, the second picture was worse than the first. The title was "2,000 B.C. to 800 B.C."

First Track Meet This Season Is Scheduled For March 29

Cinder Mentor Has Our Team In Good Form

Squad Has Many Veterans; All Members Have Been In Rigid Practice Drills

Track coach George Collyer is sending his cinder pounders through rigid training drills this week in preparation for the Archers' appearance in the Gary Relays on March 29.

The South Side mentor hopes to build another fine team this year; and with some good material taking form, it is highly probable that the Green harriers will enjoy a successful campaign.

At least one good performer is available in each event, with the relay teams appearing as strong as last season. Chick Shimer, Rudy Wuttke, Art Parry, and Bill Bond will form the half-mile relay quartet. All but Bond were members of last year's team. Bill replaces Arden Altman, who was graduated last spring.

Five Archers are vying for posts on the mile relay team. These candidates include Gus Feistkorn, Bill Miller, Jim Worman, Ralph Sebold, and Dwight Davis.

Art Parry and Rudy Wuttke will carry the Green dash burden. Both are fast and should be capable of adding many valuable place points to the South Side meet totals. Dick Brinzenhoff, Richard Sebold, Paul Dannecker, and Tom Deahl are being counted upon to run the mile and the longer distances.

In the hurdles and high jump, Coach Collyer will definitely be looking for another performer who can match the fine work of Ernie Vogel. Dick Kilpatrick will handle the high jumping, while Lester Oppenlander and Richard Sebold are battling for the hurdling assignments. Sam Johnson and Paul Wuttke are pole vaulting for the Green.

Big Chuck Close, who has high hopes of capturing the state shot title this year, is the leading Archer shot-put candidate. Others out for the tossing event are Herman Davis, Saul Frank, and Cowan. The latter is not yet competing due to his failure of having a physical examination. Rudy Wuttke is the only outstanding trackster returning in the broad jump.

ART PARRY AND RUDY WUTTKE HAVE PLACED THEMSELVES AT THE TOP OF THE SOUTHERN DASHERS BY POSTING THE BEST TIMES IN THE SHORT, 40-YARD DASH TRIALS.

Since the publication of the track card in The Times several weeks ago, Mr. Collyer has announced changes and additions to the schedule. The complete card now lists the following meets:

- March 29—At Notre Dame (Gary Relays).
  - April 5—Open date, Marion, here.
  - April 9—Marion, here.
  - April 15—Goshen, there.
  - April 19—Garrett and Auburn, here.
  - April 26—Mishawaka and Gary Froebel, there.
  - May 3—At Kokomo (Kokomo Relays).
  - May 10—Central, here.
  - May 17—Sectional meet, at North Side.
  - May 24—State meet, at Indianapolis.
- To be scheduled: Mr. Collyer is planning to book dual meets with Elkhart and Huntington.

Semi-Final Notes

By Bob Young

Fate certainly dealt North Side's big Redskins a crushing blow last Saturday. Those North Siders looked good—but those last six minutes, with Cowan limping under a cramped leg, proved to be the undoing of a great team. . . If Lady Luck had not dealt Bob Young his unfortunate injury against Piercetown, I am quite sure that the Muncie finale would have had a far different outcome. For Young could have throttled Carl Campbell. . . Bob Cowan played the outstanding game of his spectacular career against Burris. He was a team in himself. Every rooter who saw the Owl-Redskin tussel would readily attest to the fact that Cowan was the "perfect" basketball performer last Saturday afternoon. . . North Side has nothing to be ashamed of. The Redskins played their hearts out. Coaches Bob and George Nulf gave Fort Wayne a great team. . . Kay Short and Byron Popp, two footballers who turned to cage stars, were the two northerners who offered Cowan the most support on his rebounding efforts. For big boys, this duel played outstanding ball. . . Carl Campbell deserves plenty of praise for his fine offensive work. "Hump" tossed 'em in from all angles. . . I happened to talk to "Pee Dad" Campbell, coach of Kokomo, before the final tilt; asking Campbell about his team's chances against North Side, he replied, "My boys are very tired. Huntington was plenty fast and tough. I can't say what the boys will do against Fort Wayne". . . Kokomo's coach went on to add, "This Cowan boy is a great athlete". . . I doubt if any ten players have ever entered the Muncie tourney any more over-confident than were the Owls of Muncie Burris. They were cocky, and they didn't care who knew it. . . North Side gave the Owls both barrels after trailing 15 to 5. The Owls soon lost their arrogant look. For the Indians were after scalps—and they got 'em. But the Redskins were probably underrated the Kokomo Kats. . . Bob McKenzie, Burris guard, took the prize as the most unusual field artist. McKenzie hit four fielders by leaping into the air and aiming his shots by a flick of the wrists.

Fighting Irish Aim At National Crown

Loyola Gymnasium At Chicago Is Destination Of Coach John Levicki, Team This Week-end

Coach John Levicki's Irishmen from Central Catholic will again be seeking a national championship when they invade the big Loyola gymnasium in Chicago this week-end. Having won the national Catholic crown for two successive years, the Fort Wayne netters are definitely on the spot this year. For no team has ever won the meet on three successive years of play.

Among the C. C. players who will be counted upon for some heavy tourney duty are Captain Bob Heiny, Harold Morthorst, John Kartholl, Dick Krouse, Nick Leto, and Bob Walker. Others who figure prominently in the local Catholic team plans are Jerry Dehner, Bert Keenan, Bob Larimore, and Bob App.

Many of the nation's outstanding Catholic quintets have announced their entry in the Chicago meet. Some of the highly rated fives who will be seeking to dethrone the Irish are Leo of Chicago, Northeast Catholic of Philadelphia, St. Aloysius of New Orleans, St. Johns of Patterson, New Jersey, Memorial High of Evansville, and the Ramblers from nearby Huntington Catholic.

When you buy (as you will) think of your school paper's advertisers.

Football Players, Attention!

Last week, Wayne Gift, South Side football coach, issued his first call for spring practice. For those of you who may have missed this announcement, it will be here repeated.

Any Archer boy who desires to play football next fall on the South Side team should sign up immediately in Mr. Davis' office.

Practice begins on April 14. Equipment will be issued to the candidates who sign up first. Do not delay if you wish to play!

Senior Pupils, Parents Plan Annual Social

March 28 Is Date Of Fufest To Be Held In Gym At 8 O'clock; Skits Featured

Senior Fufest, one of the most outstanding activities of the Senior class, will be staged March 28, at 8 o'clock in the gymnasium. Three short skits will be presented by the teachers, senior parents, and senior students. Each skit will be about a half hour in length. No admission is charged on all teachers, senior parents, and students are cordially invited to attend.

Mrs. Elmer Haugk is general chairman of the affair. Assisting her are Mrs. Robert Wylie, Mrs. Harold Smith, Mr. Henry Dannecker, Mr. A. K. Remmel, Mr. John Gumpfer, Mrs. Harold Peistkorn, and Mrs. A. K. Remmel.

Junior hospitality committee has charge of the refreshments which will be served in the cafeteria following the skits. Mrs. Earl Hadley and her junior class committee are in charge of the refreshments.

Jim McClure, senior class president, is in charge of the students' portion of the program. Miss Dorothy Magley and Mr. Paul Sidell, class advisers are assisting the class officers. Other officers are June Flaig, vice-president; Becky Abbott, secretary-treasurer; and Marge Sheldon, Marjory Dyer, and Dick Theye, social council.

MISS LUCY OSBORNE IS PLANNING THE TEACHERS' SKIT. NO COMMITTEE OF TEACHERS HAS BEEN ANNOUNCED.

standing directly behind my back. "Thanks for finding me such a swell place."

"That's all right. Just—don't mention it."

"Oh say," he remarked, "I forgot my lock. You'll let me use yours, won't you now?"

"S-sure, anything you say's okay with me."

"Now run along and I'll consider returning your lock on the second Tuesday of next week."

With his admonition ringing in my ears, I hustled into the hallway. There I had another little argument with the guard, who persuaded me to take a week of eighth periods because I did not have my registration card about my person. (As if I had any at all!)

Nevertheless, I wasn't late! I got five eighths instead of one, lost a lock and seven spokes, but at least I was saved the disgrace of being late!

Hi-Y Members Hear Mr. Ora Davis Speak

Mr. Ora L. Davis, athletic director, spoke at Hi-Y meeting last Thursday in the YMCA on the life and works of James Whitcomb Riley. He read several poems, including "Old Fashioned Roses", "Tradin' Joe", "Out to Old Aunt Mary's", "Little Orphan Annie", and "That Old Sweetheart of Mine". He also told of the popularity of Riley's poems in England and showed an original copy of one of Riley's collection of poems.

Stepping wonderingly on deep maroon carpets, we checked our wraps and tried to walk sedately up the short flight of steps to the private entertaining room. With ceilings and walls of lemon yellow and gold, the room was encircled with tubing of soft indirect lights halfway up. Over the fireplace at the end of the room was a tiny balcony rail backed with a soft maroon velvet curtain.

WE ALL HATED TO LEAVE THE FAMOUS PLACE, BUT THE MAIN RECOMPENSE WAS IN GETTING TO TOOT THE CLEVER HORN IN MR. OLSEN'S "TINY FLIVVER" ON THE WAY TO THE THEATER. IT PLAYED THE FIRST LINE OF "BOOMP-SA-DAISY", A CURRENT SONG HIT IN THE SHOW.

But speaking of theaters, six shows in four days is certainly a marvelous average, especially when those shown included three swell current Broadway stage productions like "Boys and Girls Together", (starring Ed Wynn, Jane Pickens, and Jerry Cooper); "Hellzapoppin'", which needs no introduction, as Fort Wayne knows all about Olsen and Johnson's hit in its fourth year; and "Panama Hattie" (with Ethel Merman, Joan Carroll, Phyllis Brooks, Arthur Treacher, and Billy Hutton). "The Great Dictator" (Charlie Chaplin) and "Cheers for Miss Bishop" (Martha Scott) were super in the movie department, while special tickets, courtesy of Mr. Olsen, were responsible for our getting to hear Fred Waring broadcast at 11 o'clock Thursday night.

Before attending the convention Friday morning, we took a bus to LaGuardia Airport. We'd have probably expected museums or theaters of the lovely structures if we hadn't been warned they used them as hangars and ticket stations. That evening we gazed from the sixty-fifth floor of Radio City out over the most spectacular sight we ever hope to see. We were all simply speechless until some one piped up excitedly, "Oh there's the Statue of Liberty!" Each of the many lights for miles around twinkled like a jewel set in a magnificent black velvet gown.

Saturday flew by like a Buck Rogers' flagship; for, after spending the morning at journalism sessions (where we must have heard every predominant American accent), Miss Harvey whisked us through the ceaseless maze of subway systems to the final CSPA banquet at the Commodore Biltmore Ballroom.

BOLDLY WALKING OUT JUST BEFORE AFTER DINNER SPEECHES BEGAN, WE DASHED TO THE STAGE ENTRANCE OF "HELLZAPOPPIN'". WE WERE PROMPTLY GIVEN OFFICIAL SCREWBALL PINS AND LED ALL AROUND BACKSTAGE.

Condition Of Coach Fair; To Return Soon

Coach Burl Friddle who underwent an appendectomy several weeks ago at the Methodist Hospital was reported in a fair condition today. Although complications have delayed his return, he will be back in our portals soon.

We were positively treated like visiting royalty.

Sitting in special seats, we were startled to hear "Mary Lybrook," "Bob Robinson," and "Jeanne Smith" mentioned in this popular Broadway production playing to a packed house. Fort Wayne, Wabash, the journalism bunch, and Fort Wayne's Superintendent of Schools were all mentioned. But it wasn't until Mr. Olsen's son took some of us above the stage while the show was actually in progress and showed us the control booth that I insisted on someone pinching me.

After the funniest show we'd ever seen, we went backstage again to get our pictures taken with Mr. Olsen, Shirley Wayne, Joe, Mr. Olsen's well chauffeur and our kind guide, Mr. Olson's son; and two chorus girls (the latter at Bob Robinson's suggestion).

We deposited our bags (not those beneath our eyes, however) at the Pennsylvania station, while we kissed New York good-bye at "The Great Dictator."

Running chain-fashion down the jammed streets of Broadway, we reached the subway and finally the station. Droopy-limbed, but happy-eyed, we watched the bright lights of the scene of four of the most thrilling days of our lives die in the distance.

Library Club Hears Nine Books Reviewed

"Dynasty of Death", "Oliver Twist", "Enemy Sighted", "Thesaurus of Humor", "How to Live in Twenty-Four Hours", "My Sister and I", "Holy Supper", "Wedding-Eve Murder", and "Winston Churchill" were the books reviewed by Lester Oppenlander, Paul Keil, John Gumpfer, Bob Wylie, Ruth Dauner, Carol Trenary, Hilda Leininger, Marjorie Wigbel, and Dorothy Heslip at the meeting of the Library Club held last Tuesday. These books will be voted upon, and the two books receiving the most votes will be purchased for library circulation. Refreshments consisted of drumsticks.

The next meeting will be held on April 15, with an outside speaker.

Max Stobaugh Is Ping-Pong Champ

John Craig, Norman Fortress, Kenny Hibler, Roy Conners, Wayne Brown Are Next Five

Max Stobaugh, with fifty-two wins and only two losses, is the winner of the boys' ping-pong tournament, completed last week. Mr. Ralph C. Murray is sponsor. The next five who, together with Max Stobaugh, make up the first team, are John Craig, Norman Fortress, Ken Hibler, and Roy Conners.

The second six are Gerald Wulliman, Charles Gramlich, Harold Lassen, Bud Puff, Art Longworth, Dick Bussing, and Roy Vonderau. Ties for tenth and twelfth places will be played off later. Twenty-eight participated in the tournament; each played fifty-four games. A total of 1,612 games were played.

Central is the first school scheduled for varsity competition. Others will be encountered later. First prize is a cup. The first twelve winners will receive medals.

Latin Club Enacts Death Of Caesar

Theme Of Party Is "Beware The Ides Of March"; J. Olcott, K. Lakey, B. Zimmer In Play

When in Rome, the Latin Club does as the Romans do. Last Thursday a party was held in the Greeley Room, and every member came dressed as a Roman.

The theme of the party was "Beware of the Ides of March". Mary Whittier, John Olcott, Keith Lakey, Bob Zimmer, and Harry Kelsey presented a play, "Julius Caesar in Song", in which all the parts of the characters were sung instead of spoken.

Joan Cox and Carol Trenary made the favors for the party.

The next meeting of the club will be in Room 138 April 24. June Flaig, Carol Whittier, and Joyce Cleaver comprise the program committee for this meeting.

Seniors Plan Annual Play April 18, 19

"Comedy Of Errors" Name Of Production Starring Brooks, Meyers Brothers

Dramatic Teacher Is To Direct Cast

Eighteen Studets Will Have Parts In Class Production To Be Held In School Gym

In the senior play, "The Comedy of Errors", heavy male parts will be played by the Brooks and Meyers twins. Becky Abbott and Marge Sheldon will play the heavier women's roles.

This comedy will be presented by the senior class at 8:30 o'clock on the evenings of April 18 and 19 in the South Side gym under the direction of Miss Margery Suter.

The entire senior play cast is comprised of Louis Hallenstein, Paul Kiel, Bill Siebold, Bob Safer, Bob Brooks, Jim Brooks, Don Meyer, Ed Meyer, Edgar Gross, Safford McMyler, Edgar Kettler, Everett Truelock, Hilda Schubert, Becky Abbott, Marjorie Sheldon, Constance Hirschy, Wilma Lagaman, Lois Gumpfer, and Faye Gumpfer.

Prompters for the comedy are Margaret Heine, Dorothy Snively, and Clara Makey.

Mr. Paul Sidell and Miss Dorothy Magley, class advisers, are selecting the various committees, including the publicity committee.

Last year "Boys from Syracuse," a movie was taken from "The Comedy of Errors". According to Miss Suter, much time and effort is being spent on the conversation element.

Eight Archers In District Latin Meet

Two From Each Class Will Represent South Side In Annual Contest To Be Held March 29

Eight Archer Latin students will compete for first-place honors in the District Contest of the Eighteenth State High School Latin Contest, sponsored by Indiana University on Saturday. It will be held at South Side at 9 o'clock, under the direction of MISS GERTRUDE J. OPPELT. She will be assisted by MRS. GRACE WELTY and MR. FRANCIS FAY.

The examination will be two and one-half hours in length.

The South Siders taking part are listed below:

Division I — MARTHA DAVENPORT, who placed first in the county contest with 1.4 points short of a perfect paper, and DONNA JEAN MONGIN, who won second place in the county contest.

Division II (Caesar) — LOIS CRAIG and VICTOR KAUFMAN, sophomores.

Division III (Cicero) — BERNITA EGGERS and ELLEN HARRY, juniors.

Division IV (Vergil) — JUNE FLAIG and VIOLET STEINBAUER, seniors.

Thirty-seven students from eight counties will take part.

The number of students from each county are as follows: Allen, eight from South Side and one from Central; DeKalb, three; Huntington, four; LaGrange, four; Noble, two; Steuben, four; Wells, four; Whitley, seven.

The state finals will be held in Bloomington, April 18. At that time Latin scholarship awards will be made to high-ranking students among the seniors.

In Divisions I and II, winners of the first and second place in the district will compete in the state contest. In Divisions III and IV, the winners of first place will compete in the state contest. Also competing will be a group of nine next highest ranking contestants in the state at large, as indicated by their district contest scores.

Bobs Capture Radio Honors

Robinson, Safer, Young Are First, Second, Third In Wranglers' Radio Contest

Bob Robinson, Bob Safer, and Bob Young captured first, second and third places in Wranglers Radio Broadcasting contest. Bud Lampton, Byron Singer, Bill Bone, and Fred Collins also participated in the finals which were held at WOWO and WGL broadcasting studios Monday night at 7:30 o'clock.

The judges were workers in the studio; and Franklin Tooke, program director, gave a critical analysis of the speeches.

BOB ROBINSON AS FIRST-PLACE WINNER WILL RECEIVE A MEDAL AT WRANGLER BANQUET.

Don Meyer served as chairman of the entire contest. He was assisted by Bill Siebold and Delores Daniels.

Semi-finals were held Monday during the second, third, and fourth periods.

Those participating were Byron Singer, Bill Bone, Bob Robinson, Bill McNulty, Bob Young, Caroline Lichtenberg, Ed Meyer, Alene Loeser, James Bumke, Bob Safer, Bob Guion, Don Meyer, Fred Collins, Bud Lampton, Jerry Mansbach, Jim McClure, and Clifford Springer.

Judges were Mrs. Theodore Hagerman, Mrs. Roy Bridges, and Mr. Hubert Rieke.

Emalyn Rummel, Jamieson To Sing

Have Leading Roles In Operetta "Conchita" To Be Given For Archer Students On May 16

Emalyn Rummel will play the title role in "Conchita", the gypsy operetta by Franz Liszt which will be presented by the music department on May 16. Of equal importance is the role of Stefan, Conchita's lover, which will be portrayed by Bob Jamieson.

TRYOUTS FOR THE PRODUCTION WERE HELD LAST WEEK UNDER THE DIRECTION OF MR. LESTER HOSTETLER, MR. JACK WAINWRIGHT, AND MISS LUCY OSBORNE.

Mr. Hostetler, director, has announced the cast as follows: Charles Clouse will portray the role of Murdo, the leader of a band of gypsies and the father of Conchita. Conchita's old nurse, Daya, will be played by Lois Craig. The Baron and Baroness Stancu, rich relatives of the gypsy maiden, are to be portrayed by James Bunner and Wilma Lagaman. Their son, Konrad, will be John Myers. Emil, the faithful servant in this household, is to be played by John Olcott.

Chonita is the center of attraction for both Konrad and Stefan. The setting is first a gypsy encampment and later a Hungarian home. The settings and costumes will be in keeping with gypsy traditions, brilliant colors and backgrounds. The entire chorus, orchestra, and a small group of dancers will assist the main cast.

Grade Period Ends

Mid-semester grading period will end April 4, and grades will be issued April 15, following spring vacation.

Senior Wins Contest Held By Kiwanis

Jim McClure Wins Trophy For Best Declamation Delivered At Noon Luncheon

James McClure, senior A, won first place in the Kiwanis Declamation held Tuesday noon at the Anthony Hotel. The Kiwanis Trophy, which was presented to Jim, has been won two years in succession by a member of South Side. Last year the trophy was won by Bud Brudi.

The subject of Jim's declamation was Winston Churchill's speech which he made to the British people in February entitled "The Tide is Turning."

There were four contests in the declamation, one from each of the high schools, South Side, North Side, Central, and Central Catholic.

May 2 Is Day Of Junior Hop At South Side

Hawaiian Theme To Be Carried Out; Ralph Shimer Is Head Of Annual Prom

One of the most outstanding activities of the junior class is the junior prom which will be held on May 2 this year. A definite name for the prom has not yet been chosen. Decorations will be carried out in the Hawaiian theme with grass skirts, leis and palm trees.

A well-known local orchestra will play for dancing from 8:30 till 11:30. Plans have been under way for the prom for the past four weeks. All juniors who would like to work on the dance in any way should sign up in Room 12.

RALPH SHIMER, JUNIOR CLASS PRESIDENT, IS MAKING THE ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE DANCE.

Assisting him are Roger McVay, vice-president; Marilyn Loomis, secretary-treasurer; and Mary Ellen Barrett, Sam Johnson, and Joan Cox, social council members. Miss Hazel Miller and Mr. Lloyd Whelan are junior class advisers. Miss Blanche Hutto and several art students made lay-outs and plans for the decorations.

So-Si-Y To Hold Easter Worship

Club Plans Annual Service For Next Tuesday; Betty Porter, Romaine Rediger In Charge

So-Si-Y will hold its annual Easter meeting next Tuesday in the Greeley Room. Miss Rinehart, adviser, will give a call to worship. Gertrude Merkel, club president, will lead in a responsive service.

There will be three speakers on the subject of Easter. Romaine Rediger will talk on "Easter Message on Nature". "Easter Message on Our Lives" will be given by Mrs. Elma S. Gould. Marguerite Calkins will talk on "Easter as a Service Project". Miss Hazel Miller, also an adviser, will give the closing prayer.

Betty Porter and Romaine Rediger are co-chairmen for the meeting. Assisting them are Dorothy Saffrank, Bernadine Pressler, Alice Volmerding, and Bernadine Bender.

Winners Of XYZ Games Are Listed

Charles Hoke Has High Scores; Teams Headed By M. Kuntz, P. Lichtenberg Are Victors

Charles Hoke made the highest scores at the March 7 and 14 meetings of XYZ Club held in Room 188. Dale Koonce and Donna Mougins were second. On March 7 Phil Lichtenberg's team won. The members of his team are Eugene Gettel, Charles Hoke, Dale Koonce, Kenneth Lauer, Jack Ruhl, and Tom Yates.

The team captained by Margaret Kuntz won by a very small margin March 14. On her team are Marilyn Domer, Albert Kranz, Donna Mougins, Gerald Lahrmann, Fred Smith, and Carolyn Fackler.

Last Friday the members took comprehensive tests covering Algebra 2. Those who received highest scores on the test will be selected to participate in the sectional contest to be held April 5 at Indiana University Extension.

Have Articles Published

Three South Siders made contributions to Youths' Passing Show Page in The News-Sentinel recently. Bob Robinson's article was about the drift toward biographies in America. Martha Lee Wake's poem was entitled "A Stewardess", and the poem written by Ivan Truman was called "Sonnet".

Elks Hold Contest

For High School Essayists

"What Uncle Sam Means To Me" is the subject of the National Essay Contest open to all high schools, public, private, and military school students who have not reached their nineteenth birthday by March 1, 1941, and who attend school in the jurisdiction of the Elks lodge in which their school is located. This essay contest is under the auspices of the Elks National Defense Commission and State Association and Subordinate Lodge National Defense Committees.

The two major requirements of the contest are as follows:

- A. On one sheet of paper of standard letterhead size itemize fourteen persons or things which you see in the composite picture of Uncle Sam which is on the poster in Mr. Null's room. (The March issue of the Elks Magazine also has this portrait on its front cover, copy of which may be obtained from any Elk in your community.)
- B. On a similar sheet or sheets of the same size paper, write an essay of not less than 300 words and not more than 500 words on the subject.

Minor rules for the contest are:
1. Awards will be rated not merely on the style and grammar, but also on the originality of the idea and human interest shown in the essay.
2. Typewrite or write on one side of the paper only.

3. Print your name, school, and address in the upper right hand corner of all sheets.
4. Place the essay in a 10-inch envelope and give to your teacher or principal who, in turn, will deliver it to the local Elks National Defense Committee, together with a signed statement and endorsement of your principal or teacher that it is your own composition.
5. The essay winning the first award in the local contest will be entered by the local Elks lodge in the state contest where awards will also be given by the State Elks Association.
6. The winner of the state contest in each one of the 48 states will be entered in the national contest conducted by the Elks National Defense Commission.
7. A jury of outstanding educators will then award national prizes of $1,000, $50, and $250.
8. Under this arrangement of local, state, and national awards, the national winners will automatically win prizes consisting of the local, state, and national awards.
9. It is hoped that it may be possible to set up a national broadcast at which time the essay winning the national award will be read with accompanying patriotic ceremonies.
10. Do not fail to have your essay in the hands of the local Elk De-

Times Money Is Due April 4

$141.25 Is Yet Out; Three Home Rooms Paid Up; Book Three Owes Least

April 4 is an important day in South Side for all Times money is due on that day. At the present time, there is still $141.25 out. Agents have been working hard on these collections for the past three weeks, and with only one more week left, they will have to work even harder.

In addition to Ann Welborn's Home Room 60, which was paid up last week, Sirlene Smith's Home Room 10 and Billie Miller's Home Room 34 have also brought in all their collections.

Several rooms, however, have most of their collections in, with only 25 or 50 cents remaining out. These rooms are: 24, Joe Barberi and Lois Bailey, agents, 25 cents; Ed Tieman, Room 182, 25 cents; Ken Iba and Grace Johnson, Room 75, 40 cents; Shirley Dyer, Room 14, 50 cents; and Margaret Kuntz and Barbara Leas, Room 28, 50 cents. The Study Hall with 156 students is low, with only $9.75 still out.

On the other hand, there are five rooms which owe over four dollars. These are Ruth Werkel, Marilyn Soudes, agent, $4.15; Room 94, Charlene McAtee and La Verne Michelfelder, $4.55;

English Classes Organize Group

New Organization Is Headed By Miss Dorothy Magley, Miss Susan Peck; Elect Officers

"Civic-Minded Citizens" is the name of the new club formed by Miss Dorothy Magley, which meets on Thursday the third period, in the Greeley Room. It is made up of Miss Magley's English 4 class and Miss Susan Peck's English 3 class.

At the first meeting on March 6, Dallas Zuber was elected president; Darwin Fry, vice-president; and Joe Hayes, secretary.

Other officers are house chairman, Carolyn Stalter and Eugene Auer; program chairman, Mary Evelyn Moch; and Inter-Club Congress representative, Audrey Longworth.

At the second meeting Mr. Benjamin Null talked on the subject "Yourself in the Community". Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal, discussed "The Place of the School in the Community". At the next meeting, which will be held Thursday, March 27, Mr. Ora Davis will talk on "The Place of Religion in the Community".

THE PURPOSE OF THIS CLUB IS TO GET ACQUAINTED WITH EACH OTHER, LEARN HOW TO CONDUCT MEETINGS, AND TO LEARN THEIR PLACE IN THE COMMUNITY AS CITIZENS.

Booster Members Honored

In appreciation of the hard work South Side Booster Club members did at the tournament games at North Side, the Pioneer Ice Cream Company gave twelve members cards good for a quart of their ice cream.

Cameneans Plan April Fools' Party

Betty Horstmeyer Is Chairman; Marjorie Gerding, Dorothy Saffrank Are Assisting Her

April Fool's Day will be celebrated at the next meeting of Camenean Club Tuesday in Room 138. The committee is in charge of Betty Horstmeyer, with Marjorie Gerding and Dorothy Saffrank assisting her.

At the meeting held Tuesday, March 18, an initiation of new members was held in Room 138. In presenting the purpose of the club, nine girls represented the nine muses from which the club's name was derived. Charlotte DuWan described Eurpoe, the muse of lyric poetry; Wilma Lagaman represented Calliope, epic poetry; Marian Seemeyer, Clio, history; Francis Nash, Thalia, comedy and bucolic poetry; Elaine Hirschy, Melpomene, tragedy; Jeanette Zahn, Terpsichore, dancing; Marilyn Dennis, Erato, love poetry; Miriam Roebel, Polymnia, serious sacred song; and Reba Coppock represented Urania, the muse of astronomy. Each girl carried appropriate attributes which the muses ordinarily carried.

Miss Mary and Miss Edith Crowe, advisers of the club, pinned ribbons of the club colors, blue and beige, on each new member, after which Miss Edith Crowe welcomed the girls to the club. Betty Peppier had charge of this initiation service, which is the first ever held by Camenean Club.

Helen Dicke led three games: Crossed Wires, Pat and Rub, and How Is Your Neighbor? After the conclusion of the latter game, Elaine Hirschy played several selections on the piano. Names were then given to the members as a means of selecting partners with whom to eat at the potluck which followed. Misses Edith and Mary Crowe donated drumsticks for all members.

Meterites Will Initiate Members On Tuesday

Music and games will be the features of the Meterite meeting next Tuesday in the Greeley Room. Also new members will be initiated, and refreshments will be served.

Since many members were absent at the last meeting and have not yet been able to pay their dues, they may pay them in Room 60 before the next meeting to become members. No dues will be accepted at the meeting.

Seniors Set Friday Night For Funfest

Teachers, Parents, Students Invited To Attend Affair At 8 O'Clock In School

Jim McClure Is Head Of Students

Mrs. E. Haugk, Miss Lucy Osborne Have Charge Of Parents', Teachers' Parts

Senior Funfest will be staged tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the school gymnasium. All teachers, senior parents, and senior students are cordially invited to attend. Three half-hour skits will be presented by the teachers, parents, and the students. No admission price will be charged; however, senior students have contributed ten cents each to pay for refreshments. In this way P-T-A funds can be used for welfare work in the school.

MRS. ELMER H. HAUGK IS GENERAL CHAIRMAN OF THE AFFAIR. Assisting her are Mrs. Robert Wylie, Mrs. Harold Smith, Mr. Paul Dannecker, Mr. A. K. Rummel, Mr. Otto Gumpfer, Mrs. Harold Feistkorn, and Mrs. A. K. Rummel.

Mrs. Earl Hadley and her junior class committee are in charge of the refreshments, which will be served in the cafeteria following the skits.

Jim McClure, senior class president, is in charge of the students' portion of the program. Miss Dorothy Magley and Mr. Paul Sidell, class advisers, are assisting the class officers. Other officers are June Flaig, vice-president; Becky Abbott, secretary-treasurer; and Marge Sheldon, Marjory Dyer, and Dick Theye, social council. Bob Young and Safford McMyler are composing the skit to be presented by students.

Miss Lucy Osborne is planning the teachers' skit. No committee of teachers has been announced.

Stamp Club Hears "Fields Of Interest"

Ralph Herb, Dick Lockhart Talk On German, Russian Issues During Meeting On March 12

"Fields of Interest" was the theme of the Stamp Club meeting, which was held in Room 138 Wednesday, March 12. Ralph Herb, the first speaker, gave a talk on Germany, his field of interest. In connection with his talk he exhibited a frame of different issues of German stamps.

Dick Lockhart also spoke to the group on his special interest, which was Russia. He displayed various issues of Russian stamps.

A quiz game was conducted by Keith Lakey. Raymond Kast, Jack Rogers, Alvin Haley, Philip Schwartz, and Bob Wylie composed the board who were to answer the questions. Jack Rogers and Philip Schwartz were named the winners. By virtue of their victory, they will compete in the quiz program at the next meeting of the club.

Due to the absence of Miss Pauline Van Gorder, faculty adviser, Miss Lucy Osborne acted as pro-tem adviser for the group.

Richard Lockhart was chairman of the program committee and had Ralph Herb, Nancy Geake, Glen Hille, Paul Swain, Eugene Meeks and Philip Schwartz assisting him.

At the meeting programs for the semester were given to the members. Etheldreda Behling was in charge of making these. On her committee were Nancy Geake, Paul Swain, Warren Lotz, Eugene Meeks, Richard Warren, and James Steiner.

Red Cross Needs Workers To Sew

New Materials Include Shawls To Crochet, Dresses To Work On; Production Will Improve

All Red Cross work should be returned to the South Side Red Cross group as soon as it is finished, it was announced by Mrs. Simpson Parkinson, head of Red Cross activities, last week. All workers are now needed and are urged to attend the future meetings to complete the large supply of work, it was announced this week by Mrs. Simpson Parkinson.

“Back Fence” Gossip
Whitewashes None;
“Grapevine” Is Sour

“Don’t believe anything you hear and only half of what you see,” may be an exaggerated way of emphasizing danger, but it does have its virtues in illustrating the dangers of news heard by word of mouth. There are always those students who make it a practice to doze in class and then find out the assignment from someone else later. They certainly must have an implicit trust in human nature! And then it is they who are always so perplexed when they come to class with the wrong assignment prepared.

It’s a well-known fact how repetition distorts and changes a story. If you get an assignment from some other student, maybe he has gotten it from someone else, who in turn has received the information from a second-hand source. By the time it reaches you, it will probably be useless. The first and only way to prevent this occurrence is to stay awake during class so that you get the assignment yourself. Of course there will be times when you will be absent from class. The proper thing to do in such a case is NOT to get the assignment from a classmate, even though he is your bosom friend, but to get in touch with the teacher. This action will be of double benefit to you—you’ll be sure of getting the right assignment, and you will show your teacher that you take enough interest in your work to make sure that you have the right instructions.

There is another type of news spread by word of mouth that is even worse than the former, gossip. Repeating gossip not only lowers respect for you, but it is harmful to others as well. Don’t be a “back fence gossip”; repeating rumors about people never did anyone any good. If you know something about someone, something that isn’t particularly complimentary, leave it unsaid. Other people will think more of you for it, you will be doing whoever is the object of the gossip a good turn, and you will be heightening your own self-respect.

Start To End A Bad Beginning
And Begin An Industrious End

Do you realize that next week is the last week in the first half of this semester? In about another week, spring vacation will be upon us; and, after spring vacation, the first letter grades of the semester will be issued. This means that the opportunities for making this your best semester are half over. Are you making the best of them?

At the beginning of the semester we published an editorial asking students to start out with a bang so as to make the majority of grades this June better than before. We trust that you made a solemn resolution to follow this advice. The present question is whether you are holding good that resolution. No doubt you believe that you are coming along fairly well, and that you still have plenty of time to finish up in good style. At the time of the first editorial on this subject, we spoke against the advisability of waiting to merely finish in good style. Now we are saying that it is a physical impossibility to wait and finish well, because the close of this grade period marks the beginning of the end. You must start NOW in order to finish really well!

There is no time to wait; if you have not been working steadily, it is too late for a remedy. The only way to redeem yourself is to work extra hard and make up for lost time. Don’t procrastinate another day. There is positively no time, not only like, but also except the present to recover lost ground on the trail to good scholarship.

School spirit: Enthusiastically attending all the basketball games and then failing to know when the track meets are held.

Help balance the budget! Only one week remains in which to square up your financial account with The Times.

People are wrong when they say that high school jitterbugs are perfectly crazy—nothing is perfect!

And then there was the super salesman who wanted to put a pop bottle in the hand of the Statue of Liberty.

Surprise the world by biting off more than you can chew and then chewing it.

Fable: Once there was a day when nobody threw any paper in the halls.

“When It Rhymes,
It Pours!”

Poetry For April By A. Loeser

April

A—is for Air, so warm and so clear;
P—is for Pretty, which the flowers are this time of year.
R—is for Rain, for which this month is known;
I—is for Ice, which by now I hope away has flown.
L—is for Love, whose seed in South Side has been sown.

The Weather Man’s Indications
The saying goes that April showers bring May flowers, and this reminds me that Chick Shimer is often seen at “Fifi” Lauer’s.
This may seem a trifle silly to you, dear guys; But with love in the air you can hardly be wise.
As the bird was flying to and fro,
I heard it saying that with “Junie” Doswell, Sallie Claiborne no longer does go.
Funny what spring can do to us all;
For again toward “Beanie” Rea, Pat Sanford does fall.
Wanda will N’Eller forget a particular Bud Schmoie; It seems toward him she really does go.
It must be a tradition in the McNabb family To date the Fisherings—now it’s “Weezie” and Billy.
Ione Jean Tracht has been affected by a bug;
And with the jitterbug, Bob Gregg, she likes to “cut a rug.”
A Ray of sunshine has entered into Alida Eidner’s life; For now that she and Bob go steady, no longer is there strife.

Now, dear reader, this concludes my little bits of “dirt”; And, when your girl friend winks, don’t be a “stuffed shirt.”
Perhaps she really has a cinder in her eye;
At least, if she doesn’t, it isn’t a bad lie. Noe It All.

April Fool’s Day
The one day in the year I used to particularly enjoy. Was the one when I could stick a sign on a girl or boy. Then down through the halls of school, the victim walked; He was kicked by all, while teachers gave odd looks.
My next class was in Room 399,
And when the teacher asked how I was, I said, “Oh fine!” But then the pedagogue sat on the tack;
Soon your little angel on the face got a crack.
This is a sad story, and I’m really not fooling;
It took place in April when I tried to get some schooling. Now you see what this day actually means to me; At this certain time, I’m never filled with glee. Miss Behaved.

“Fad Enough Fads—A Craze Is Crazy!” Says A Frugal Faculty

“Eek!” squeaks a little mouse.
“Oh horrors!” shrieks a conservative girl.
“Ye gods!” exclaims a boy.
“What will they think of next?” sighs a teacher.
When you hear such phrases from a group of startled, petrified, evidently shocked South Siders, you’ll know what happened. A new fad just walked down the hall. Of course they aren’t all as bad as that, although some of them are terrifying enough to make your blood run cold. Whether they’re bad or not, the students wear them and the teachers have to look at them. Our pedagogues can’t do anything about the matter but air their opinions.

In Miss Hazel Miller’s opinion, the big long shawls are the most popular fad of today; and this is a shock to society, for who would ever expect high schools girls to gather enough ambition to sew them! Whee! Methinks humanity is on the upgrade.
Believe it or not, somebody considers the crew cut most ridiculous! How extraordinary! Mrs. Dorothy Benner Rieke tells the owners what she thinks of crew cuts and keeps it mild: “Beyond a shadow of a doubt, the most ridiculous fad is the crew cut. It positively breaks my heart when one of my orators gets one. Imagine an orator looking inspired with his hair all hacked off!”
Miss Emma Kiefer despairs at the heavy long brass chains the boys use for watch chains. (Is that what they are? They had better label their ornaments, or they’ll be mistaken for fugitives from the eight ball!) Miss Kiefer declares, “They’re noisy, conspicuous, and are there simply to attract attention.” (And the boys talk about our jingle jewelry!)

Amid all the attacks on fads, there are some nice things being said about them. Miss Susan Peck adores the little hair ribbons for girls with curly hair. Miss Edith Crowe likes the sensible, attractive saddle shoes. Miss Pearl Rehorts considers the sweater and skirt ensemble “The best fad ever introduced into the school; evidence of this lies in the fact that it has lasted so long.” Miss Mary Crowe declares, “The most recent fad is carrying long pencils. Of course they’re perfectly harmless, but they must be a terrible nuisance.”

If You Languish In Language,
You’ll Die At These Dialects!

“Eho, ibi sisle!” Does this phrase grasp your attention? Do you feel that it is something that you want to translate? Maybe not, because the phrase is probably Greek (or, more specifically, Latin) to you, but, translated into good English, it says, “Hey, hold on there!”
Maybe just a few minutes ago you murmured to yourself, “Ach, meine Aufgabel! Ich lese meine Zeitung!” At least this is what a little German boy would say; but over here we exclaim, “To heck with the assignment! I’m going to read The Times!”
On the other hand, a little Parisian, as he glanced over the “dirt” column, might be terrified and say, “Qui m’a perdu?” or, “Who squealed on me?”
Returning to Latin, we present the case of the little Roman who had to stay after school one night. Why? Because, as he said to one of his friends, “Hev! Scriptum mihi post scholam corrigendum erit.” If you are ever detained for the same reason, you would probably mutter, “Aw, I have to correct a theme tonight after school!”
When the French are annoyed by someone they don’t want around, they vigorously shout, “Va-t-en!” Of course we Americans don’t have an exactly literal translation, but our English equivalent is “scram” or “vamoose.”
This is how an excerpt from a very common conversation around school might sound in German: “Bitte, hatten Sie einen Platz fur mich bei der ‘Grill’?” We usually say it, “Will ya save me a seat at the Grill?”
In making some arrangements a French dialogue would run something like this: “Aurez-vous l’auto?” “Quand papa mon pere arrive.” “A quelle heure passerez-vous chez moi?”
The English translation is, “Will you get the car?”
“When pop comes home.”
“When will you pick me up?”
“When in Rome, do as the Romans do!” so the complaint of a Roman girl “doing time” after school in a study hall would be, “In vestibulis sine carta rosacea comprehensa est et poenam recipi” or, “I was caught in the halls without a pink slip, so I got an eighth.”

What To Wear On Saturday
Presents A Difficult Problem

Do you occasionally wake up in the black of the night mulling, “What to wear Saturday night?” Do you find it hard to concentrate on your studies during the day because of the clothes problem? Are you at the stage of the game where you would gladly chuck all of your wardrobe out of the window? However, all is not lost because the disease, better known as mid-winter slump, catches us all in its vicious trap.
The only solution is to start wearing a barrel with a nonchalant air or to heckle your mother into financing a shopping spree. I’m going to assume that you will do the latter because I’m sorry to state that nothing new is being shown in barrels this year since stripes are definitely out.
How about adding a splash of color to your wardrobe? It will perk you up and make you feel like meeting the “latest flame” and making his eyes pop out. Try a bold plaid suit to wear under your winter coat and then, when the weather warms up, to shed and be classified as the best dresser in your class. Don’t be wary about really putting the hot colors together, unless of course you are a little on the fat side, then it would be more advisable to stick to neatly tailored flannel or jersey suit with a very long jacket.
I’m all for the pastels in lightweight dresses that make the women look like an angel just descending from above. Not one girl can truly fully say that some delicate shade doesn’t bring a sparkle to her eyes and a glow to her cheeks. If you are unlucky enough to have discovered your shade by now, then start experimenting.
Very light plaid skirts catch the eye if nothing else will. One in particular that caught my fancy was blue and rose and beige plaid with a large kick pleat almost all the way down the front. Add to this a dash of light blue sweater and you have a smart outfit.

Diz Kids Have A Frequency
Of Errors, Transmit Trash

We wonder what the general reaction would be if a member of our school were to go into the transcription room of a large radio station, pick up a script, and read something like this:
Announcer: Ladies and gentlemen! You are listening to the original Diz Kids of the Air. This program is brought to you through the courtesy of The South Side Times, America’s largest high school newspaper. Have you heard who the President of the United States has been for the last ten years? Did you hear all about the Chicago fire? If not, you should immediately purchase a copy of The South Side Times—ten cents at all junk dealers. Correction, please—from your home room agent. But now for our program. How do you do, Mr. Diz Kid. Please take your first question.
Diz Kid: What is it?
Announcer: Just reach into the little box inside the box that’s inside the box to my left and you’ll find it.
Diz Kid: It says, “If you are an Archer and you sell your ticket to the final game of a tournament basketball game for one dollar when it only cost you fifty cents, where would you find yourself?”
Announcer: Well ———!
Diz Kid: In jail—the new state law, you know.
Announcer: I know, I spent the night in the “jug.” And now for our second contestant, Mary, where were you born?
Mary: I don’t know. I was too young.
Announcer: But good! Now for a tougher question: Is it true that the quotation runs, “Stone walls do not a prison make?”
Mary: But they certainly do help! Announcer (tearing madly at what’s left of his massaged hair): What did I ever do to deserve this? Hey! Where are the rest of the Diz Kids?
Soprano Voice: They’re out for a short coke.
Radio Technician: You look for them; I’ll play the School Song on this record until you find them.
Music: Beat Me Daddy, Eight to the Bar. (sudden music screen envelops room).
Radio Technician: What’s going on in here! (cough! cough!)
Announcer: They’re trying to smoke out the roaches in Moe’s Hash Joint next door; but the show must go on, smoke or no smoke! Ah! Here are the Diz Kids! Come on brats—we’re on the air!
Soprano Voice: You’re kidding me! Wool! Wool!
Announcer: Elmer, I’m going to give you a safety question. What would you do if you were driving and heard a siren in back of you?
Elmer: Shoot it out with them!
Announcer: You have been eliminated, my dear. (grrrrr—). Now for the final contestant, Molly, do you listen to The Hermit?
Molly: No, but my friend does.
Announcer: Well, perhaps you can tell who sponsors this program.
Molly: Carter—Carter’s—Carter’s Little Liver Pills.
Announcer: This is too much! Life just isn’t worth living! Farewell, cruel world!—Bang! (Dying) Gasp—George, call up the asylum and tell them to take care of my wife and kids, will you? They already live there.
And so ends this delightful, soothing interlude.
All right, students—just what would you think if you read such a script? Don’t tell me ‘cause I’ve been fired already!

An Interview with Mr. R. N. Snider

By Wanda Eller

To some 250 pupils and to about all but thirteen teachers, the daily trek to South Side has become a mere matter of stepping into a car, turning on the ignition, and driving off in the general direction of Calhoun Street. Yes, and the matter of safety is no small problem to Mr. R. Nelson Snider and the others who are charged with the responsibility of keeping the Archers safe and sane.

Realizing the increasing importance of this topic, your reporter interviewed Mr. Snider on this question. To the question, “Do you think it advisable for juniors and seniors to drive to school?” Mr. Snider replied, “I think this matter should be entirely left up to the parents of the students. They know best whether their children are capable or incapable of driving an automobile to school.”

In regard to the worst offense committed by the student drivers, our principal stated, “The worst offense in past years has been speeding. A large majority of the students have attempted to show off their skill by dashing around corners and then speeding up to parking places. This practice has been partially checked in the past year.”

Curious to know if any laws had been enforced to improve the situation, I then asked Mr. Snider what steps have been taken to curb reckless or careless driving here at South Side. He first explained that a state law requires each senior to take a course in safety and then went on to say, “About ten or twelve years ago we made it compulsory for every student who drives to and from South Side High School to register. We prepared small cards upon which the driver was to put down certain information. This card, with a signature from the parents, then made the student eligible to drive an automobile to and from the building. This system has proved to be so valuable in past years that we have continued it to this day.”

My final query concerned the nature of this program and the penalties inflicted if a student who drives refuses to adhere to the regulations. Mr. Snider answered this by stating, “Although not a state law, this program of safety registration for student drivers is duly authorized by the School Board. A student who does not comply may be dropped from school.”

Oh Fair Is Its Coed;
The Fare Is Cheap
To Ferris Institute!

Ferris Institute, located at Big Rapids, Mich., is a co-educational, non-sectarian, non-profit institution which includes the College of Pharmacy, the College of Commerce, the College of Education, a junior college, and a college preparatory school on its campus.
Ferris Institute is housed in three large buildings: the Main Building, the Pharmacy Building, and the Alumni Building. The Alumni Building contains a large, well-equipped gymnasium, classrooms, rooms for physics and biology, and a band practice room. A library is located in the Pharmacy Building. The Main Building contains classrooms, offices, the president’s office, an assembly room, and the office of the school newspaper.
The activities of this college are very numerous. A weekly school paper, the Ferris Weekly, is published. There is an intramural program of sports for both men and women. Two national fraternities, one local fraternity, one national sorority, and one local sorority have chapters at the Ferris Institute. Persons interested in dramatics may become affiliated with the local Little Theatre group.
Dances and formal and informal parties are sponsored by the Student Activities Committee, by fraternities and sororities, by the various departments of the Institute, and by other organizations. Then Men’s Union and the Women’s Union cooperate with the faculty in a variety of activities.

“How To Win Sleep
And Lose Study” Is
Title Of This Item

Are you one of those miserable specimens of mankind that is bothered with insomnia at night and has to catch up on sleeping in class the next day? Are you the type of student who is easily lulled to sleep by the dull groaning of your pedagogues? Let us suppose that you, my dear groggy classmate, have fallen into one of these classes. If you have, it is my purpose to enlighten you as to the correct positions for comfortable snoozing. My “in-foo-man” has come as the result of profound and serious study (and actual experience during my four years at South Side). Let us assume that you are in English class, and your eyelids are practically drooping to the floor. Obviously you are in dire need of sleep. The best method to use is to industriously open your book and then leaf intently through a few pages. This procedure makes it likely that your teacher will safely assume that you are studying. Then prop your arms on the desk so that your hands offer a rather hard pillow for your head. Gently ease your cranium into said place with eyes cast downward, supposedly toward your book. Then, my dear students, unless your arms slip and cause you to fall violently flat on your face, you are safe for the remainder of the period.
If you are one of those lucky persons who always gets a seat in the back row, then your problem is a simple one. Merely adjust yourself in a horizontal position so that you and your classmates are both at the same angle from and also invisible to the teacher. Then warn your neighbor to wake you up if your pal in front changes his position. Now let your head rest on the back of your desk and sleep away! This manner of snoozing is liable to leave you with a slightly stiff neck, but otherwise it provides one with a marvelously refreshed feeling.

Rome-ing Reporter
Unearths The Urbs

Horribilis! Horrible! What more ghastly event could take place than the return of the old Roman ways of living? These were the days when Caesar and Mark Antony were acclaimed the world’s prominent lady killers. Let’s suppose that you students are now living in that era.
Instead of wearing the conventional dingy saddle shoes and loud plaids, you don anemic-colored togas, artistically draped here and there and finally gathered in a big wad at the neck. However, this garment can be made unusually attractive if you just pin on a large bunch of grapes at the neck to cover up the knot. On your feet you wear delicate, petite open-air soles, upon which a few straps of leather are crossed in a jig saw design. The crew cut having been abolished, you fellows now wear your curls fashioned in a long bob with curls streaming down your backs (tender thought!).
Now that you are dressed, it’s time for you to go off to school. Quickly you hitch up old Dobbin to your chariot. Soon you are speeding up and down the inclines in your streamlined chariot. Suddenly you stop outside a door of a familiar room in which public speaking is taught.
Inside the room stands an old Roman professor, (evidently a hang-over from Demosthenes) who is wearing oxford glasses and a wreath of olive branches about his head. As you know, one of the fundamentals in Roman oratory is to place a group of pebbles in your mouth while speaking. This is supposed to give the voice a fuller and more satisfactory quality. (Or, as one Roman orator said to the other, “Shoot the rock to me, Doc!”)
The pebbles sufficiently vacuum packed in your mouth, the professor then hands you a paper from a famous Roman speech. This is your cue to speak your piece. After a few muffled words of “Si Semper Tyrannis!” the discomfort of the pebbles in your mouth becomes too great. Suddenly you blow forth a semi-gravel pit into the face of the professor. The huge force behind the pebbles causes the professor to “pass out” in his tracks.
Since the whole school is in an uproar over the calamity of the professor, school is dismissed for the day.

Although Egged On,
This Egregious Egg
Gave Rotten Replies

I was standing in the middle of the stage which was set up in the study hall for the junior one acts and going over my lines. While I was busy concentrating on my lines, a man walked up to me and said, “Say, son, can you tell me where the cafeteria is?”
“Can’t order one egg, sir; you will have to order two,” said I.
“Who said anything about eggs?”
“All I want to know is where I can find the cafeteria!”
“I don’t know, sir; we just never do.”
“You never do what?”
“Serve two kinds of eggs, sir. Now you can have two boiled eggs or two fried eggs, but you can’t have a boiled egg and a fried egg—we don’t mix them sir.”
“Listen, son,” was his reply, “I don’t know what you are talking about, but would you please tell me where the cafeteria is located?”
“Gladly, sir!”
“Now we’re getting some place,” gasped the man.
“And how will you have the steak, sir? Rare, medium, or well-done?”
“Look, bud; if you don’t want to tell me where the cafeteria is located, would it be too much trouble to tell me what kind of food is served there?”
“The cook said that he won’t do anything special.”
“What do you mean?”
“Why—eggs, of course!”
“What eggs?”
“One hard and one soft-boiled egg. Shall I bring you your coffee now, sir?”
“I don’t want eggs, and I don’t want coffee! All I want to know is where I can find the cafeteria!”
“Well, I’ll tell you, sir—before I came here, I used to work in the State Insane Asylum and—”
“I believe it. Just don’t mind; I’ll find the cafeteria myself!”
A few minutes later the famous character in the cast walked in with Miss Margery Suter, the director of the play.
“Where are the food props?” I asked.
“I don’t know,” replied Miss Suter, “but have you seen a young man who was to meet me in the cafeteria?”
“Why no, I haven’t—I’ve been going over my lines.”
“Well, all right,” said Miss Suter. “Let’s start the rehearsal now.”
“We can’t, Miss Suter! The man with the good props hasn’t arrived,” I answered.

The Famous Royal Road To Romance
Is Long And Rough

Trips are something I very seldom am fortunate enough to take. This week, however, fate was kind enough to allow me to take a small trip on the Highway of Love.
On the trip I passed quite a few Archers.
In one car, which I was unable to pass, were Bob Racht and Jean Karns. Their car was running smoothly and they were having no trouble.
When one takes a trip he naturally hates to have to take detours, but, in this day and age, taking detours is a common event. Unfortunately, I was forced to take a detour on a bumpy road.
A sight which I hated to see was an Archer couple also on this detour. “Whities” Knoll and Jean Peterson evidently had had some trouble on the way and were forced onto this bumpy road. However, for Dick Holmes and Juanita Drews this road can well be named “The Bumpy Road to Love”. Caroline Lichtenberg and Henry Stein are also nearing the end of the detour. Henry will win Caroline back, we’re sure of that—a little bit of “dirt” just got in the carburetor.
One car I saw tickled me. It was owned by Dick Winter. Dick was by himself. I wondered at the time why some nice girl didn’t break his loneliness. Dick doesn’t have any particular girl friend since Pat turned off of the “steady” road.
Just outside of Cupidville, I came upon a pretty bad wreck. Like almost everyone, I hate to see wrecks—especially when two nice people like Joe Loos and De LeFever are involved. However when a nice boy like Worman came along and helped De to her feet, I felt as if things are really not so bad.

Suppose That . . .

Have you ever stopped to think what our sports page would look like if it were taken out of the competent hands of The Times’ sports editor and put into the hands of Percy Maxwell Fredrick Vande Water III? If you haven’t, here is a sample of what would happen:
“Those crude South Side Archers played a very fierce game last Saturday against the Gas House Gargaters and were defeated by a score of 105 to 2. It was a very meretricious game, but the dear Archers were in there pitching all of the time. The Archers’ next appointment will be with those fierce Dippy Dollies.”
Can you possibly imagine how the “dirt” column would read if the star boarders of the Old Maid’s Home composed it? Well, to enlighten you a bit, here is an excerpt from the Maggie O’Riley Home for Old Maids’ daily paper, The Chaser.
“Effie Houlihan received her catalog from the Match ‘Em Matrimonial Bureau yesterday. The girls have high hopes that Effie may leave us soon because she sent us a picture of Cleopatra instead of her own. If this doesn’t work, Effie will be stuck here for life! . . . Tillie Twittle, a charter member of this institution, had the gardener locked in the greenhouse the other day, but he finally broke his way out. Tillie states that she will get him yet.”

Track Team At Notre Dame; Times Names All-State Team

Cinder Squad Will Compete At South Bend

Coach George Collyer Says Team Has Good Chance To Win From Northerners

Coach George Collyer will take a squad of twenty-five tracksters to carry the South Side track hopes at the Gary Relays next Saturday.

The relays, held annually by the Gary schools, will take place on the campus of Notre Dame University at South Bend. With good material presenting itself and with a spirit of confidence instilled in his athletes, Coach Collyer is hopeful of making a good showing at Notre Dame.

Dick Brintzenhofe, Tom Deal, and Richard Sebold are to compete in the mile run; while Gus Feistkorn, Paul Dannecker, and Dwight Davis will run the half-mile.

All of these boys are experienced and possess plenty of that extra wind necessary to drive home. Unless the other competitors are definitely on their toes at Notre Dame, the South Side distance men should receive several places from their tries at the mile and half-mile.

JIM WORMAN, BILL MILLER, AND DWIGHT DAVIS ARE CARD-ED TO APPEAR IN THE QUARTER-MILE RUN. BOB ARCHER OF NORTH SIDE CAPTURED THIS EVENT LAST YEAR. CHICK SHIMER, ART PARRY, AND RUDY WUTTKE WILL COMPETE IN THE 60-YARD DASH.

Another Redskin, Bob Cowan, annexed the 60-yard dash honors last spring at Notre Dame by posting a time of 6.5 seconds. Rudolph Wuttke, Tom Ulrich, and Bill Bond are to do the broad jumping on Saturday.

Chuck Close and Herman Davis will be the local entries in the shot put event. Close looked very good last spring in winning many firsts, and he should again be the best in this territory this season.

Don Elser, former Horace Mann shot expert and later a gridiron flash at Notre Dame, holds the shot record for the history of the meet with a toss of 50 feet 7 inches.

Last year Bollinger of Gary Emerson captured the shot put first by tossing the shot 47 feet 9 inches. Sam Johnson, Paul Wuttke, and Dallas Zuber have been chosen to pole vault at the relays. Dick Kilpatrick, Chick Shimer, and Gus Feistkorn have earned a chance at high jumping.

Big Dave Minor, Gary Froebel's colored basketball sensation, won the high jump event last spring by leaping 5 feet 11 inches over the bamboo bar.

Lester Oppenlander and Ralph Sebold are Archer entrants in the 60-yard low hurdles. Sam Johnson, Jim Morrison, and Oppenlander will compete in the high hurdles.

Coach Collyer's two greatest assets, his relay quartets, will be expected to earn plenty of points this week-end. Chick Shimer, Art Parry, Rudy Wuttke, Bill Bond, and Ralph Sebold will battle for half-mile relay laurels. Gus Feistkorn, Jim Worman, Bill Miller, Dwight Davis, Ralph Sebold, and James Morrison are candidates who are vying for posts on the mile-relay unit. Last year at the Gary relay events, the Gary Froebel and Hammond relay teams annexed first honors.

Cubs, Cats, Gon's Men Are Champs In Light, Middle, Heavy Weight Divisions

During the last month, South Siders couldn't have missed the noon league intramural volleyball, since each day, games were played in the gymnasium and every single weight class presented an interesting contest.

In the light weight division six teams entered. After nine games were played only two teams remained. These teams were the Badgers and the Cubs. The first game played between these two teams was a thriller, with the Cubs surviving with a 17-to-15 win. The next game the Cubs also won with a comfortable margin of six points (15-to-9). The high-point man for the Badgers was Nahrwood with six points for both games. The pace-setter for the Cubs was Gordon with seven points. Each member of the Cubs, the lightweight champs, received five extra intramural points for being a member of the winning team.

Only four teams entered the second round of the heavyweight division. They were Gon's Men, the Tippy Truckers, the Ex Laxers, and the Blitzkriegers. The two teams left in the heavyweight finals to fight it out for the championship were the Blitzkriegers and Gon's Men. In the first game, Gon's Men defeated the Blitzkriegers by a score of 15-to-9. But in the second game Gon's Men really had to fight to win. They did, winning the second game by the close score of 16-to-14. Welch tallied five points in the first game and four in the second for high scoring honors for the underdog Blitzkriegers. Chicken Shimer did exactly the same thing, five in the first and four in the second, to be high-point man for Gon's Men.

Pictured above are five South Side cinder pounders who are hopeful of bringing valuable event points to our school in the meet at Notre Dame this week-end. Paul "Doc" Dannecker will participate in the half-mile run, and along with Gus Feistkorn and Dwight Davis he should bring this event to South Side. Parry made a great display of talent last year, and he has improved his ability in practice this season. Bill "Killer" Miller will compete in the quarter-mile run and on the mile relay quartet. Dick Kilpatrick and Ralph Shimer are to appear in the high jump. In addition, Shimer will run as a member of the half-mile relay team.

Girls' Sportsettes

Girls' Baseball Fans! GAA baseball starts this week with great enthusiasm from the girls. All girls wishing to take part in this active sport are urged to sign up on the baseball papers posted on the bulletin board outside the girl's gym office.

All girls are grateful to Miss Alice Dean and Miss Gretchen Smith for all of their time and the wonderful supervision they have given to the girls taking part in the GAA show. It was a wonderful success.

It seems that Marian Faux and Colleen McCarty are getting the tennis bug again. They have asked the permission of Miss Dean to use the handball court for practicing. Here's to your success in tennis, girls.

Spring vacation is just around the corner and everyone is planning to take hikes. There will be hiking cards posted on the bulletin boards waiting to be signed. Last year at this time long hikes were taken to Hometown, Waynedale, and New Haven, in spite of rain, snow, or wind. The weather seems to be more favorable this year.

Times Sports Staff Chooses All-State Team

Bob Cowan Picked For All-State Team; Four Other Cities Are Represented

With the season and tournament play now official history, the South Side Times sports staff has selected an All-State team for the season of 1940-41. All of the five stars chosen are serving out their final year in high school. Selections were made on the basis of scoring and defensive ability.

TIMES' ALL-STATE TEAM
F.—Bob Cowan..... North Side
F.—Carl Campbell..... Kokomo
C.—Dave Minor..... Gary Froebel
G.—Bob McKenzie..... Muncie Burris
G.—Leroy Mangin..... Washington

The two forwards named to the team are well known to fans who attended the recent semi-final tourney at Muncie. For it was Bob Cowan who sank Burris under a one-man basket-barrage, and Carl Campbell played the same role against the Redskins that evening.

Cowan is fast and tricky, and his only weak point is his defensive ability. Carl Campbell is a good set shot, but "Hump" counted most of his points on one-handed push efforts.

Indiana's big one-man basketball team, Dave Minor, of Gary Froebel, receives the Times' bid for the center position. The big colored center has class plus and plenty of spirit. At Indianapolis last week-end, Minor played a good ball game. But he was not hitting the hoop with any semblance of consistency.

Bob McKenzie of Muncie Burris and Leroy Mangin of Washington were chosen for the guard posts for both their offensive and defensive ability. Both are good ball hawks, and can rival any duet in the state in speed and versatility.

There are undoubtedly five or ten other boys who merit mention on this quintet. However, it is the belief of the Times' sports staff that these five players were the most consistently good cage artists in Indiana this year.

Shorts On Sports

By Wayne Bechtol

Many new developments have taken place since last week; one of the most important announcements was that the Boys' Intramural Volleyball tournament has finally come to a close with all championship teams named.

In the heavy, middle, and light-weight divisions the 1941 championship titles were given respectively to the Gons Men, the Cats, and the Cubs. Another 'mural event to be read about is the Boys' Intramural Ping Pong tournament just starting.

Gons Men was the winning team in the heavyweight division of the volleyball tournament with the Blitzkriegers listed as the second best team; the final scores, 15 to 9 and 16 to 14. To win the championship, Gons Men conquered several teams that were considered to be eligible for the championship title; among those were the Ex Laxers BC and the Ex Laxers AC with the scores reading 15 to 8 and 15 to 11 and 27 to 23.

In the middleweight division the Cats were listed as the best team and to receive this title they encountered several tough teams. Some of these were the Killer Dillers, Campus Cuties, and the Playboys who were properly squelched respectively with scores of 15 to 5 and 15 to 2; 15 to 11 and 15 to 9; and 5 to 3 and 15 to 8. The final game was between the Cats and the Blitzkriegers with the final scores reading 15 to 2, 13 to 15, and 7 to 5.

The 1941 champions in the lightweight division were reported to be the Cubs, who forced the Badgers to concede the honor when the final scores proved to be 17 to 15 and 15 to 9 in favor of the Cubs.

The volleyball season, which has been going strong through the slack months, is drawing to a close with the championship game probably being played off in the coming week.

Following are the results of the games played thus far: Gons Men downed the Ex Laxers 15 to 8 and 14 to 11. Gons Men seem to be the favorites in the heavyweight division. Their team consists of Ginger, Zuber, Shimer, Knoll, H. Hines, and Strawbridge.

The Blitzkriegers nosed out the 6 Gennis 15 to 13, 7 to 11, 4 to 1. The ExLaxers came back to defeat Tippy Trucks 15 to 5 and 13 to 10. In the middleweight division the Cats finished ahead of the Fighting Irish, the score being 15 to 2, 13 to 15, and 7 to 5.

In other games the Sloppy Prunes were defeated by the Lightning Six by the score of 13 to 15, 15 to 8, and 15 to 6. The Sloppy Prunes went ahead to down the South Side Polecats with the scores totaling 15 to 10 and 15 to 5. The Fighting Irish made it two wins by beating the Playboys 15 to 5, 13 to 15, and 7 to 3.

Games in the lightweight were as follows: the Hot Dogs defeated the Six Drips 14 to 15, 15 to 5, and 15 to 6. The Cubs defeated the Badgers 17 to 15 and 15 to 9.

These South Siders Really Heard Light At House Of Magic

Have you ever seen sound? Or have you ever heard light? If not, then you have recently missed a very excellent opportunity to witness these extraordinary phenomena. At the General Electric House of Magic, brought to South Side by the Math-Science Club two weeks ago, there was not only equipment for "seeing" sound and "hearing" light, but apparatus for producing other magical effects by electricity.

One of the first things noticed, even before the program started, was that the speakers carried tiny microphones around their necks so that it was not necessary to carry bulky hand microphones when ever the demonstrators moved about.

The first demonstration was of "cold chemical light." After all the lights had been turned out, an eerie blue glow was produced by pouring various chemicals into a flask. Next was shown a cathode ray projector, by means of which sound waves could be projected on a screen. On this was shown the various types of waves produced by speech, vibrations, and singing. One of the speakers favored the audience by a few numbers on the bazooka and the mouth harp in order to show the sound wave patterns produced by musical tones.

A number of other exhibitions with different types of light followed. One of the highlights of the program was a showing of the wonders possible by stroboscopic light.

By means of this instrument, a spinning arrow can be made to appear stationary; and myriads of color designs can be produced on a whirling disk.

The "electric eye" was one of the most interesting features on the program. By means of this, one of the speakers was able to cut off sound by stepping in a beam of light, to pick up the "sound" of an ordinary light bulb, and to pick up and turn into an amplifier a band number "broadcast" through a fluorescent light tube.

The program was closed by the unveiling of a marvelous surrealist painting—the work of one of the speakers. In ordinary light it appeared only a jumble of lines; but under a certain type of light it took on the shape of the familiar General Electric emblem.

Fort Wayne Northeastern Indiana Teachers Will Convene Monday At Central High

Mathematics teachers from Fort Wayne and Northeastern Indiana will meet for dinner Monday evening, March 31, in the Central High School cafeteria at 6 o'clock. The group organization is a section of the Northeastern Indiana Teachers Association.

The program will include talks by Mr. M. J. Abbott, superintendent of city schools, and Dr. Walter O. Menze, an actuary at the Lincoln National Life Insurance Company. Mr. Abbott's subject will be "The Social Utility of Mathematics." Dr. Menze will discuss "Your Profession and Mine."

Officers in charge of this year's programs are Donald Coar of Auburn High School and Mr. A. Verne Flint of South Side High School, who is arranging this meeting.

Art students in Miss Dochterman's classes have prepared program covers which have mathematical symbols and figures as the motif.

Jim McClure To Be Senior Play Head

J. Salon, Bob Young, Marge Sheldon, Dyer Are Also In Charge Of Committees

Drama To Feature Three Twin Sets

Cast Is Practicing Daily; In Following Story, Brief Play Synopsis Is Given

Jim McClure has been appointed business manager for the 1941 senior play, Shakespeare's "Comedy of Errors", Miss Dorothy Magley and Mr. Paul Sidell, advisers for senior activities, announced. JOEL SALON is in charge of advertising on the program; BOB YOUNG has charge of ticket sales; and MARGE SHELDON and MARGE DYER head the publicity committee. The presentation will be given Friday and Saturday, April 18 and 19 at 8:30 o'clock; and it will be directed by Miss Margery Suter.

Tickets are on sale in senior home rooms, or they may be obtained from any member of the cast. Reserved seats are available at 50 cents and general admission tickets at 35 cents.

Practices are being held daily with the cast that was chosen from those who tried out for the various roles two weeks ago. The play will feature three sets of identical senior twins. BOB and JIM BROOKS play the long-separated twin brothers, Antipholus of Ephesus and Antipholus of Syracuse; while DON and ED MEYER portray their twin servants.

BECKY ABBETT has the role of Adriana, the shrewish wife of Antipholus of Ephesus, and proceeds to become completely mixed up in the series of events which seemingly bring about two husbands. Lucia, her sister, is played by MARJORIE SHELDON, who is thoroughly bewildered when her sister's husband, (really the other Antipholus) becomes infatuated with her. HILDA SCHUBERT plays the part of Amelia, the Abbess and mother of the two Antipholuses; and WILMA PAGEMAN portrays Lesbia, the flirt. Pages are played by the GUMPPER twins, FAYE and LOIS; and CONSTANCE HIRSCHHEY has the role of Luce, the maid.

BILL SIEBOLD portrays the Duke; SAFFORD McMYLER, Antipholus; PAUL KIEL, Balthazar; EVERETTE TRULOCK, Pinch, the schoolmaster; HOWARD STULTZ, Gaele; BILL GOODWIN, Officer; and ED KETTLER and KOLMAN GROSS, merchants.

Juniors working as prompters with the group are DOROTHY SNAVELY, LOIS BLOEMKER, and CLARA MAKEY.

Three Entertain Wo-Ho-Ma Club

Marilyn Wolf, Pearl Baldwin, Wilma Kellogg Give Dances, Guitar Numbers, Monologue

Wilma Kellogg, Marilyn Wolf, and Pearl Baldwin entertained at Wo-Ho-Ma's meeting Thursday at 3:30 o'clock in the Greeley Room.

Wilma gave a monologue, "Vest I Your Wife", Marilyn gave two tap dances with Bernita Eggers accompanying her on the piano and Pearl played four selections "Na Lei O Hawaii", "Hilo March", "Hawaii Sang Me To Sleep" and "Blue Hawaii" on her electric Hawaiian guitar.

Two games "Do You Know Your Neighbor" and "Fish, Bird, or Beast" were led by Laura Nahrwald.

The committee in charge of the meeting was Laura Nahrwald, chairman; Clara Long and Carolyn Plummer. The committee in charge of the next meeting is Katherine Bultemeier, chairman, Phyllis Crumrine and Norma Close.

Candy bars were served as refreshments.

Times Receives Exhibit Invitation

California University Entends Call To Outstanding School Papers Having CSPA Rating

South Side has been invited to send copies of The South Side Times to University of California School Publications Conference to be held in Los Angeles this coming summer. The Times received this invitation because of their All-American Honor Rating in the National Scholastic Press Association last year.

A display of outstanding school papers will be a part of the conference and will also be in connection with a course, "Supervision of School Publications", which will be taught by Mr. Norval Neil Luxon, journalism instructor at Ohio State University, during summer session at U.C.L.A.

Archer Reporter Spends School Day In Northern Teepee

By Margaret Kuntz
Recently a trip was made by your ever-roving reporter to the rather large teepee of the North Side Redskins. Arriving there in ample time for a short walk about the "campus", I watched the Redskin lads and lassies strolling to and fro around the spacious building.

At eight o'clock a bell sounded, warning the students that they had but five minutes to reach their respective home rooms. If they are not present in their home rooms by five after eight, they are punished accordingly. (Notice the similarity to our own rules.) The home room period is just ten minutes in length. One day a week this time is given over to a safety program in some shape or form. (Notice more similarity to our schedule.)

EVERY WEDNESDAY MORNING THE HOME ROOM PERIOD IS RESERVED FOR THE DISCUSSION OF THINGS IMPORTANT TO THE STUDENTS.

Because of these discussions the home room period is extended until eight forty-five on Wednesday mornings. Otherwise, the first period starts at eight-twenty. Each period throughout the day starts at twenty minutes after the hour and ends at a quarter after, giving the students five minutes between each period.

A bell rings at five after one, as a signal for Redskins to prepare for their sixth period classes, which take up at one-fifteen. The student body is released from its portals of knowledge at three-fifteen, which gives the Redskins a five minute advantage over us Archers. (That must make us five minutes smarter than the North Siders, then!)

Pupils May Hear Richard E. Byrd

Fort Wayne Students Will Have Chance To See Famed Antarctic Explorer On April 18

Students of South Side and other Fort Wayne schools will have a chance to see and hear Admiral Richard E. Byrd at the Shrine Theater on Friday, April 18, the week following spring vacation. Mr. Byrd is being brought here by the Lions Club of Fort Wayne to lecture on his latest trip to Little America.

In the afternoon at 3:15 o'clock, there will be a lecture and showing of pictures for school students. There are about four or five hundred student tickets for this performance available to South Side, and they may be purchased in the general office. Any student who buys a ticket, will be excused from his seventh period class to attend the performance.

Admiral Byrd will show ten or twelve reels of film, which makes 9,000 feet of film, which he took recently while in Little America.

Celebrate At Funfest —Inside Of Sports

Bob Young and Safford McMyler wrote the skit and antics presented by the senior students. Miss Dorothy Magley and Mr. Paul Sidell, class advisers, assisted the students.

BOB YOUNG SERVED AS TOASTMASTER AND INTRODUCED THE DIFFERENT ACTS.

First on the program was a chorus of beautiful senior girls carrying signs which read "We Stink". Kolman Gross portrayed Mr. Friddle; Martha Jean Smith, Miss Pittenger; Sam Bacon, Mr. Collyer; Jim McClure, Mr. Briner; Don Parkinson, Mr. Gift; Dick Theye, Mr. Gilbert; and Safford McMyler, Mr. A. Verne Flint.

Other students who took part were Dick Green, John Cleland, Joe Bekius, and Melvin Voltz, who represented a basketball team of 1912. Joel Salon, Don Parkinson and a football team of girls also presented a number.

Others participating were John Bonsib, Jim Weaver, Roy Heavner, Mildred Hanke and Everett Trulock, who did antics while the skit was going on.

—Gay Nineties

"Music Assembly", a skit written by Mrs. Elmer Haug was presented by the parents. Mrs. Harold Feistkorn directed a chorus of sixteen men and women who sang several popular songs.

Mrs. Robert Wylie was in charge of the parade of the twins. Those participating and the twins they represented were as follows: Brooks twins, Mr. Francis McMyler and Mr. Simpson Parkinson; Wylie twins, Mr. Otto Gumpfer and Mrs. Arthur Parry; Seibold twins, Mr. Earl Seibold and Mr. John Brooks; Gumpfer twins, Mrs. Clifford Matteson and Mrs. L. C. Erikson; Meyer twins, Mr. Art Young and Mr. Flaig.

Others who will attend are Byron Singer, Cliff Springer, original oratory; Bud Lampton, Dick Bahle, Jerry Mansbach, Alene Looser, and Don Meyer, extemporaneous and oratorical declamation; Dick Shriner, Bill Bone, Elinor Muntzinger, Bob Guion, Pat Sanford, Fred Collins, Ed Meyer, oratorical and dramatic declamation; Maxine Case, Betty Hargan, Franklin Thompson, Lois Bloemer, and Jim McClure, original oratory and oratorical declamation.

Hilda Schubert Receives First

Archer's Essay Is Winner In City-wide Contest Sponsored by American Legion

Hilda Schubert, 12A of South Side, has been judged the winner of the city division of the Essay Contest sponsored by the American Legion of Fort Wayne. All students wishing to entered with an essay on "Selective Service and its Effect on American Youth." There were fifty-two from Fort Wayne.

Raol Stevenson, a student at North Side placed first in the district contest in which Hilda won second.

ALL WINNERS WILL HAVE THEIR ESSAYS SENT ON TO THE NATIONAL DIVISION THIS WEEK FOR FINAL JUDGING.

Mr. Null was in charge of the contest for South Side. This essay was written in place of a required theme.

Archers Come Through

Four Latin Students Win Honors In District Latin Competition

Standing, left to right: Lois Craig, Martha Davenport, and Violet Steinbauer. Seated: Ellen Harry.

Four Archers placed in the district Latin contest, held last Saturday.

Results of the contest are as follows: Division 4—(Vergil): Violet Steinbauer, first, and June Flaig, second. Both are South Side students.

Division 3—(Cicero): Ellen Harry, South Side, first, and Sam Stuart, Central, second.

Division 1: Joan Keen, of Poneto, first; Martha Davenport, South Side, second.

April 4 Is Selected As Grads' Tag Day

National Honor Society Tag Day will be on April 4. Approximately fifty-seven seniors will be elected to the society. They will be chosen for their character, service, leadership, and scholarship. New members will be tagged by Archer alumni.

Miss Mabel Thorne is chairman of the committee in charge. Others on the committee are Miss Elizabeth Kelley, Miss Pauline Van Gorder, Mr. Elma Gould, and Mr. Earl Murch. Mr. R. Nelson Snider, Miss Martha Pittinger, and Mr. A. Verne Flint are on the advisory committee.

All Payments On Times Due By Tomorrow

$99.40 Is Total Amount Remaining Out; Complete List Of Rooms, Agents

Totems should be entirely paid for by tomorrow, it was announced by John Bonsib, editor of the yearbook.

Beginning Monday the price of The Totem will be raised to $2.25, and no one will have his name embossed on the cover who has not paid in full.

Tomorrow, all Times subscription payments are due. According to the last report on Tuesday night, there is still $99.40 due. This means that agents will have to work hard to get their home rooms paid up by the time the money is due. Of course there are a few students who will have legitimate excuses for not paying.

Only three additional agents have brought in all their money since last week. These are Frankie Neff, Room 38; Ed Tieman, Room 182; and Mary Ann Duemling, Room 190. Those agents who had their home rooms paid up last week are Sirlene Smith, Room 10; Joe Barbieri, and Lois Bailey, Room 24; Billie Miller, Room 34; and Ann Welborn, Room 60.

Peg Harrod's Book VI is low with only $12.75 out, while Tom Yates' Book I is running a close second with a deficit of $12.90. Frankie Neff's Book II still has $14.50 out; Pat Sanford's Book III still owes $17.65; Laura Jean Grazier's Book IV, $18.65; and Betty Stump's Book V owes the most with $25.00 still out.

Nine Archers Are To Enter State Contest

Declamation Meet Is At I.U. On April 12; Bobs Young, Robinson Talk At DePauw

Nine South Side students will represent the school at the state declamation contest at Indiana University on April 12. Students were eligible to compete in the state meet by placing first or second in a contest at school.

Robert Safer will give "Emperor Jones" and Fred Collins, "Homecoming" in the dramatic declamation division. "The Light That Is Darkness" will be presented by Jim McClure in the oratorical declamation contest. Mary Ellen Barrett will give "School Programs" and Betty Hargan, "Brother Take A Bow" in humorous declamation. Bill Bone and Bud Lampton will represent South Side in radio broadcasting, while Helen Ninde and Pat Sanford will compete in poetry reading.

Mrs. Dorothy Rieke, speech instructor, will accompany the students to Indiana University.

Bob Young and Bob Robinson will represent South Side at DePauw University on April 12 in the state finals of extemp contest. Both Bobs were winners in extemp contests held at school.

Last year South Side won the plaque at the state declamation meet for the most points. Those scoring the points were Bill Reithmiller, '40, who placed first in dramatic and Bruce Bradbury, '40, first in humorous; Tom Galmeyer, '40, second, and Jim McClure, third, in oratorical; Mary Ellen Barrett, third in humorous; and Helen Ninde, who reached the semi-finals in dramatic. Last year's state speech meet was held at Purdue University.

Philo Will Hear Review Of Book

Mrs. Harry Hogan Will Be Guest Of Club April 14; Schedule Remaining Will Be Announced

Mrs. Harry Hogan will review a book at the April 14 meeting of Philo, it was announced at the meeting Monday.

A schedule of the programs for the remainder of the semester is as follows: April 28, a literary acquaintance test; May 12, Mother and Daughter Tea; May 26, senior day at Pat Sanford's home; June 7, Philo's annual picnic.

English Derivatives Of Latin Still Retain Many Basic Forms

Latin is the "mother tongue" of English speaking persons, and also of those who speak French, Spanish, and Italian. If the words which came from Latin were all taken out of our language, it would be impossible for us to express ourselves beautifully and difficult for us to express ourselves at all. There are, in good English use, many Latin words and phrases which have come down to us unchanged; and countless medical, legal, and scientific terms are Latin not only in their original but their present form.

Four years of Latin are offered at South Side. The work of the first three semesters involves the study of grammar vocabulary, and word relationships; from the beginning, there is translation of stories based on Roman and Greek history and mythology. The fourth semester offers the personal memories of the illustrious general, statesman, and author, Julius Caesar.

In the third year, the political speeches of Cicero, a patriotic statesman and an orator second only to Demosthenes, are read.

In the fourth year, in Vergil's "Aeneid", the student reads one of the few great epic poems that the world has known, a poem of gods and goddesses, heroes, a beautiful lady and a great purpose.

Our Latin instructors are Miss Gertrude Oppelt, head of the foreign language department, Mrs. Grace Welty, Mr. Francis Fay, and Mr. Earl Sterner.

Hi-Y To Hear Hilliard Gates

Announcer Will Be Speaker At Potluck; Adviser Arranges Sports Tourney

Hilliard Gates, radio announcer, is to be the main speaker at Hi-Y's potluck, which will be held at the YMCA at 6:30 o'clock this evening.

Bill Godwin, chairman, Dave Azar, and Dick Brouwer are in charge of the arrangements. All persons wishing to go should sign up in Room 82 by noon today.

At the last meeting of Hi-Y, held last Thursday, it was announced that a tournament to determine the best ping-pong, snooker, and checker players of Hi-Y would be held.

Mr. Ralph Murray, assistant club adviser, will conduct the ping-pong tourney. Participating are Tom Brouwer, Art Longworth, John Heffelfinger, and Ed Rehling.

The snooker players are Leslie Baumgartner and Ed Wade; and Dave Azar is to be the club's representative in checker playing.

Pete Holzworth, Bill Goodwin, Howard Blood, "Porky" McMillan, and Russell Siples, as representatives of South Side Hi-Y and Torch Clubs, helped New Haven start a Hi-Y Club recently, it was announced by Bill Goodwin. He also invited the club to participate in the rededication of the YMCA on April 18.

Dave Azar gave a financial report and Jim Holzworth, a pencil report.

Math Champions Enter Sectionals

Ten Archers Winning Algebra 2, Geometry 2; Contests To Take Tests At Extension April 5

Eugene Gettel, Charles Hoke, Albert Kranz, and Kenneth Lauer will represent South Side in the sectional algebra 2 contest to be held at Indiana University Extension, April 5 at 10 a. m. Donna Mougien is the alternate. Miss Adelaide Fiedler is in charge of this group.

These winners were selected in competitive tests with other Algebra 2 students on March 14. The sectional contest will last an hour and a half.

Five winners were selected from Geometry 2 students to enter geometry sectionals, also at the I. U. Extension on April 5. They are Jeanne Seidel, Wilbur McNulty, Joseph Barbieri, and Kenneth Breimeier. Betty MacKay is the alternate. Mr. A. Verne Flint has charge of this class. The sectional contest will last from 10 to 12 a. m.

Reverend Eric Hill Is Torch Club Speaker

A magician will be the main speaker at Torch Club's meeting at 3:30 o'clock today in Room 174. Jack McMillen, who has charge of the program, has not yet announced the name of the magician.

The Rev. Eric L. A. Hill, pastor of the South Wayne Baptist Church, addressed the club at its meeting last Thursday. His topic was "Religion". Tom Wilson, president, was in charge of the meeting.

Many Pupils Get Awards For Courtesy

Week Sponsored To Further Politeness In Archerydom Proved To Be Success

12 Kellies Receive Honorable Mention

Inter-Club Congress Members Aid In Selecting Pupils Named For Awards

Many students executed kind and courteous deeds during Courtesy Week, sponsored by the Inter-Club Congress from March 17 to 21. Listed below are the pupils who were given honorable mention on different days throughout the week:

Monday: Helen Dicke, Laura Nahrwald, and Jean Schiege.

Tuesday: Bud Brudi and Dorothy Perry.

Wednesday: Kenneth Iba and Glessna Oppenlander.

Thursday: Ralph Shimer and Dick Snyder.

Friday: Marshal Oswald and Robert Zimmer.

In addition to each day's winners the following names were submitted to Miss Kiefer: Sam Gross, Bill Wolf, Charles Close, Howard Schmidt, and Katherine Eipper.

Members of the Congress, who were especially helpful and kept a close lookout for courteous acts, were as follows: Rudolph Wuttke, president, who made the announcements each day; and those who participated in the skits, Betty Koehler, Laverne Michelfelder, Keith Lakey, Dick Theye, Louisa Haugk, Martha Jean Smith, Eva Jean Wylie, Jean Karns, and Edmond Bauer. Norman Fortness, Emalyn Remmel, and Tom Wilson also did outstanding work.

The cards for each day's charts were drawn up by Marjorie Dyer. The typing of scripts for the broadcasts and charts was done by Betty Koehler and Louisa Haugk.

Philatelic Society Has Yearly Feast

Irene Meyer Chairman Of Food Committee; Betty Thiele Is In Charge Of Entertainment

Stamp Club held its annual potluck Wednesday, March 26 in the cafeteria.

Preceding the potluck the members engaged in the buying and selling of stamps. They also discussed the recent issues of stamps as to value, color, and perforations.

After the potluck, several games were played by the members of the organization. Ray Kast was in charge of arranging the exchanging of stamps.

Irene Meyer was at the head of the food committee and had Barbara Long, Wayne Graff, Alfert Kranz, and Philip Schwartz, assisting her in arranging the menus.

The entertainment for the potluck was in charge of Betty Thiele. Those assisting, were Richard Cunningham, Walter Konow, Alvin Haley, and Robert Wylie.

Six Archers Win Ping-pong Honors

Mr. Ralph Murry, Promoter Of Tournament Is Now Trying To Arrange Local Matches

In the Round Robin Table Tennis Tournament, Gerald Wulliman, Charles Gramlick, Harold Lassen, Bud Puff, Arthur Longworth, and Raymond Vonderau have qualified as the last six players of the second group. The first six, or varsity teams, have already been named.

These players are now challenging each other in attempts to raise their positions, which are as follows: Gerald Wulliman, seventh; Charles Grandlick, eighth; Harold Lassen, ninth; Bud Puff, tenth; Arthur Longworth, eleventh; and Raymond Vonderau, twelfth.

Mr. Ralph Murray, commercial teacher, promoter of the tournament, is now trying to arrange future matches with Central High School, the Fort Wayne Table Tennis Club, Arcola, and other local table tennis teams.

Archer Articles Published

Jack L. Grosvenor, 10A, and Albert Schaeff, 12A, made contributions to the Youths' Passing Show Page in The News-Sentinel recently. Jack's story was about duck hunters, and Albert's poem was entitled "Wounds of World".

If To Colleges You Would Go, Let 'Em Know Pretty Quick

Attention, all seniors! Are you planning to go to college next fall? Has the postman delivered your college bulletins yet? There may be a few of you who are yet undecided, and there are undoubtedly many of you who have not definitely determined where you will go to college. Yet time is fleeting, your graduation is only two months away, and by now, you should have already made some contacts with the school which you plan to attend.

We feel the trouble with a great many seniors who plan to attend college is that they have failed up to this time to make some favorable contacts with the registrars of the colleges they are considering.

It isn't that the universities and colleges don't want more students when demanding early applications, but you can readily see what they are up against. Naturally they must know something about you before your admission. Just multiply yourself by the number of seniors all over the country who might wish to attend the same college that you do, and you will see what we mean. They must have time to look over your qualifications and learn the necessary facts about you. When you think of the fact that some of the larger universities have more in their freshman class than there are students in all of South Side, it will make our point even more clear.

Here are a few more hints to help you fill out your applications: Be sure to write plainly and legibly—type if possible. The first impression that a college registrar has of you is gathered from the kind of letter that you write. One of the ways that he can form an honest opinion of you is from the grammatical correctness of your application. A misplaced comma in your letter may soon mean more to you than it ever will again in your life. Make a real business of your application. Admission of new students is a business proposition to your proposed college, and so it should be to you.

Get Indiana On Right Track; Track Down Track Problem

Some of the athletic teachers and many of the more ambitious students about the building have long campaigned for track assemblies. They, and many other sane-thinking individuals concerned with the welfare of Archer athletics, lament the fact that so much attention is given to basketball games and so comparatively little to field events. Attacking the situation from simply a defensive standpoint, they give many sound reasons for their complaint. They contend that track events are open to a greater percentage of the student body; and, therefore, that the competition is keener and the honors greater. In spite of the fact that track events demand little teamwork, still there is ample opportunity for the competitors to use their heads as well as their muscles and to develop a high degree of sportsmanship.

Because we live in Indiana, we are basketball conscious—maybe too much so. Indiana is known all over the Union as the basketball state. But in the other parts of the nation, especially in the East, emphasis is more evenly distributed over the other sports. An excess of any one thing is harmful, and the rule should apply in the case of following athletics. We Hoosiers are inclined to think only of basketball, neglecting other competition.

Last year we were successful in winning the sectional crown in track. But we had no pep session before we went to state; on the other hand we have a pep session before every home basketball game. We aren't discouraging enthusiasm for basketball, not in the least; but it would be a good idea if we had some sort of assemblies for the benefit of our deserving track team!

This younger generation isn't going down after all. As long as its members can read a book, hold a conversation, and listen to the radio all at the same time, it's doing right well!

The old style street cars had their advantages; at least they couldn't sneak quietly up behind you and scare you half to death with a blast of an air horn!

We sincerely hope that home work during the week following vacation won't be too hard; we want our students to catch up on the rest missed during "vacation".

And, for some reason or other, don't you get full of devilish ideas when you see someone wearing nice clean saddle shoes?

Rhymes Of Recreation

By Alene Loeser

My Radio

Each night, when I try to get my studies done,
I like to listen to the radio and have a little fun.
I enjoy "Lux Theater", and Bob Hope "sizzles";
And, as for liking "Information Please", they are really "whizzes".

I don't see how those experts accumulate that knowledge
I don't get in high school—who knows, maybe in college?
Perhaps I am not the prodigy I once was claimed to be;
Of course that was years before I attained the age of three.

But to get back to why I enjoy my radio so—
It's because I'm sure it makes my cranium go.
I simply cannot study or concentrate either
Unless my ears are very near the receiver.

Marconi's invention is a great blessing to me,
For I'd have nothing to do without it, you see.
I approve of education taught this way,
For it helps, while studying, to hear Glenn Miller play.
Iggye No Run

Art

In the bygone years of Greece and Italy,
Boys would glance at paintings all the time.
Now the males look at the girls so intently,
Just to make sure the lasses do not mind.

Michelangelo was once a famous sculptor of Rome,
Whose beautiful plaster figure in Europe won renown.
But few of his works are found now in any home,
Yet, I'll wager to say, modern art is in every town.

The Petty Girl, some think, has exactly what it takes,
In lockers throughout the school her photograph is seen.
At times she endorses Old Golds, at others, Ivory Flakes,
And to give her hair that sheen, she always uses Drene.

Varga's girls are becoming strong competition for Miss Petty,
Perhaps you have seen their pictures and know what is meant.
Many people say that she is comparable to Hedy;
Some for her have fallen hard and in the pavement made a dent.

Spring Fashion Revue

After the lessons comes the test! U—huh! We even have it in The Times. You can't just read our stuff without putting it in your pipe and smoking it. And you can't escape forever, 'cause the time has come when we are to find out just how much of our fashion philosophy has "soaked in."

Past History

1. What has been the best basic color this winter?
2. Name two materials that have topped the high school fashion parade this winter.
3. What shoes have been most popular for sport? For dress?
4. What article of girls' jewelry has soared to new heights in the past few months?
5. What was the first noticeable fad that the boys developed since last fall?

Present Styles

1. What coat style have the girls borrowed from the boys?
2. What theme is definitely predominant in spring styles?
3. What fad has knocked off the word "glamour" from the term "South Side's glamour boy"?
4. What is the brand new cloth that's a keynote to spring fashions?

Future

1. What change will take place in dress shoulders?
2. How will the skirts of tomorrow differ from those of yesterday?

ANSWERS

Past

1. Red.
2. Corduroy and suede.
3. Casuals, golf shoes; saddles, spectators.
4. Earrings.
5. Bow ties.

Present

1. Finger-tip coats.
2. Patriotic.
3. Crew cuts.
4. Tecca cloth.

Future

1. Shoulders will be lower, drooping instead of boxy.
2. Skirts will be flexible, plastic instead of full and circular.

They Put Print On The Plans Of The Times

In a recent series of articles we have told you how the news, editorial, circulation, business, sports, and copy staffs function. Now there remains only one step before you have the complete story of how a newspaper is published—the printing.

After all copy has been carefully read, corrected, and given headlines, it is sent to the printers in the composing room. Of course all copy isn't written so that the words come out even at the edge of the column; therefore it must be set and adjusted by the operator of the typesetting machine. This device mechanically spaces the type in the heads and the straight material so that it appears in the uniform shape that you see in the paper.

The type as it comes from the machine is laid in long pans or galleys.

Three proofs are then printed from each of these pans on blue, pink, and white paper strips. The blue strips are sent up to Mr. Snider for approval, the white is later used in make-up, and the pink strips are turned over to the proofreaders. Using a special code of markings, the staff of proofreaders carefully corrects all grammatical and typographical errors for the final time. Again the proof is returned to the composing room. The linotypist resets the type, righting all the errors that have been caught by the proofreaders.

The composing room now awaits the make-up sheets from The Times office. The copy on the white proof is arranged and pasted on a dummy sheet exactly as the page will appear in the final issue. When the printers receive this completed dummy page, they make up the corresponding galleys in metal frames or chases. The type is made to page size and locked up with a wedge key. In this manner the type is fastened securely so that it will not slip or shift about on the press.

The cases are now laid on the "bed" of the press. This work is done on Wednesday so that after school the papers will be ready to fold. The press here at South Side will print one thousand four-page papers per hour.

All this technical work is in the hands of a very competent staff of professional printers, who are pictured in the above photo. These are Elmer "Harkey" Harkenrider, Earl Adamson, who work on the make-up; Verne "Irish" Ireland, linotypist, and Charles "Charley" Nelson, who runs the big press.

All's Fair In Love And War

Since the whole country has gone militaristic and everyone is working on defense, there has been many a "call to arms" in the romances among South Side students.

One of our leading feminine defense leaders is Jean Karns, who at present is working in defense of her romance with Bob Racht. The foreign power interference in this program is Bob's old steady, Mary Jane Jacot.

Although Bob (Pedro) Demetree did all in his power to avoid the draft he was ready to report for duty when Phyllis Roberts called his number.

The air defense program is speeding along so fast that a certain Cal is taking time off to take Shirley Rogers flying. Ann Pontius is using all her anti-aircraft equipment to knock this romance right out of the heavens.

Among the draftees going into romantic service for a period of one year or more are: Jimmy VanBuskirk and Gloria Gumpfer; Mary Menze and Ed Bauer; Iva Jean Hite and Dick Brouwer; and Laura Nahrwald and Jim Timmons.

Peg Harrod and Becky Abbett are looking forward to the time when Dave Roth and Dick Doerner will be home on furlough.

Warren Cook should have joined the navy instead of the army with such a collection of beautiful dolls as Ina Mae Nahrwald and Margaret Foster (N. S.).

Bob Druhot is another male Archer who has answered the "call to arms."

Joan Smith is the lucky girl who drafted Bob into service.

Jim Straley has been taken off D. H. Duty (Dog House Duty) and has been given back his post as a commissioned officer of Pat Racht's heart. The reason Jim was on D. H. duty was that he deserted camp to date Jo Frosh.

Get On Your Bike For Two; Come To Our "Wilting" Party

Ladies and gentlemen! We take you now to an old dusty, musty, rusty workshop where we have in the making the production of one of America's greatest industries—ham.

The lights are low, the curtains are parting, and—what's that sound we hear? Well, well, if our ears don't deceive us, we do believe it's the rustle of a bustle. In comes our pure, white, beautiful heroine. She glides gracefully across the floor, stumbling only occasionally. Suddenly she stops. She stiffens. She shudders. The villain! He strokes his long, black moustache. He struts arrogantly toward the poor little girl. He then picks something up from a table.

"These are for you, my dear. Sit down and enjoy them while I figure out a way to really stun you!"

"Why did you send for me? You know I can't bear anything like this, and I haven't had a chance to think anything over."

"Ah, my little girl, there's not much time. You had better start thinking!"

"But these—what do they mean?"

"They are just symbols of my consideration for you!"

"Consideration? How can you say such a thing? I can't endure them!"

"The biggest is yet to come. I am trying to help you, my sweet!" (He advances toward her.)

"Unhand me, you villain!" she shrieks. (There are hisses and boos from the audience, suddenly applause.) There are whistles and cheers—the hero has entered the scene.)

"Unhand her, villain!" The hero points an accusing finger at the man. "You can't give her that history test. You are only a substitute teacher, and I have permission from Mr. Snider to excuse this little lass from the terrible task of writing those test paper tonight! Do you realize that she has been absent for two weeks and hasn't had time to prepare?"

"Curses!" the villain murmurs, thrusting his cape over his shoulders. Foiled again!

"My hero! My Cuthbert!" And with this the curtain comes down on our little play.

An Interview With Mr. Ora Davis

Then And Now

When an elder shakes his head in doubt or disgust upon witnessing a jitterbug dance or a convention of slang conversation, there is room for argument. To localize the situation, I pondered upon what some of our faculty members think of our senior class, especially in comparison with their own graduating groups.

Still wondering, I dropped in to see Mr. Ora Davis and restated my question. At first he hesitated (which gave me time to wet my lead and borrow a sheet of paper) and then answered my questions as fast as I could state them. To begin with, Mr. Davis thinks the seniors are about as self-reliant today as when he was a senior; and being a teacher of mathematics of good standing, he is convinced that the young seniors of today don't know much more than their predecessors did.

Mr. Davis thinks that this mechanical age of ours also makes a difference, inasmuch as the youth of today is inclined to take all of our modern conveniences for granted. Mr. Davis pointed out that the contemporaries of his parents were literally sleeping on the day Dewey took Manila, and didn't read about the event until three days later. The moral of this story is that today there isn't much we blessed seniors really have to get impatient about.

In the next question girls came into the picture, and this enabled Mr. Davis to stress another point. Speaking of dates, he said, "At the very most I never had more than one date a week, whereas the high school boy of today has two or three. We had the family buggy; you have the family car."

Mr. Davis closed the interview by pointing out the differences of attitude on the part of the two generations toward their respective teachers. He stated, "Seniors of today treat their teachers as their equals; the seniors of my day wouldn't have dared!"

When The Brains Came, They Made A Muddle Puddle!

By Barbara Cross

April is here at last. It is so novel to have decent weather for a change that most of us don't know how to act. The balmy breezes blow, and tomorrow will be a nice day if it doesn't snow. Well, anyway, in general the weather has been rather nice. This isn't a weather forecast, so I won't make other comments about the weather.

April is the month in which many things have happened down through the ages. It is a month that is filled with many interesting things. I shall endeavor to give you a brief horoscope and hysterical data chart for April to help you out when you are undecided about affairs.

April 4: If you went out on the first day of the month, I advise you today to get back at that other fellow who gave you an April Fool headache. However, if you didn't go out, you need a breath of air. But beware—there are always those persons who like to carry over their pranks! Thomas Jefferson was born on April 4, 1743.

April 5: Today is a holiday for all of you casanovas. If you are expecting to get a date with that flashy blond down the block, I wouldn't advise it. You see there is a new prize fighter who just moved to town, and he is the frightfully jealous type. Unless you have some brass knuckles, don't go visiting. Washington Irving was born on April 5, 1783.

April 9: Attention, all of you flower lovers—today is the day to plant your tulips. If you do this by the light of the moon, your garden will be the envy of the neighborhood. Unless you see the British coming, don't go out for a drive. Paul Revere made his famous ride on April 9, 1775.

April 23: If your best beau has been reciting Romeo and Juliet lately and you are beginning to wonder if you ought to call a brain specialist, think nothing about it because he is probably celebrating Bill Shakespeare's birthday. (William was born in 1564).

April 27: If you are intending to propose on this day, go right ahead. Today the lucky girl is in the mood, and I don't mean the song!

April 30: This is the last day in the month; and, if you haven't caught your spring fever yet, I think that you should go and see a doctor.

On April 30, 1789, the Father of Our Country was inaugurated.

Pets, Not Pennies From Heaven Fall On A Complainer!

If April showers bring May flowers, they had better hurry up and decide whether May is to be a flowery month or one washed by a flood. If the horrid wet stuff would only make up its mind to either give out with a heavy downpour or let the sun shine through, it might not be so bad. As it is now, we no sooner get out of the house when it starts "pouring cats and dogs." (We stepped on a poodle yesterday.) If we go back to the house for an umbrella, the rain stops before we get to the car line; and, if we just go on yelling and pay no attention to it, the rain lasts for hours. Now we ask you, is this the kind of thing a nice month would bring to our spring-starved populace?

Not only does it rain when we haven't got an umbrella, but it rains when we're miles from a street car line or when we haven't the time to avoid all the miniature lakes. Consequently, when we get to where we are going we are really a "wet blanket."

We don't mean to be one of those cranks who hate all the seasons and wish for winter when it's summer or spring during the fall of the year, but the spring rains that drop down the collar of our coats and trickle through the soles of our shoes are just too much for us.

Another little detraction is the parade of night crawlers who come out of their hibernation as soon as the sidewalks are wet. These creepy little beasts wiggle around; and, if you're as afraid of skidding on them as we are, you can appreciate why we are against the wet part of spring!

Unfair To Sandman Are These "Owls"!

Teachers and students alike at some time or another "burn the midnight oil." To determine which of the two, teacher or student, burns the most "oil" (pint for pint and gallon for gallon) we conducted a poll. The results are tabulated below. The students and their replies as to their latest study hours are:

Joyce Archbold: After 11 o'clock working on a theme—never again!
Isabel Johnson: Until 11 o'clock working on all of my homework in general!

Nancy Cherry: About 11:30 o'clock—doing English.

Phyllis Wefel: Until 11:30 o'clock, doing some confounded history!

Doris Wullman: 11:30 o'clock or later doing history.

Donna Peel: Worked on bookkeeping until 11:30 o'clock.

Patsy Seibel: Until 1 o'clock in the morning doing my chemistry.

Janet Motz: Until 11:30 o'clock concentrating on science.

The teachers and their replies are: Mr. Herman Makey: 9 to 10 o'clock on papers.

Mr. Benjamin Null: Rarely do I stay up past 10 o'clock.

Miss Mary Crowe: 10:30 o'clock is the latest.

UP AND DOWN OUR INCLINES

Arthur Puff recently brought a Grapho-Scope to Miss Thorne. With this apparatus it is relatively simple to copy a picture. One eye looks in the little mirror which reflects the picture and the other eye follows the pencil.

Martha Harry, Sally Muller, and Walter Turner made a grade above 95 on a test that Mr. Sterner gave to his Latin 2, period 4 class, covering a unit of work.

Rosanna Weston, William Walker, Dorothy Kline, Eva Vulgamott, and Phyllis Mueller made an A— or above on a recent test given by Mr. Murray to his business problems classes.

The following students in Miss Covalt's Typing 3 classes qualified for awards last week: Kathleen Neith, 50.6 words per minute with 91 per cent accuracy; and Larry Phipps, 50.5 words, 94 per cent accuracy.

In the Typing 4 class, Louise Buesching received an award for writing 50.5 words per minute with 90 per cent accuracy.

Victor Kaufman recently had charge of the program in Home Room 30 on customs concerning the American flag.

Charles Hoke made 100 on a unit test given by Mr. Sterner to his Latin 2, period 6 class. Those who made above 95 are Marilyn Cairns, Mary Ann Duemling, Dale Koonce, Margaret Kuntz, Ken Lauer, and Carl Schurenberg.

Marion Garrison is a new student in Miss Pocock's English 4, period 6 class. He moved here from Huntington.

Mr. Collyer's U. S. History 1, period 6 class is working on the study of Tariff and Trade Agreements.

Shop superintendents for Mr. Smuts' wood-turning classes are Tommy Hall, Richard Everett, Arthur Longworth, and Eugene Meeks.

In Mr. Makey's English 3, period 6 class Ralph Herb and Modena Terry made the highest grades on a literature test.

Alvin Koenig is a new student in Home Room 30. He came from Hoagland, Indiana.

Jacqueline Bock and Sally Mueller, students of Miss Pocock's English 2 class, made A+ on a test on particles.

The following students in Miss Covalt's Typing 2 class, period 7, qualified for the first Big Ten last week: Elaine Hirsch, 47.8 words per minute; Margaret Heine, 46; Joan Squires, 45.6; Annabelle Harrod, 41; Ilene Franke, 40.6; Joan Blum, 40; Lois Gumpfer, 39.1; Peggy Greany, 39; Faye Gumpfer, 39; and Bernadine Bender, 37.2.

Marilyn Dennis heads the second Big Ten with 36.2 words per minute. June Shupe heads the third Big Ten with 30.3 words per minute.

Students of Miss Osborne's English 1, period 1 class have chosen as their theme for composition work "Our School." Subjects for the different themes were "Our School", "South Side", and "Our English Room." Compositions were written on the excursions made to the different departments such as the Times room, the cafeteria, the industrial arts department, home economics department, and etc. During the semester the class will use different themes on this same outline.

In Miss Edith Crowe's home room, Kenneth Breimeier gave a report on the lecture given by Helen Keller, who was in Fort Wayne recently.

On a Biology 1 test given to Mr. Yoder's period 6 class, Jerry Miller made the highest grade. Other high grades were made by Joyce Dicke, Wanda Hover, Jean Fisher, and Robert Pugh.

The following students in Miss Covalt's Typing 2 classes qualified for awards last week: Etheldrea Behling, 40 words per minute with 100 per cent accuracy; Joan Blum, 40 with 93; and Margaret Heine, 46 with 93.

Mr. McClure's U. S. History classes have just completed the subject of the Civil War and the period of reconstruction.

In Miss Fiedler's Algebra 2 class the winners of each day's contest for the week beginning March 10 were Albert Kranz, Lucille Rodermund, Donald Virts, Phyllis Crabill, and Albert Kranz.

Miss Hemmer's English classes have just completed their second book reports for the semester.

Eric Baade and Bob Senseny made the highest grades on a test in Mr. Yoder's Biology 1, period 3 class.

In a literature test given to Miss Kiefer's two English 3 classes, highest grades were made by Dick Clendenen, Ruth Kelso, Betty Kyrick, Edith Berridge, Vallette Doehman, Catherine Horn, Evelyn Kline, and Eugene Stratton.

Barbara Steinbacher of Home Room 58 brought in some extra material on home safety.

Mr. Peirce sociology classes are doing special work on public opinion and propaganda.

Franklin Thompson made 96 and Pat Ehle made 89 on a test over "Sohrab and Rustum" given by Miss Pocock to her English 7, period 7 class.

George Hahn made the highest grade on a general grammar test given by Miss Perkins to her French 3, period 1 class.

A folk dance is being taught to Miss Dean's period 6 dance class by Eleanor Christ.

The girls who demonstrated how to change a patient's bed linens from Miss Mellen's home nursing classes are Laura Nahrwald, Naomi Rinehold, Ilene Goddard, Elizabeth Kelso, and Marge Sheldon.

Carolyn Fackler and Meriam Hesch made A— on a gerund test given by Miss Pocock to her English 2, period 4 class.

Lois Craig, Ilo Hirschman, and Ellen Motts made the highest grades in a recent test given by Mr. Wilson to his U. S. History 1 students.

Ira Moorehead is making an early American coffee table in Mr. Plasket's Industrial Arts 4, period 6 class.

On a test given in Miss Oppelt's Latin 2 classes covering nine weeks' work, the following students made 90 or above: Rosemary Bird, Nancy Geake, Donna Jean Mongin, Carolyn Fackler, Mary Harry, Barbara Leas, Marilyn Smith, and Wayne Steinbauer.

The students of Miss Perkins' French 4, period 7 class are starting a series of review tests on irregular verbs on which they are required to make a B grade or better on each test. Only two students have taken tests over.

James Green, an English 1, period 7 student of Miss Kiefer's, gave a report on the Brooklyn bridge in connection with the class study of "Brooklyn Bridge at Dawn".

Betty Brown and Joan Hottman are teaching a can-can dance to Miss Smith's period 7 class. The class has just finished a jitterbug dance taught by Barbara Cross, Rose-Etha Brazy, Betty Schweikart, Joan Hottman, and Betty Brown.

Miss Pocock's English 7, period 7 class has started reading "Idylls of the King".

Mr. Bex's Industrial Arts 2 classes are starting on wood-turning. The students are picking out their term projects such as foot stools, table lamps, bowls, etc.

Betty Funk made A— on a gerund test given by Miss Pocock to her English 2, period 3 class.

In Mr. Peirce's General History 1, period 1 class, Evangeline Whitmer gave a report on Marius; Wanda Baney, Sulla; Theodore Stevens, Pompey; Mary Morgan, Catiline; Marjorie Riethmiller, Cicero; Arvilla Rediger, Crassus; Bob Ruchel, Caesar; and Harold Beaching, Mark Antony.

Mr. Makey's sixth period English class has completed their first 1500 word theme.

Richard Morton read the Bible to members of Home Room 38 last Monday.

Jean Kearn has completed all outside reading this semester in Miss Pocock's English 4, period 2 class.

James Bolyard, Owen Bradley, Doyle Shirk, Dale Smiley, Carl Simmons, Arnold Welch and Ralph Werling are doing service work in Mr. Plasket's Industrial Arts 4, period 6 class.

Mr. Fay gave his Latin 2, period 1 students a test, and the following made a hundred per cent: Martha Davenport, Donald Weberus, Helen Welborne, Betty May Julian, Thelma Keith, and Lois Ringenberg.

Ann Welborn, Ruth Baklar, Miriam Hesch, Patricia McMahon, Helen Welbaum, and Betty Funk recently made A on an English 2 test given by Miss Pocock.

Mr. McClure's General History 2 classes have just completed the Napoleonic Period and the Period of Reconstruction.

Miss Pocock's English 7 class has finished reading "Silas Marner" and has started on "Narrative Poems."

Marcelle Driftmeyer, Kenneth Lampton, Robert Hines, and Sanford McMyler made perfect scores on a trigonometry test given by Miss Fiedler.

Ernest Miller and Arthur Howard have been chosen by Mr. Smuts as shop superintendents for the sixth and seventh period metal classes.

Mr. Murphy's sociology classes are studying methods of social control.

Mr. Bex brought a crank shaft and a cylinder of an automobile to his senior Home Room 44 in order to demonstrate the safety lesson.

On a test given by Mr. Peirce to his General History 1 classes, the following received grades of 97 or above: James Davis, William Hegerfeld, Robert Ruckel, Jeanne Cyr, Bob Bilger, Eugene Gettle, and Robert Gildea.

Marjorie Hover gave a talk on Cincinnati University last Wednesday in the senior Home Room 44.

In Mr. Makey's English 8 classes, the students are working on their long themes.

Barbara Koenig and Carmel Roy made the best grades on a botany test in Mr. Yoder's class.

In Mr. Whelan's Physical Geography 1 class, over a test on the solar system, Wanda Grim and Robert Birkenbuel made the highest grades.

On a recent test given by Miss Perkins to her French 1, period 3 class, the following made grades above 90: Ann Haller, Bob Welty, Patricia Underhill, Mary Carlo, Alida Eidner, Carmel Roy, and Mary Louise Wilson.

In a recent quiz on essays given by Miss Osborne to her English 6 classes, Don Grosvenor and Mary Jo Sites received the highest grades.

On a general test given by Miss Perkins to her French 1, period 3 class, the following made the best grades: Ann Haller, Bob Welty, Patricia Underhill, Mary Carlo, Alida Eidner, Carmel Roy, and Mary Louise Wilson.

Herman Turner completed all his home reading for this semester in Miss Pocock's English 4, period 6 class.

Richard Teel is assembling his modernistic book rack and end table combination in Mr. Plasket's Industrial Arts 4, period 6 class.

In Mr. Makey's English 8 class, those who made the higher grade in a test were period 1, Maxine Case and period 7, John Gumpfer.

In Miss Oppelt's Cicero class, the following students made 90 or above on all the ablativ constructions: Ruthanna Doll, Mary Dunbar, Ellen Motz, John Olcott, John Virts, and Bob Zimmer.

Joan Lee had charge of the safety program in Home Room 30 last Friday.

Myla Landis had charge of Home Room 30's safety program March 14.

"Out Of The Night" Has Aroused Interest Even In Archderdom

"Out of the Night", this year's best seller by Jan Valtin, has been the topic of many discussions lately, not only in literary circles, but also in the American homes, churches, and schools.

"Out of the Night" has to do with conditions in Germany. At the present time it has aroused the interests of the American people more than any other piece of literature concerning the Nazi regime.

Because of its popularity, we have taken a poll to find out what the students who have either read the book or the condensed part appearing in the March issue of the "Reader's Digest" think about it. Following are the opinions of the students questioned:

Clifford Springer: It's thought-provoking, and it makes one realize the horrors of dictatorships. It's a very outstanding piece of literature.

Clara Makey: It seems unbelievable and too horrible to be true.

Mary Nell Spiegel: It really tells the terrible of dictatorships and the horrors which people in Germany go through.

Harriet Miller: Although I suspect it is largely propaganda, there undoubtedly is a kernel of truth in it. I believe it is a slightly modified picture of conditions which will exist in the United States, if we get into this war. Unbridled persecution of minorities usually comes with war.

John Logue: I thought it very interesting.

Bill McNulty: It's a swell story. I think more students should read it.

Martha May Scheele: It makes you realize you're lucky to be an American.

Dick Shriner: I thought it seemed far-fetched; some of it might be true.

Lois Hoff: Very good book, very interesting, but very depressing.

Margaret Tenhoeff: It's a good picture of what I think goes on over in Germany.

Carol Trenary: I enjoyed it, but it was rather morbid.

Lois Likens: Excellent; It seems to be true.

Bob Wylie: After having read Hitler's "Mein Kampf" and contrasting it with "Out of the Night", I found out the real, or nearly real, state of affairs. The German culture, which Hitler told about, has been changed to a great degree, if we can use "Out of the Night" as an index.

Lester Oppenlander: "Out of the Night" is quite all right, I read it through with all my might; I got so mad I'd like to fight When I read about those Hitlerites."

This Is News--

Part Of Our Faculty Is Up In The Air

South Side students are not the only ones in our school to be air minded. Miss Martha Pittenger is the latest person to catch the aviation bug.

Last Saturday found our dean up in the air for her first ride, getting a birds-eye view of the city, her home—and of course, dear old South Side. Her sister-in-law, Mrs. Halle Pittenger, was the other passenger in the plane.

Here is what she had to say about a twenty-minute ride in the Stinson 105, "It was a delightful experience to have a ride in an airplane. I had no fear or uneasiness; for Mr. Baldwin, the pilot, handled the plane with perfect ease and assurance, which gave me a feeling of confidence. In a short time we had climbed to a height of about two thousand feet, and were sailing along smoothly and at a rate of speed that gave us an opportunity to see clearly the location of Fort Wayne and the environs.

"We flew over New Haven, and circled around South Side, and the western portion of the city which included St. Mary's River. It was most interesting to see the conjunction of the three rivers from the air, and I enjoyed very much seeing the definite plotting of the pretty farm homes near Fort Wayne and the varied sections of the city. It was fun to be able to identify familiar spots and to look down on places of personal interest.

Dorothy Heslip: I think that this book gives a true account of the hardships that the German people are enduring. The story makes one glad that in America we are free from such tyranny.

Paul Keil: Probably exaggerated. Sam Bacon: If the author is being truthful in what he says (and I believe he is), we can clearly see that conditions in Germany today give us more reasons to be proud to be Americans.

"The weather was ideal, and my feeling of pride and pleasure in our lovely city with its interesting rovers, lovely parks, beautiful churches, comfortable homes, and prosperous business sections was enhanced. I am happy to be a citizen of Fort Wayne. We had what is known as 'an egg shell landing', and were greeted by the Baldwin family, and were then taken to learn more about the management of the TWA offices and the work of the men who direct the communications and study weather conditions. It seemed like magic to me, but I have always believed in fairies, and liked it.

"I shall long regard Saturday, March 22 as a red letter day, when I had my first ride in an airplane, and I am grateful to the Baldwins for giving me the opportunity to go up into the air for a beautiful ride, and a thrilling experience."

While at the airport Miss Pittenger visited the TWA offices, the CAA Communications office, and Weather Bureau.

My father, who piloted Miss Pittenger, has a hobby of taking people for their first air rides. Of all the first riders he has initiated (and these number over 100) he said that Miss Pittenger was one of the most composed. She acted perfectly at ease, could distinguish landmarks both within the city and without, and seemed to have an unusually good sense of direction while in the air. He said that, should she decide to fly, she would make an excellent pilot.

Here's A Report On Thinly Clads

Track Squad Places At Notre Dame; Run Wednesday

Cinder Team Places Fourth In First Meet

Gus Feistkorn, Jim Worman Capture First For Green In Individual Contest

South Side's tracksters opened their 1941 campaign last Saturday by capturing fourth place in the Gary Relays at Notre Dame.

North Side finished first, with Hammond and Gary Horace Mann placing just ahead of the Green. Over twenty schools competed in the meet, with 390 athletes making bids for points.

Gus Feistkorn and Jim Worman captured individual firsts for South Side. Gus won the first place medal for winning the third race in the 880-yard run, while Worman turned in a similar performance in the 440-yard run.

BOTH OF SOUTH SIDE'S RELAY TEAMS CAME THROUGH WITH FIRSTS IN THEIR FINAL HEATS. OTHER INDIVIDUAL GREEN HARRIERS WHO PLACED WERE TOM DEAL, RUDY WUTTKE, AND LESTER OPPENLANDER, AND CHUCK CLOSE.

Roger Neighborgall, Garrett's dash star, equaled the quarter-mile mark with a time of 52.5 for the distance.

Following is a list of the events in which local boys placed and their positions:

60-yard High Hurdles—Bojinoff (NS), first; Oppenlander (SS), third; Snook (NS), fourth. Time—8 seconds flat.

Broad Jump—Wuttke (SS), fourth. Shotput—Close (SS), second.

1 Mile Run: First Race—Herber (NS), first. Time—4:39.5.

1 Mile Run: Second Race—Saylor (NS), first. Time—4:50.5.

1 Mile Run: Third Race—Deal (SS), third.

High Jump—Brown (NS), first. Height—5 feet 11 inches.

S-O-S Shorts On Sports

By Wayne Bechtol

For those of you who are wondering just what boys' mural events have been listed as past history by the intramural department, or for those who have missed some of the interesting facts about the intramural events played off since last September, will probably find some enlightenment in a general sports review offered by this column for this week.

Due to circumstances beyond control, boys' intramural events didn't start until the latter part of September, and the first sport to head the list was basketball. Closely following basketball for the next few important activities around the first of November were tagball, bowling, and handball. Boxing started December 13. The foul throwing contest started with the new year and the recently concluded volleyball tournament started around February 6.

Basketball, the most popular of all mural activities was as usual greeted with great enthusiasm and because of this fact the tournament lasted well over a month. As in all other intramural events, there were three classes, the heavyweight division, 130 pounds and over, the middleweight division, 120 to 130 pounds, and the lightweight division, 120 pounds and under. The final winners for the heavy, middle, and lightweight divisions were the Flatfeet, the Cats, and the Badgers.

Tagball, sometimes known as tag football, stands second only to basketball for popularity in boys' intramural sports, and consequently several teams were entered for this event. The three teams named as the winners of this contest were the Nopp's, the Super Prunes, and the Dogpatchers.

Bowling, because of the lack of proper facilities in the school, was played off on the alleys at the G. E. Club. Groups of three would play their scheduled games and turn the scores in to Mr. Briner, head of intramural activities. The winners of this contest were Robert Miller, Calvin Rose, and Richard Vandebrent, winners in the heavy division of first, second, and third places; and Earl Hambrook, Robert Kortum, and Norbert Rehm in the lightweight class.

Announce Champs In Class Tourney

Mr. Louis Briner Lists Three Winners Every Period; Contest Is In Three Divisions

Champs have been announced in the annual gym class volleyball tournament held in all of the classes for the past month.

In the first period, Morton's team copped the crown for the lightweights; Cunningham's squad, the middleweight; and Fry's team, the heavyweight.

Baker, Rolape, and Green took second period honors; and the third period went to Kast, Rehner, and Timme. Hegerfeld won in the middleweight division of the fourth period, with Rhodes taking the heavyweight; and in the sixth, Meeks, Somers, and Linn held the top honors. Seventh period glory went to Tinker, Horstmeier, and Koone.

This was a double elimination tournament and games ended at the close of the gym period instead of the regular 21-point game.

Mr. Louis Briner, athletic director, was in charge of the meet. The contest was divided into three divisions; lightweight up to 110 pounds; middleweight, 110 to 130; and heavyweight, 130 and over.

Girls' Gym Officials Publish Appreciation

To all members of gym classes, dance classes, Dance Club, orchestra, art classes, industrial arts classes, South Side Times staff, Letter Girls, Gym Office staff, Girls' Chorus, electricians, janitors, teachers, and others who helped make "Pan Americana" an outstanding event of the year, OUR DEEPEST APPRECIATION.

Sylvia Sholty, Active Participant In GAA, Was Born In Tokyo

One of GAA's most outstanding members is Sylvia Sholty, popular Junior A. Up to date, she has earned a total of 1,584 points in GAA.

SHE WAS BORN IN FAR-AWAY TOKYO, JAPAN, ON APRIL 14, 1924.

Before coming to South Side, Sylvia attended a school at Pleasant Lake, and South Wayne and Harrison Hill grade schools in Fort Wayne.

Sylvia's favorite teacher is Miss Lucy Osborne, and her favorite subject is English, she especially likes short stories and essays. Her favorite food is bananas.

She states that her favorite sports are basketball and baseball, and she excels in all other sports as well as in these.

When asked her favorite radio program, Sylvia said that she couldn't decide between Bob Hope and Baby Snooks.

The popular song "High On a Windy Hill" rates very high in Sylvia's estimation, and her favorite color is blue.

Besides being an active member of GAA, she belongs to the Christian Club and the Girls' Glee Club.

SHE IS TAKING THE COLLEGE PREPARATORY COURSE, AND AFTER GRADUATION FROM SOUTH SIDE SHE PLANS TO ATTEND INDIANA CENTRAL COLLEGE IN INDIANAPOLIS. HER AMBITION IS TO BECOME A TEACHER IN SOME FOREIGN LAND.

Girls' Sportsettes

All of you girls who were going to sign up for baseball, but didn't get around to it should come to GAA Friday and be put on a team.

Now since spring is in the air, we'll probably see some of the more ardent hikers taking hikes soon. The girls who take the most hikes are JoAnn Spore, Kathleen Sanders, Phyllis Amstutz, JoAnn Schwartz, Bernadine Bender, and Nelda Runge.

Some of these new freshmen certainly are sluggers when it comes to baseball. A few of the best players in this class are Rosemary Walden and Wanda Hoover.

The girls' gym classes have recently elected their spring baseball teams. Each team has a captain and one or two student leaders to help coach the teams.

Many of GAA's members have become expert bowlers. At the present it is believed that Sally Ogden has bowled the best of any GAA'er. Her highest bowling score has been 212. Can anyone beat that record?

We've also noted some sluggers from last year's GAA baseball teams. Some of them are "Fuzzy" Amstutz, "Ducky" Spore, Judy Kaser, "Tubby" Thiele, "Nibs" Martin, Marguerite Calkins, Mary Alice Duntun, and "Gussie" Sterling.

Phyllis Hines, Isabel Johnson, Martha Smith, Marilyn Myers, Charlotte Baker, Ruth Gregory, and Virginia Shorter are members of the team.

Marion Giants Are Opponents Of Collyermen

Cinder Meet To Be Staged At Archer Stadium Wednesday; Expect Close Tilt

Coach George Collyer's track performers will entertain the Marion Giants in the stadium next Wednesday afternoon. The Archers opened their season by winning fourth place in the Gary relays, and the Kelly Klad cinder-pounders are looking forward to turning in another good performance during the vacation period.

SOUTH SIDE WILL RELY ON FEISTKORN, WORMAN, OPPENLANDER, DEAL, AND CLOSE FOR THE OUTSTANDING SINGLE EVENT PERFORMANCES.

Coach Collyer expects his two relay teams to again finish ahead. The relay units captured two firsts at Notre Dame last week-end, and few teams will offer them any more competition than they received at South Bend.

It is possible that Coach Collyer may schedule a meet for tomorrow afternoon, but at this writing the date was still open. South Side is attempting to schedule meets with both Huntington and Elkhart.

Spring Practice Starts For Nine Games Listed On New 1941 Football Schedule

Three Teams Are New Foes Of Kelly Squad

First Home Game Is Scheduled For October 4 With Froebel Of Gary Team

Faculty athletic manager, Mr. Ora Davis, disclosed a nine-game football card for the Green grid eleven next fall. The 1941 schedule confronts Coach Gift and his clemers with three new opponents, while the other six battles are to be contested with foes met last fall.

CATHEDRAL OF INDIANAPOLIS, FROEBEL OF GARY, AND HAMMOND TECH ARE THE NEW TEAMS ADDED TO THE KELLY GRID LINE-UP.

The Giftmen will meet the Cathedral clemers at Butler Bowl in Indianapolis. The Tech team will come here for its game. Mr. Davis is as yet unsure of the definite date and arrangements for the South Side-Hammond affair.

The big Froebel Blue Devils, familiar on the basketball court to most Archers, will furnish the other new competition for the Green gridders.

Bluffton and Garrett are two nearby foes who will return for battles next fall. Neither of these eleven offered the locals much competition last year, and the South Siders are looking to this duo to offer an easy start next year. The city teams and Woodward round out the schedule for next year.

With many outstanding prospects returning for play next year, Coach Gift is hopeful of building another fine team.

The Archer grid mentor has scheduled the first spring football practice for April 14. Here is the complete schedule for next fall, with only the Hammond Tech game scheduled tentatively:

- Sept. 19—Bluffton, there.
- Sept. 16—Cathedral, there.
- Oct. 4—Froebel, here.
- Oct. 11—Garrett, here.
- Oct. 18—Central Catholic, here.
- Oct. 25—North Side, here.
- Nov. 1—Woodward, here.
- Nov. 8—Central, here.
- Nov. 15—Hammond Tech, here.

By Shooting 496 Our South Side Rifle Team Wins Allen County Title Second Consecutive Time

Four Archer Swimmers On Squad

A quartet of South Side swimmers are members of the highly rated local YMCA swim team. Shortly after spring vacation, the local aquatic performers, coached by Jake Wolf, the Fort Wayne water artists will act as hosts for the national meet. In the picture above are, left to right, front row, ED WADE, Bob Mugg, Jack DeHaven and ROLAND SNYDER; middle row, DICK PAUL, Charles Leuenberger, Jake Wolf (coach), George Kempf and Phil Stetler; back row, Bill Lamb, ERNIE VOGEL, Don Leuenberger, Herman Daltler and Bob Robinson.

Kelly Track Squad Deserve Recognition Cry Archer Students

During the past few weeks, many South Siders have been wondering about the exploits of our track team, for little recognition is given the boys who work hard on the track each evening. Last year the Green harriers turned in their best season in many years, and the prospects are again bright this year. The students feel that the team should be recognized, and many have ideas concerning the matter. Here are a few:

Joe Bekius: Let's have pep sessions before the meets.
Bob Allen: The track fellows work hard and long. They at least deserve a recognition assembly.
Dorothy Allen: I favor pep sessions.
Elaine Helms: The team works as hard as the football or basketball teams. They deserve some kind of praise from the students.
Harold Hollenberg: I favor a pep session before each meet.
Nancy Hess: Pep sessions are the solution.

Phil Hammon: As hard as the boys work, they deserve a big assembly.
Elsie Ferguson: So few students understand the events and know the boys on the team that I want an explanation of the events and an assembly to introduce the team members.

Dick Forbing: I'd like a good pep session.
Cliff Gunn: If enough enthusiasm could be worked up, I would favor a pep assembly.

What did you learn in school today, Clarence?
How to whisper without moving my lips.

Frosh Baseballers Play First Round

Phyllis Jackson, Marilyn Domer, Alice Dolin Lead GAA Teams To Victory Monday Evening

In the first round of the freshman GAA baseball season, Marilyn Domer's Freshman 1's, Alice Dolin's Freshman 3's, and Phyllis Jackson's Freshman 6's were the victorious teams.

By a score of 2 to 0, the Freshman 1's defeated the Freshman 2's. The stars of the game were Margaret Hupebacker and Pat Van Arsdol. Geneva Martin was the umpire and Betty Thiele was the scorer.

The Freshman 3's won over the Freshman 4's by a score of 7 to 0. Girls that made home runs were Babe Brosher, Elaine Pumphrey, Wanda Hoyer, Joan Deel, Dorothy Windhorst, Alice Dolin, and Virginia Wood. The umpire for this game was Marilyn Bulleman, and Ilo Hirschman was the score-keeper.

In the game between the Freshman 5's and the Freshman 6's, the Freshman 6's won by a score of 2 to 1. Betty Kyvik, Phyllis Jackson, and Joan Steinbarger made home runs. Marilyn Bulleman was scorer and Sally Ogden was umpire.

South Side's faculty members also have their ideas about track recognition. When asked concerning the holding of track pep sessions, the teachers expressed the following opinions:

Miss Oppelt: If a pep session is inspiration to the boys to put their hearts into the sport, a session is worthwhile.

Mr. Sidell: A pep session wouldn't hurt anything, and it might help.

Miss Magley: We have pep sessions for football and basketball, and the track boys deserve just as much credit as do the other athletes.

GAA Show Features Beating Of Drums, Colorful Costumes

More than a thousand people stepped into the shoes of tourists and enjoyed the rustling of skirts of gaily-dressed señoritas and senors, the beating of drums, and various numbers at the "Pan-American" last Friday evening. The production was the annual GAA show under the direction of Miss Gretchen Smith and Miss Alice Dean, gym instructors.

The program, consisting of the Ensemble, Bach Chorale, Games, Beach Ball, Swamp Fire, Signal Corps, Tumblers, Rag Doll, Waltz, Rumba, Russian, Argentine, Toreador, Rhumba, Tap, Jitterbug, Mexican Hat, and La Conga, emphasized the customs and arts of South American people.

These numbers were done in the foreground of a Pan-American village. Life-size senior and senorita portraits carried out the theme on the billboard. Homes of the people with red tile roofs also added to the attraction of the Pan-American village.

Naturally among the tourists were seated two South American tourists, Antonio Sababia, Frank J. Llopis. Marjorie Sheldon, commentator of the evening, introduced the two. They expressed their happiness to be among the tourists, exploring Pan-America in their native tongue, Cuban. The seniors are students of Indiana Technical. After receiving a Spanish guitar, the latter played a South American version of "Down Argentine Way".

Lettergirls assisted with decorations, posters, selling of tickets, door, and costumes. Bernadine Bender, Irene Myer, Geneva Martin, and Jeanne Smith had charge of tickets at the box office. Rose Stemen and Francis Nash passed out programs. Bernadine Pressler, Gertrude Merkle, Betty Nichols, Marguerite Calkins, and Betty Porter had charge of checking the costumes.

Guitars, accordions, piano, drums, and trumpeters accompanied the dances. Marjorie Morris, Pearl Baldwin, and Betty Porter played guitars; Janet Motz, June Ellenwood, Ruth Ellen Yoder, Irene Franke, and Thelma Draper played selections on accordions; trumpeters were Julia Kayser, Dick Shirk, and Bob Guion; Gilbert Baumgartner played the drums; pianists were Bernita Eggers, Jack Ruhl, Jacqueline McCoy, and Marcella Schwartz.

"Indianapolis Here We Come!" Is Cry Of Archers At Finals

By Karl Eberly, Feature Editor of The Times
"Look out Indianapolis, here we come." That was our theme song as a group of us South Siders started out to see the finals in the State basketball tourney. We started very early in the morning, but it was about 9:30 o'clock before we finally left, because of the fact that one of our party members forgot his ticket. I think he would forget his hair if it wasn't glued on.

Well, anyway, after a breezy three-hour drive we reached our destination, and went immediately to a hotel to get a room. But we found that there wasn't a room left. However, when the clerk saw the downcast look on our faces, he said that a parlor could be fixed up with cots and all seven of us could stay there. So, of course, we grabbed at the chance, because we knew that we couldn't find another place to sleep.

We went up to parlor A, but upon entering the room we found that we had walked right into a banquet, and we were immediately kicked out. The clerk then told us that a mistake had been made and that our room was parlor C.

Group Sees Tournament
After a very delightful, but hurried lunch, we went out to the Butler Field House, where the tournament was being played. Those afternoon games certainly were thrilling, and they also cost me three bucks. For, during the excitement of the games, I plucked all the fruit off the hat of the lady that sat in front of me, and ate it. Of course I had to pay for the hat, and all that I can say is that it was terrible tasting fruit for the price I had to pay.

Coming home from the game we encountered that well-known Indianapolis traffic. Boy, were those streets crowded; there were cars to the left of us, cars to the right, cars on top of us and pedestrians underneath us. We had so many dents and rolled fenders on our car that many people

Archers Win Rifle Matches

E. Bauer, B. Puff, D. Theye All Fire Perfect Targets; Second Team Scores 471

South Side's rifle team brought further laurels to this school last week-end by annexing the county rifle title. The Archer gunners won the meet with 496 points as a total, while Elmhurst and Arcola tied for the runner-up spot with 490 markers. Mr. Maurice Cook is the faculty coach of the South Side team, and this is the second successive year in which Mr. Cook's gunners have won the county championship.

Last Saturday's titular shoot was held at the Fort Wayne Armory under the capable sponsorship of the Fort Wayne Rifle and Revolver Club.

A trophy is awarded yearly to the victorious team; and the cup, won this year by South Side, may be viewed at any time in the trophy case outside of the general office at South Side. I W. Dickens is the donor of the award.

Eddie Bauer, Bud Puff, and Dick Theye held the big guns for the local marksmen, each finishing with a perfect score of 100. Joe Bekius and Dick Hornberger rounded out the Archer winners by posting final totals of 98. South Side's second team, composed of Myers, Sunier, Springer, Broxon, and Goebel, finished with 471 markers.

THE ARCHER GUNNERS HAVE NOW DEFEATED EVERY JUNIOR RIFLE TEAM IN THE STATE OF INDIANA.

Only once have the South Siders met defeat, and this loss was administered by a senior quintet of shooters representing the Fort Wayne Rifle and Revolver Club.

Coach Cook is entering the local team in the national shoot which will be held after spring vacation. This is a postal match.

At the present time, the local team holds down the twelfth place in national ratings, and this includes more experienced ROTC marksmen. Here is a summary of the county title shoot held last Saturday:

Amusing, Eccentric Happenings Occur Daily In South Side

I was walking down the incline toward the front door of the school one day, when suddenly, to my surprise, I looked up and saw the moose in the front hall wearing a hat and smoking a cigar. Little things like these happen every day at South Side. A few weeks ago one of South Side's promising public speakers was seen standing on a soap box delivering an oration in front of the school.

Two weeks ago an Archer coed was running around the school wearing pig tails and a dress, if you want to call it such, the size of a postage stamp. Upon inquiring, I found that she was going to be in the junior one-act plays, which were being held that afternoon.

I walked into The Times room several days ago and found one of the sports writers lying face down on the floor of The Totem office.

"What happened to him?" I asked. "Oh him. He was standing on the swivel chair, and when we started it spinning, he tried to jump off but landed on his nose. It was the funniest thing you ever saw. There was Bob standing on one leg and spinning around and around, a mile a minute."

A little advice to the male students of South Side is never smoke in the school. One of our boys was standing in front of The Times room smoking a big black cigar when one of the teachers came down the hall. Our friend being quick on the draw dropped the lighted cigar into his pocket and then proceeded to forget about it. A few minutes later I came along and was startled to see a cloud of smoke rising from the victim's pocket.

"Look out!" I hollered. "You are on fire!"

"Oh my land! I am burning up," he screamed, and upon dislodging the thing the victim found his pocket burned out.

Here Are A Few Hints; See If You Can Guess This Picture

Perhaps the above picture mystifies you a little. It looks familiar; yet it just doesn't seem to look right. Following are a few hints to help you:

1. Seniors will recognize it if their memories are good.

2. It was like this in 1937.
3. It was before we had many new rooms in South Side.

ANSWER: South Side before new addition was added.

Torch Club Arranges Spring Camping Trip

Methods for raising additional funds for a camping trip to Camp Potawatomi this spring were discussed at Torch Club meeting Thursday in Room 174. Members adopted a new order of procedure. Dave Peterson and Bob Quinn were taken into the club as new members.

Ken Iba was appointed Inter-Club Congress representative. Jack McMillan, Franklin Neff, George Waldschmidt, and Bob Wade were named to the program committee. This group will meet next Monday noon in Room 174 to determine the program for the semester.

All freshman and sophomore boys may join this club today in Room 174. Torch Club meets Thursday, weekly, at 3:30 o'clock. There are no dues. A 25 cents initiation fee is charged for the use of the YMCA every month.

Archers Audit Articles

Three South Siders made contributions to Youths' Passing Show Page in The News-Sentinel recently. Ruth Hageman, 11A, wrote an article on "What Price Beauty". John Cleland, PG, told about watching the parts of an automobile come off the assembly line, and Gladys Castle, 9A, told about the girl who was saved by the saw.

Could you give me a dime for a sandwich? asked the man.
Let's see the sandwich first, said the freshman.

Boys Establish New Records In IM Carnival

Block Race, Accuracy Serve, Balancing Board, Jumps, Hand Walking Marks Fall

Another gym class carnival will soon come to a close. As usual there are new records established in all three weight divisions. The carnival is held as an intramural and gym class activity.

In the block race there was one record broken. Ed Helbig, lightweight, broke the record previously held. Ed did the circuit in 21.6 seconds. Bruner and Coats tied for second in this division with 22.4 seconds. Pugh was close behind with 22.6 seconds. In the middleweight division, Voight, Nierman, and Dunean were the winners. In the heavyweight division, Rodey, Kortum, and Ruckel won.

In the chin-up activity, Jim Bolyard broke the former record in the lightweight division by chinning himself 32 times. Quinn and Lahrmann tied for second with 23 chin-ups, while Morlon and Lamle were close behind with 20. In the middleweight division, Wuttke, Voight, and Voorhees led with 40, 36, and 33. In the heavyweight division, Clendenen won with 33. Shive was close behind with 30 and Forbing and Childers tied for third with 29.

The balancing board proved to be the activity of broken records. A record was established in the lightweight division that will probably hold for a long time. Dick Morton walked for the whole period on a board that is about 12 feet long and 2 inches wide. He walked the length of this narrow board 607 times. Stamets did it 105 times while Byers walked it 54 times. A record was broken in the middleweight division by Forrest, who walked the board 215 times. Bredemeyer and Neff tied for second in that division with 49 times, while Klopstein did a fine job of walking it 43 times. In the heavyweight division, Siples won by walking the board 36 times. Grunewald and Stark came in second and third by walking it 28 and 22 times.

THE VOLLEY BALL ACCURACY SERVE WAS ANOTHER EVENT IN WHICH THERE WERE TWO NEW RECORDS.

Ed Habry and Baumgartner tied for first in the lightweight division with five out of ten shots apiece in the four foot square. Lahrmann and Svabola were tied for second with four out of ten. Wissler, in the middleweight division, broke the former record by making seven out of ten. Stults and Ferber were tied for second with six apiece. An unusual thing happened in the race for third place. Greener, Werner, Chandler, and Wuttke tied by making five out of their ten chances. In the heavyweight division Bob Gildea broke the former record by duplicating the feat done by Wissler. Underwood and Miller tied for second with six, while Yant, Brown, and Druhot tied for third with five.

In the forward jump event there were no records broken, although there were some interesting contests. Earl Cheevers came in first in the light division with a jump of 7 feet 3 3/4 inches. Layman came in second, while Coats and Kaufman tied for third. In the middleweight division, Nichles, Perry, and Waldschmidt got first, second, and third. The heavyweight divisions saw J. Minser take first with a jump of 8 feet 1 1/2 inches. Swain tied Minser for first, while Creighton and Wuttke tied for second.

In the running broad jump event, Gilbert Baumgartner captured the laurels in the lightweight division by a jump of 13 feet 10 inches. Vanderford was one-half inch behind for second place, with Coats 3 3/4 inches behind Vanderford for third place. In the middleweight division, Pang got first by a 16 foot 4 inch jump. Stultz was second and Wissler third. Pomeroy won first in the heavy division with a jump of 16 feet 5 1/2 inches. Zartman and Hines came in second and third.

Few boys entered the walking on hands event. Vanderford won in the lightweight division by walking six feet. Coats and Owens came in second and third. A new record was submitted in the middleweight division by Wissler, who walked 36 feet on his hands. McNeal won in the heavyweight division by walking 64 feet 4 inches. Tieman and Brandt were the runners-up.

In the backward jump (turning) there were broken records in all three weight divisions. Kaufman broke the former lightweight division jump by jumping 6 feet 3 3/4 inches, with Muller and Vanderford the runners-up. Turner won the middleweight division jump and also broke the former record. Welty and Jackson came in second and third. Allen broke a record with a leap of 7 feet 5 inches, while Kortum and Wittwer were the runners-up.

P.G. (Not Postgrad) Students Learn Geography In Room 14

Every day, thousands of students pass Room 14; but, in many cases, they have no idea as to what goes on there. For their benefit and for further information for those perhaps better acquainted, we offer this opportunity to gain more information about Mr. Lloyd Whelan's physical geography classes.

In order to buy the necessary supplies for the classes, it is compulsory that every student pay a 25 cent fee at the beginning of every semester. Maps and laboratory equipment are furnished with the fee.

The Physical Geography 1 classes study the solar system, stars, minerals, rocks, mineral resources, and related industries. The Physical Geography 2 classes make a study of glaciation—especially ancient glaciation of United States, Indiana, and Allen County, the atmosphere, weather, climate, volcanoes, and earthquakes.

In all units the economic aspect is

Times Writer Finds Math-Science Club Interesting, Amusing

The Times attends a Math-Science meeting! Of course the first requisites of attending are where, when, and why. Where? The meeting is held here in the Greeley Room at South Side. When? It meets one Friday every month at 7:30 p. m. Why? It is composed of students who have an earnest desire to further their knowledge of science and mathematics.

As The Times reporter strolls through the Greeley Room door, the first object noticed is the smiling, beaming face of the president, Martin Gernand. Elsewhere about the room it sees vice-president Betty Koehler, secretary Janice Holtmeyer, and treasurer Ralph Sebald. Over in the corner we see the faculty advisers, Miss George Anna Hodgson, Mr. E. S. Gould, Miss Adelaide Fiedler, and Mr. Lloyd Whelan.

But stop! No more time for idle talk, for the business meeting is being called to order by President Gernand. First comes the secretary's report, and then the treasurer's and committee's reports. The business meeting is not long, and the Times writer is eager to reach the part of the night's schedule that it really came for.

As in all other meetings, Math-Science again presents a very excellent program in some interest of science. The members are held almost spellbound by the invariably fine programs. The topics might be on electricity, or chemistry, or water filtration; but they are always of primary interest.

Yearbook Potluck Is Held Tuesday

Bob Robinson Is Toastmaster At Affair In Cafeteria Attended By All Staff Members

Bob Robinson acted as toastmaster at the Totem Potluck held Tuesday night in the cafeteria. Approximately thirty-five staff members attended the first Totem staff event of the season.

After an introductory speech by Bob, John Bonsib, editor-in-chief of The Totem, Joel Salon, business manager of Totem; and Miss Rowena Harvey, Times and Totem adviser, gave comments on the work that has been done so far by the Totem workers. Bob Moss favored the group with a piano solo, "Little Rock Get-away."

Plans and complete arrangements for the potluck were made by John Bonsib, Joel Salon, Sam Bacon, and Lois Likins. The food committee was composed of Janet Holtmeyer, Gloria Staley, and Elaine Hirschy. The clean-up committee consisted of Bob and Jim Brooks, Lois and Faye Gumpfer, and Bob Young.

Forty-Five Attend Mothers' Potluck

Mrs. Paul Iba Is Chairman For Gym Class Affair; Volleyball Is Played After Potluck Meal

Forty-five members of the Mothers' Gym Class, of which Mrs. Paul Iba is chairman, attended the Mothers' Gym Class potluck Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock in the Greeley Room. Volleyball was played after the meal for entertainment.

Miss Alice Dean, Miss Gretchen Smith, South Side gym instructors, and Miss Martha Pittenger were guests at the potluck.

Mrs. Park Hess, assisted by Mrs. Grover Shannon, and Mrs. William Roberts had charge of the table decorations. Mrs. Elmer Haugk was in charge of the evening's entertainment.

Bible Reading Featured In Home Room Period

Starting today, the Bible will be in the home rooms every week. After this week, however, Mondays and Tuesdays will be used for this program. This program has been started in accordance with the wishes of the P.T.A. members who have asked that the Bible be read during the home room period.

The P.T.A. appointed a committee to select portions of the Bible which would be acceptable to all faiths, and that committee has made its report. Each home room has been furnished with a list of these approved passages.

A copy of the Bible, furnished by the Gideon Society, has been placed in each home room; and Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal, has asked that the teachers cooperate with the plan of the P.T.A.

Passages will be read every week without discussion.

Ben Harris To Show Pictures At Meeting

Ben Harris will show pictures taken on his trip to Arkansas and give a talk on developing at Camera Club meeting, April 16 in Room 36 at 3:30 o'clock. John Myers, president, will preside. Also scheduled for this meeting is a report on the monthly snapshot contest.

The regular meeting will not be held during spring vacation, Mr. Francis Fay, club adviser, announced.

Outdoor meetings are being planned for this spring in addition to a spring exhibit of pictures taken during the year by members.

Celebrate At Funfest

Mrs. Cleaver and Mr. Smith presented "A Bicycle Built For Two". Mrs. Simpson Parkinson, Mrs. A. K. Remmel, Mrs. B. S. McMyler and Mrs. Clifford Matteson gave an imitation of a girls' gym class.

Nine senior parents composed the orchestra which played for the songs and dances. The program ended with the alma mater song accompanied by the orchestra.

Quiz Session

A skit entitled "Truth or Consequence" was presented by the teachers at the annual Senior Funfest on March 28 in the gymnasium.

Mr. Earl Sterner served as Professor Quiz. First contestants were Mr. Clyde Peirce and Mr. Wayne Gift who, failing to answer their questions, were forced to take the consequences. Which compelled Mr. Peirce to dress as a girl and dance with Mr. Gift. When Miss Olive Perkins and Miss Susan Peck failed, they sang, "I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles" while blowing up balloons.

Mr. and Mrs. Elma S. Gould, Earl Murch, and Floyd Whelan participated in the next event. A chalk talk was next given by Mr. Ernest Walker as a consequence. A correct definition of a fire engine was given by Mrs. Dorothy Rieke. Miss Margery Suter and Mr. Herman Makey showed their dramatic ability by presenting the balcony scene from "Romeo and Juliet."

Stage hands included Miss Pauline VanGorder and Miss Lucy Osborne. The program was unrehearsed and all questions were concerning seniors.

Miss Lucy Osborne was general chairman. Assisting her were Mr. Earl Sterner, Miss Pauline VanGorder, and Miss Olive Perkins.

After-Game Hop Profits Are Given

Six Dances Are Held By Clubs During Basketball Season; Average Profits Are $24.45

Six after-game dances were held during the basketball season. The average receipt amounted to $33.10 with the average profit figured at $24.45.

FOUR OF THE SIX CLUBS THAT SPONSORED DANCES SHOWED PROFITS. Two showed losses. The difference seemed to be conditioned by two factors; (1) The number attending the game; (2) The other activities going on in the community on the same evening.

The last dance of the season given by the French Club after the Jeffersonville game of February 21, showed the largest receipt, amounting to $43.15. The fact that it was the last dance probably accounts for the large attendance.

On December 7, Lettermen's Club gave a dance after the Crawfordsville game, with receipts amounting to $39.40. The Torch Club gave a dance after the Horace Mann game of December 24; the receipts amounted to $39.40. Receipts of $39.10 were shown by the dance given by the Stamp Club after the Central game of January 17.

Other dances were the Math Department's dance on January 25 after the Elwood game, the receipts amounting to $19.60; and one given by Philo after the Froebel game, February 14, the receipts amounting to $19.00. Both of these showed losses.

Three different orchestras were used at these dances. Each was paid the same amount. These orchestras were the Rythm Rascals, Royal Jackson's orchestra, Bob Anweiler's orchestra.

The Torch Club, under the sponsorship of E. L. Walker, handled the check room service at all of the after-game dances.

"Looking Over the Business World"

Marcella Swartz, Gloria Kramer, and Ilene Franke received 100 on a test over algae given by Mr. Gould to his Botany 2, period 6 class. Students who received 90 or above on the same test were Wanda Bowman, Margaret Kienzie, Jane Klinefelter, Emalyn Remmel, Rosemary Spore, and John Wells.

Betty Kite, Colleen McCarty, and Keith Precise made A+ on a test over "Lyrics From the Past" given by Miss Pocock to her English 4 class.

Mr. Null's 9A English class has completed the study of "Ivanhoe."

Essay Contest Officials

In the above picture are the judges and sponsors of the International Harvester Essay Contest. They are, from left to right, Officer Ward Hall; J. M. Ehler; Arthur K. Remmel, managing editor of The News-Sentinel; Charles M. Harrison, general superintendent of the International Harvester; and R. Nelson Snider, principal.

Officer Hall, Mr. Snider and Mr. Remmel judged essays written by members of the families of Harvester employees. The topic for the essays was "What the Safety Program of the International Harvester Means to Me." Each plant sponsored a contest. From these winners, the best essay will be selected.

Eight Archer Seniors Take Stipend Exams

Eight South Side seniors recently took competitive examinations in Room 102 for county scholarships to Indiana and Purdue Universities and Ball State Teachers' College.

Elaine Hirschy, Maxine Case, and Romaine Rediger took the test for the Ball State Teachers' College scholarships.

Those who took the test for the Indiana University scholarship are Violet Steinbauer; Robert Robinson, and Robert Young. Lois and Faye Gumpfer took the examination for Purdue's scholarship.

Each state college and university grants two scholarships in each county of Indiana each year. These tests are taken at the public high schools and sent to the Chairman of Scholarship Committees of Schools.

April Fool's Issue To Be Sold April 15

"Burping Barracks' Gazette", the April Fool issue of The Times, will be on sale in the home rooms April 15. This paper will cost all students, including regular Times subscribers, 5 cents. The teachers, especially, will be in for a surprise—pleasant, of course!

A purchase from an advertiser makes you a Times booster.

Intramural Track Records Reviewed

Trackmen Have Chance to Break Marks Set In Chin-up, Ball-Push, Wrestle, Jumps, Dash

Now that intramural track is starting, it might be interesting to review some of last year's winners and their records.

In the heavyweight department, Brudi won the chin-up by chinning himself forty times. The medicine ball push went to Chuck Close with 54 feet 10 1/4 inches. Lahman and Gramlick took the leg-and-hand wrestle.

Lester Oppenlander was best in the high jump in the middleweight class, jumping 5 feet 2 inches. Davenport and Swager took top honors in the hand-and-leg wrestle.

Brower and Puff each broke three lightweight records. Charles Miller topped the record for the 30-yard dash in four seconds. Puff won all of the broad jumps, taking the backward 5 feet 1 1/2 inch, the standing 7 feet 2 1/4 inch, and the running 14 feet 8 inch. Brower set an all-time high on the balancing board with 270 times. He also walked 62 feet 9 1/4 inches on his hands and ousted all contestants in the hand wrestle.

Initiate New Members At Meterite Meeting

Meterites held their initiation of new members in the Greeley Room on April 1. The following girls were initiated: Ruth Barnett, Barbara Carter, Charlene Colicho, Mary Condrey, Kate Cox, Joyce Dicke, Carolyn Druhot, Carolyn Fackler, Delores Gerke, Margaret Hahn, Margaret Hoffman, Beverly Miller, Billie Jean Miller, Sally Muller, Janet Redf, Arvilla Rediger, Kathryn Scholar, Barbara Spiegel, and Alice Johnson.

After the initiation services were completed, refreshments were served. Dorothy Meyer served as program chairman.

Spring Grid Practice Commences April 14

Coach Wayne Gift is planning to start spring football practice on Monday, April 14. All underclassmen who are desirous of playing next year should sign up tonight or tomorrow afternoon in Mr. Davis' office. Equipment will be handed out on the Monday following spring vacation.

Those who sign up early are assured of having the best opportunity for receiving equipment.

Archer Grad Awarded Frosh Numerals At I. U.

Ralph Hamilton, '40, was one of the eighteen freshmen at Indiana University to receive his numerals at the Winter Sports Banquet recently. Ralph was outstanding in sports during his four years at South Side. He was active in softball, basketball, and football. He was also president of the Lettermen's Club.

Burping Barracks Begin Because Of Schaff Science Show

Burping Barracks has a very interesting history. It all began back in 1890 when "Uncle Henry" Schaff's Medicine Show camped on the site which is now Burping Barracks. "Uncle Henry" had traveling with him some of his most prized possessions, namely, "Swamp-fire" Sanford, "Bubbling-over" Cross, "Frense" Stephens, and "Sea Foo" McNabb. These Indian maidens were of such value to "Uncle Henry" that "Vaseline" Vetter, publicity agent for the show, hired the entire state militia to guard these scrupulous maidens.

"Chief Rain-In-The-Puss" Sprinkle, guardian of these maidens, signed a petition to have quarters built for the militia to live in while guarding the maidens. Besides the standing militia of one hundred and fifty men under the leadership of "Horse-Collar" Harter and "Ham" Herb, there was a volunteer army of two hundred men. The volunteers were led by such capable leaders as "Leechy" Lentz and "Hustle" Harrison, who were the first volunteers following the medicine show parade. In order to guard the Indian maidens from the state militia and the volunteer army, five Indian tribes were brought into camp. Chieftains of these tribes were, Chief Grizzly Garrison, Chief Smokefoot Collins, Chief Halitoses Hines, Chief Congo Cook, Chief Pork-Uncle Carcass Cranfill and his squaw Ethyl, Gatoria Babcock. From this group of guards for four Indian maidens in 1890 we have the founding of Burping Barracks.

Today Burping Barracks, under the generalship of Major "Retreat" McClure has an army of two hundred strong, able-bodied men, also a sick list of three thousand sickly, puny, nervous wrecks including twenty-five officers. Burping Barracks proudly boast of having a corp of twenty gorgeous Burping hostesses. Burping Barracks offers many of the comforts of home to the boys such as washing their own socks, and such, washing and wiping dishes and making their own beds.

A familiar sight on Saturday night is to see the casanovas of Burping Barracks strolling down MugBug Lane. "Love 'em and leave 'em" Gallmeyer is a weekly stroller, but he is always walking alone. Rumors are he meets "Gypsy" Bireley of stage fame, in the woods at the end of the lane. Other rumors are "Sponge" Bone goes snipe hunting in the woods on Saturday nights. This remains one of the mysteries of Burping Barracks.

HARRY KELSEY Told Us Not To Tell You Who Wrote This !!!

The only parts of army life in Burping Barracks which satisfy the soldiers are eating, sleeping, and going to the canteen. The main attractions at the canteen are the dancers, Joan Hottman and Marilyn Wolf. Offstage they go around with First Class Private Bob Hansel and Lieutenant Bob York.

Sitting at one of the tables, we see Elizabeth Kelso and First Class Private Bob Zimmers, Sergeant Harry Hines, and one of his many girls, Joyce Burbank; and, sitting in the far end of the room, we see First Class Private Bob Young, alone. On the front porch in front of the canteen are Ruth Kelso and Lieutenant George Spears. Roaming around in a kind of a daze is water boy Eugene Gettel, one of the weaker specimens of humanity. Eugene has been in a daze ever since Katy Kaiser winked at him.

Buck Private Dick Wilson was put on K.P. duty for staying out too late with Marjorie McMahon. Some people say that Marjorie is true to Dick. For one reason, others say it is because he is the only one she could get. Marge Reithmiller, a hostess at the canteen, is wowing the boys, namely—Bob Racht, Jack Green, Melvin Voltz, Dick Tackett (of our enemy, Central), and etc., etc., etc., for hours and hours.

Among the other Romeos and Juliets are Sergeant Bob Gildes and Mary Carlo, First Class Private Albert Lenkey and Marilyn Chaney, an ex-couple, "Porky" Klebe and Captain Jim Worman. As we leave the canteen, we see couples strolling around the camp. Suddenly the stillness is broken by a swish immediately followed by another swish. We realize that it is only Joan Carman pursuing First Class Private Kent Lentz (poor fellow), as she has been doing since she has known him. On one of the benches near the gate we see Barbara Jeanneret being gently wooed by First Class Private Kenneth Iba. Major Bob Hines was sent to the hospital because he gets a terrific fever every time he sees Ruth Dauner.

Patriotic Poetry from the Pot

Come join the navy and see the world, Or come to Burping Barracks and be in the whirl. Up and down the incline, in the halls and all about, In Latin, German, and French cabins all languages are shout.

Our school has as its principal skipper, Henry Ditton, And he has many captains on the schooner, Rough Rider. We students are the ensigns so very eager to learn, But a great many honestly don't give a dern.

Although many of us ensigns can be nautical, we are nice, And in the various ports we boys are really the spice. Each girl we love accuses us as being so untrue, But we always feed the line, "I'm faithful to you."

However, we hope to finish our school training sailing right through. I mean in 4 years—I do, I do, I do. When sailing is rough, and we are unable to move, Who knows we may stay stuck for semesters in the same groove.

Ima No Fool

A Dumbell's Lamentation There is something which I've been unable to comprehend, That is—why into the draft many boys are sent. Don't people know that these boys will catch cold, And the reason will be the draft, so I am told.

I'm worried as to what kind of men there will be left, For now of all my boy friends, I am bereft. Of course there still are those who are too skinny or too short, But if they ask me for a date, I simply wouldn't retort.

Oh yes, I guess it does build up our country's defense, But it is we lonely girls who have the greatest expense. Now I have to sit home and knit by the fire, But don't believe me kid for I am a liar.

The flat-footed ones I honestly accept with glee, At least I can dance or see a movie free. When this draft business is over, I will be glad, For being without Elmer is so sad.

Wittle Weepin' Widow

The Marines Marines are the luckiest fellows in my estimation, Think of having girls at land or sea—that's my aspiration.

Why look at Captain Lampton who sails the seven seas, To see Joyce Cleaver, he would go to Labrador and freeze.

Barnacle Bill Siebold likes the land better I know, For then to South Side High, after Joan Smith he might go. Another man who likes the shore is of course Jim Brooks, Who thinks James Sapp is the best of all the cooks.

Admiral Light likes to Truelock upon the ocean rough, For she would go most any place to see "Every", who is the stuff.

The girls in far Hawaii are so beautiful and cute, You should see Cliff Matson courting them in a palm beach suit.

Back to land again our marines want to go, For Frank DuWaldt wants to take Maxine Sterling to the show.

That isn't the only reason the ship headed toward shore, As Skipper Worman wants to see Rogers more and more.

If you want to learn what is happening all about, Join the marines and for goodness sake don't pout. In this service one really learns a lot, Even though you must use the hard floor as a cot.

Iva Travelled

One Officer Tells Another About B. O.

Have they told you about Bloods Onions (They take the "Q" out of "Smell"!)

Pennsylvania 6-5,000

Of course, every army camp develops its own type of slang. Many of the newer recruits here in the Burping Barracks have yet to become familiar with the terms and their meanings that are in common use around these parts. We shall set forward most of these words as we understand them.

Right dress: The correct uniform worn at the correct time.

Fall in: Swimming call.

Cannon: A big stick of wood with the word artillery hung on it to represent the gun that we really should have.

Draftee: Freshman.

Sergeant: A nobody who thinks he is more than somebody because he has a stripe on his arm.

Colonel: A little more than a nobody because he is better than a sergeant.

General: A nobody who really is somebody.

Mess: What they try and pawn off for meals around here. (It's a good description though!)

Camp cook: An eccentric who has a fine taste for the unusual.

Right face: What you don't want to do when the lieutenant says "Left face."

Guard house: Where most draftees spend a good part of their time.

Spot: Something imaginary that the major always finds on your uniform during inspection.

Food for the Army!

Food—Food—That's what men and boys are always howling. But nowhere can you get food to compare with that of the army. The first day, a boy is initiated into the army on a strictly bean diet. Bean cocktail, bean-ala-king, beans, bean-soup, bean punch, and bean cake. By this time the boys are simply c-r-a-z-y about beans.

I slipped out into the kitchen and asked the cook if we would have any more beans. He said that we were going to have sucatoash (that has beans in it, too) and hardtack. After a few meals of beans, the camp threatened to go on a strike if they were fed any more beans.

One night we had a party and our food consisted of slumguleon, Hungarian gulash, corn fritters, dog fish, and, to make things a little more pleasant, ice cream.

Some days we had nothing to do and we just wandered, doing anything we could find to amuse us. I was walking by the mess house when I saw the cook sitting on the floor with magazines scattered all around him. I went in and asked him what he was doing. What do you suppose he told me. He was cutting out coupons, to send away for cook books.

He also had the recipes cut off the Aunt Jemina pancake flour.

While sleeping soundly one night, I was awakened by a hand shaking my shoulder. One of my pals was hungry and wanted me to slip out with him and raid the ice box. We found the kitchen in total darkness; and, being afraid that we would be caught, we left the lights off. Hank grabbed the sandwich spread and I got the bread. We took them back to our bunk with us and proceeded to make our sandwiches. Hank said that he didn't know that you could buy sandwich spread in a can. We ate the sandwiches and commented on how good they were. The next morning before we sat down to the breakfast table, the captain told us that someone had been prowling around during the night and had taken a loaf of bread and a can of dog food.

Hank looked at me and I looked at Hank and we couldn't eat any breakfast. And it happened that for breakfast that morning we were having ham and eggs, and flap-jacks and maple syrup.

If any of you fine citizens would like to contribute food or new recipes to the army, we would be perfectly willing to accept it.

Commandant Ditton's Brutality Was Caused By Oomph Gal

Battalion 'tensheen! Right dress! Stand at-ase! These are just a few of the phrases uttered by our hard and cruel Commandant Henry (Francis) Ditton, as he puts us poor buck privates through our paces every day. Some of you have probably wondered just how anyone could be as brutal as Colonel Ditton; so I shall attempt to give you the reason for his brutality.

It all started back in the days when Henry met a beautiful young girl by the name of Francis (Sheridan) Nash (no relation to the maker of the Nash car). Well, anyway, up till the time he met Mlle. Nash, Henry was the sweetest little thing you could ever hope to find. He always got along fine with his little brother Clarence; they used to sit peacefully by the hour and see who could bash the greatest dent in the other's head. They were both ideal children. But one day they both spied a beautiful raspberry blond walking down the street, and they both lit out for her at the same time. Henry was a little smarter than Clarence, and he knew that Clarence could win over the red head if they ever met; so Henry decided to take his brother out of the running right then and there. Henry tripped his brother as they were pursuing the girl, and played "kick the can" with Clarence's head.

Well, with Clarence out of the running, Henry meets the girl, and immediately he knows that she is the only one for him. So, after a swift courtship (three years), Henry married Francis, and for awhile they lived happily. Then Francis became the boss of the family and Henry was treated like a slave. He was then promoted from a buck private to a colonel (smells like political influence there), and he decided to take out all his woe and misery on us soldiers. So the next time you are hanging by your thumbs, being flogged by order of the Commandant, don't be angry at poor little Henry; it's all the little woman's fault.

NO PLACE LIKE HOME

Dear Mama, Papa, Sis, and Junior, This army life is getting me down. They get us up at daybreak and we drill all day. My bed didn't have any springs in it, so I complained; the captain said I should go ask the general if I couldn't sleep in his bed, but the general didn't like the idea.

I almost drowned yesterday when I fell in the river. The corporal said fall in. So I did, and they had to fish me out. I guess he didn't mean that kind of a fall in. I gave the sergeant a black eye several days ago when he told me to present arms. I presented the arm in his eye; he didn't seem to like it. I am now peeling potatoes, but I peel my fingers almost as much.

We were told to wear dress suits for Sunday; and, when we lined up, I was the only one in a tuxedo. I still don't see how anyone can wipe a smile off their face, but that's what the captain is always telling some soldier.

Some practical joker ripped my mattress open and filled it with molasses. When I got into bed, I was covered with molasses and feathers.

We had a sham battle last week, and I got hit in the head by a bag of flour which was dropped by an airplane. I was taken to the infirmary for treatment, and the doctor said it didn't harm my brain any. The colonel said he didn't know I had one.

That's about all I know. Nothing ever happens here.

Your loving son, Elmer.

Wenty-Tay Eautiful-Bay Als-Ga Re-Ay Urping-Bay Ostesses-Hay

Every social center has a hostess, so in order to add a little pleasure to the life of the boys in Burping Barracks, a standing army, (when they're not sitting) approximately twenty beautiful gals have been employed as "Burping Hostesses".

Among these company cuties we have such darlings as "Hug-me" Heine, "Hula" Hire, "Slouchy" Sites, "Mercantile" Menzy, "Bubbles" Babcock, "Ritzzy" Reiter, "Witty" Whittier, "Snooty" Snavely, "Catchy" Somers, "Lily" Gildes, "Funnee" Stemen, "Slippery" Sheldon, "Boo" Brower, "Flirty" Ferguson, "Yehudi" Yeager, "Dynamite" Dyer, "Roxxy" Rodriguez, "Cuddles" Cooper, "Locked-out" Likins, and "Jumpy" Jackson.

In order for the public to appreciate the sacrifices these girls are making to serve as "Burping Hostesses" we will list the schedule for a day in the life of an army hostess.

5:00—Milk cows

5:15—Back to bed

6:00—Reverie

6:30—Breakfast, serving ham, hash, and eggs with a smile

7:30—Back to bed while new recruits are serving KP duty

10:00—Get up before the Major inspects kitchen and finds you missing

11:00—Lunch

12:00—Wash dishes

1:00—Still doing dishes

1:30—KP arrive for duty

2:00—Nap

2:30—Still napping

3:00—Alka Selzer

4:00—Visit sick in hospital—they look better than you do

5:00—Supper

5:00—Wash dishes

5:30—Still washing

YOU WAKE UP

With Your Left Foot Forward At Burping Barracks

The time: 6:45.

The place: Burping Barracks.

The Scene: The "Bugle Call Rag" has just awakened all the men in the camp. After putting on their red, white, and blue Union Suits, they dash their faces with cold water, and in order to cure their hang-over, they take a Bromo Seltzer. We see chief cook and bottle washer, Elmeretta Hustow, still lying in bed. Apparently he had a tougher night of it than the rest. He spent his time at Slugger Bredemeyer's house, the camp's only hope. After dragging Bredemeyer from his tousled bed, the camp proceeds to the mess hall. This may be accounted for because of the absence of the women. After eating a hearty breakfast of poached eggs and warm water, they talked awhile before throwing out their paper plates. The entire morning they spent making their beds and throwing out old bottles.

During the afternoon the majority of them attended a burlesque show in a nearby town. All of the men except one attended this. This poor fellow lost all of his dough in a poker game the previous night. He spent his afternoon reading a sequel to "Grapes of Wrath."

They spent the afternoon making passes at the hostesses. Some of them being Brenda M. J. Smith, Corina Cadorette, Duchess Dial, and Queenie Cox.

Then it came time to retire and they lay down to the theme of "Now I Lay Me Down to Dream."

Swing Music Is New Drill Music

Advancing toward a mock enemy, the Urppy infantry, really looks as though it had something on the ball. Several weeks ago, when the infantry was having their spring maneuvers, I was privileged to watch them work out several field problems. However, I did find that the men had to be urged on. The only way they can advance with precision is to have a hot swing record playing as they walk. The soldiers say that they have to be in a certain mood to play war games and music is the only thing that will satisfy them. It would be very bad if a fifth columnist would change the record from "Go Get My Heart, It's Yours," to "Thinking of Yesterday," for I am afraid all the soldiers would do an about face and make a hasty retreat.

When in maneuvers, the soldiers have to be enticed to advance toward the foe, by having the enemy be wooden dummies of beautiful girls. This scheme, which was devised by the high command is all right except for the fact that the soldiers never use their guns, but want to fight hand to hand. They aren't so dumb.

The Urppy Infantry may look good in mock battles, but, as a military expert, I can honestly say that they will never distinguish themselves in battle. Recently a practical joker lit a firecracker as the infantry was advancing on the foe, and immediately everyone threw down their arms and raced for the barracks in utter confusion. The soldiers explained later that they thought an enemy had attacked them. Oh well, we may never be invaded anyway.

Yipe! A Mouse! Screams Recruit, Lacy Pants Shimer

"Yipe, there is a mouse! Save me, someone, save me," shouted the puny new recruit, Lacypants Shimer.

"Aw, shucks, that ain't nothin'," belowered the brave and bold Slugger Scott. You will get used to it. You should see the other animals we have around the camp."

So it goes, every new recruit finds that his new army life is to be filled with our little animal friends. Mice, rats, lice, roaches, and all other kinds of pests are prevalent in every army camp.

Some persons might class these animals as being pests, but in Burping Barracks they are our little pets. The camp would be lost without them.

Because of the lack of horses in the Cockeyed Cavalry, roaches are very good substitutes. The only drawback to the using of these pests is that the camp has to find rather short men to ride them. However, we have a large variety of men to ride them. Among these persons are Bowlegs Gerdorn, Gussy (Longlegs) Feitskorn, and Beall.

Every month the camp sponsors a circus in which the pets of the recruits perform. The owner of the best performer receives an extra month's pay. The whole camp turns out for this gala affair. Last month's winner was Beetlebrain Boyce, whose company of trained fleas was the outstanding feature of the whole show. Those entering this month's show are the following: Victor Kaufman is entering his trained Latinbugs, which will give a re-enactment of Caesar's campaign against the Helvetians. This is supposed to be the greatest thing since John (Slim) Cleland won the track meet between the Nutty Navy camp and Burping Barracks. Another feature in the circus, which promises to be very interesting, is the cooty which belongs to one of the camp hostesses, Ira Brazy. She has trained her cooty to do all kinds of tricks, especially on the right and wrong way to park (a car).

Belches, or Voice of the Burpers

QUESTION What do you think of the swivel chairs just installed in all of the tents for the soldiers?

ANSWERS Bob (Killer) Ruckel: I like them swell, because I am always going around in circles anyway (since Janet Rea came into my life).

Laura (Glamorous) Grazier: They make me dizzy.

Bunny R Abbett: Fine for people who go around in their own circles.

Harry (Curly) Kelsey: They make me a little more tipsy.

Pat (Porky) Klebe: They couldn't make me any dizzier.

Marge (Squeeb) Reithmiller: I don't have to crane my neck to see the boys behind me.

Jim (Bundle For Britain) Brooks: Just perfect for my knittin'.

Barbara (Bugs) Brower: Helps you get "around" faster.

Lois (The Gump) Gumpfer: A much better place to catch up on sleep.

Goil Troubles Are Smoothed Away By Arsenic's Advice

Dear Auntie Arsenic: Please tell me what to do. My steady has left for the army and I'm left alone. Should I put in an application for an army hostess or should I join the foreign legion?

F.O.R. Lorn.

Dear F.O.R. Lorn: If I were you (for once I'm glad to be myself) I'd go see your senator about this problem. I'm sorry but I can't help you further. All my mail is censored.

A. Arsenic.

Dearest A. A.: I am a rookie in Burping Barracks and I am having plenty of trouble. The only time I can see my girl is Sunday and because we get paid on Saturday night and my luck is always bad, how can I show her a good time without spending anything?

I. M. Madd.

Dear You Should Be: Do you have to see the girl at all? Or could I come and see you on Saturdays?

A. A.

Dearest Auntie: My heart-throb has joined the army and he doesn't love me anymore. Should I write to him or should I forget him altogether. Please answer.

Bashful Bennett.

Dear Bashful: I don't know what you should do. If you will send a self addressed envelope to me I'll send you a full size sample bottle of my "What to Take When You're Bashful Medicine." It might help. If you survive, write and tell me how you are doing.

A. Arsenic.

Fashions For Furloughs

No wonder the boys are going to camp in a hurry. The new army hostesses are really on the all right side. And so if any of you young things are planning on this sort of a career, here's what they are wearing.

Starting at the bottom and going up we have: Large farmers' clodhoppers for service. Very practical, too. These come in the six delicious flavors as do all of the army garb.

Next come the heavy wool, ribbed hose that haven't been all the rage this season. Along with these red hose (they're all right red in color) are the snappy rope garters that are the mainstay of all good dressers.

A green and purple checked flannel dress seems to be a must in the wardrobes of these smart hostesses, so we too shall include them in ours. A gold braided belt and artificial roses are the best accessories.

The hats showing with this apparel are the plain black straw adorned with one large plume.

A novel gadget introduced recently is the idea of putting tacks inside their shoes to give an "oomph" swing to their walk.

If you are still interested in a job of this sort you may get first hand information from either of the Stephens, Jeanne Junk, Celeste Freistoffer, or any of the girls in The Gang.

Here's Where Our 45 Billions Is Spent

"Say, there goes the Blonde Bombshell of Burping Barracks," says the lieutenant. "Who's that?" inquires the buck private. "Why that's Pat 'Gotta Have a Full With the General' Seibel. Haven't you seen her buzzing around in Burping Barracks latest addition to the mechanized unit?" "No, what's that?" asks Buck. "It's a light pea green convertible scouting car capable of holding six people but Pat usually has about ten boys in it.

"There's nothing a boy won't do to get a girl with a car."

"Sure takes the curves!" said the lieutenant.

Buck Private, "What? the girl or the car?"

"The car, stupid, but it could be both. She sure is lucky," says the lieutenant.

"How's that?" asks the private.

"She has a pull with the general and so she not only gets to use our new scouting car, but she gets to run it on government gas."

"O, thank you, Sir! You've just solved a problem that has been bothering me greatly," cries the private.

"What's that?" asks the lieutenant.

"Now I know where our $45,000,000.000 defense money is going—to buy gas for the general's girls."

"Bugs" Budd And "Suction" Scholle To Fight Dew-'ell

NEWS FLASH! Stop the presses! ...Capt. "Bugs" Budd has challenged Capt. "Suction" Scholle to a dew-'ell (duel). It will be held at sundown to-day at the east door of "Burping Barracks", which is better known as Jo "Frustrated" Frosh's Flop House, where all bed-bugs are guaranteed to have pedigrees. The nominated weapons were drumsticks to be obtained from the messy mess hall of Marilyn "Maladjusted" McGuire.

The whole controversy started when Capt. "Bugs" Budd stated that his LaVerne "Gawky" Greiner should be on the front of "Burping Barracks" Yearbook, the "Trottem"; whereas "Suction" Scholle counteracted by saying that his Marge "No Yawkish" Sheldon should be on the front cover. Urged on by those two famous lovers, "Droopy" Dick Theye and Ruth "Genius" Werkman, the contestant's shoulders grew icy and their tempers hot until they finally decided on the dew-'ell. The seconds (not minutes) for the event are Lois "Lick the Lieutenants an' like 'em" Likens and Lois "The Gump" Gumper.

Since a large crowd is expected, Capt. of the Guard Ernest "Carp" Vogel has strung up extra guards around the east door. Still more guards are being put on duty to keep the mobs of Undertakers, Kenneth, "I wanna be kissed by Barrett" Iba and Sam "Boogy" Bacon, from fighting over the corpses.

The program for the evening will conclude with a dance of spring by Fred "Kathryn Hepburn" Sharp.

Harter Receives Basketball Honors

South Side Obtained Coveted Kenworthy Award For Outstanding Achievements Below

Robert E. Lee Harter, distinguished member of the Burping Barracks basketball squad, is expected to receive the Kenworthy award for unusually low mental attitude. During the past two seasons, "Hartie" has been continually a bad sport on and off the court.

Such admired tactics as thumbing the nose at an official, kicking opponents in the pantaloons, and exchanging glances with cute coquettes in the stands have prompted local sports scribes to single out Le for the coveted award. Others in the running for the trophy prize are Cuy Moeller, Sherlock Holmes, Katty Collins, and Batless Merchant.

Burp. Barracks Bullets Disturb N. Y. Dairy

One of the most amazing incidents of the training camp life occurred the other day in a target practice concerning the new gun which is guaranteed to shoot one hundred miles. While the 999th division of the infantry was engaged in practicing long range firing to see how far it really would shoot, they received a wire from a New York milk factory saying that shells marked "Burping Barracks, Fort Wayne, Indiana" were exploding all around them. The milk factory officials said that they themselves did not mind the shells so much, but the vibration from the noise was turning their milk to butter and would we please cease firing in that direction.

Burping Belchers Are On Warpath!

Battalion Sets Out After Injuns With Gym Shoes, Tuxedos; Boys Battle Against Blondes

A few weeks ago a few of the belchers from the Belching Barracks undertook an expedition to track down those few remaining Indians who had been shooting cupid bows into the camp.

The burping citizens who saw the boys off described the magnificent sight. First in the lineup were Gen. Gazy Gunzenhouser, Happy Hanna, and Pewcky Puff. In the second company were Crumpy Cleland, Fatty Phipps, and Mucky McClure. Dressed in their gym shoes, and tuxedos, the boys went on to battle to wipe out the enemy.

After one of the longest searches in history, the Belching Brigade discovered their Indians in approximately two hours. The boys were disappointed to find that they had to form a line to the right—the Indians were sort of particular. "It was worth it," the boys said, when they returned with their faces covered with lipstick. You see they have a new tribe of Indians in this country. Most of them were tall, blonds, with beautiful, long claws, namely Warpy Wolf, Staunty Staley, and Smutty Smith. They didn't put up much of a battle, or should I say they were preoccupied.

After a hand or two of bridge, the Indians took the Belchers for a ride in their canoes to Bledsoe's Beach, where they sat in the light of the bright yellow moon, the shining stars, and listened to soft rippling of the water. Since they didn't speak the same language they gave the whole thing up and went to a show starring Korney Krauskopf. After the show, they went to the Greasy Spoon and had a delicious bowl of sloppy soup. Finally the enemies came to terms and a treaty was drawn up which the Indians stamped with lipstick.

Morse Is Mutilated In Shady Place

Jonathan Meyers, Raw Recruit, Turns Detective To Track Down Sabotaging Foreigner

Jonathan Meyers had just turned twenty-one and although he was as yet, a very green youngster, immediately joined the army. Poor Jonathan was too young to defend himself and many times this frail fellow was the laughing stock of the hilly willy dilly Burping Barracks. It would be a continuous task from morn to night for a score of years to relate to you all the trouble that Mr. Meyers was involved in just because he could not and would not learn the Morse Code Signal scheme.

One night while in his bunk he was positive that he heard a slight bell-like noise that sounded like a dot and dash code, and softly climbing from his bunk which was an upper berth, in stocking feet he followed the way from which the noise came. His fellow bed partners thinking he was walking in his sleep, followed him out of the tent and down hill and dale. Mr. Meyers finally arrived at his destination and his fellow bed partners caught up with him and inquired about the night walk. It was indeed a lovely scene, a group of drafties in a wooded spot clothed in nightgowns. Upon further inquiry they all joined in the search for the secret agent that was sending Morse Code signals in the middle of the night. Further investigation revealed that the bell-like sound was a group of chirping crickets.

APRIL FOOL!

This is a picture from that new novel, "Out of the Darkness" which purports to expose the tortures at Burping Barracks. Read all about this in our stirring filler on page 19-99.

John Meyers Exposes Activities Of Barracks

Most of the military mistakes at Burping Barracks were recently started to read in "Life" Magazine and the "Reader's Digest" that an expose of the activities of Burping Barracks had been uncovered in a novel, "Out of the Darkness," by John Meyers. This sensational book was written while John was interned in the Barracks for Tenth Column activities. John, it was alleged, was a spy for the ASCAP music publishing concern on Main Street.

Army Hostesses And Camouflage Experts Teach Greenboys

Did I ever tell you about the time the camouflage experts got together with the army hostesses? (Don't leave! There is just time to tell this before the next bell rings).

The army decided that the greenboys, drafties to you, needed someone to teach them how to get along in the army friendly life, not like the top sergeant had advised them to. Army hostesses were the answer to their prayers...no, no I mean answer to the greenboys' low down, depressed, and dejected attitude toward life. They wanted the girls to be pretty, naturally, so Benny Billious standing in good with the General told them that South Side had the cream of the crop. The same day portions of the Burping Barracks went to South Side and returned in the evening all fagged out with Gloria Kramer, Phyllis Stein, and Lois Campbell. They had spent all day picking these beauties because South Side was so utterly cluttered with beautiful examples of would be army hostesses.

The hostesses made a big hit and things went along swell until three camouflage experts came to camp (Dave Stolte, Harry Kelsey, and Paul Wolford). In the eyes of the girls, these experts were the highest type of handsomeness, that is, until they applied camouflage paint on their respective persons.

Well, anyway the experts came often to see Gloria, Phyllis, and Lois and being foreign agents were always accompanied by military escorts. However, David, Harry, and Paul just couldn't stick to regulations and upon entering the camp illegally would be tortured by being forced to listen to "Jeannie with the Light Brown Hair." That nearly drove these guys nuts, as if they weren't half off already.

Hitting upon a bright idea, the boys gave the hostess' camouflage kits and taught them to use them. The girls soon had the camp in a turmoil, everyone wondered where they went and how in just a twinkling of the eye. One night Gloria was careless with her camouflage paint, and a guard saw her blond hair go past him. This ended the riddle as far as camouflage paint in the camp of Burping Barracks.

Six Cockeyed Cavalry Dopes Go After Men

Manhunter Michel, Mankind Martin, And Sophie Spore Carry On Campaign

Six members from the cockeyed cavalry made a raising motion in favor of going snipe hunting. It had been rumored to these dilapidated dopes that the touch of a snipe was like the foundation of youth. Having a snipe tail under your pillow would bring the men flocking to your door.

Thinking this was a good way to get a man, "Strapless Sunburn" Smith was the leader of this campaign, with "Man Hunter" Michel, "Mankind" Martin, and "Sophie" Spore following close behind. Each hunter was attired in hip boots, iron helmets, short shorts, and sloppy-joe sweaters. For their defense program, "Ripples" Roosevelt raided the Lend Lease Bill and appropriated enough materials for these snippy sailors to carry on their campaign.

As tools they took a whisk broom, bird cage, rakes, bombs, tornadoes, six shooters, and cavalry rifles. They also took the book on "10 Easy Lessons to Get Sex Appeal That Makes Men Adore You." While dog-trotting down the trail, "Strapless" Smith conducted classes.

Soon they came to Volz's Varnish shop, where they put on new make-up. They also bought a duster to dust off every thirty minutes. After galloping five miles they came to shelter. Yehudi invited them in and, being very kind, told them they could stay in the "little man that wasn't there's garage!" This "Gappy" Cavalry were thrilled, at least they could hook a man. But "Mankind" Martin looked it up in the rule book and found it against their technical principles, so craving the caveman style, they pitched camp in the middle of the deep, deep forest.

These rookies, after a rest, started looking for snipes. "Sophie" Spore dug a trap in the ground, covering it with leaves to catch this vicious animal. After everyone received bunions and ran out of corn plasters, they decided to call the company to order and retire. After these drizzling drips had been asleep for some while, a black and white striped animal came strolling into the tent. He took one sniff and darted out.

Chase Striped Cat

But "Manhunter" Michel, sleeping with her eyes open as usual, saw this beautiful figure. She called the company to attention as they saw the tail of the animal go out of the tent. Thinking it was a snipe they each took a slug of whisky and started to track down the trail of the snipe. They fired at 250 yards. Not a hit. They moved up to 200 yards. Not a hit. Grimly, they advanced to 50 yards, knelt and fired. No, not a hit.

Then "Nasty" Nash, seeing her chance, took one leap and grabbed the snipe by the tail. Immediately everyone put on their gas masks. Still thinking this unsophisticated rabbit with a rare smell was a snipe, they took out their fingernail files and filed the tail off. "Strapless" Smith assuring safety of this prized possession tied it around her neck so she wouldn't lose it.

After packing up all of their possessions they tripped down the trail singing joyously, "Today I'll Get A Man." They came to "Mayonnaise" Menze's Mermaid shop, where this tribe of troubledours each bought a net to capture their man in. "Strapless" Smith, since she was wearing the snipe's tail, was privileged to bag the first man she saw.

Close Fishes For Mermaid

"Carmel Corn" Close was sitting on the bank of the stream which surrounded "Mayonnaise" Menze's Place, fishing for a blond mermaid. "Strapless" saw her chance, so she got out the rule book, dusted her new make-up, got out her net, and bagged "Carmel Corn Close." He was so overcome by the odor, he fell at the feet of "Strapless" Smith. All the rest of the cavalry followed in the same manner, and such heroes as "Shimmering" Shimer, "Happy" Hines, "Fiddle" Fiesterhorn, and "Shirtless" Shirk were landed.

So if any of you droopy dames want to get a man quick, just hunt for snipes and they'll come a-runnin'.

Men Without Heads Race Hotfoot Men

Cavalry, Infantry To Battle In Thirty-Mile Northern Race; (No Relation To Vile Product)

Today, April 1, Company 1, the Headless Horseman Cavalry vies with Company 4, the Hotfoot Infantry, in a thirty-mile northern (no relation to any vile products) race. The cavalry team consists of Slushy Brudi, Pretty Boy Phipps, Flash Brower, Possum Kid (alias the Torch) Wolford, and Muscles Worman. The Hotfoot team is composed of Satchel-Mouth Vetter, George I Fishing, and Play Boy Babbitt.

Pace Is Started

The race was started early in the morning by the piano players of the C.O.D. Wilkin's Champagne Orchestra, who opened a champagne bottle with a loud pop Sat. s-s-sh. Satchel-Mouth Vetter got off to a quick start by taking a deep breath and thus creating a partial vacuum into which he was sucked in. Possum Kid Wolford followed a close second to Vetter. He kept giving himself a hotfoot with his alias, The Torch.

At the end of twenty miles, however, Muscles Worman was first, Slushy Brudi, second, and Torch Wolford, third. By this time, Pretty Boy Phipps had stopped to apply some Cure-All, Kill-All, Fill-All Salve to his unaccustomed hotfooting feet. He was immediately arrested for treason and was disqualified from the race. C-K-P Salve had just been regarded a product needed for the fulfillment of the Leach-Lend Bill. The government had decided to send grease to Brease for the poor soldiers who had been chasing the Tilians back to Bania. Thomas (Flash) Brower had also quit the race. He had decided to Mar his record since ilyn (Dutch Eidner) had been reported as being around. He decided to see Loo about her and mis the race. Flash was the one who had done 30 miles in the record time of 40 days and 40 nights. George I Fishing realized that he had been beheaded by Crowell so he went back to Bob Hope's film, "The Host Breakers", and become a Zambie again. George's body exemplified the statement that now you see it and now you don't.

To end it all, Muscles Worman beat Slushy Brudi by his "Third Finger Left Hand." Which all goes to show that you can drive a cavalryman to his limit, but you can't shoe him in a race.

Cozy McMyler Cheats In Craps

"Love 'Em And Leave 'Em" Escapade Resulted In Calling Burpy Barracks Riot Squad

The riot squad had to be called out last week when Private "Love 'em and leave 'em" McMyler, chief dish scraper, slipped a pair of loaded dice into a crap game in back of Camp Burpo's mess hall. When the pieces of "Casanova" McMyler (or "Cozy" as he is affectionately called by the members of the fairer sex), had been retrieved from the bottom of the messie and diligently sewed back together to look something like a human being, he had this story to tell:

"A week ago last Saturday night, I had a date with that glorious, glamorous, gorgeous, gold-digger, Goldy Griener. We hit all the spots in town including the hot spots, cold spots, and lukewarm spots. Wow! What a night. But after I took her home, I found that I was broke and without even a plugger car check to get back to camp on. So I started hoofing it back to camp which was ten miles away as "two people in love go home." Then I remembered I had promised to take my dear old mother to see Rundle Bone's Follies starring Lois and Faye Gumper, those striptease twins from Errol Carol Whittens. What was I to do? I had to get some money somehow. So the crap game was the answer. I'm only sorry I didn't get away with it. I'm a bad boy."

Boys, Have You Got Your Girl's Name Inked On An Arm

"Step right this way, boys; have your favorite girl's name tattooed on your arm." This call is familiar to army and navy men (especially the latter).

Let's take a look at the tattoo on Dick alias Sherlock Holmes. He has on his arm a thin dark girl in a grass skirt that dances when he gets in a fight.

Then there is Chick Shimer. He has a very sophisticated lady on his arm but she is veiled. This hair is so thick on this arm that the lady looks as though she needs a shave.

Ernie Vogel is so fond of rumbas and tangles that he had a rumba team on his chest and a tango girl on his arm.

Warren Cook, the little boy who likes to fight, had an airplane on his arm. Now every time he winds up to take a swing at someone his arm takes off.

Jack Cranfill and Ed Wade, the chamber boys have tattooed on them "This is Clean Up Week." Can't you just see these two making beds and dusting furniture. Ed, the courteous little fellow, never reads any of the letters he finds lying around. But Jack uses them as an inspiration when he is writing to Eileen Eidner.

Bob Jamieson had a big steamship on his chest; now he just puffs all of the time. When we ask him why a steamship, he told us he was keeping up his steam for Nancy McKay.

When Robert Taylor (the one in South Side) joined the army, they mistook him for the other Robert Taylor, and when he went to get his tattoo, the artistic man put on him a picture of Barbara Stanwyck.

Dick Everett, now that he is in the army, can't get enough vitamins in beans to grow a mustache; so he had one tattooed on. He also made it clear to the rest that this kind would not tickle. (He is in the army now, wonder how he is going to tickle the girls?)

Most tattoos are done in blue, but Ken Iba has one in red. He is afraid that if he had one in blue, the enemy, when they started to fire, would not see him. (Isn't he brave?)

Johnny Galbreath is the only one that has his girl's name on him. He has "I Dream of Jeanie with the Light Blond Hair." (They kinder had to change the pattern for that one.)

If any army member would like a tattoo see the Gilbert Boys' Tattooing Agency. They can give you anything from a donkey to an elephant.

Coach Roy Sneavner Leaves Us

Having been offered a position as head of the women's gym classes of Potluck Corners high school, Coach Roy Duly Sneavner has tendered his resignation to athletic manager Clucky Swineheart. Sneavner has been a great favorite while here at Burping Barracks. His teams have won three conference spitons and a special gold-lined cuspidor in competition with girl cage teams from other schools. "Duly", being a great favorite with the girls of this community, has hardly had much time to devote to his boys. But, so long, Sneavner, and good luck with your newly acquired girlies.

It is expected that a large crowd will attend this event because a very special feature of the bout will be a soft shoe by the former and a fast toe La Conga by the latter. The crowds will file in at the north entrance, filter through the side entrance, and come staggering out the rear entrance.

It was originally decided that the Army would be the place of the affair, but several of the female members of the Barracks are having a Do or Die Monopoly game there.

Rookies Plan To Reduce After Bean Diet

Baked Beans, Lima Beans, String Beans, Burnt Beans Bean Soup Get 'Em Down

After a lot of serious thought, some GAA rookies from our cockeyed cavalry decided that army life was getting 'em down. Not only because these fickle fens had to tramp five miles every day, but because the food was rather on the bean side. After all a menu of baked beans on Monday, lima beans Tuesday, string beans on Wednesday, burnt beans on Thursday, and bean soup on Friday, day in and day out, didn't exactly give these sophisticated soldiers a beautiful figure. "Cuddiecat" Calkins had gained so much weight that the general made her camouflage the camp. So Cuddiecat decided to invent a figure control machine with which, if you dropped a nickel in and pulled a lever down, 1,000 volt electric bolt would snap your muscle down in the right place and you would swing and sway the army way.

Thiele Has Trouble

Tub Thiele, who had been having trouble in the joints, immediately responded to this and put in her nickel. She pulled down the lever, and electric bolts started bouncing her back and forth; so the army gang got up a game of volleyball. When Tub came out, she was toothless, and so knocked that every time she'd walk, the soldiers would think the bugle was calling them. Thiele always did have a lot of rhythm.

Then Hick Anderson, who lost so much weight that Gridiron Gumper had her wrapped around his little finger. But Hick's ambition was to regain that shimmering, shaming shape. But she dropped a slug in the machine and was electrocuted. Boy, that was a killer. This figure controller really made a hit with Dead Eye Duntin. Why, when Dead Eye came out of this ripping rhapsody, she made Annie Sheridan look sick. In fact, Dead Eye is on her way to Hollywood right now to give Shrivelled Sheridan a few pointers.

Three Get In Machine

You just have to have what it takes, because when Ras Ma Tas Amstutz, Sideswiped Sanders, and Spongy Spore, got in the machine, it collapsed. They insisted on smoking big black cigars while taking the treatment, and these two things just don't mix.

But alas! Captain Mike Merkel is clapping her hands to call all of them drips together. It seems that Wormy Whetsel is delayed a little. She had to run back to the mess hall (and it was a mess) to get another plug of tobacco.

Since these bubbling bounces got their figures controlled, Cuddiecat Calkins has put it on the market. Some products that have been produced from it are Divy Liegh, Bette Davis, Hedy LaMar, Mae West, and Bunchback of Notre Dame. This piece of machinery guarantees to control figures, get rid of warts, moles, husbands, wives, and headaches. Also this is a good way to commit suicide; so, if any of you want to make arrangements, just call H-15803 and everything will be fixed. Pay in advance. Funds received will go for the benefit of the slappy soldiers that the cavalry is so full of.

Hold Your Pants! Here They Come

Mess Hall Gang Comes Staggering In Under Evil Eye Of The Malicious Capt. Jim McClure

Bing! Bong! Bing! Last call to dinner in the south barracks 41. Here comes the Archer soldiers marching in nice order to the mess hall. Once in a while pushing a little or knocking someone down, but what's the difference, they are so hungry. Stern-faced Captain James McClure is always on hand to break up a fight among these rambunctious soldiers. The South Side Army Band plays, "To the mess hall there is no equal, To that dear old South Side cafe." This band is under the direction of the tall, dark, and handsome young man Everette Trulock. Dick Theye is always the first one to get to the table and is done before the rest of the handsome men in the uniforms get to their places. All the men's mouths watered at the sight of the mushy, dark-looking food. The special for today was screwy pig tails. The captain looked at Harold Gerbers and saw that the soup was slowly drizzling down his chin. It seemed that it was a little hard to eat the soup with a knife, but they managed somehow or another. James Hurst always has the habit of putting his pie under the table and then asking for some more. He always saw to it that he got to eat at least a couple dozen pieces.

New Army Cards Are Odd Handful In Any Trick Game

Burping Barracks is the only camp in the country that has the privilege to use the new all around game deck of cards. The novelty about these cards which were invented by Big John Heffelfinger, big-time card shark, is that each card represents an outstanding event in the life of some person.

The favorite game among the recruits is "Boopsie" played with this new deck of cards. The cards used are the queen of hearts which is a picture of Honey Child Harry doing her specialty act, dance of the seven veils. Six of clubs is represented by Snooksie Gray and Muscles Jagers riding a bicycle built for two and looking for pick-ups. Babsy Brubaker, Cutie Cash, and Frothy Foreman are pictured on the ace of diamonds chasing Wooing Welty down the alley in back of the officers' quarters.

Tricky Tremper and Hunchback Hoekmeyer are doing the new army step Hip Hippy, on the king of clubs. The ten of spades is represented by Drizzle McKean, Sloppy Stock, Ipana Iba, Nutty Neff and Star Spangle shooting craps. The eight of hearts shows Hacker's Hang Out where all the boys go for their nightcaps after lights out. Battle of the Beauties is illustrated on the three of spades with Lefty Leininger versus Kut Up Klinefelter and Muggsy Kienzie serving as referee.

Tweet Singer, Drip Springer, Guey Guion and Leaking Wells are seen on the jack of hearts leaving Phipps Paradise For Lonely Boys during the wee hours of the morning after a mixture of milk, lemonade, and strawberry pop, accompanied by pickled herring, and sardines.

After shuffling the cards and drawing one, we find Snake Hips Spanley in front of her tent at the Burping Barracks Bandwagon. With Snake Hips is Nikki Ninde wearing a ring in her nose by which she is tied to a stake in front of the tent, in case she goes into one of her temperamental moods. Drawing another card we find Hard-boiled Hadley and Lucius Loomis fighting over who gets to shine General Back-fire Baumgartner's boots.

Picking up the six, seven, and eight of hearts we find General Back-fire Baumgartner taking orders from his commander, Skippy Snoko. Another picture shows Lulu Orr and Hard To Get Hartman, from the down town barracks strolling under a June Moon. The third heart card revealed Sugarpudding Koopman and her own little army of Private Putrefaction Holzworth and Corporal Jeep Holzworth sipping sodas at Harlem Hoff's Sip and Nip.

But no matter how the cards are shuffled the cards of Call of Weil and Scotty McIntosh come out on top sitting on tombstones eating popsicles in the Oak Groove.

Burping Barracks Begin Beautification

Blowing Byers, Bubbling Bumke, Kutie Kaiser, Burping Bechtol Cause Disturbance In Colony

Members of the Burping Barracks, BEWARE!!! Venus Ironshire is out gunning for all members of the barracks. Ever since she started her backyard beauty colony, she says she has been bothered with the super fliers of Burping Barracks. These fliers, according to Venus, fly close to the colony and disturb the girls.

By the number of planes, which she gave us, we have discovered that the pilot of the plane is none other than Kassanova Kortum, commonly known as Bob the Mitey's. Major Gerald "You know how to get 'em" Dial has ordered Kassanova to report for KP duty since this discovery was made, but we have the confidential news that Mr. Dial has taken over Kortum's route and Venus is madder than ever.

Venus recently visited the barracks to make a personal plea to all men in service. Some of her most outstanding statements were, "I cannot afford to have my celebrities bothered how they are taking their lessons on how to babble and how to wobble. Perhaps you do not realize the renowned girls who have been taking lessons from me. I am the chief trainer of such stage and screen stars as Wee Weil, Everescent Eipper, Hopeful Hall, and Tireless Trenary. I also am coach of several professional models and opera singers."

After seeing the beautiful Venus, other boys have been trying to get the plane route of Dial, but the best they can do is to buy him out to take them with him, and it is rumored that he is getting quite a sum of money from these ardent admirers. Some of the boys who have been the most ardent passengers of Mr. Dial's plane are: Blowing Byers, Bubbling Bumke, Kutie Kaiser, and Burping Bechtol.

If these boys do not stop frequenting the beauty colony, they will all be put on KP duty, so boys, beware, the only good thing about KP duty is that you are sure to get first choice at the food.

Blue Bulb Place Provides Boys Entertainment

Jean Flopper Foreman And Phyllis Fever Clark Are Featured Burlesque Cuties

No sooner had the Burping Barracks been established here, than a notorious "blue bulb" district sprang up to meet the draftees' demand for entertainment. All work and no play makes draftee a dull boy, and so the soldiers have been busily engaged in taking advantage of the recreational opportunities offered by the "blue bulb" district.

The principal places of entertainment include one flop house, three burlesque shows, four hash houses, two boogie-woogie joints, and fifty-three joints referred to commonly only as dives.

The trade name of the slop house is "Ye Safer's Seedie Sloppe Shoppe." Chief on the menu is the Safer Special for Sulky Soldiers, consisting principally of clam chowder without the clams and well seasoned with half-rotten algae. It's to this place that the draftees come when feeling low, in order that they may feel worse.

Probably the most popular establishments of the whole "blue bulb" district are the three burlesque shows. Noted among the patrons of these burlesque shows are Lick "Hot Dog" Bailhe, Karl "Kiss-Proof" Eberly, and Louis "Lovelorn" Hallenstein. Featured among the burlesque cuties are Jean "Flopper" Foreman, Phyllis "Fever" Clark, and Carmel "Rapture" Roy. Naturally the strip tease is their most popular act.

The blue bulb district boogie-woogie joints are renowned for their discordant and unrhymic presentations. Among the more outstanding leaders of the bands are Rundell "2 o'clock park and you know what else" Bone and Lud "Hot Lips" Harrison.

Chief among the various proprietors of hash houses is Harry "Harlem Harlem" Hines. His place of business far outshadows all the business of the others combined. His show is noted for being the hottest, the fastest, and the cheapest of any in the district.

Brooks Brothers Have Beam Trouble

"Hey, Jim," calls brother Bob Brooks, "There is something the matter with this beam. I looked all over this whole instrument panel and I can't figure out what is wrong."

"Well, Bob," answers Jim, "I'll put down my knitting and come up to the front of the plane and I will see what is the matter. After close investigation, Jim decides that they must have shut off the beam. Little do they know that Gertie "size of a barn" Grenfell got caught in the beam. Not only was she throwing the Brooks children off but also every other plane at the camp.

For example, when one of the planes, piloted by reckless Ellen Motz, attempted to land instead of flying by the beam she was guided by the love-light still shining in the eyes of one recruit at Burping Barracks, Ralph Wehrly. Imagine Ralph's surprise when an airplane piloted by Motz landed in his lap.

Do you see him? He's one of Mrs. Hall's many divorced husbands. He's about to lift the lid off the bowl and select the first number in the draft. But wait—this picture is four months old! You'll have to read all about this affair on one of the pages of the Burping Barracks Bombshell.

"Stinky" Wylie Is Famed Inventionist

His Creation Is Highly Explosive Bomb; It Is New Fangled Super Smelling Thing

"Stinky" Wylie has invented a new bomb to be used by the Archer Air Force. This bomb was originally planned to be a new fangled high explosive bomb; but, due to a mistake in the formula used, it seems that the bomb turned out to be a super-smelling stink bomb. Wylie, who is a brilliant new recruit straight from Chemes School for Chemistry Smells, used his original recipe for this bomb. He started with a big test tube, and added five pumpkins, seventeen rotten tomatoes, three bottles of nitric acid, seventy-three boxes of the new "anti-sneeze" Rinso, a hundred boxes of face powder, a sack of popcorn from the Burping Barracks Grill (this went in by mistake. "Stinky" was eating it while he was working, the General came in, and, since eating while on duty is against all regulations, Wylie was forced to discard his popcorn in his test tube), and twenty-seven gallons of orange pop. This mess began to overflow the test tube, so Wylie quickly transferred his great mess into a barrel. Since this did not quite seem like what he had intended to make, "Stinky" added three bags of flour and a pinch of baking powder. He set the barrel on the stove and let the contents come to a boil. Then he simmered it for three weeks and removed it from the stove. What he took from the stove was a great sight to behold (providing one had a clothes pin on one's nose). It was a creamy, sticky, stinky mess of brown goo. To sweeten this up a bit, Stinky added four bottles of vinegar, a gallon of dill pickles, fifteen more sacks of flour, and a spoon of salt. He molded this into a luscious cake, sliced the cake, and packed each slice in a bomb shell. Thus was born Burping Barracks' first stink bomb.

New Army Suits Curb Itchyitis

Color Combination Of Uniforms Striking (In Face); Has An Automatic Salute

That perplexing problem brought forth by Private Bill "Itchy" Fishing, has just been solved. He has gotten a permit to try out his latest invention, a new army uniform especially constructed from special material for boys who are allergic to the usual wool suits. Bill has had plenty of experience with wool rash as can be seen by his nickname, "Itchy."

This new wool-rash resistant suit is really a super-duper, as it contains all the comforts of home. This not only keeps off itchyitis, but also homesickness.

I suppose that you are all wondering what this stupendous suit is like, and I shall try to tell you. To begin with, "Itchy," having acquired a distaste for the drab olive color of present day uniforms, has decided that each soldier should have the right to choose his own color. Bill has chosen a charming color combination of lavender, red, and orange. It's very striking. (Right in the face.)

The highlight of the pants is a built-in board in the seat. When "Itchy" wants to sit down, he just presses his second coat button and four chair legs hinged to the board drop down from the back of his coat, and he's all set (on a chair). This board also comes in handy if "Itchy's" parents, visiting camps, see that he is a little out of hand and start to apply pressure on this point.

Another convenience of this contraption is that the legs, when in place on Bill's coat, keep his back straight, and therefore, he is never called down for bad posture.

Another point which makes this suit superior over others is the automatic salute. When "Itchy" meets an officer, all he has to do is click his heels and his hand comes up in a salute and stays in that position until the officer has passed.

This suit has many other superior points about it that are too numerous to mention, and I feel sure that it will make a big hit with the boys.

General Siebold Is Featured In Fireside Chat—Ha! Ho! Ho!

"And now dear, dear listeners we have the great privilege and honor of bringing to you General "Super-Suds" Siebold and his bi-weekly Fireside Chat. General S. will enlighten you (and probably, only with the fire) on the dangers of war. General Siebold addresses you from the Burping Barracks, which he is reviewing on leave from the Royal Air Force. General "S.S. Siebold"—

"My Friends, Etc"
"My friends—and you are my friends," (interruption)—"You may not believe it but since I've switched to Lifebuoy—" "There has been a slight disturbance, which forces us to discontinue Gen. S. address for a few moments. Darn those "Madcaps." They have rushed in to censor his address. We ask your indulgence—I mean indulgence. Ah, everything is fixed. I've never before been lifted off $10 so quickly. We now return you to General S. Are you listening, dear radio public? "I have thoroughly covered the war situation and it is dispec—a dispik—a—oh—it's desperate. The latest report from the Balkans and they have balked. The world is in a terminal and as I descended from the platform the band started—oh—I beg your pardon—The world is in a turmoil. O gracious, it's dreadful. 'Seuse me while I 'Throw another log on the fire.' There we are! Nothing like a nice hot fire. But then you'll know all about that in another life. Ah, yes, good magazine, "Life." But my subscription started when I was 30, and I always heard "Life begins at 40. Ha Ho Ho.

It was horrible, bullets flying, cannons bombing, frightened men running hither and thither, buds singing, flowers blooming—oh excuse me—As I was saying, Comeria must be protected from self-centered, thick headed Diepaters. We must not be caught as Venus—without arms. We must not be caught as courageous "John Paul Jones"—shipless.

Wants Be Cheese
I beg you "rats," let me be your big "cheese." I was a holy man. I will arm you—I will give you ships—oh, yes, the war! The Brutons are putting up a desperate struggle. Who will be the victors—know one knows. But I DO know, that "If you switch to "Go-Disvoily" Soap, your husband will never "jump" on you because of your rough red "paws are the greatest protection to this littel rodent, whose official name is—" "General Siebold has been called out for a moment to review a bunch of recruits. I may announce that for the last five sences you have been entertained (?) by Tread Baring (strictly colloquial) and spush-button tuning. Ah, General S. has returned. Oh, gracious something dreadful has happened. As G. S. stooped over to roast another marshmallow before resuming his speech, the fire leaped up and sat on his coat sleeve. His blood-curdling scream brought out the camp's treasury. Fire-injuns and the fire was miraculously exstinkished. Further news about the war and Gen. S's condition will be announced over this same station (madcap permitting) at a later hour. Until then this is Station "WOW." Goodnite, kiddies.

Underhill Finds New Use For Cannon

It All Happened While She Was Reducing To Become A "Burping Barrack" Recruit

Hippo Underhill, the fat lady of Burping Brothers' Circus has found a new use for the Irpy Infantry's new cannon. She found that if she crawled inside of the cannon just before her handsome hero, Skinny Zimmer pulled the trigger, she would be thrown around the world and return to Burping Barracks, minus twenty of her surplus pounds. Hippo figures that if she tries this every day for the next fifty years, she will be down to the normal recruit's weight. Since she couldn't pass the weight requirements for Burping Barracks' recruits, Underhill got into Burping Barracks by coming in a parachute through a skylight. She is quite thrilled about the whole idea and hopes to win a few boy friends as she takes her worldly spin every morning. This new method of reducing is her own secret and she says she hasn't told a soul, except a thousand Burping Barracks hostesses and nurses, who are so enthusiastic about the plan that they are ordering cannons by the hundreds. If this reducing method proves to be as effective as Underhill claims, it will mean work for hundreds of men making these cannons.

You call that a hat? My dear, I shall never stop laughing. Oh, yes yo uwill. The bill will probably arrive tomorrow.

Betty Jane Talarico Is Army Sweetheart In Nation Wide Poll

Flash! Flash! It is being announced throughout the land. What, you ask, why you ignoramus don't you actually know? The army camps throughout this land of ours have held a nationwide poll to select the most popular girl soldierette. Who would it be? Ah yes, the whole nation was waiting for this breathless news which was to be released in a very few minutes. I know your suspense must be great, so, without further delay, I shall give you the names of the winners.

Betty Talarico Chosen
Betty Jane Talarico is chosen the National Army Sweetheart because of her effervescent personality. It has been rumored that she was nominated by that well known personality, Lester Budd. In order to stuff the ballot boxes fairly, Lester had all his friends and relatives voting in Mary Jane's behalf. She also did a little campaigning around the camps bestowing kisses upon all the eligible voters. Perhaps this way she may win for herself a third term. I'm sure she is not the first female to use such tactics, but who am I to know?

Fastie Marge Wigbel has been honored by the young men too. Ah dear isn't this wonderful! I wonder if she has changed since the days I used to know her as the bashful Archerette? No, friends, Charles Halleck didn't nominate her, and neither did Paul McNut; well then who did? The man who did this was Private H. C. DuWaldt, who is the best potato peeler the army has ever had. Why after he finishes peeling the poor vegetable there is literally and figuratively nothing left. The reason he nominated Fastie was because every time he looked at her she would run (in the other direction).

Strapless Bowman Elected

Strapless Bowman was chosen the most popular entertainer around the army boys. Although the reason is quite evident I believe, I shall nevertheless explain the situation to you. If you remember well, Miss Bowman was always known as a wonderful aesthetic dancer in her good of high school days. But times have changed, and so has little B.W. Her idol was always the nationally and internationally known, Sally Rand. She would always imitate Miss Rand's various dances, and so in later life she has won the same renown that Sally Rand had at one time. When she would give her dance all the boys would draw out their bean shooter and their opera glasses. I honestly don't know why, do you? Maybe there was a flock of geese flying overhead.

Popularity Queen Named

Last but far from being least, is the last popularity queen. I now must mention Miss Caroline Lichtenberg who won the award for being the best dish washer these boys ever saw. No one could understand her reason for success. In a camp of one thousand men, she could finish the dishes in less than one hour. Such a thing seemed miraculous to me until I did a little research to find out her key to success. Had she read Dale Carnegie, used Pepsodent, chewed Mail Pouch, or used Lifebuoy? I simply had to know. After a great deal of research I learned that paper plates were the key to her life's success.

This is all the information I could gather for the present, but for further details don't read this column.

Kellys Win Two Speech Campaigns

Mary Ellen Barrett, Edward Meyer Take State Firsts, Go To Lexington, Kentucky

Bob Young Gets To Extemp Finals

Participants With Bob Robinson At DePauw; Sam Bacon Enters Discussions

South Side was the winner of two state championships at the state speech meet held at Indiana University last Saturday.

MARY ELLEN BARRETT placed first with her humorous declamation, the "School Program", and EDWARD MEYER won the oratorical declamation with "My Account With the Unknown Soldier."

Fred Collins placed second in dramatic declamation with "Homecoming". Bill Bone tied for second place in radio broadcasting. Helen Ninde received honorable mention for a poetry reading.

South Side students who reached the finals are Bob Safer, dramatic; Pat Sanford and Helen Ninde, poetry reading; Jim McClure, oratorical; and Bud Lampton, radio broadcasting. Betty Hargan competed in the first round of humorous declamation.

Ed and Mary Ellen will represent Indiana at Lexington, Kentucky, in the National Forensic League meet, later this month.

At DePauw University on April 12, Bob Young and Bob Robinson represented South Side in the state extemp contest, in which Bob Young reached the finals.

Sam Bacon and Bob Young competed in the Indiana State discussion meet last Friday at Indiana University.

Students were eligible to compete in these meets after having won a first or second in a school contest.

Archer Musicians To Enter Contest

Winners Of Northeastern Indiana Contest Will Leave For State Finals At Bloomington

Elaine Hirschy, Marilyn Sondles, Janice Sprunger, pianists, and Alice Jean Light, violinist, who were winners in the Northeastern Indiana Music contest, will leave for Indiana University at Bloomington tomorrow to compete in the state finals on Saturday morning. Medals will be given to outstanding performers and those seniors who win recognition in the finals will be eligible to compete for a scholarship for the Indiana University School of Music.

The district contest was held March 15 at Central High School in which fifty-five contestants were enrolled. This was the thirteenth annual music contest of high school students of this district. Indiana University sponsored the contest with Mr. Floyd R. Neff in charge of this division.

The other district contest winners to meet at Bloomington at this time have their extension centers at Indianapolis, Evansville, East Chicago, and Bloomington.

Jack Wehrenberg of North Side was the only other winning contestant from Fort Wayne.

Date For Ivy Day Scheduled May 16

Ivy Queen, Attendants, Orator Will Be Chosen By Seniors; Advisers Supervise Affair

Ivy Day, annual senior affair at South Side, will be Friday, May 16. The Ivy Day program, under the direction of Miss Dorothy Magley and Mr. Paul Seidel, senior class advisers, will take place during a lengthened home room period that day.

The Ivy Queen and her four attendants will be chosen from all South Side senior girls by votes taken among the seniors. An orator will be selected from the boys of the senior class.

Rudy Wuttke, Emalyn Rummel, John Gumpfer, Janet Holtmeyer, and Romaine Rediger comprise the committee.

All graduating seniors and also those students completing their high school work in February are invited to attend the program. At this time the chosen orator will give the main address. James McClure, senior class president, will give the presentation which will be accepted by Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal.

Music and solos will be included in the program.

Philo Hears Review

Mrs. Harry Hogan reviewed "The Family" at the meeting of Philo last Monday at 3:45 in the Greeley Room. Gloria Staley, accompanied by Mildred Hanke at the piano, sang "Love Is All."

Your Name In Print . . . Will It Be Correct On Totem?

The list of names to be embossed on The Totem which is on the bulletin board at the front entrance will be taken down Friday afternoon and sent to the printer for correction. Everyone who expects to have his name on his Totem should check the list today to make sure that his name is on the list and is spelled correctly. The type from which these lists are printed will be shipped to Chicago to be used in embossing the names.

Any errors of spelling or omissions should be reported to the Totem office.

Next Monday a corrected list will be posted to make sure that all errors were caught. Persons who reported errors to the Totem office this week should again check the list to be sure that the errors were corrected. The revised list will be taken down next Thursday afternoon and sent to Chicago on Friday.

The Totem does not assume the responsibility if the lists are incomplete or incorrect. Persons who expect names on their books are held responsible for seeing that their names are on the list and are correct.

The price of The Totem, $2.00 now, $2.25 after April 30, does not include the price of the names. It is merely a bonus for those who subscribed during the campaign last fall (except 9B's who were not in school) and paid up before spring vacation, just as a bonus of 25 cents is given to those who pay up by May 1. The price of The Totem is $2.25 and will sell for that price after April 30, when the bonus feature expires.

Dr. Onderdonk Gives Talk On World Crisis

"America's Role in The World Crisis" was the title of the speech given by Dr. Francis Skillman Onderdonk in the Greeley Room recently to the Government 2 classes and the health classes. Pictures of Finland and of Poland were shown by Dr. Onderdonk after an introduction expressing his views on the position of the world today. He favored world government such as was tried in 1919 and is now in its childhood. He was educated in Europe and lived in Central Europe for twenty years. Dr. Onderdonk is now an architect, author, world traveler, educator, and famous lecturer on international affairs.

French Club Features Spring Fashion Show

"Spring Fashion" is the theme of a style show to be held at the French Club meeting today at 3:40 o'clock in Room 138. Alice Hall and Katherine Kuntz are in charge of the arrangements and models. The costumes will be described in French for the members.

Those members modeling are Jeanne Cyr, Jean Weil, Mary Bowlby, Ruth Cyr, Marjorie McMahon, and Pat Sanford. The girls will wear suits, formal, and sport clothes.

Principal In South Dakota

Mr. R. Nelson Snider, Archer principal, is in South Dakota evaluating schools. He is expected to return within two weeks.

Honor Society Awards Given To 54 Seniors

Upperclasses Receive Tags For Character, Scholarship, Leadership, Service

Fifty-four senior students were inducted into the National Honor Society on April 4. They were chosen for their outstanding character, scholarship, leadership, and service during their four years at South Side.

The new members are Robert Allen, Sam Bacon, Edmund Bauer, Joseph Bekius, John Bonsib, Mary Bowlby, Louise Buesking, Maxine Case, Ruth Dauner, Frank DuWaldt, June Flaig, Betty Elbersson, Clarence Freeman, Martin Gernand, Faye Gumpfer, Lois Gumpfer, Mildred Hanke, Louisa Haugk.

Ralph Herb, Virginia Hill, Robert Hines, Elaine Hirschy, Janet Holtmeyer, Marjorie Hopkins, Eileen Hermann, Elizabeth Keiso, Betty Jane Koehler, Katherine Kuntz, Wilma Lagemann, Maurine Leas, Caroline Lichtenberg, Mary Lybrook, Sarah Jane Makey, Gertrude Merkel, Lester Oppenlander.

Bernadine Pressler, Romaine Rediger, Emalyn Rummel, Robert Robinson, Joel Salon, Helen Savage, Hilda Schubert, Ralph Sebold, Richard Sebold, Jeanne Smith, Gloria Staley, Elizabeth Stein, Violet Steinbauer, Dick Theye, Shirley White, Rudolph Wuttkke, Eva Jean Wylie, Robert Wylie, and Robert Young.

An assembly was held at 2:45 o'clock to introduce the new members to the student body. Speakers at the assembly were Rebecca Abbott, Ed Meyer, Don Meyer, Paul Kiel, and Safford McMyler. Miss Pauline VanGorder spoke for the faculty. As Mr. Snider called their names, the new members received their National Honor Society pins.

The members were tagged throughout the day by alumni or members. As each was tagged, he received a green and white ribbon.

Miss Mabel Thorne was chairman of the committee in charge. Others on the committee were Miss Elizabeth Kelley, Miss Pauline VanGorder, Mr. Elma Gould, and Mr. Earl Murch. Mr. R. Nelson Snider, Miss Martha Pittenger, and Mr. A. Verne Flint acted as the advisory committee.

Miss Gretchen Smith Gives Talk At YWCA

Miss Gretchen Smith, girls' physical education director, gave a lecture on "Posture and Rhythm" at the YWCA last Thursday evening. This lecture was the main feature of the personality course which is offered to the public. Gloria Kramer and Audrey Longworth demonstrated the different postures and rhythmic gestures. Berneta Eggers accompanied them on the piano.

Graduate In Chorus

Paul Randall, graduate of South Side and now a junior at Indiana University, is one of fifty-seven students recently chosen to sing in the chorus for the Jordan River Revue. This is an annual all-student musical production which was presented March 19, 20, and 21.

Have Feminine Lead In Senior Play

Rebecca Abbott and Marjorie Sheldon

Marjorie Sheldon and Rebecca Abbott have the girls' leads in the senior class play, Shakespeare's "Comedy of Errors", which will be given tomorrow and Saturday nights in the gymnasium at 8:30 o'clock.

Service Of Mothers Is Wanted By P-TA

The Parent-Teacher Association would appreciate the services of mothers of South Side students on Tuesday afternoon to sew for the Red Cross.

The group will meet every Tuesday afternoon in Room 170 to sew and knit, all materials being furnished by the Parent-Teacher Association. At present, approximately 600 garments have been completed and distributed.

Colorful Prom To Be May 2

Paul Dannecker's Orchestra Plays For Junior "Polynesian Paradise" 8:30 - 11:30

"Polynesian Paradise" is the name given to the Junior Prom which will be held on May 2. Grass skirts, moon flowers, and soft guitar music will be carried out in the Hawaiian theme. Colorful leis will be given each guest upon entering the "Polynesian Paradise."

PAUL DANNECKER AND HIS 10-PIECE ORCHESTRA WILL PLAY HAUNTING HAWAIIAN MELODIES FOR THE DANCERS FROM 8:30 TO 11:30 O'CLOCK.

Any student can enjoy an evening in the "Polynesian Paradise" for the price of 75 cents per couple. Tickets may be purchased from any home room agent.

Ralph Shimer, class president, is serving as general chairman of the dance under the direction of Miss Hazel Miller and Mr. Lloyd Whelan, class advisers.

Marilyn Loomis is chairman of the ticket committee, Joan Cox, decorations; Mary Ellen Barrett, publicity; Sam Johnson, lighting; Roger McVay, programs; and Tom Goodwin, check room. Committee members will be announced later.

Hi-Y Club Hears Sports Announcer

Hilliard Gates Speaks On Origination Of Radio At Potluck Meet Last Thursday Evening

Hi-Y will participate in the rededication of the YMCA this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Hilliard Gates, WOWO-WGL sports announcer, spoke at the potluck meeting of Hi-Y last Thursday, April 10. Thirty people attended the potluck which was in charge of Bill Goodwin. He was assisted by Dave Azar, Baldy Nahrwald, and Howard Blood.

Mr. Gates spoke on the origination of radio by Westinghouse at Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania about 20 years ago. He revealed that the radio broadcasting was adjusted to the intelligence of a 12-year-old child. After his talk, members asked him questions in a discussion period.

Pete Holzwarth, vice-president, was appointed president of this section and Dan Auer, vice-president, was appointed secretary-treasurer.

Seniors To Give Shakespeare Act Friday, Saturday

New GM

Mary Lybrook

Mary Lybrook, 12A, has been selected as General Manager for The Times for the next three weeks; it was announced at a staff meeting last Tuesday.

Mary Lybrook Is Times GM

Jane Klinefelter Promoted On Copy Staff; Marilyn McGuire Aids Ad Head

Mary Lybrook officially became general manager of The Times during spring vacation, it was announced by Miss Rowena Harvey, faculty adviser, at a general staff meeting held Tuesday in Room 16. Mary held the positions of copy editor, managing editor, and sports copy and make-up editor before becoming general manager, when she replaced Bob Robinson, now student adviser.

Miss Harvey also announced that Jane Klinefelter would become a copy editor. She will replace Harriet Will and Virginia Gray. Kenneth Breimeier remains in his position as a co-copy editor.

On the business staff, Marilyn McGuire a former ad solicitor, replaced Rose-Elba Brazy as assistant advertising manager. A few new advertising solicitors and bill collectors have been added to the minor staff.

Other changes in the business staff will be announced next week by Miss Harvey.

Camenean Subject Is Dress Planning

Margaret Brower Is Chairman For Meeting; L. Rodriguez, C. DuWan Are Assistants

Dress designing is to be the topic of discussion for the Camenean Club meeting Tuesday in Room 138, of which Margaret Brower is chairman. Lola Rodriguez and Charlotte DuWan will assist in arranging the program.

At the meeting held April 1, Marjorie Gerding related information as to when and where April Fools' Day originated.

Betty Horstmeier, chairman of the committee in charge, explained all of the games played. The first one was "Truth or Consequences," in which Irene Meyer, Jane Cox, Emalyn Rummel, Charlotte DuWan, and Helen Dicke participated. Two other games were also played. Refreshments were served.

Academy To Give Three Scholarships

This year the Western Reserve Academy is offering at least $500 half-tuition scholarships to boys showing scholastic ability and qualities of leadership. Any boy desiring to apply for this scholarship should write to Mr. H. R. Parker, Director of Admissions, at Western Reserve Academy, Hudson, Ohio.

The Academy will base its awards upon the results of tests in English and mathematics and also upon the boy's health, personality, and participation in high school activities. The awards will be renewed each year on the basis of the boy's scholarship and citizenship performance.

Janitors Clean Building

During spring vacation, the janitors cleaned the floors of the building and did landscaping outside the building.

It has been requested that the students be careful about where they throw their scrap paper and about ruining the school's and other peoples' lawns.

"Comedy Of Errors" Directed By Miss Margery Suter Is To Begin At 8:30 P. M.

Twins Are Main Feature Of Farce

Tickets May Be Purchased From Any Senior; Cost Is Fifty, Thirty-five Cents

"Comedy of Errors", South Side's farcical mix-up of twins, will be presented at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow and Saturday evenings. Miss Margery Suter, director of the '41 senior class production, has worked especially hard to make Shakespeare's farce as conversational as possible.

Five pairs of senior twins are the outstanding feature of this presentation, the Brooks twins, the Meyers, the Gumpfers, the Wyties, and the Sebolds. A trio consisting of Ruth Dauner, Betty Elbersson, and Mildred Hanke will present musical numbers during the one intermission. Betty will provide musical background for one scene, adapting several solo selections from "Merchant of Venice".

Tickets may be procured from any of the twenty-five members of the cast or senior agents at 35 cents for general admission or 50 cents for reserved tickets. Jim McClure, general business manager, and his staff are being assisted by Miss Dorothy Magley and Mr. Paul Sidell, senior class advisers.

Bob Young is in charge of ticket sales; Joel Salon and Kolman Gross are handling the programs; Marjorie Dyer has made all the advertising posters; and Marge Sheldon is serving on the publicity committee. The Sebold twins will serve as ushers.

A critic rehearsal was held Monday night for a group of faculty members, and a short skit taken from the play was presented Tuesday morning for the student body.

Members of the cast are Jim and Bob Brooks, as the two Antipholuses; Don and Ed Meyer, their twin Dromios; Rebecca Abbott, Adriana; Marjorie Sheldon, Luciana; Bill Siebold, the duke; Hilda Schubert, the abbess; Wilma Lagemann, Lesbia; Constance Hirschy, the maid; Bob Safer, father of the twin Antipholuses; Safford McMyler, the goldsmith.

Ed Kettler and Kolman Gross, merchants; Paul Keil, Balthazar; Everette Trulock, Pinch; Bob Wylie and Bill Goodwin, officers; Howard Stultz, gaoler; and Faye and Lois Gumpfer, pages.

Evelyn Erickson, Clara Makey, Dorothy Snavely, Lois Bloemker, Bill McNulty, Eva Jean Wylie, Ralph Herb, and Marjorie Dyer will participate in the ensemble scene.

Members of the South Side stage crew are Jim and Bob Brooks, Don and Ed Meyer, William Sebold, Bob Newhard, Bill Goodwin, Bill Bone, Bill McNulty, Bob Wendell, and Howard Stultz. North Side's crew consists of Art Aiken, Ralph Wehnert, Bob Compaert, Bernard Frankenstein, and Charles Frie. Bob Cottingham and William Alan Temple are helping from Central. Lights are being taken care of by Ralph Herb, and Art Aiken and Jack Oxley of North Side.

LOIS BLOEMKER, CLARA MAKEY, AND DOROTHY SNAVELY ARE ACTING AS STUDENT ASSISTANTS.

Placards and location cards were executed by Miss Dochterman and her art students. Costumes were rented from Chicago and supplemented by the SPC wardrobe.

Mr. George Koegel and Mr. Walter Russell of the Civic Theater have been especially valuable aids to the play, for Mr. Koegel will be in charge of make-up and Mr. Russell has helped with scenery.

Torch To Review Activities, History

Ward Gilbert, Tom Wilson, Ken Iba Have Charge Today; Art Garrison, Stan Trier Added

Explanations of the activities, the meetings, service work, and the social program of Torch Club, and also of its history, will be given by Ward Gilbert, Ken Iba, and Tom Wilson at the club's meeting today in Room 174 at 3:30 o'clock. Two new members, Arthur Garrison and Stanley Trier, were voted into the club.

Card tricks, disappearing balls, joined, then separated rings were stunts performed by Ovar Gilbreath, magician, at Torch meeting, April 3, in Room 174. Jack MacMillan was in charge of this program.

Any freshman or sophomore boy is eligible to join this club. No dues are required. Boys may sign up with Mr. Ernest Walker in Room 174.

Is Madam LaZonga Going To Make Us "Spic And Spanish"?

Recently there has been some talk among our school bigwigs about substituting Spanish for German in the high school curriculum. In fact, there was even a petition for such a change drawn up and presented by the parents of some of the students. The reason for such a proposal is based on the theory that there is not a sufficient demand for German among high school students here to warrant its existence. Therefore the plan is to substitute Spanish which, it is argued, would be a far more practical subject.

And there is much to be said in favor of this argument. In the past few years there has been an increasing emphasis on better Pan-American business and foreign-relations. It has been stated as part of our defense plan to unite and solidify the Americas under a common plan—to preserve and promote democracy. Naturally the prime requisite toward better relations is a thorough understanding of language and problems among the members of the Western Hemisphere. Since almost one hundred per cent of the other American nations are composed of Spanish-speaking peoples, it is only logical to assume that, the more Spanish we in the United States know, the better will be our relations with the remainder of the hemisphere.

Now in times of war, anxiety, and fear the United States is looking more and more to the Latin Americas for keeping these the continents of democracy. It is reasonable to expect that our future Pan-American relations will become more and more consolidated. If this is the case, what more sensible procedure is there than to commence teaching Spanish to the high school students of today, the business men of tomorrow?

The Net Spotlight Has Faded; The Track Beam Is Too Dim

Once each year it is our privilege to salute the teams of Fort Wayne who have "weathered the storm". Now, with the curtain drawn tight over the stage of the 1941 basketball season and about to uncover the track events, it again becomes our opportunity to do justice to those groups which have faded from the limelight. Yes, it has been a great year for all four of our city teams. The South Side, North Side, Central, and Central Catholic teams have all given their very best to their respective schools. While none of the teams mentioned attained their ultimate goals insofar as victory is concerned, all reached a peak in good sportsmanship and good play. It is therefore plain to see why we now take this time to salute the 1941 basketball representatives of our city.

And too, the matter of track events comes to our minds. We feel that it is also our duty to salute those athletes who are now preparing to meet the opposition and carry the field banners in the near future. Someone once said that a victorious trackster receives about as much attention as a fallen basketball hero. Could the originator of these words be referring to South Side?

Last but not least, while we're on the subject of unfair publicity, comes the matter of golf and tennis. These sports both come under the varsity heading; why don't THEY get the publicity? Enough said—we believe the point will be taken without further explanation.

Notice how agreeable the seniors are getting lately? Graduation is only half a semester away, you know.

We usually find that the temperature of spring fever is inversely proportional to the temperature of grades.

A skeptic is one who claims that it isn't possible for Britain to rebuild its navy as fast as Germany says she is destroying it.

Spring Sensations

By Marge Sheldon

Buds of Spring
Ambling down the old front hall
Past the chemistry lab,
I was thrown against the wall
By some startling "gab".

Black haired Gloria Werkman writes
Way to Notre Dame.
South Side's males I fear she slights;
Artie is the flame!

Still on the list are "Chick" and Lauer.
Kids, how do you do it?
Also Worman and Brower
Are making quite a hit.

Dick had better watch his step,
Or Worman will date Ann;
Shirley Watts has loads of pep—
Bud Bornschein is her fan.

Vivian is our southern miss!
(Her last name just won't rhyme!)
Texas was her former home—
She's really worth your time.

Spring vacation's over now;
It certainly was neat.
Senior Play's the next thing up—
It's sure to be a treat.

Shakespeare really was a guy
To write a play like that.
(Fifty cents for floor seats;
All others thirty-five flat!)

Ask her, ask her, little man,
Today for your prom date;
Else some smarter little fan,
That night will your gal rate.

Memories
Courtesy Week has come and gone;
It helped a little while.
Can't the principle live on?
Good manners ARE in style!

A bit of paper on the floor—
Not bad, but five or ten!
Egad, it just ain't sanitary;
What are we—mice or men?

And anyway, for losing weight,
There is no better way
Than bending over many times,
Each and every day!

The Senior Funfest surely was a scream—
Especially one act;
Miss Suter and Mr. "Herman O."
Were precious—that's a fact!

Mr. Sterner and Mr. Peirce
Portrayed their parts with zest.
Mrs. Rieke and Miss Peck
Were really two of the best.

All's Fair When A Girl Uses Powder And "Cosmetic Rays"

A subject not discussed very often in fashion columns is that of make-up or cosmetics. Whether one realizes it or not, make-up has a lot to do with making an attractive outfit dull. A girl should be wise enough to match the colors of rouge and lipstick with her outfits. For instance, a young modern may look perfectly beautiful in a light pink dress UNTIL the make-up is applied! An orange shade or a bright red shade will completely ruin the attractiveness of shell or pink. To make this particular dress look outstanding, cosmetics of a light pink shade should be applied in small quantities. Make-up should never be worn profusely; it can ruin a dress or suit of any color.

With the color of light blue, a deep red (almost wine) should be worn—unless you happen to be a red head. In this case, a rust color would be the most flattering. A red head should never wear a red or wine lipstick. Orange and rust are far more suitable.

In case you are going to wear a brown dress, you may have the most varied field of colors from which to choose. Rust, bright red, or a deep orange will be flattering.

Perhaps the hardest color with which to use attractive make-up is wine. There is only one shade that should be worn with wine, and that IS wine. Red completely spoils the beauty of a wine-colored ensemble, and orange, or rust, or pink make it repulsive.

Never wear one shade of lipstick and another shade of rouge. A girl who is fortunate enough to have brown hair and blue eyes should never wear rust lipstick. (unless she is wearing a rust outfit with no other color to bring out.)

It Ain't What You Say—It's Way You Say It

Editor's Note: The following article was written by Bill McNulty, enthusiastic member of one of Mrs. Dorothy Benner Rieke's larger public speaking classes.

Public speaking has been the cause of mortal dread and fear among the members of the human race down through the ages, in fact, probably since the first man uttered the first spoken word. No doubt Demosthenes and Pericles, when they made their first public addresses, had quivering knees, icy hands, cold sweats, erratic pulses, and other symptoms of a disease which today we commonly call "stage fright". As the centuries passed by, the art of public speaking became more and more complex, thereby bringing more grief to the common man who had no training.

Nowhere is this fact exhibited more than at high school. Undoubtedly all students are afflicted at some time or another with quivering knees and other signs of stage fright. The usual thought of a student who is stricken thus is an earnest desire to be at that particular moment in the Foreign Legion or at the North Pole. Maybe this is why our elders worked so hard to put public speaking in our curriculum.

But seriously, a course in public speaking is of real value to any high school pupil. There are myriads of times, not only in high school and college life, but all through later life when a person is called upon to address an audience. It is for the purpose of preparing pupils to meet just such times that public speaking is taught here. The primary interest of these classes is not to produce high-class orators (although this is an interesting by-product) but to equip students with the faculties and resources to stand before a group and not get that old familiar stage fright.

However, public speaking isn't all work and no play. Ask anyone who is taking it—he will invariably answer that his most enjoyable class is in Room 190. For one thing, all speech topics are of an interesting and often humorous nature. In the second place—and it's the truth—the classes actually hold parties during class time. It's a clever trick of Mrs. Rieke's to keep the class genuinely interested and at the same time afford an opportunity for learning the techniques of after-dinner speaking. If you still have the chance, you really ought to join a public speaking class—you'll never rue the day that you did.

If You Wade Through This, You'll Think We're All Wet

Do you use foolish expressions in your daily speech? Foreigners say that the hardest features of the English language to master, particularly as it is used here in America, are the colloquial expressions. By these we mean the type of expressions used by Americans who really don't mean what they say literally. For instance there is the oft-told story of the landlady who, after giving careful instructions to her foreign boarder to "put the light out" when he retired, found the lamp, still burning, sitting on the floor outside the door next morning.

But there are many such expressions to be found right here in South Side. We use them day after day and never stop to think of what their literal meaning would be. Let us take an imaginary trip through the girls' locker room to find what expressions we may overhear in there.

As we "float" through the entrance (wouldn't it be a shame if we sank and drowned?), we see Myrtle Moon ridiculing Sally Slop for "putting on the dog". (We feel quite sure that she keeps scores of Great Danes for that very purpose.)

"The Tenth Period"

A Tiny Tiny Tale

By Jean Weil
As twilight slowly closed in on the walls of South Side, I became suddenly conscious of a strange, weird darkness which began to surround me in the classroom reserved for eighth periods. I was sitting there industriously laboring over a theme, when all of a sudden everything human seemed to disappear from the building. I had to face the truth; I was the only living being in the whole school.

But how did it happen, and why did everyone leave me here alone to ponder over such strange activities? After gathering together what little courage I had left, I managed to walk out of the room into the pitch-dark halls. While I was gradually becoming a nervous wreck, I heard a voice speak beside me. Of course this didn't frighten me very much—only enough to turn me so stone cold that, if anyone had tried to touch me he would have had to chop through three inches of ice to reach me.

After half thawing out, I managed to turn in the direction from which the voice came. Yipe! There it was again! I looked but saw nothing but the blackness of the halls.

Then the voice again rang down the long corridor crying, "I'm dying! Save me from destruction! These fiends are ruining me!"

Gulp! What could I do? I didn't know who the owner of this voice was or who the vicious fiends were! I was in what is commonly known as a "rut." Who was that mysterious voice, and how could I find him?

Then the voice spoke again, "Please help me! Don't let them persecute me anymore!"

I found out that the voice seemed to be coming from the walls; in fact, it was the walls that spoke—I knew it now. They told me the whole tragic story of how the students had mercilessly hit them and written all over them with pencils. After promising to do my best to save them, I bade them farewell and wended my way toward the locker room.

After repeated attempts to open my locker by feeling out the combination in the darkness I tried to encourage myself by muttering under my breath. But this was of no avail. Soon I tried kicking with all my force upon the locker door. Then I heard someone laughing. It was the locker door itself. "Oh, boy," it chortled, "am I ever getting a big kick out of this."

This was the last straw! Having had enough of this haunted school, I grabbed my remaining wits and left the place so quickly that the breeze I left behind was enough to compete with a hurricane!

There Isn't Any Union Dispute In The Company Of Romance

Prosperity and love are just around the corner. Business is picking up, including romances about South Side. Cupid has a monopoly on the hearts and is doing his best to consolidate a few firms.

The Company of Sanford and Rea, which dissolved a few years ago, has again consolidated into a better and stronger corporation.

Ward Gilbert has a monopoly on all the time and affection of Evelyn Arnold—a monopoly from which he hopes to form a partnership. Joe Hayes and Eugene Reichart are investing their spare time in escorting Phyllis Wefel. Along with Dick Holmes and Dale Schoweller, Ken Iba has taken an "interest" in the rising popularity of Juanita Drews.

Pat Underhill has withdrawn her investments from South Side and invested them in North Side. The reason for North Side "interest" is Johnny Williamson. A new company recently formed is that of Red Bradley, Marian Seemeyer, and Tom Roy. Rumors among business circles indicate that this will be a Seemeyer and Roy partnership in the near future.

In That Age A Sage Was A Rage; Birds Got A Gilded Cage

By Marge Sheldon

Come, trip with me, back three or four decades into the gay nineties. We probably find a prim young miss seated at her harpsichord. The sweet strains of "I'm Only A Bird In A Gilded Cage" float soulfully to the high ceiling:

"I'm only a bird in a gilded cage;
I'd love to zip out for a coke
Or even a spin in Dick's brand new 8,
For wasting time here is no joke."

She is probably thinking of those lessons written so painstakingly across her slate: "Gee, Bill—I can't seem to get in the groove with this trig. Sorry about Friday night, but I'm trotting out the glad rags for a brawl out at the Club. See you Saturday, though!"

Remembering that Harry asked to call this afternoon, our sweet young soul hurries to tie a bold pink ribbon around the five locks of well-brushed hair drawn back at the ivory volute-ness of her neck. At a timid knock on the massive mahogany door, she blushingly patters to let in the embarrassed, hat-wringing young "sparker."

Begared in a modest yellow plaid, a fashionable straw hat, and purple socks, she steps over the doorstep in response to the shy invitation.

"Well, come on in ya dope! Do you think we're trying to heat the out-doors?"

Sitting quietly with her hands folded on her lap, she guides the conversation along lines of culture and refinement as they look through the family album.

"Egad, this poor duck looks like he had been on a bender the night before this was taken. This frowsy, homely dame couldn't have had her permanent at the LaRue's."

With a giggle they close the musty volume as he says, "Come on, chum; let's take on Count Basie at the Palace."

Modern Monikers Make My Moronic Myth Mysterious!

By Barbara Cross
Editor's Note: The following story derives most of its meaning from the last names of South Side students, which are inserted at intervals throughout it.

On many of my afternoon walks through the FORST I run across many interesting things. One afternoon my walk was filled with many peculiar incidents, which I will relate to you. Being as shy as a FAUX, although I was YOUNG, I went to a river which I had a very strong CURRENT; but I CROSSED it. I saw a lady AND-ERSON in a boat which was being swept away by the fast tide of the BROOKS. The child fell out of the boat, and I jumped into the river to save him. Every minute seemed like an AUER. However, since my ARM (was) STRONG, I managed to save the child. The woman rewarded me with CASH. With these NICHOLS I bought a fish pole and some worms, and then I went FISH(ing). It wasn't too long till a man came up to me and said, "Hey, BUDDIE, don't you know that you're not allowed to FISH here? Why don't you go home and FRY yourself some BACON?"

My STARK HO(l)ME(s) was interrupted by a SITE which made my MOELLERS chatter. There in the distance I saw a BANKER who was carrying a bag of BILLS. He was being held up by two bandits. I immediately ran to nearest HAVEN. This wasn't a SWEET matter, and I was BURN(ing) with rage to think that someone had the nerve to do such a thing. I ran to a nearby farm and called the sheriff. He came out at once and arrested the CROOKS at the brim of a BROOKS.

Here Are Enough Holidays To Satisfy Anyone Till August

In nearly all parts of the earth there exists a day which corresponds to our April Fools' Day. It is a day consecrated to the playing of practical jokes on friends and neighbors, sending them on foolish errands, and tricking them into doing ludicrous things.

There are many stories advanced as to the probable origin of April Fools' or All Fools' Day. Some of these maintain that because the first dove sent forth by Noah returned unsuccessfully, people commemorate the day by sending friends on fools' errands.

Another theory is that it is originally a French holiday. According to this thesis, New Year's Day was once on the first day of April. When, under Charles IX, New Year's Day was changed to the first day of January, there were a number of Frenchmen who continued to celebrate on the old date. On this account they were made the butts of practical jokes by their friends. Instead of saying "April Fool!" when a victim discovers that he has been duped, the French say, "Poisson d'avril!" The translation of this is "an April fish", or in other words, a young fish and one that is easily caught.

Besides All Fools' Day, the English celebrate Old Lady Day on the sixth day of April. There are also many religious holidays which fall in April, the most outstanding of which is Easter. The British particularly observe Saint George's Day, because Saint George is the patron saint of England. Among the other religious holidays celebrated in April are Saint Mark's Day, Easter Monday, Good Friday, and Great Friday.

Those Who Doze Wake With Woes

By Betty Stump

I do so like history classes. If I could only keep my mind on my work instead of dreaming—ah, that would be fine. Now what's for today? Oh, yes—a study of the tariff. What's this? Oh, it's a picture of Queen Elizabeth and her court. It must have been gorgeous and wonderful in those days. Oh, dear, if I could only keep awake...

Well, for heaven's sake, how did I get here? I can't remember of ever having been in a palace before. Gosh, but those iron robots standing at the doors give me the creeps; looks as if there might be someone on the other side of them, too. I guess I'd better keep out of sight until I find out exactly where I am. From what I can see, this dump looks like a huge castle of the seventeenth century.

I didn't know they had records of Count Basie, though. Yipe! It isn't a band; it's a fanfare of trumpets! Now what that dame all dressed up in a Halloween costume? And there's some guy by the name of Walter here, too. He looks pretty tough to me—bah, he's only a sissy. Can you imagine laying down a perfectly good coat for anyone to walk over? She isn't even good-looking, either! Wonder what her technique is?

Maybe it's a good thing no one has seen me. I heard one of the knights mention an execution, and I intend to keep my head at any price. Aren't there some steps up ahead? Sure, I can't see any harm in going up them; there's nothing else to do around here.

Oops—pardon me, ma'am. Why don't you put up signs around here? How do you expect a stranger to find his way around?

Now don't get mad, please. Ouch, that's my ear you're twisting.

Oh, gosh, teacher, I didn't mean to fall asleep, honest!

If You Feel Droll, Absorb This Poll!

Most students are confronted at some time or another with a particularly difficult problem, whether it arises from schoolwork or from some other source. Listed below are several students, the problem they find the hardest to conquer today, (April 2), and how they hope to conquer it:

June DeWood: My hardest problem will be taking a Latin test. I plan to conquer it by studying hard.

Nancy Geake: Getting up; my mother forced me out of bed.

Barbara Weibel: An occupations test is the toughest for me. All I can do is to study hard.

Jean Fackler: I don't know my Latin very well—guess I'll have to study some more.

Marcella Bazzinett: My English is awfully hard, and there isn't much I can do!

Doris Siples: My piano lesson after school is my problem.

Virginia Rose: A guitar lesson after school.

Marie Lebanoff: My toughest job is to make an outline for occupations.

Doris Birt: My history is very hard.

LaVonne Taylor: Getting a new pair of shoes.

Joan Pope: Getting a French lesson today is my big problem. I'll just have to concentrate.

Bob Smith: A Latin test; study hard.

Virginia Vetter: Writing a theme.

I'll have to think extra hard.

Carl Schurenberg: Thinking is hardest; I'm not going to do it!

Dick Sessler: Getting enough sleep.

I'll have to sleep on Saturdays.

Wyla Baldwin: Having somebody in and preparing for the visitors is my problem for today.

Han' Over The Next Four College Years To Hanover College

Hanover College is located on the edge of the town of Hanover, Indiana, which is just a short distance from Madison. Hanover is a co-educational Christian school of liberal college is Hanover.

Hanover College covers about two hundred acres, eight acres of which are gentle rolling plateaus bounded on the north, east, and south by steep hillsides and deep valleys.

The college is divided into many buildings. Classic Hall contains music rooms, lecture and recitation rooms, the Edna Christian Art Gallery, and a chapel. Science Hall contains lecture rooms and laboratories. The Thomas A. Hendricks Library stands on a bluff overlooking the river. The Observatory houses telescopes and other tools. The gymnasium has a seating capacity of about 1,500. Newby Hall is the college hospital. There are residential halls, fraternity houses, and college residence homes owned by the college for the convenience of students.

Hanover College has numerous extra-curricular activities. A weekly paper, The Triangle, is published. There are student councils and societies, scholastic clubs, music, dramatics, and a wide field of athletics. Gamma Sigma Pi, an honorary scholastic fraternity, Alpha Phi Gamma, an honorary journalistic fraternity, Delta Epsilon, a national honor society, and Pi Gamma Mu, a national honorary social science society, are among the many fraternities at Hanover.

Through the generosity of friends of the college, aid in small amounts is extended to properly qualified students. There are fifteen scholarships given each year, three of which are The Samuel and Anna Laughlin Scholarship Fund, The Walter Kennedy Patterson Fund, and The Wilkes Family Fund.

Kelleys Schedule Cinder Meet Saturday In Stadium

Archer Hosts Greet Auburn, Tigers, Garrett

Gus Feistkorn, Chuck Close, Rudy Wuttke Are Green Hopes For Field Events

South Side's tracksters will entertain Central, Auburn, and Garrett in a meet in the local stadium on Saturday afternoon. The event will start at 1:30 o'clock. Since the three visiting squads possess many outstanding cinder performers, Coach Collyer and his harriers are expecting a good crowd to turn out for the meet.

Gus Feistkorn, South Side's speed ace in the 880-yard run, is again expected to be the Archers' best trackman, while Chuck Close and Rudy Wuttke should prove the best in the field events.

Other South Siders who are counted upon to add plenty of points to the Archer total are Chick Shimer, Art Parry, Jim Worman, Bill Miller, Tom Deal, Dwight Davis, Lester Oppenlander, Herman Davis, Dallas Zuber, Ralph Sebold, Richard Sebold, Jim Morrison, Paul Dannecker, Bill Bond, Martin Gernand, and Dick Kilpatrick.

South Side's relay teams, both hoping for city and high state placings, are also favored to finish ahead on Saturday.

Members of the five-mile quartet are Jim Worman, Jim Morrison, Paul Dannecker, and Gus Feistkorn. Chick Shimer, Richard Sebold, Rudy Wuttke, and Art Parry are the members of the half-mile crew.

Garrett and Central always have good track squads, while Auburn's teams have not been very potent in the past few years. Garrett's greatest threat is Roger Neighborgall, the Railroaders' 440-yard ace. Neighborgall recently tied the record for that event at the Gary indoor relays.

Coach Mendenhall has another well-balanced group at Central, and the Bengals are expected to give the locals their greatest competition in the meet.

Baseball Winners Are Frosh 4, 6, 3

Teams Are Victorious In Second Round Of Tourney Monday Night Over Squads 5, 3, 1

Virginia Griffith's Team 4, Phyllis Jackson's Team 6, and Alice Dolin's Team 3 were the winners of the second round of freshman baseball last Monday.

On the north field Team 4 defeated Team 5 by the score of 13 to 9. Pat McMahon, Patty Hoeker, Joan Dicke, and Phyllis Canbill were the outstanding players for the winning team.

On the south field Team 2 defeated Team 3 by the score of 20 to 2. Wanda Hoover, Joan Deel, Alice Dolin, and Mary Morgan each made two runs.

Team 6 defeated Team 1 by the score of 11 to 5. Martha Dirmeier and Lois Bender made two runs. Umpires for these games were Geneva Martin, Sally Ogden, and Phyllis Amstutz.

Champs Crowned In Three Divisions

R. Geiser, Light; J. Stiener, Middleweight; Jerry Mansbach Win In I. M. Ping-pong

Champions have been crowned in the light, middle, and heavyweight divisions of the Intramural Ping-pong tournament.

First in the lightweight class was Roye Geiser, a freshman, who trounced D. Moore in the finals by a very lopsided score, 21-6, 21-9. Geiser defeated Mitchell and Moyer to enter the finals, while Moore got in on a forfeit.

In the middleweight class Jim Stiener was champ, ousting Harry Seiler in three very close duels, 19-21, 21-18, and 21-19. Seiler gained the finals by winning over Warren Lotz and Max Chandler, while Stiener topped Bob Hansel and Dick Shirk.

Jerry Mansbach led the heavyweights, defeating Selby in the finals, 21-13, 21-16, and Fish in the semi-finals, 21-15, 18-21, and 21-13. He also beat Stroebel and Gumpfer. Selby entered the finals by nosing out R. Trott, 21-18, 19-21, and 17-21.

Exactly eighteen games have been carded for the Archer basketball schedule for next season, it was disclosed by Mr. Ora Davis, faculty athletic manager. Only two more games will be added to the list, with two new teams, Greencastle and South Bend Central, slated to appear.

The 1941-42 campaign will be the last in which the Archers will be permitted to play twenty games, for the IHSAA has ruled that only eighteen games may be played starting with the 1942-43 season.

Among the outstanding quintets to appear here next season are Muncie Burris, South Bend Central, Gary Froebel, and Kokomo.

The Muncie and South Bend fives had good seasons this year, moving into the "sweet sixteen" of tourney play before falling to better ball clubs. Froebel and Kokomo can speak for themselves, for both appeared at the Butler Fieldhouse last March.

It is probable that the two teams to be added to the schedule will both be met away from home. Thus far, Mr. Davis has carded eleven home games and seven road tussles. The locals will climax their season play by visiting New Albany and Jeffersonville in late February.

WITH EIGHT PLAYERS OF THE TWELVE-MAN TOURNEY TEAM RETURNING FOR DUTY NEXT FALL, THE PROSPECTS FOR HAV-ING A GOOD SEASON APPEAR TO BE VERY BRIGHT.

Tom Brower, Bill Knoll, Chick Shimer, Dallas Zuber, Harry Hines, Bob Babbitt, Gene Reichart, and Jim Strawbridge are the undergraduates who will return for more action under the Archer colors. The season of 1941-42 should again be a South Side year.

With Coach Burl Friddle back in school once more, all Archerdom is again reminded of his fine basketball work at South Side. The South Side mentor was very ill for about a month, and his return has brought his jovial nature into the athletic picture at South Side. Welcome back, Burl, and may you have a great season next year.

Here is the card, with only two tilts remaining to be scheduled, for the 1941-42 campaign.

November 28—Kendallville—home.
December 5—Crawfordsville—away.
December 6—Bluffton—home.
December 12—Auburn—home.
December 19—Borris—home.
December 20—Horace Mann—away.
January 2—Greencastle—home.
January 9—North Side—home.
January 16—Central—away.
January 23—Elwood—away.
January 24—South Bend C.—home.
January 30—C. C.—home.
January 31—Froebel—home.
February 6—North Side—away.
February 7—Kokomo—home.
February 14—Central—home.
February 20—New Albany—away.
February 21—Jeffersonville—away.

Collyer's Squad Splits Even In Vacation Cinder Meets

Coach George Collyer's Green harriers split even in two meets during the spring vacation. The Archers turned back a mediocre Marion track crew by a count of 87 to 39. North Side's cinder pounders vanquished the locals by a final score of 66 to 49.

Against the Marion team, the Archers annexed a first in every event with the exception of the 100-yard dash. This was South Side's first outdoor appearance, and the Green athletes impressed the local fans with their fine work.

North Side displayed its usual form, having at least one good performer in each event. Bob Cowan captured four first places to lead the Redskins to their win. Cowan won the 100, 220, and 440 dashes and he also anchored the victorious half-mile relay crew.

Cowan and Bojinoff, who captured two firsts in the hurdle events, were the best performers for North Side. Gus Feistkorn, Chuck Close, and Dallas Zuber were the outstanding South Siders.

Against Marion:

100-Yard Dash—Taylor (M), first; Parry (SS) and Shimer (SS), tied for second. Time—10.3.
220-Yard Dash—Parry (SS), first; Taylor (M), second; Bond (SS), third. Time—23.5.

440-Yard Dash—Worman (SS), first; Miller (SS), second; Vogel (M), third. Time—53.

880-Yard Run—Feistkorn (SS), first; Davis (SS), second; Kiser (M), third. Time—2:08.8.
Mile Run—Deal (SS), first; Wells (SS), second; Hamm (M), third. Time—4:56.6.
High Hurdles—Oppenlander (SS), first; Gernand (SS), second; McMillen (M), third. Time—17.2.
Low Hurdles—Oppenlander (SS), first; Siebold (SS), second; Young (M), third. Time—24.5.
Broad Jump—Wuttke (SS), first; Taylor (M), second; Tann (M), third. Distance—20 feet, 11 3/4 inches.
High Jump—Kilpatrick (SS), first; Smith (M), second; Shimer (SS), third. Height—5 feet 8 inches.
Shotput—Close (SS), first; Davis (SS), second; Pfeiffer (M), third. Distance—45 feet 6 1/8 inches.
Pole Vault—Johnson (SS), first; Tann (M) and Zuber, tied for second. Height—10 feet.
Mile Relay—South Side (Worman, Morrison, Dannecker, Feistkorn) first; Marion, second. Time—3:41.7.
Half-Mile Relay—South Side (Shimer, Siebold, Wuttke, Parry), first; Marion, second; South Side, third. Time—1:35.6.

S-O-S Shorts On Sports

By Wayne Bechtol

In high school there are so many boys who wish to participate in sports that there would be many more boys trying out for varsity teams than our varsity coaches could possibly handle if it were not for the existence of the intramural department. Consequently, in 1928, Mr. Louis Briner introduced what was then a new system of sports activities, the intramural sports as we know them today. The first year ended with only 606 entries in the various sports, but last year there were over 1500 entries in intramural activities. According to Mr. Briner, this fine record will probably be broken with the ending of the 1940-41 season.

Not only are intramural activities very beneficial to those who participate, but they are also very important as a source of material for varsity sports. In these activities Mr. Briner stresses fair play and sportsmanship.

In order to participate in intramural sports, a boy must have a health card filled out and signed by his parents, and he must see that his entry card for the particular event is turned in on time.

Most of the events sponsored are of the double elimination type. For entering a sport the entrant receives a certain number of points, and for championships or other achievements additional points are awarded. After one has earned 1225 points, he receives an intramural letter; and this, of course, is the award for which all intramural participants strive.

Students Owe Times Money

Staff Must Have All Money Soon To Set Record; Peg Harrod's Book Is Lowest

Having already set one record, The Times circulation staff is trying to set another by getting all payments in early. Exactly $31.50 is yet due, and all students who owe anything on The Times are asked to co-operate by bringing their money as soon as possible.

There are only eight remaining weeks of the school term in which to turn in this money.

Peg Harrod's Book VI is low with only $1.50 out. Tom Yates' Book I and Franklin Neff's Book II are close with $3.15 and $3.25 out. Betty Stump's Book V has made a decided decrease since last week; there now is only $6 due. Laura Jean Grazier's Book IV and Pat Sanford's Book III have the most money out, $7.60 and $8.75.

Kelly Orators Take Second

Edward Meyer, Jim McClure Tie For First At Wabash Speech Meet; List Others

Edward Meyer and Jim McClure tied for first place in the oratorical division of the Wabash speech meet on April 5. Archer speakers took second place with 152 points. Bill Bone placed third, and Franklin Thompson, Jerry Mansbach, Elinor Muntzinger, and Joan Cox competed in the finals.

Others who placed in the first round of oratorical declamations are Fred Collins, Maxine Case, Alene Loeser, Pat Sanford, and Marge McNabb, who placed second in their contests. Those who placed third in their division are Bud Lampton, Dorothy Koomjohn, and Dick Bailhe.

In the dramatic division, first places were won by Ed Meyer, Bill Bone, Helen Ninde, Bob Safer, Fred Collins, Mary Ellen Barrett, Elinor Muntzinger, and Bob Guion placed second.

Bob Guion placed first in original oratory, while Jim McClure, Byron Singer, and Clifford Springer placed second, and Maxine Case, third.

Bob Safer, Jerry Mansbach, Ed Kettler, Bob Young, and Clifford Springer, won firsts in the second round of extemp. Bob Robinson, Dick Bailhe, Don Meyer, Alene Loeser, Byron Singer, and Bud Lampton placed in the first round of extemp.

Central won the speech plaque with a total of 200 points.

Plan Attending Senior Show To Witness General Mix-Up

"Hey Jim, I mean Bob, I mean Antipholus, I mean, Oh, what's the use!" exclaims Miss Margery Suter as she looks in much confusion on the twins before her as she coaches the Senior Play. We can't blame her, as a second later we observe another identical pair stepping on to the stage.

In case you haven't heard or have forgotten, the name of this year's senior play is Shakespeare's "Comedy of Errors," in which there are two sets of identical twins in leading roles. The senior class is indeed fortunate in having two sets of twins who are veterans in the field of acting. By these, of course, we mean the Brooks and the Meyer duets.

The play centers around the twin sons of Aegeon, portrayed by Bob Safer, who had, when they were very young, been given twin servants called Dromios. On a sea voyage their boat capsizes and they are separated. The father with one son ends up in Syracuse, while the other son and his Dromio land in Ephesus. Both get married, one to Adriana who is Becky Abbott, and the Dromio to Adriana's maid, Luce.

Antipholus of Syracuse comes to Ephesus in search of his father, who is looking for his other son. When he arrives, he is mistaken for his brother and is taken to his brother's house. Even Adriana believes that this is her husband. Luce, played by Constance Hirschy, also scolds one she believes to be her husband. Later Antipholus of Syracuse sees Adriana's sister, Luciana, Marge Sheldon, and falls in love with her. She thinks he is disloyal to her sister and will have nothing to do with him. Wilma Lagemann does some swell strutting as Lessia, the flirt.

Bill Siebold takes the part of Solinus, the Duke of Ephesus; Paul Kiel, the part of Balthazar, and Saff McMyler, the role of Angelo. Kolman Gross is the first merchant; Ed Kettler, the second merchant; and Everett Trulock portrays the school teacher known as Pinch.

During rehearsals the tired actors do not realize their hunger until the janitor comes in, sits down, and casually empties his lunch box. He then opens the lid to his coffee canteen, sending out a luscious aroma, which makes the actors' tongues hang out. After partaking of a small portion of the janitor's lunch, Miss Suter again resumes the role of director and tries to distinguish between the twins again.

WILL YOU BE IN 1075?
Exactly 1075 Totems have been ordered. Of this number, 868 have been paid for in full. In addition, 235 books have been partly paid for. These figures mean that 1103 books have been ordered though only 1075 will be printed and available for distribution. The first 1075 that pay up will get books. The others will get disappointment. The moral? Write your own.

Five Kelleys Named State Latin Victors

Meet Held Friday At Alumni
Hall, Indiana University;
Winners Get Gold Medals

Violet Steinbauer Wins Scholarship

Bernita Eggers, Lois Craig,
June Flaig, Ellen Harry
Place In Roman Exams

Five Archers placed in the finals of the eighteenth annual Indiana High School State Latin contest held last Friday in Alumni Hall at Indiana University.

VIOLET STEINBAUER in the senior division placed first in Vergil. In the second division in Caesar, LOIS CRAIG was first. JUNE FLAIG placed second in the senior division in Vergil. BERNITA EGGERS placed second in the Cicero division; ELLEN HARRY tied for third place with Myrtle Scheller of Gary.

BY VIRTUE OF WINNING FIRST PLACE IN THE SENIOR DIVISION, VIOLET STEINBAUER WAS PRESENTED WITH A SCHOLARSHIP TO INDIANA UNIVERSITY.

The winners were announced at a banquet given in Alumni Hall Friday night, and were awarded gold medals. Speakers on the program were Dean S. E. Stout, professor of Latin at Indiana University; Miss Josephine Lee, teacher of Latin in the Shortridge High School in Indianapolis; Professor Lillian Bay Berry, co-author of the Second Year Latin text-book, and professor at Indiana University; and Mrs. Adela Bittner, director of Indiana University Extension and awarder of medals and recognitions.

The Classical Club gave a play as part of the program and songs were sung in Latin. The contestants were taken on a conducted campus tour Friday afternoon and were guests at the Indiana-Minnesota baseball game. In 1939 Violet was state champion in the Caesar division. June was state champion in the Freshman Division in 1938.

Eighty-nine honor students entered the state test. Approximately 718 contestants were entered in the county examinations and 387 in the district. Among the fifty-five schools who survived the district contest and were eligible for the state test were Crawfordsville, Bedford, Lew Wallace and Froebel of Gary, Danville, Lafayette, Hartford City, New Albany, Plymouth, Crown Point, Washington, and Martinsville.

Martha Davenport and Donna Jean Mongin also participated in the state contest in the Freshman Division.

Archers Will Go To Student Forum

Meeting Is Tomorrow At Muncie;
Four Kelleys To Lead Discussions
On Modern Problems

Exactly nineteen student Archers and three faculty members will attend the Indiana Student Forum's third annual convention which will be held tomorrow at Muncie. The faculty members are Miss Mary Crowe, Mr. W. W. Wilson, and Mr. Maurice Murphy; and the students include Dick Theye, Everette Trulock, Katherine Guild, Keith Lakey, Eileen Hormann, Marjorie McNabb, Bob Newhard, Maxine Case, Paul Keil, Bob Wylie, and Eva Jean Wylie.

Others who are going are Ruth Danner, Rudy Wuttke, Gloria Staley, Lois Gumpfer, Evelyn Erickson, Faye Gumpfer, Ralph Sebald, Ralph Herb, Betty Koehler, and Frank DuWaldt. Discussions on present-day problems will be held in the morning and afternoon. Frank DuWaldt will be a student discussion leader on the subject, "Effect of the Present National Emergency Upon Our Democracy". Paul Keil will present "Plans for the United States for Economic and Cultural Co-operation" in the Hemisphere Solidarity discussion group.

Betty Koehler will discuss "Probable Effects of Present Trends Upon Character of Our Population" in the group discussing "Implications of Popular Trends". "Advantages of a Federal Union with all English-speaking Peoples" will be presented by Faye Gumpfer.

Besides the discussion groups, a luncheon and election of state officers of the Student Forum will take place. Bob Wylie, 12A, has been secretary of the Forum for the past year. Representatives of all Social Science Clubs in the state will attend this conference. The first convention was held at South Side in 1939.

Extend Sympathy
Students of South Side extend their deepest sympathy to Mr. Joseph Plasket, industrial arts teacher, on the death of his mother; to Elaine Goette on the death of her mother; to Phyllis Minier on the death of her father; and to William Waldmann on the death of his younger sister.

Supervises Skate

Miss Pearl Rehorst

Miss Pearl Rehorst, pictured above, is in charge of the arrangements for the Wo-Ho-Ma skate, which will be held at Bell's Rink tomorrow night.

Math Stars Go To State Meet At Bloomington

Charles Hoke, Wilbur McNulty, Al Kranz, Jeanne Seidel To Enter Contests

Four South Side students will leave this afternoon, accompanied by Mr. Paul Sidell, for Bloomington to compete in the State Algebra and Geometry Contests tomorrow. This is the annual State High School Mathematics Contest. Archer contestants are Charles Hoke, Albert Kranz, Wilbur McNulty, and Jeanne Seidel.

Charles Hoke and Albert Kranz will compete in the algebra examination with fifty-two other students from the entire state of Indiana. They are the winners of tests taken two weeks ago Saturday at various Indiana cities.

Wilbur McNulty and Jeanne Seidel will take the geometry examination. Fifty-nine other Indiana high school students will also take that test.

Registration will be held from 4 o'clock to 9 o'clock Thursday afternoon and evening in the Indiana Union Building lobby.

At 9:45 o'clock on Friday morning an assembly of all contestants will be held in Alumni Hall, Union Building.

Examinations will be taken at 10 o'clock Friday morning at Alumni Hall. The algebra contest will be finished at approximately 11:30 o'clock. Geometry students will finish at approximately 12 noon.

Lunch will then be served from 11:45 to 1:15 o'clock at the Commons in the Union Building.

An informal welcome from the mathematics department of Indiana University will be given at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon by Professor Cora Hennel.

AT THIS TIME, CERTIFICATES TO SECTIONAL ALGEBRA AND GEOMETRY WINNERS WILL BE AWARDED.

At the completion of the program, medals will be awarded to the state algebra winners by Prof. Adela Bittner.

Meterites To Fete Mothers At Party

Annual Tea Will Be In Greeley Room May 13; Dorothy Meyer, Evangeline Witmer Are Heads

Meterite Club has started plans for its annual Mother-Daughter Tea, which will take place in the Greeley Room on May 13.

Dorothy Meyer, program chairman, and Evangeline Witmer, music chairman, are planning the program. Patsy Hocker is chairman of the reception committee. Doris Pape and Adelaide Corts are her assistants. The decoration committee is headed by Patricia Rhodes.

Mary Ann Duemling is chairman of the serving committee. Food committee is headed by Phyllis Crabill. Joan Carman is in charge of cleaning up after the tea is over.

The next meeting, to be held on April 29, will be in Room 102. Members will be assigned to various committees; therefore it is necessary for every member to be present.

French Club Features Spring Fashion Revue

"Spring Fashion", a style show, was the main event on the program held at the meeting of French Club Thursday in the Greeley Room. The show was under the direction of Alice Hall and Katherine Kuntz, who described costumes in French and explained phrases used to the members.

The models were Jeanne Cyr, Marjorie McMahon, Mary Bowly, Jean Weil, Ruth Cyr, and Marjorie McNabb. They modeled suits, cotton dresses, and formals.

After the show, the members joined in singing French songs and playing French games under the direction of Miss Olive Perkins, club adviser.

Tomorrow Is Wo-Ho-Ma's Annual Skate

Party To Be At Bell's Rink
For 30 Cents; Club Will Hear "Flower Arranging"

Wo-Ho-Ma Club will hold its annual skating party tomorrow evening, April 25, at Bell's Rink.

Tickets are 30 cents and can be secured from any Wo-Ho-Ma member or in Room 38. The bus will be at the school entrance at 7:15 o'clock.

The officers assisting Miss Pearl Rehorst, club adviser, in the arrangements of the skate are Helen Dicke, president; Lisa Kaiser, vice-president; Clara Long, secretary; Betty Kite, treasurer; and Helen Long, Inter-Club Congress.

A representative from Vesey's Flower Shop will speak to Wo-Ho-Ma girls today in the Greeley Room at 3:30 o'clock on "Flower Arranging". Entertainment will be given by Betty Lou Hancock, who will give a reading, and Joyce Archbold, who will play several selections on the piano. Norma Close will lead the game, "Electricity".

The committee in charge of the meeting is Katherine Bultemeier, chairman; Norma Russell, Phyllis Crumrine, and Norma Close. Dumdums will be served as refreshments.

Speakers To Go To National Meet

M. C. Barrett, Jim McClure, Ed Meyer Will Travel To Lexington, Kentucky, For Contest

Three Archer students, Mary Ellen Barrett, James McClure and Edward Meyer, will participate in the National Speech Meet at Lexington, Ky., April 28 to May 2.

Mary Ellen will compete in the humorous declamation section. She will give "The School Program." Mary Ellen was made eligible by winning the state contest in this division.

James McClure, who won second in the state meet in original oration, will give "Of Human Progress."

Edward Meyer, first in oratorical declamation in the state meet, will speak on "My Account with an Unknown Soldier."

Mrs. Dorothy Benner Rieke, speech teacher, will accompany the students.

To Feature Music Of Rome, Greece

Latin Club To Hear Music By Trio, Mythological Stories At
The Meeting This Afternoon

Music of the Greeks and Romans will be the theme of the Latin Club meeting today. Each member has been asked to answer the roll call by giving a Latin quotation.

The mythological stories of "Pan and Syrinx" and "Pan and Apollo" will be told by Dorothy Snively. Ellen Harry will read the poems "Song of Syrinx" and "Pan Pipes". Albert Verweire is going to give the history and a demonstration of the flute.

A trio composed of Mary Whittner, vocalist, Albert Verweire, flute, and Lucy Smith, accompanist, will present "Lo, Hear the Gentle Lark".

Ben Harris Explains Phases Of Developing

"Various Phases of Developing" was the subject presented by Ben Harris at the Camera Club meeting recently in Room 38 at 3:30 o'clock. He discussed methods and procedure in preparing negatives.

A business meeting was held after the talk, at which reports were heard concerning the monthly snapshot contest, the spring exhibit, and plans for outdoor meetings.

Conditions, Place, Time For Studying Is Important Topic

At the very moment that we delve into the first step of studying, we come to a point that is consistently the subject of much controversy. Some maintain that studying is best done under conditions of absolute quiet, while others contend that a blaring program of swing is most conducive to efficient study. However, either by coincidence or by effect, those of the latter class are usually the ones who garner a crop of C's on their report cards. Therefore, it is the logical thing to assume that it is better to study, or at least attempt it, with the radio OFF.

The next step is finding where to study. A great many, like the scholars of old, creep off to some secluded spot in the house. If one really wants to study, this appears to be the best procedure. On the other hand, studying is quite often used as an excuse to get out of something even more distasteful than studying, such as washing dishes, going calling with parents, running errands, or the like. If this is the case, it is better to "study" in an easy chair in the living room, so one can grab a magazine when no one is looking.

A factor, the importance of which few people are aware, is the position taken while studying. The books say to sit up straight in a straight-backed chair, put the feet on the floor, gaze intently on the work, and go to it. In refutation of this theory, high school students have found that a high degree of concentration may be attained by sprawling over the floor and furniture. Perhaps this is due to the fact that more blood goes to the head while one is in these postures.

Another point to bear in mind is the consideration of the best time of day for studying. Of course, this varies with the individual. Some are early to bed, early to rise, and do their home work by the light of the rising sun. But this is too strenuous for the majority of students so they usually fritter away their time in the early evening and then sleepily skip through their work later. There have been a few attempts to retire early, awake in the dead of the night, study, and then return to sleep. However, these attempts to solve the knotty problem have been unsuccessful. Apparently the best possible procedure is to study in the early evening.

Last, but not least, concentration is essential; the mind should be focused sharply on the studies, NOT ON THAT GIRL MET THE OTHER DAY.

Kelley's Publish Compositions

Four South Siders wrote articles which appeared on Youth's Passing Show page in the News-Sentinel recently. Gordon Nelson told about his experiences with the crew-cut fad, and Betty McKay, 10A, related her tale of big brother troubles. Don Stroebel, 12B, contributed a poem, "School Daze." Patsy Harroff gave some information on Latin derivation of some scenery words, such as valley, mountain, and lake.

Teacher's Cartoon Is In Magazine

Mr. Ernest Walker's Drawing
Appears In April Issue Of Business Education World

A cartoon drawn by Mr. Ernest L. Walker, commercial teacher, was published in this month's issue of The Business Education World, a national magazine, published at East Stroudsburg, Pennsylvania.

It was one of a series of lively cartoons which Mr. Walker entered concerning consumer education.

Mr. Walker is encouraging his students to follow in his footsteps and use their talents to illustrate ideas gathered in his consumer marketing classes. Some of the cartoons which Mr. Walker sent in were drawn by Melvin O'Brien, '40, former cartoonist on The Times staff.

The magazine printed the cartoon showing people dashing blindly, often with expensive results, to any store that announces a bargain sale, just because it is called a sale.

The other cartoons, about which a story was printed were designed to turn trade to reputable firms where quality merchandise is assured. This material was published on the page entitled the BEW Bulletin Board.

Archer Grad Obtains Position At Indiana

Wade Theye, '37, has been awarded an assistant professorship at Indiana University. He will teach accounting there while studying for his Master's degree. He will receive his Bachelor degree from North Manchester College in June. Wade is the first student from North Manchester ever to get the award.

Fourth Period, After School
Are Times To See Comedy,
Romance In Greeley Room

Art Instructor Is Head Of Project

Miss Blanche Hutto Directs
Student Workers; Admission Asked Is 10 Cents

Adventure, romance, and comedy will all be found in the delightful "Aladdin and His Wonderful Lamp" to be presented by the Marionette Club next Monday. Two performances will be given during the day, one the fourth period and after school in the Greeley Room.

Tickets may be purchased from any member of the Marionette Club or in the front hall fifth period on Monday and Tuesday for 10 cents.

Miss Blanche Hutto, club adviser, planned and directed the production which will be given in seven scenes.

A new proscenium, made by Mr. Joseph's Plasket's students and decorated with puppet paintings by Mary Lou Feller and Rose Marie Vogel, will be used for the first time.

The new Arabian-striped silk curtain was made by Miss Pearl Rehorst's sewing students.

Trick lighting and picturesque scenery has been used to add to the naturalness of the play.

Don Koonce will serve as stage manager, with Dorothy Rison and Jane Hickman in charge of sound effects. Charlotte Baker, Maxine Clark, and Sirlene Smith planned and constructed the scenery and properties.

A new idea is being tried in that one person manipulates the puppet while someone else does the speaking, thus having two people for each character.

Characters are as follows: Aladdin, Ray Fish; Aladdin's mother, Barbara Burt; Marjaneh, Mary Current; Magician, John Rolap; Lamp Genie, Bob Zeigler; Ring Genie, Maxine Clark; Sultan, Victor Kaufman; Wazir, Richard Safford; Princess, Wanda Boney; Fatima, Sirlene Smith; prodigal, Ann Haller; and voices, Don Koonce.

Those people working puppets are Mary Lou Feller, Jane Hickman, Aileen Rolap, Rosemary Zeigler, Dorothy Rison, Martha Schaffer, Pat Florenzier, and Mary Morgan.

On Monday, a potluck and critical rehearsal will be given in the Greeley Room.

Officers of club are Ann Haller, president; Rose-Marie Vogel, vice-president; Mary Lou Feller, secretary; and Mary Current, treasurer.

HERBERT SCHMOE MADE ALL THE POSTERS FOR THE SHOW.

So-Si-Y Members Celebrate Birthday

Girl Reserve Clubs Of America
Have Sixtieth Anniversary;
Archer Girls Relate History

So-Si-Y joined with other Girl Reserve clubs this week in celebrating the Sixtieth Birthday of the Girl Reserves of America. The last meeting Tuesday dealt with the history of the organization.

Martha Thomas led a group of five girls in a Truth or Consequences game concerning various information about the Girl Reserve organization, its history, and the code. Members participating in the contest were Kathleen MacNamara, Romayne Rediger, Marjorie Gerding, Louisa Haug, and Betty Thiele.

Elizabeth Kelso gave the origin and the work during the first thirty years of the Girl Reserve clubs in the fifty years of the world. The past thirty years were discussed by Norma Russell.

A short skit proving what a Girl Reserve should do was given under the leadership of Ilo Hersman. Completing the cast were three pilgrims, Betty Nichols, Marjorie Gerding, and Bernadine Bender.

A joint Girl Reserve banquet with all the clubs in Fort Wayne will be held Friday night at 6 o'clock at the YWCA. The price is 40 cents per plate. Members are asked to make reservations not later than Thursday afternoon.

Elaine Boerger directed the group in singing "Tritomba" and "Happy Birthday to You". She was accompanied at the piano by Bernita Eggers. Bernadine Bender was chairman of the affair.

Named To Staff

Jean Portridge, '40, former general manager of The Times, has received the position of editorial assistant on "The Agriculturist", Purdue University publication.

These Three Types Become Plain Tripe In Newspaper Type

"A crab is a little animal who is usually found on the sands or in ocean water," reads the little schoolboy's primer. "A crab is a slang term for a complainer," states the more intellectual volume in the graduate's library. In our eyes a crab comes under both headings but, assuming that our editorials are to be of a higher plane, we shall consider it only in the latter classification. Daily we see a group of scholastic crabs who exist only because some one else feeds them the milk of human kindness. We try to overlook those about our building who complain continually that there are not enough assemblies, that school hours are too long, that grade cards are not fair, or that Miss X never wears a dress which fits the color scheme of her room. We often attempt to conceal our indignation at the crabs who reach out with their pinchers and willfully hurt another individual's feelings. In short, we try but do not succeed in our attempts to overlook the perpetual crabs of South Side. HAVE YOU BEEN A CRAB RECENTLY?

They tell the story about Alice in Wonderland's adventure with the White Queen. The White Queen, you will remember, was the lovable(?) old character of the chess board who was constantly being affected by things before they really happened. In one instance she was mortally hurt by a pin several hours before it actually stuck her. There are many White Queen's in the Archery institution. We frequently overhear conversations between students to the effect that they are sure that Mr. Q or Miss Y is going to purposely fail a certain student or refuse to call on another. We venture to state that all such past, present or future complaints already have been or soon will be refuted. White Queens can move faster than the pawns who are the objects of their attacks, but White Queens are usually captured before the game is over. This is true in both the game of chess and the game of life. HAVE YOU BEEN A WHITE QUEEN RECENTLY?

We all know the definition of a rat. No one needs an explanation of the word in either a zoological or a psychological sense. There are quite a few rats in the student body of South Side. Our rats aren't satisfied to cross a path once; they go in for the double cross. Our rats go into their holes when their friends are in trouble. Our rats are the first to obtain aid for a test and the last to admit that they did. Don't be a big cheese! Don't be a rat!

HAVE YOU BEEN A RAT RECENTLY?

Don't Be A Worm Who Stops Early Birds Guardin' Gardens

In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love and such; but a mature man, well, that's a different proposition.

While the gay young guys are strolling about, the older generation spends the time wielding the rake and lawn mower. The call of the garden appears in the springtime to hold cogent attractions for property owners.

This fact is very much true here in the vicinity of South Side. There are a great many property and private home owners in this, a residential section; and of late they have been striving to take advantage of the recent splendid weather in order to amend the havoc wrought by winter. It has been only in the last few weeks that conditions have been right for cleaning, rolling, mowing and seeding lawns and gardens.

Naturally one of these conditions is rain and plenty of it. Coupled with the fact that the winter thaws and freezes have left the soil soft and spongy, the rain has made yards veritable bogs. If there are to be decent looking yards and gardens, it is necessary that there be no traffic and running feet over the soft ground. Owners are striving to keep this traffic away from their yards, but there always seem to be a few people who inconsiderately dash through a lawn or garden. It is the earnest plea of owners that students traveling to and from school use only the sidewalks. ARE YOU DOING YOUR PART TO HELP THEM?

Some of the teachers have adopted a very fine way of punishing those who make a policy of cutting initials on desks. They have made these individuals secure sandpaper and varnish from the janitors and clean the WHOLE desk surface off!

Ditties Of The Day

April showers bring May flowers,
Also droopy hair!
"Why can't it shower in just the bowers?"
(The gals send up this prayer!)

The juniors have their Prom, I see,
The second day in May.
Oh goo, oh gosh, don't let it rain
On that great day of days!

Out the window many look,
For spring has finally come.
Our eyes just won't stick to the book;
Our brains are simply numb!

"Spring fever," sighs the lad in brown;
The teacher can't quite see it.
And when his little card comes 'round,
She'd rather "C" than "B" it!

With all this talk 'bout yearbook names,
(In gold upon the cover)
I realize we'll leave South Side;
Doggone—we sorta love 'er.

That's right, it's only six more weeks
"Fore things are almost through;
Before we seniors bid farewell
To you, and you, and you.

Though we may just in rhymes like these,
In this we're most sincere:
South Side's been swell to all of us—
Yes, each and every year!

Perhaps, if we should start again,
We'd not do things the same;
But, if we've not done what we should,
We have ourselves to blame.

For South Side's offered each a chance
In some field to excel;
To work in some activity,
And do it very well!

They Literally Ate Chivalry; They Swallowed Crus-Ades

By Bill Bone

Let us imagine that South Side existed during the time of the Middle Ages. Our school is a huge castle built on the top of a high bluff.

While I am resting peacefully in my bed of iron, suddenly the alarm on the water clock goes off; and I am drenched with a tub of water. Oh well, that's one way to get a bath.

"Mother," I yell, "should I wear my burlap dress?"
"No, dear, wear your good armor-plated Sunday suit. Remember today you get your mid-semester grades."

"Hey," cries my father from the other room, "where did you put my breast plate? How do you expect me to catch the eight o'clock stage coach? I'll be late to work!"

"Oh, now don't get all upset! What if you ARE a little late for work. It won't hurt anybody."

"That's just the trouble; it will! You know perfectly well how grouchy Mr. Jones is when I show up late for a duel—why, he might get tired of waiting and refuse to fight!"

Having finished his breakfast of wine and black bread, my father dashes out of the house just in time to make a flying leap for the morning stage. (With the aid of the conductor, he is pulled in.)

I soon come tumbling down the castle stairs. My mother is waiting at the bottom to make sure I have my armor and sword on straight. I then sit down with her to eat my breakfast and read The Morning Scroll.

"Look! It says here that the Silver Shields lost another tournament. That puts them in third place. They aren't killing so well lately. Dizzy Knight was knocked off his horse in the first inning, and the Silver Shields killed only one man. Think of it, Ma—only one hit! They had five errors, too."

"Yes, Son, but eat your breakfast."

"Say, Ma, when are we going to get a new horse? Old Dobbin is falling apart. She's a 1330 model, you know."

"She's good enough to get you back and forth to school, and I wish you would quit hounding your father for a new one. Do you think he is made of money?"

"Well, gee whiz, Ma, all the older kids are getting them—with convertible saddles, too! You ought to see the new torpedo bodies they have downtown. They aren't old like Dobbin but are really neat. They're equipped with the latest gadgets—brass bells, iron bite plates, and what-have-you."

Don't They Make You Boil?

Editor's Note: The Times is grateful to Mr. Russell Clark, engineer, for the information contained in the following article.

While the memory of the recent heat wave is still fresh in everyone's mind, the mere mention of the word "heat" is likely to drive readers away. But consider—where would you be on those frigid days of January if you had no heat? How would you feel if, enveloped in heavy winter coats, you had to chip the ice from your pen before you could write a mid-winter test? It has been said that the greatest single achievement of the human race was the harnessing of fire. This situation would be made particularly impressive, if, on a sub-zero day, there were no heat in South Side!

When South Side was built, the workmen didn't just build an edifice around a quantity of heat. The warmth in the school doesn't just happen to be (despite the claim that our pedagogues are continually emitting hot air). The heat which air-conditions the school is generated in a large room occupying the southeast corner of the building. But this is not all; in addition there are intricate systems of pipes and ducts all over the school which aid in completely changing the air in the building every seven minutes.

Three Ways Of Heating
There are three arrangements of heat in the building. The indirect fan system is used in the main part of South Side. The manual training rooms are warmed by a direct-indirect system involving radiators. Unit heaters, each containing fans, are used in the new addition.

All of the steam necessary for this complex arrangement is produced in three high pressure, 335-horsepower boilers, each of a 5,500-gallon capacity. The furnaces are fed by Illinois Chain Grade Stokers. These in turn are fed by an overhead traveling car which takes coal from the bunkers or bins located above the boiler room. There are twenty-five miles of steam and return water pipes throughout the school. These pipes bear a steam pressure of five pounds. In the indirect fan system fresh air from the outside is fanned over steam coils in the fan rooms and from there blown into the classrooms. In the second system fresh air is drawn directly through the radiators into the rooms. In the unit heater plan, fans inside the classrooms blow fresh air over coils.

Repairsmen Required
Three men in the winter and two in the fall and spring are needed to keep the 76 motors in working order and to repair faults in the system. The third man works in the furnace room from the middle of November to the first of April. The remainder of the time he spends in the main building.

Perhaps you have often wondered how much coal is required to heat such an enormous school as South Side during the year. Well, it takes over 1,200 tons of coal! In the dead of winter a carload averaging 45 tons will last five days. This means that we use nine tons of coal on a winter day.

REMEMBER WHEN

Raiment-iscing

Elinor Muntzing

Spring is here again, and in a little while another graduating class will leave our portals. Naturally, all you senior girls will be reminiscing over all the big events in your high school life. While you're doing this, you might think a bit of the clothes you wore during the last four years. You probably remember when

South Side took the state basketball crown in the Spring of '38. You were just a freshman then, but you felt pretty grown up in your tri-color suede shoes, especially if they were pumps. You were the queen of fashion if you garbed in a knit dress; and, you felt perfectly stunning and looked that way, too, if you wore your hair in the then popular page-boy style. You were thankful, though, for the new idea of wearing gay peasant scarfs on your heads to keep your hair down (even if they weren't the height of sophistication).

The next fall you came back to South Side to find it practically rebuilt. An addition had been made, and everything was soooooo different. Soooooo were your clothes! Novelties were becoming bigger, better and beastlier. Those fuzzy little calottes
